"The James Boys" are listed as showing at the "New Bradley" for somewhere about the turn of the century Sutton and Co. had sold to Mr. Frank Bradley and extensive remodeling had been done. It was then that the scenery loft, that high square section, looming over the back roof was built. This allowed the "wings and flys" to be lifted on pulleys entirely off the stage, making room for chorus work and larger productions. It is remembered that a dog and pony show was given about this time with a big troupe of animals including the inevitable donkey clown. Still in the floor is the outline of the revolving tread mill on which the exciting finish of a horse race could be staged. This was used in Neil Burgess's "County Fair" and the excitement was somewhat tempered with laughter as the "thoroughbreds" were recognized as the staid old team off a town dray.

It was about this time that a new element which was to revolutionize the life of the Opera House was introduced. Lyman Howe began yearly visits with his Travel Series which included "moving pictures." Mostly these were scenic panaramas, taken from the front of a moving train. They were interspersed with action pictures of wierdly dressed individuals chasing each other in a nightmare fashion over improbable obstacles. At the time these seemed very breath taking or extremely funny and they were Tecumseh's introduction to the medium of the movies.

One of the better preserved of the large bills shows a picture of "Beatrice Knowles," wasp waist, picture hat and swirling skirts, who went on to become one of the earliest movie actresses of the period of Flora Finch and John Bunny. Another announces the coming of Charles Grapewin but not the name of his production. According to Mr. Nichols, Grapwin died not long ago in Hollywood after a successful New York stage career in Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" and in "Tobacco Road." These two were part of the transition period when the road show and the movie alternated on the local stage.

Much more unreal to the average modern would be a modest poster which announces that the "Four Marx Brothers" would be at the Tecumseh theater for three nights in the near future. The presence of Harpo, Groucho and the rest in our midst these days would create quite a stir but they seem to have been just another comedy team that are not even remembered now by many who must have laughed at their jokes.

YOUR PARTNER IN SAFETY!

Here, from your partner in safety — the truck driver—are some friendly suggestions for furthering safe driving on our highways. If everybody cooperates, we'll all enjoy happier, safer driving.

1. Be sure your car is in good operating condition at all times.
2. Obey all traffic laws.
3. In planning a trip, don't schedule more miles per day than you can comfortably and safely drive.
4. On long drives, stop now and then to rest and relax.
5. Never pass on a hill.
6. Courtesy and patience are two very necessary ingredients of safe driving.
7. Don't follow too closely the car ahead of you.
8. Accident statistics continue to rate speed as the number one cause of automobile accidents — so keep it down.

Time Savers For Big Meal Are Suggested

Working space, cooking space and time are often the biggest problems in cooking community meals.

Shortcuts which may be helpful in such situations are listed by Ruth Sands, professor in institution administration at Michigan State University.

When serving ham at a banquet or dinner, she suggests using canned hams. They cut to better advantage; baking time can be shortened; and extra cans may be kept on hand for emergency. A meat market may be asked to slice each ham and tie them up before baking. That helps in serving.

Chicken a la king is another popular luncheon dish. Mrs. Sands suggests buying turkeys for this. They save time in preparation and also are more economical.

Buy your canned fruits and vegetables in number 10 cans. This saves labor in opening cans and is less expensive than smaller cans. If frozen foods are to be used, they too, should be bought in the institution size pack which your grocer will order for you.

Ice cream scoops come in a variety of sizes and are helpful in serving equal portions. Scoops can be used for serving mashed potatoes, vegetables, desserts, salads, or in shaping round meatballs for patties or drop cookies for baking.

Another food product which Mrs. Sands recommends is dried milk. It is easy to store and easy to use; it saves refrigeration space as well as eliminating lifting heavy milk cans. She adds that dried milk can be used in mashed potatoes, white sauce or baking, and it is excellent in hot chocolate.

PLAYS IN BAND

At Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo, Miss Ruth Ann Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hearold Coates, Route 1, Tecumseh, is a member of the band.

She is a freshman in the elementary education curriculum.

The band will give a Goldman Memorial Concert March 18. Edwin Franko Goldman, who was to have been the guest conductor, died in New York Feb. 21.

PLEDGES FRAT

James G. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Wilson of 609 Outer Drive, has just been pledged to the Delta Tau Delta national fraternity. Wilson is a junior at Albion.

TAKES OFF
LIKE YOU'RE WEARING SPURS

Come try it —
and you're in BUICK'S THRILL-A-MINUTE CLUB

The thrills begin in the first sixty seconds —and from then on they come in clusters.

Right off, you feel the stepped-up getaway in Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—a blazing new take-off even before you switch the pitch.

Because now—right in the topmost inch of pedal travel—right where you do most of your driving—right in the fuel-saving economy range—you're moving with a solid new "take-hold" getaway that's brisk and blessedly smooth.

Then you double the thrill.

For when you want to pass—or climb—or get out of a tight spot fast—you floor the pedal and switch the pitch. That brings you an absolutely smooth burst of full-power go-ahead on the split second—and it's the nearest thing to soaring flight yet.

It's a double-barreled package of excitement—and it's teamed with the most powerful V8 engine in Buick history—a 322-cubic-inch engine with no less than 9.5 to 1 compression in every CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

All that would seem like thrill enough—but you'll find you've hardly scratched the surface.

You'll find yourself glowing all over from the sweet and level buoyancy of Buick's great new ride.

You'll feel a serene satisfaction from the way this trim beauty handles and corners and tracks to the road with the truest sense of direction yet.

And certainly you'll have to feel the good feeling that's yours just from bossing this big and brawny and beautifully sculptured automobile that's like a thing alive, and impeccably obedient.

We'd like you to know and feel all this first-hand—just by trying out a new Buick. That's all you do to join Buick's Thrill-A-Minute Club.

Why not become a member in good sitting today? And when you do, we have some big-thrill news on prices, too.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

The Diary of Thomas Wright

The seventh installment of the diary of the great-great grandfather of druggist, William Wright. He came to Tecumseh in 1831.

The 29th of Dec. 1833—I attended public worship all day for the first time for near 8 months. Dec. 17 snow fell about a foot deep but by New Year's day it was all gone.

We had now a span of horses, a cow and some young cattle. Also had got hogs so that we raised our own pork. To which might be added a flock of hens.

I hired a threshing machine and got my wheat out but then could find no cash market for it about here and I sent Moses with 2 loads of it to Toledo, then called Vistula, where he sold it for 75 cents a bushel or 60 lbs.

This winter we had but little snow and when snow fell it soon went off, but we had some very cold weather. The ague and fever still held fast to my system. In March Mrs. W., Hattie and Moses as well as myself had it. Augusta lived much of the time in the village at Dr. Patterson's.

May 16—Great frosts, all vegetation killed. The trees still destitute of all foliage as late as May 24.

I continued to have the ague and fever. It had weakened and wore out all my strength and resolution. I could do nothing and was discouraged. Everything seemed to go against me. It appears to be the natural effect of the ague fever to debilitate and mind as well as the body. I had made an effort to obtain a hired man for the season and after much trouble had got one well recommended but who proved to be not so. Morea commenced working the 24th of March and about the 6th or 7th of May ran away leaving me all in the suds with the spring work. After vainly attempting to get another, I told Moses and Asahel that they might take the farm for a year and have three-fourths of all they could raise on it, they bearing all the expenses. Accordingly Asahel moved his family up to my house on the first Monday of June and went to work. But the young men did not manage as well as they thought they should or to make the farm profitable to themselves or to me.

My only care now was take care of my garden and this was quite as much as my weakened frame could perform. In the fall I killed what beef and pork my family wanted and sold some. The year passed away but not so as yet did the dreadful disorder which had fast hold of my constitution and the commencement of year.

1835 found me as weak, as feeble and as debilitated as did the beginning of the previous year.

Feb. 16 — Harriet commenced keeping school in the village and continued 24 weeks. In the spring Moses gave up the farm to Asahel who has this year taken it for half the produce.

March 22—Greatest snow storm this season. Snow fell about a foot deep.

April 25—Another snow about 6 inches. Today the posse of the county were called out to arrest the Commissioners of the State of Ohio who are employed in running and marking the Harris Line. They succeeded to capture two or three of them among whom was Col. Fletcher, the surveyor. All but the surveyor gave bonds for their appearance at court and went home. Col. Fletcher refused to give bonds and kept in town a prisoner at large until released by Gov. Horner who was appointed to succeed Mason the next September. The posse were gone about two days. In this fray Moses, my team and the hired man were among the rest engaged.

Note: This was the more-[illegible]-less famous "Toledo War" in which Tecumseh played a conspicuous part. It involvced a strip of land from Lake Michigan to Lake Erie, originally given to Michigan but claimed by Ohio as it included the mouth of the Maumee river which Ohio coveted. The only actual fighting was done by the posse mentioned who arrested the Ohio surveyors for trespassing in Lenawee county.

State militia was later mustered by order of Gov. Mason and sent to Toledo under the command of Tecumseh's General Brown. His good sense helped to avert bloodshed as feeling ran very high. The matter was settled in the U. S. Congress, where Michigan had no representation, and resulted in giving Ohio the site of Toledo and Michigan the then considered worthless Upper Peninsula.

1835—May—

This spring I went, in connection with Justice Ingols, to raising broom corn and we planted about 7 acres of broom corn. It was agreed to raise the brush by the joint labor of both and he to make the brooms and each to have an equal number dividing all the expenses.

May 11—Today Amasa Converse came here direct from Northhampton.

May 18—Reed from Detroit a barrel of cider. A present from George Spafford. This by taking about ½ pint every morning through the summer was the principal thing to restore me to comfortable health. It was just what was wanted to restore in my stomach the exercise of its proper functions.

May 29—Had a call from Ira Strong of N. H. on his way home from Chicago, home-sick enough. He said he had but one short life to live and that life he would live where he could be more comfortable than he could in Michigan where he must have the fever and ague.

May 13—My taxes last winter paid Jan. 6, 1835 were $3.42.

May 14—Plum in full bloom.

June 3—Timothy Edwards came here from Moscow.

Aug. 2—Attended meeting at St. Peter's church which is the first time of having divine service in it. Mr. O'Brien in the a.m. and Mr. Lister in the p.m.

Aug. 15—Commenced a Sunday School at St. Peter's church.

Sept. 4—There was a draft of the militia to go to Toledo. Moses went with his company. Our team was also drafted with Asahel to carry baggage.

Sept. 11—The militia returned. Gov. Mason came in town being superceeded by the President Jackson and John Horner appointed in his place.

Oct. 12—Observed a comet near the east star of Ursa Major. Charles Strong came here yesterday from Mass.

Nov. 12—Religious service has been discontinued at the church on account of cold. I bought stoves and pipe for church and got them put up. Cost $102.69. Thus I paid for my pew.

Nov. 23—This month was cold and after a snew which fell the 23rd was thorough winter weather.

Hospitals Get Help in M.S.U. Short Course

A ten-week training course for food service supervisors of Michigan hospitals got underway at Michigan State University this week.

Aimed directly at food service supervisors from small hospitals not able to obtain qualified dietitians, the course is the first of its kind anywhere, points out Margaret Gillam, director. It, too, is directed to those who assist dietitians in larger hospitals. Formerly dietetic specialist of the American Hospital association, Miss Gillam has had experience organizing and directing dietary departments at the University of Michigan hospital and the New York hospital—Cornell Medical center.

After almost two years of planning, the Michigan Hospital association and the Michigan Dietetic association, working with Michigan State University, have designed the training course. Financial support has also come from a $45,050 grant of the W. K. Kellogg foundation on a three-year basis.

The course will run from March 5—May 4. After the food service supervisors have completed these nine weeks, they will go back to their own hospitals to apply their training. During the six months following May 4, Miss Gillam will visit with and assist the trainees in their own work situation. Then, they will return to M.S.U. for the final week of training and to receive their certificates.

Much of the instruction is being given by specialists drawn from the faculty of Michigan State. Laboratories and classrooms in the foods and nutrition department of the home economics building and Kellogg Center are being used. Many of the 20 trainees enrolled are being housed in Kellogg Center on the University campus.

Subjects in the nine-weeks tion and menu purchasing, nutrition and menu planning, sanitation, safety, communication skills, food preparation, personnel management and supervisor and job training techniques. Miss Gillam points out that this is a practical course with much discussion of the students' own work problems.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Information "On The Line"

I was reading the other day how a person can get all sorts of things just by dialing a number on his telephone.

In New York you can get the time, the weather, or a prayer. In Philadelphia it's the stock reports. In Boston a voice tells bird watchers what's to be watched in the park.

Over in Europe, they go further. Vienna offers a five-minute fairy tale for kids. In Switzerland you can get the news in any of three languages. And a couple of places have "talking menus" for desperate housewives.

From where I sit, it doesn't matter if ideas are put out by telephone, through editorials, or in person—as long as we can take them or leave them. I happen to like a glass of beer with my supper. You may prefer coffee, tea or branch water. Well, there's no harm in "listening" to another's opinions . . . but if he should try to force them on you, it's always an American's privilege to simply "hang up!"

INDIANS

This five made 61 of the total 63 points.

Tecumseh, on the other hand, had three players who hit double figures. Ken Miller led the trio with five goals and nine charity tosses for 19 points. He was followed by Val Spangler with six and one good for 13 and Bill Hansen with four and two good for 10.

Mike Sisson appeared to be jinxed. Big Mike usually scores in double figures, too; but Saturday night he managed three goals and a brace of free throws for eight points.

RE-APPRAISAL

After paying the re-appraisers the city would have little left to do the many things that need to be done. Everybody has wanted additional services and some have wanted them overnight; but they have failed to realize that services cost money. With an increased valuation the city now has the opportunity to bring about some of these needed services.

But if the tax millage rate is reduced to 10 mills the city will not be able to scratch the surface in providing more services. A smaller reduction in the millage rate might be in order but we would like to see the council stick to their guns and not be brow-beaten by the current storm of protest over an increased valuation. Sure it will take courage not to reduce the millage rate five mills; but most of us, if we see more city improvements made, will thank the council for its stand.

If one looks at the re-appraisal in the proper light he would realize that for many years valuation here has been a muddle. The re-appraisal showed this. Had the increased valuation been more gradual it would not have been such a blow. After the initial shock wears off and the picture is more fully understood by more taxpayers, we believe they will be satisfied that tax equalization has been justified.

A city slightly more than two years old has many places to put its tax money. A new city hall with a combined police and fire station is sorely needed, just to mention one example. The city manager has publicly said in the past that the city might have to lay money aside little by little until it has enough to build the new city hall and stations. The reduced millage rate might provide some "nest egg" for this purpose; but it won't be too much and still provide for other needed services.

This is why we would like to see councilmen re-examine very carefully the pressure for reducing the millage, keeping in mind that the future of the city is more important than placating a group of irate taxpayers. We also would like to see them lay aside a little money each year for having re-appraisers work out a card file for all new real and personal property and re-check all existing property for improvements.

Nobody in his right mind wants to tax existing and potential new homes, business and industry out of Tecumseh but we hope councilmen will realize that the good Lord helps those who will help themselves and act accordingly on reducing the millage rate to 10 mills.

Explains Fluoride Test Charges

Monday night councilmen heard a professional chemist explain his $610 bill to the city for water tests made in connection with charges made by the anti-fluoridation committee which are now pending in circuit court.

Abe Charnov, the chemist, was asked to explain his bill after Ed Nelson, city manager, two weeks ago questioned the $610 amount by comparing it to a $100 bill C. H. Niggeman, county sanitation engineer, charged for the same work that Mr. Charnov did.

Before Mr. Charnov explained his bill, J. C. Beardsley, city attorney, said Judge Rex Martin ordered the water tests made.

The city attorney said he agreed to both men making the tests but, he added, "I thought each would charge about $100."

He further explained that Mr. Niggeman and Mr. Charnov were hired to give the tests complete impartiality. They made the tests by order of Judge Martin at the same time.

Mr. Charnov told councilmen his fee for the tests included a charge of $15 an hour and $10 for each laboratory test made. Twenty-four tests were conducted. These represented $240 in the bill. The rest was for hours spent over four weeks in drawing samples and in checking water department records here. He also included 10 cents a mile for mileage used in his work.

He said he charged the same rates when he was employed by "the opposition" several months ago to make their tests.

The chemist said that had an estimate of the total charges been made prior to the actual work the estimate would have been as much as or more than the final bill.

He also said that if Mr. Niggeman had not been a county employee during the time he was working for the court his charges would have been as great as his own. Mr. Niggeman, he said, had access to county and state facilities for laboratory tests and he made some of them on county time. Mr. Charnov said he made his own tests.

Mr. Charnov told councilmen he was not at liberty to tell them the finding of his tests.

He said he could only pare the bill "possibly on mileage" after checking to see if eight cents a mile should replace his charged 10 cents per mile.

Councilmen approved the payment of the $610 bill after Judge Martin also approves it.

Betty Day

Lead THS '56 Class

Miss Betty Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day, 2994 east Monroe road, has been named valedictorian of the senior class at Tecumseh high school; and Miss Shirley Larned, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Larned, 301 Chippewa street, has been named salutatorian of the class of 1956.

Miss Day's accumulated scholastic average was 3.93 and Miss Larned's was 3.89.

In addition to the two leaders, these 25 honor students were named by Neville Hart, high school principal: Eddy Hodges, Sharon Claxton, Betty Barton, Betty Vargo, Edith Kimerer, Donald Partridge, Larry Hooton, Wilma Bumpus, Val Spangler, Merene Boltz, Margaret Champanois, Delora Fletcher, Beverly McClain, Robert Benham, Marcia Bashore, Edwin Lewis, Albert Gebarowski, John Cadmus, Shirley Watson, Duncan Harris, Sherry Moore, John Rundell, William Spreeman, Mike Sisson and Rosemary Murphy.

There are 81 graduating seniors.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A GAY AND BEAUTIFUL cedar waxwing was seen and heard heralding the coming of spring in the Glenn Kohler's big elm early Wednesday morning.

CONGRATULATIONS TO the 11 young writers who won awards in the Detroit News writing contest.

ATTENTION IS CALLED to a new series that begins this week. Written by Jens Touborg, the article is called "The Way I Saw It" and it is a supplement to Peg Touborg's article "Mama Goes on Safari." I'm sure you will enjoy this new series as much as you did the last one on Africa.

THE THREE PERSONS who dropped in to check on the expiration date of Art Harding's paper gave us a shot in the arm. Their interest in Art, former city policeman, who is in the Parrett Nursing Home gave us a renewed faith in human nature.

ARTHUR S. BARNES, publisher of the Bristol Press (Connecticut) and cousin of Perry Satterthwaite, was greeted on a recent morning with 85 roses given to him by his employees in honor of his 85th birthday. Chick Young who draws "Blondie" also drew a special birthday card for Mr. Barnes who has published his paper 54 years.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—There is no time like Spring when life's alive in every thing.—Christina Rossetti

PRESBYTERIAN MEN ATTENDED CONVENTION

Ten men of the Presbyterian church and their pastor, the Rev. George Walworth returned Sunday night after spending three days in Chicago where they attended the eighth annual meeting of the National Council of Presbyterian Men.

They were Forest Abner, Charles Cottle, Gordon Garlick, Harold Hammel, Otto Meiers, Robert Ries, George Reinhart, David Van Winkle, now a student at McCormick Seminary, David Watson and Wellington Wotring.

SAFARI PICTURES SHOWN TO F.F.A.

Jens Touborg was guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Tecumseh Chapter F.F.A. at the high school, showing pictures of his African Safari. Many of the boys brought their parents and friends and all found the movie very interesting and educational.

The F.F.A. chapter wishes to thank Mr. Touborg for giving them the opportunity to see true pictures of animals and life in Africa. Many parts of the movie had been described very well by Mrs. Touborg in her book, "Mama Goes on Safari".

FIREMEN CALLED

Firemen were called out twice during the past week. Sunday they were called to the Tecumseh Products Company when fire broke out in a paint booth.

Tuesday they were called to the Ivan Maynard home on Kilbuck street when a short in an electric stove caused a fire. There was no damage in either fire.

More Rural Schools Annex to Tecumseh

Three more rural school districts annexed to Tecumseh Public Schools in special elections during the past week.

Saturday Paragon (Franklin Seven) and Sutton (Raisin Six) joined and Monday Lanning (Raisin One Fractional) joined.

Six of the districts now have annexed to Tecumseh. Wednesday Bird (Macon Three) voted on annexation but the HERALD went to press too early to report the results.

Saturday four more of the districts will vote. They are Centennial (Raisin 10), Lamkin (Franklin 10 Fractional), Franklin Center (Franklin One), and Newburg (Clinton One).

Districts that voted Saturday and Monday had three ballots.

One was for annexation. One was to raise the tax limitation to 13 mills of assessed valuation to support Tecumseh's debt retirement fund. And the third was whether the district should assume its share of the bonded indebtedness of the Tecumseh public schools.

Only district taxpayers were allowed to vote on the last two proposals. Any registered voter in the district could have voted on the annexation proposal.

These are the results of the voting Saturday and Monday:

Paragon—proposal one, 38 yes, 7 no; proposal two, 37 yes, 8 no; proposal three, 30 yes, 8 no.

Sutton—proposal one, 48 yes, 11 no; proposal two, 47 yes, 12 no; proposal three, 42 yes, 11 no.

Lanning—proposal one, 40 yes, 20 no; proposal two, 35 yes, 24 no; proposal three, yes 35, no 19.

New Farm Bureau Group Organized

A group of neighbors met Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Bishop of Franklin for the purpose of organizing a new Farm Bureau community group. In addition to the hosts those present included Mr. and Mrs. Grover Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. LaMont Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ruesink, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wisner and Ned Ruesink.

David Mellott of Morenci, Lenawee County Farm Bureau group organizer was present to assist with the details of organizing the new group. Also present were Loren Bretthauser, chairman of the Lenawee County Farm Bureau community groups committee, four members of his committee and one guest.

A brief business meeting was conducted and the following officers were elected: discussion leader, Mr. Bishop; chairman, Mr. Swartz; vice-chairman, Ralph Ruesink; secretary, Ruth Smith; minute-man, Ned Ruesink and woman's chairman, Mrs. Ralph Ruesink. It was decided to hold regular meetings on the second Monday of each month. The choice of a name and other details were left for future meetings.

A discussion relative to the various activities and group services in connection with community Farm Bureaus followed the adjournment of the business meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Two Injured as Trucks Collide

Two trucks were involved in an accident near the Kuehmann potato farm Tuesday about 1:20.

Witnesses told state police that a truck driven south by Edward Lambarth, 75, of Ann Arbor, swerved into the wrong lane and crashed head on with a truck driven by Harry Klein, 50, of Tipton, Indiana.

Lambarth received severe head cuts, a fractured skull and other possible fractures. Klein received chest injuries. Both men were taken to Herrick Memorial hospital.

BUY HERALDS

The Hadley Country Market in Tecumseh Acres now is selling HERALDS. The papers may be bought there beginning every Wednesday afternoon.

12-MINUTE METERS ARE PLACED UP

Twelve-minute parking meters have been placed on the four corners at the United Savings Bank, Palman's, Wright's Drug Store and at the D. & C.

They were placed in these spots at the suggestion of the chamber of commerce for the convenience of shoppers making stops of short duration and to offset double parking on the boulevard.

Driver Injured in Accident

Richard Kelly, 31, of Tecumseh, was seriously injured in a car accident Friday when his car ran off US 112 and struck a tree three miles west of Clinton.

Taken to Herrick Memorial hospital, he later was transferred to University hospital.

He received a broken leg and serious head injuries.

Spring

By some slide rule calculation, involving leap year, spring arrived a calendar day earlier this year.

But Mrs. Glenn Driscoll has a surer sign. Spring came at exactly 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Her windows command a sweep of the Red Pond. One moment it was empty. Then she looked again and there they were, a dignified parade of six this year, the white swans that annually pause there officially to open the season.

Psychologist Is P.T.A. Speaker

The West Branch P.T.A. met at the Central school Thursday evening in a joint meeting with the Central Association. Each group held its own business meeting and then assembled to listen to a talk by Wilmer E. Wilson, Lenawee county psychologist who explained the working of his department. He works in cooperation with the Huron Valley Clinic to assist children and parents who need special advice and training.

During the business meeting it was reported that the association had built new book shelves in all the classrooms of the West Branch and that it was planning to purchase a film strip projector for the use of the school. The committee for that purpose is Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. Richard Brighton and Robert Wood.

The chair appointed a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Robert MacGeorge, Mrs. Melvin Purple and Mrs. Frank Robinette. The group was reminded of the polio benefit dance to be given April 7 at a joint project of all the district P.T.A.s.

SUNRISE SERVICE SET FOR EASTER

The community Easter Sunrise Service will be held Easter Sunday, April 1 at 6:30 a.m. at the airport. The speaker will be the Rev. Bernard Gill.

This service is sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association in cooperation with the young people of the various churches. Everyone is invited.

Calvin Zorn

Sacred Cantata To Be Presented

The choir of the First Presbyterian church will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" in the church next Thursday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Thomas Tipton will direct the sacred cantata.

Soloists will be Mrs. Marcelle Smith and Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, sopranos; Arthur Schwartz, bass; and Bert Kageff of the University of Michigan, tenor.

They will be assisted by the 30-voice St. Andrew choir; and by a 24-piece orchestra from the University of Michigan.

The public is invited to attend.

RED CROSS DRIVE ENDS MARCH 31

Persons wishing to make contributions to the American Red Cross may do so by sending their checks to Mrs. L. W. Larsen of Tecumseh.

Although the Red Cross was included in the Community Fund drive the need that developed from floods and storms is so great that additional contributions are sought.

The drive ends Saturday, March 31.

City Hires New Engineer

Calvin Zorn who for the past four years has been employed by Bay City as its civil engineer has been hired by the City of Tecumseh as city engineer.

Mr. Zorn will begin his new duties here next Monday, March 26. He will assist city manager Ed Nelson in all engineering projects. Previously the city manager also was city engineer and councilmen felt that Tecumseh is growing too fast to have one man do both jobs. They feel that the detail of two jobs is too much for one man.

It also was felt that Mr. Zorn, who currently is working on his registered engineer's certificate, soon will be able to assume the duties of project engineer on city projects such as additional water and sewer lines and curb and gutter and street jobs. Previously this work was done by outside engineers.

The new city engineer comes highly recommended. Before working for Bay City he was employed by the Michigan State Highway Department before and during his education at Michigan State University. He graduated from the East Lansing school in 1952 with a degree in civil engineering.

Born March 20, 1925, in Monroe County, he was 31 Tuesday. He graduated from Dundee high school in 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Zorn have three children whose ages are seven, four and three.

He is an E.I.T. member of the Saginaw Valley Chapter of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the Chi Epsilon National Civil Engineering Honor Fraternity.

The Zorn family will move to Tecumseh as soon as adequate housing is available.

City Manager Gets Vote of Confidence

City councilmen Monday night unanimously adopted a resolution giving Ed Nelson, city manager, a vote of confidence.

The action was prompted by the ninth point of the "Independent Voters' Ticket." Four candidates on this ticket who seek council posts in the April 2 election claim they would "hire a competent city manager who has a comprehensive knowledge of city affairs and management, at a salary that justifies his ability."

The resolution said "Tecumseh has been favored" by having Mr. Nelson as city manager. It continued by pointing out that "E. J. Nelson has unstintingly devoted his own time and talents in the furtherance of city projects and has, in all respects, been an outstanding public servant."

"Now therefore be it resolved that this municipality go on record as endorsing without reservation the record of said E. J. Nelson and express its gratitude to him for his many personal sacrifices and for unswerving dedication to public duty."

Councilman Schwartz made the motion to adopt and Councilman Hamilton seconded.

Councilman Schwartz said he could make the motion 600 times.

Mayor H. H. Hanna, incumbent, who seeks re-election April 2 said: 'This may get rid of some of this dirt that is being spread."

Legion Celebrates 37th Anniversary

The 37th annual birthday party of the American Legion Saturday evening at the Legion Home was one of the most successful ever held in Tecumseh.

Two hundred members, wives and friends enjoyed the chicken dinner supplied by the auxiliary with Mrs. Walter Murphy in charge. Past commanders present were introduced by Louis Schneider Sr. and past presidents by Mrs. Schneider while the chaplain of the auxiliary, Mrs. Homer Colson conducted an impressive memorial in memory of the ten commanders and two presidents who have died since the post was organized. Vern Manwaring acted as master of ceremonies.

Following supper the audience was entertained by pictures taken by Sam Coscarelli on a recent trip to Mexico and cards and dancing completed the pleasure of the evening. Table decorations were streamers of blue and gold and the traditional huge birthday cake.

Sea Themes Used by Cub Scouts at Pack Meetings

The March meeting of Cub Scout pack 73 was opened by the flag presentation and the singing of sea songs, after which the boys were brought to attention and stood uniform inspection.

The awards were then presented with the lights dimmed and the candlelit ceremonial board used. The "Buttom of the Sea" scenery which decorated the stage had been made by Mrs. Donald Cobb. Each den then displayed a shadow scene depicting a type of fish which the parents were asked to identify.

Gregg King was dressed as a deep sea diver and Ronald Jones as an octopus. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson Jr. represented King Neptune and Queen Minerva. Tin Can Cubby, which is awarded for the largest attendance went to Den 8 whose den mothers are Mrs. Stanley Kruse and Mrs. Owen Richardson.

Refreshments of various kinds of sea food were served by the mothers after the close of the meeting.

Awards were issued as follows: Bobcat pins to Lee Hannibal, LaVon Schoonover, and James Newell; Wolf badges to Carson House III, Marlowe Elliott and Terry Haughn; Wolf badge and gold arrow to Michael Montgomery and Ricky Milosh; bear badge and gold arrow to Paul Kruse and James Brown and Lion badge and gold and silver arrows to Phillip Miller. An aquarium of sea horses was displayed by Mrs. Garth Hall.

Cubs of Scout Pack 4 and their parents descended to the bottom of the sea for their pack meeting Monday evening, March 19. Weird fish, seaweed and anchors decorated the Baptist Youth House where the meeting was held.

Den 5 opened the meeting with the pledge of allegiance to the flag and led the audienc in the singing of the "Marine Hymn."

After a short business meeting, King Neptune (Dr. R. E. Dustin) and the cubs marched in singing "Sailing, Sailing" and the boys presented several amusing skits, narrated by Robert Williamson. They included the capture of the S. S. Tin Can and her sardine crew, a sham battle between a deep sea diver and an octopus, a blowing game, fish slides, spearing practice and an octopus race.

"Barnacle Bill, the Sailor" was sung and a knot tying contest was staged among the winners from each den. Mike Sharpe won this contest, retaining the cub pennant for the month.

Cubmaster Dustin and awards chairman, Wayne Hebb then conducted an awards ceremony. New boys inducted as Bobcats were Paul Fisher, Ricky Brighton and Bradley Hatch. Wolf badges went to Jerry Hale, Richard Duffin, Pat Ward and Robert Berkley and the latter also received a gold arrow.

Bear badges went to Tommy Richardson and Mike Higgins and badge and gold and silver arrows to Gary McKenzie. Richard Fielder received two silver arrows; John Mensing, one gold arrow; Terry Beland, one silver arrow and Ronald Anderson, two silver arrows.

Arrows under wolf badges were given as follows; one gold and two silver to Bob Morey, two silver and one gold to Franklin Baike and one gold to each of Lerry Lee Keiths, Ricky Nighswander, Tommy Smith and Terry Sisty.

Den 6 won the Tin Can cubby for having the largest percentage of attendance.

It was announced that there would be a skating party April 11 and that the boys were to meet at the Baptist church at 3:45 p.m.

98 PER CENT PAID

About 98 per cent of city taxes were paid, reports Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city treasurer. Taxes collected amounted to $149,869 and delinquent taxes totalled $2393.

New Local Assessed Valuations Little Effect Average City Taxpayer in Amount of Cash Paid for Schools

BY SUPT. JAMES McDOWELL

I am writing this article for the local newspaper because in the last few weeks many people have asked me, "How will these higher city assessed valuations effect the amount of money we will have to pay for schools?" The answer is, that if your property was properly assessed in relation to the rest of the property similar to it in the city in the past, the number of dollars you pay out of your pocket next year on your new assessed valuation should not be more, and will possibly be less, than you paid this year. However, if your property was under-assessed in the past you will pay more and if it was over-assessed you will pay less.

I would like again to present the tax picture as related to all Michigan Public Schools. Since last July, school taxes are levied upon state equalized valuations rather than local equalized valuations as in the past. Essentially this means that a person who owns a piece of property which is assessed by the state at $1000 for instance in Tipton, and another man who owns a similar piece of property in Macon assessed by the state at $1000, will pay the same school tax if both pieces of property are in the same school district.

In other words the man who lives in Tipton and the man who lives in Macon and all persons living in the same school district and having the same assessed state valuation pay the same amount of money in school taxes. This does not mean that each pays the same tax rate on his local assessed valuation, only, that he pays the same amount in dollars and cents per year on similar pieces of property.

Now let me present some concrete examples of this equality of tax payment and its relation to local assessed valuations. Last year the board of education requested of the board of supervisors 5.9 mills on state equalized valuation for the operation of the public schools and 6 mills on state equalized for bond debt retirement. The board of supervisors upon receipt of this request honored it and the city assessor then adjusted this rate on state equalized valuations to local city assessed valuations.

City of Tecumseh taxpayers then paid 13.3 mills on local assessed valuations for operation and 13.6 mills on local assessed valuations for bond debt retirement purposes. Since many rural districts contemplating annexing to Tecumseh are interested in this tax analysis I have made the accompanying table:

You will notice that for pieces of property valuated by the State on an equalized basis and of the same intrinsic value regardless of the location if paying Tecumseh tax rates would pay $11.90 per thousand but because of varying local equalized valuations for different townships each would pay a different local tax rate. Tecumseh city local assessed valuations having been low in the past paid the highest rates but no more money dollar for dollar than on property of equal value as rated by the state in other localities.

Wherever the local assessed valuations are high the rate is lower and where local valuations are lower the rates are higher BUT all pay the SAME amount in dollars and cents according to their STATE equalized valuations which in general are considered a much more nearly accurate appraisal all over the state than local valuations.

(CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK)

| Property Tax | Total School Millage State Equalized | Total $ per Thousand State Equalized | Total School Millage Local Equalized | Total $ per Thousand Local Equalized |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Tecumseh City | 11.9 | $11.90 | 26.90 | $26.90 |
| Tipton | 11.9 | 11.90 | 24.99 | 24.99 |
| Macon | 11.9 | 11.90 | 19.75 | 19.75 |
| Ridgeway | 11.9 | 11.90 | 19.73 | 19.73 |

Tour of Goodwill Industries Made by Monday Club

Thirty-three members of the Monday Club left the Methodist church by bus at 10 a.m. Monday morning and reached the buildings of the Goodwill Industries in Detroit at 11:30. Located at Brush and East Grand Boulevard, these cover two-thirds of a city block.

The club members were met by the manager of the industries, Mrs. Helen Kopka, who is a former resident of Lenawee county having been born in Morenci. Mrs. Kopka gave the group some background information regarding the organization before they were turned over to a guide for their tour. She says the business, which now employs 380 people, has a waiting list of six or seven hundred who wish training there. As employees complete their training they may obtain work in other companies.

The idea of Goodwill began in Boston in 1902 in the imagination of Dr. E. J. Helms, who trained to be a foreign missionary, decided this work was of more immediate value. The Detroit branch was opened in 1912. It has a full time executive secretary and a board of directors made up of Detroit industrialists. It is sponsored by a woman's asociation which has representatives from church and club groups and by junior group, who put on such events as the antique shows. Last year's show yielded a profit of $10,000 which was used to redecorate and refurnish the industries' rooms. The buildings have been purchased from bequests left the organization.

It has six retail stores in the city, the largest of which brings in about $1,000 per day. There all the discards which have been cleaned, mended and repaired are offered for sale at reasonable prices. The work is done by the needy and the handicapped, who are divided into groups according to their ability. The young lady who acted as guide for the Tecumseh ladies was an example of what could be done without hands.

The tour included the workshops and display rooms as well as the attractive lounge, recreation rooms and cafeteria. There is also a hospital room with a nurse in attendance. Luncheon was served in the cafeteria to the visitors at $1.00 per plate, but employees received a more bountiful meal for 40 and 50 cents.

As the visit was completed at 2 p.m., the ladies decided to attend the Flower Show and were driven to the fairgrounds. They report an outstanding show this year with the general theme of "America the Beautiful," the climax of which is Mt. Vernon and its gardens.

A very satisfactory trip ended in Tecumseh at 5:30 p.m.

1000 CASH PRIZES of $10 each PLUS $40,000 CASH BONUSES

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY!

HOW TO WIN—In 2 to 4 years, you'll see announcements by "Big 3" car makers about a great new development. American Motors cars have it now—single unit construction, developed at a cost of $50,000,000—the biggest difference in cars today. With others racing to copy our method, we will pay generously for a simple name for our modern, single unit construction we can use in our advertising.

The first name that pops into your mind can be the $25,000 winning name. A simple name like "Duo-Safe" or "Modern-weld". See your Nash dealer or your Hudson dealer. Get Free Entry Blank and folder "Facts To Help You Win". Please read rules carefully, especially Rule #4 which explains how contest will be judged. In event of ties for any prize, tied contestants will be asked to write a simple 25-word statement which will be judged to break ties, if any.

INSURANCE DETAILS—Husband and wife (if members of same household at time of purchase) each get insurance providing for payment of $12,500 to beneficiary or estate of either—thus providing total of $25,000—if either or both should be fatally injured while driving or riding (separately or together) in their new private passenger American Motors car anywhere in the world during first year of ownership, if fatality results within 100 days after accident. Applies to privately-owned new cars bought in U. S. and Alaska, where state insurance laws permit.

ONE NIGHT STANDS AT SUTTON OPERA HOUSE

(Fourth and last part)

If the shades of all the players and of all the plays that have been resurrected these past weeks have haunted the old Opera House, its stage has been more crowded than ever before in its career. They have stepped down from the posters on the walls and out of tattered, yellow programs and most of all they have materialized from the memories of those who saw them from the audience or, even more accurately, from the memories of those who had a part in their production.

The years that were the swan song of the road company, those just before 1920, are the ones best remembered, rememberd by Edna Staulter who played the piano for most of those later plays, by Don Blesing and Harold Sisson, who shifted scenery and Fred Dickinson, who was head usher.

Practically all the companies relied on a local orchestra and that was a changing group. Clare Camburn, the "Coller Boys," Tom Denison, Duaine Service and many others came and went in the orchestra pit with Edna the one constant figure. Handed a "cue sheet" when the troupe arrived they were expected to supply the right music at the right time with no advance practice.

The actor probably best remembered of that time was Norman Hackett in "Typhoon" but the Irish songs of Fisk O'Hara are a close second. Then there was May Robson—"herself"—in one of her farewell tours with "The Rejuvenation off Aunt Mary" and scores of lesser lights in plays such as "The First Violin," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "When We Were Young," "Very Good Eddie" and the still lighter comedies such as, "Mutt and Jeff" and "Bringing Up Father."

There were hundreds of minstrel shows like those of John W. Vogel and stock companies, including the Cutter Co. with Blanche White, the Henderson players, the Marks Co. and the McGibbeny family troupe, who traveled in their own private railroad car. All would put on a different play each night for a week and most were excellent.

Harold Sisson remembers being a trifle awed by the fact that Norman Hackett and Fisk O'Hara both brought their valets with them and Don Blesing supplies the name of the play in which Charles Grapewin played in Tecumseh. It was "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp."

One poster heralds the coming of Blackstone the Magician but we do not know when or how often he was here. Since Blackstone was born in Michigan and his home at Coloma is still known as the magic center of the world he may have been here more than once and probably his illusions were assisted by the trap door still in the floor of the stage.

One of the last and one of the best in the light operas given here was "Spring Maid," with a company which had played in many of the larger cities. It is remembered that this production brought their own orchestra and two car loads of special scenery and that Mr. Mark, then owner of the Strand, had to guarantee them an advance profit of $400.

A memory that goes back long before 1890 recalls Robert Mantell in "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" and a production of "The Count of Monte Christo," both of which were outstanding. From those days too come recollections of the Lyceum lecture courses, those important entertainments which were the adult education series of their period. Early courses were supplied by the Pond Lyceum Bureau of Boston and brought to the town such noted speakers as Alba Heywood, John DeMotte, Marshall P. Wilder with his "Crossing the Alps" and Russell Conway of "Acres of Diamonds" fame. Later the lectures were interspersed with musical groups and with chalk artists and one scientific lecture is recalled when demonstrations were given of "wireless telegraphy" and liquid air. These left at least one member of the audience with a complete lack of understanding but an indelible memory of a teakettle steaming merrily atop a cake of ice.

Tecumseh was known as a good show town for it drew its audiences from a wide and prosperous area but it also dearly loved to "put on" its own. Hundreds of home talent plays, musicals and minstrels followed each other across the old stage. One of the most famous of the very early productions was in the 1880's, a "benefit" for the Library Association which was the forerunner of the Public Library. This was Dickin's night in which 167 men, women and children portrayed his famous characters. There were skits of the Pickwick Trial Scene, Jarley's Wax Works, Fezziwig's Ball and Squeer's School followed by a grand parade of all the characters down through the audience.

Many of the after 1900 amateur shows were coached and costumed by the John Rogers Co. of Fostoria, Ohio and one of the most elaborate of these was "Lalla Roakh." This starred Mrs. Tom McCann, Metta McKinney and Levi Hayden and in it little Freddie Dickinson as a spear bearer made the debut of his long stage career. Still tacked to the wall inside the stage wing is a "cue sheet" for what was obviously a minstrel show. It lists jokes to be passed "from Hammel to Wood to Armstrong" and from "Updyke to Jones to Duncan." Soloists were Pulver and Rathbun and "Kentucky Babe" was sung by "the" quartette, Wade Frost, Roger Waring, Seymour Boyd and Fred Dickinson, the boys who sang their way together through four years of high school and one of college.

For nearly 40 years after it was built the Opera House also staged the most amateur of all the home talent shows—commencement exercises. From early classes of three or four to the larger groups of the 1900s they sat on the flower decorated stage, usually before the "forest scene" backdrop, a quaking semicircle waiting to make their first and usually last stage appearance before a packed and fortunately uncritical audience.

Plays, amateur and professional, Memorial Day services, political rallies, formal dances, graduating exercises, the nickel movie and now wide-vision sound pictures, the old Opera House has seen them all.

We are seeking a successful man stopped by a salary. By ordinary standards you are rated a success. Yet you know that in your present position you will never have the opportunity to show what you can really do and earn.

Today, due to expansion of business we can offer you an opportunity to make a business connection with no restrictions on earning power. Our company is nationally advertised and the largest organization of its kind in the world.

If you are between 21 and 55 years of age and feel you have practically reached the top in your present work and you honestly believe that your annual income should be much higher—

Apply in person to Mr. Townsend, Hayes Hotel, Jackson, Michigan, Friday evening 7:30 p.m., Saturday, March 24, 10 a.m. sharp.

Try the V-8 that smashed 30 world records in one day !

Discover what happened at the thrilling Kingman, Arizona performance run! Try this Ford yourself . . . for pick-up . . . for passing . . . for hill-leveling! You'll love what you experience!

Photographed at world's most modern test track—Ford's new desert proving grounds at Kingman, Arizona.

It's the 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8 you can have now in Ford!

At 6 p.m. on Saturday, February 25, a '56 Ford set out to re-write the record book at the new Ford Proving Grounds, Kingman, Ariz. Just a little over one hour later, this 225-h.p. Ford had set 30 new world marks—ranging from short runs to 100-mile performance! To you this record-breaking performance promises the most exciting response ever delivered for so little money. Hills you've long known will disappear. Stop lights will be fast fading memories within instants after your foot nudges the throttle. And when it comes to passing, you'll pass in a wink with plenty of "whoosh" in reserve.

Thunderbird looks, too

But you get more than record-breaking performance when you drive a Ford V-8. You get the long, low look of the Ford Thunderbird. It's the kind of sleek, years-ahead styling for which Ford is famous.

Let Lifeguard Design Start Protecting You

And, of course, you get Ford's exclusive Lifeguard Design. Among all cars in the low-price field, only Ford gives you this extra protection. Doesn't your family deserve this extra safety in the event of an accident?

More real economy, real stand-up

So whether you judge a car on performance . . . or safety . . . or styling, it's easy to see that your best buy is a Ford V-8. And as an added benefit, you get the economical upkeep and built-in value that are part of the Ford tradition. So . . . come in today, won't you? Slide behind the wheel of this 225-h.p. Ford that set 30 world performance records! Take it out on the road . . . and let it whisk you from "whoa" to GO as you've never gone before! When you return you'll understand why Ford is the V-8 with the world's biggest following.

The GO is great in a FORD V-8

Frosty Recreation

An upended tip-up is the signal thousands of ice fishermen watch for on lakes throughout Michigan these days. This angler, busy on a northern lake, had a medium-sized bluegill when he reeled in his line. The popular tip-up, as shown in this Conservation Department photo, helps bring angling enjoyment and tasty game fish dinners to countless Michiganders each winter.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Trout fishermen get a chance for their first 1956 activity next month when rainbow trout start their spring spawning runs.

The extended spring rainbow trout fishing season gets under way April 14 on certain lakes and streams in 10 upper and 16 lower peniusula counties.

Rainbows move upstream out of the Great Lakes in the spring and fall and would be wasted in certain streams if not taken by anglers.

The extended rainbow season runs into the regular trout season, scheduled to open April 28 this year.

A complete list of waters open to trout fishing during the special season is available from the Conservation Department's fish division, Lansing 26.

Reports from northern districts of the state indicate numerous Michigan deer already have starved and weather conditions continued to restrict deer activity this week.

Upper peninsula starvation victims discovered during the last week include two deer in Ontonagon county, three fawns in northern Dickinson county and two fawns in Marquette county.

More deer deaths were reported in the lower peninsula including nine starved fawns and three deer killed by dogs in the Mio district, five starved fawns in Montmorency county and one starving deer killed by dogs in the Gladwin district.

Game biologists point out that each discovered deer death represents numerous undetected fatalities in more remote and snow-covered areas. A complete account of deer deaths cannot be made until winter snows melt.

Snow depths in the upper peninsula ranged from six inches to 2½ feet, while lower peninsula depths varied from two inches to 1½ feet.

Upper peninsula deer were restricted to the vicinity of yarding areas in the Baraga and Newberry district, but were able to move out of yards somewhat in Crystal Falls and Escanaba districts.

Melting snow allowed freer movement in part of the lower peninsula, but deer still were somewhat restricted except in southern parts of the Gladwin and Baldwin districts.

Spring is on the march and with it comes another hazardous forest fire season.

Conservation Department officials have asked that fishermen, campers, trappers and all others using public lands be extremely careful with matches, tobacco, campfires and other possible sources of fire this spring.

Southern Michigan's expanding deer herd, often a cause of farm crop damage and highway accidents, was involved in more trouble this week.

*Four deer were killed by a loco*motive near Vermontville, Eaton county, early in the week when they leaped into the path of an oncoming train.

Accidental deer deaths in the southern lower peninsula have increased sharply in recent years. Some 688 whitetails were killed in highway accidents in southern Michigan last year, an increase of more than 80 per cent over 1954.

Deer populations in southern parts of the state grow rapidly because hunters do not cut the herd sufficiently. Deer in the region also have a higher reproduction rate than their northern counterparts because of more favorable food and weather conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Hara and son Neil returned last Wednesday after a three weeks visit with their son, Lt. Norbert O'Hara and family in Florida and a cruise in the Caribbean. While at Miami they called on Mrs. Paul Viff, a former resident of Tecumseh, who has been in Florida for the past four years. They also had a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hollingshead while passing through Bradenton.

A group of Tecumseh ladies took advantage of an excursion over the Wabash railroad, Saturday to attend "Cinerama Holiday" and spent a day in Detroit. They included Miss Alice Hopkins, Mrs. Mabel Beardsley, Miss Beth Satterthwaite, Mrs. Ruby Smith, Mrs. Russell Thurlby, Mrs. Lillian Hoagland, Miss Marie Koernig, Miss Ruby Preston, Miss Geraldine French and Mrs. Dale Tingley. They were poined in Adrian by Miss Mabel Hamblin and Mrs. Harriet Pawson of Tipton and while in Detroit had dinner with Miss Gertrude Spaulding of the Henry Ford hospital.

A four couple wedding anniversary celebration which included several Tecumseh people was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher in Pittsford. Besides the Fletchers, the wedding couples were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hicks of Clinton and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Braden and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown of Tecumseh. Other guests were Mrs. Maude Cummins and James Herron of Tecumseh and Miss Valorie Bulley of Britton. Three decorated wedding cakes were features of the dinner.

---

The 30th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson was observed Sunday with a family dinner at their home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook and family of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pearson and daughter, Kimberlee and Curtis Dolan of Detroit. A long distance call from Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pearson in Boston was received during the afternoon. The beautiful wedding cake served at the dinner was made by the daughter, Mrs. Cook.

. . . And Another Aspect

Another aspect of the re-appraisal of city real and personal property needs to be considered. This aspect concerns the relationship of the commonly called winter or school and county tax to the summer or city tax.

Before examining the winter tax, however, we wish clearly to point out that we are pro-school and the following examination should not be construed to mean that we feel that the public schools are getting too much in tax money.

The schools, however, are getting the lion's share of the total local taxes paid.

Let's take a look at the picture last year and see what happened. For the sake of clarity let's first just use the local equalized assessed valuation in this little tax problem.

Last winter local taxpayers paid 6.77 mills to the county; 13.3 mills for school operations; 13.6 mills for school buildings' bonded indebtedness; and one mill to the public library. This was a total of 34.67 mills on local equalized valuation.

In other words, the winter tax for the county and schools was more than twice as much as the 15 mill summer tax for city operations.

A further examination of the school-county tax shows that 13.6 mills went to pay off bonds on buildings. Suppose we didn't have this additional millage. Without it the school millage would have been 13.3 or less than the city's millage rate.

This bonded indebtedness millage is the one that has hurt; but nothing could be done about it. The schools were needed and the people saw the need and voted it.

Now that the schools by a Michigan Supreme Court decision use the state equalized for figuring school millage rates this bonded indebtedness soon will be paid off.

Using state equalized this was the county-school millage picture last year: three mills to county; 6.3 mills to schools (included library); and six mills on school bonds. Chances are very good that the county again will ask only three mills so let's confine the rest of this examination to the school millage rate.

Assume that the state says Tecumseh is worth $31,786,000 as the re-appraisers' figures showed. Also, assume that all 16 districts (valued at about $10,000,000) annex to Tecumseh Public Schools. This would give a state equalized of more than $41,000,000. With this state equalized figure the millage

Realty Views

At a meeting several months ago, I found myself in a chance conversation with Marty Forrest.

He was telling a friend that he was interested in buying a good home. Naturally this was favorable news because I knew, from his reputation, that Marty had "substantial assets."

"I've got a place for sale that might fill the bill," I said to Marty.

"Is it that one you advertised in the paper about a week ago?" Marty replied.

"Yes," I answered.

"Sorry," Marty said, "but that is too big a deal for me. I didn't want to pay that much. I'd have to sell something else to handle it."

"It is a high valued property" I admitted, "but I'm practically certain the owner would accept one of your properties in trade." Also I have a large loan committment on the house."

"That's different," Marty replied, "I'll look at it." He did—and bought it!

If you are in the market for a property of any kind, check with us. We know much more about the properties, and how to handle them, than we can detail in our ads. So, remember, discuss your property "wants" with us — we'll work out a deal for you if at all possible!

Do You Know The Answer?

These children know the answer. Do you?

The question is, "What institution has done more good for mankind than any other?"

It is the Church.

Here is another question. "Why has the Church done more good than any other institution?"

The Answer Is God—God working through men and women.

God is the answer to your problems. Ask Him and see. Worship Him at Church Every Week—At Home Every Day.

Chief, Flight Test Operations, Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Dear God, up here where the clouds fly free, I feel very close to You. Encourage me to live a life of honest dealing and clean thinking. Teach me to choose harder right instead of easier wrong—never to be content with a half truth.

Give me the courage that is born of loyalty to all—that knows no fear when truth and right are in jeopardy.

Please God, let me never forget You are always with me as my Pilot.

Letter to Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I was more than surprised when Mayor Hanna and City Manager Ed Nelson stated a few weeks ago—No Tax increase this year on property in Tecumseh. But the echo had hardly died down when up pops a new excuse for revaluating all property personal and real.

Why this makes our Mayor and City Manager a sort of Indian giver or bum Doctor who prescribes an overly large meal and when you complain of misery he immediately suggests bicarbonate of soda for relief.

I for one would think that unless a man knows whereof he speaks he should refrain from speaking.

I have been a resident of Tecumseh 20 years of my life, but can say there is more loose talk in politics than is good for our City.

It is small wonder we have no desire to go to the polls when all we can get from those we elect is very poor promises.

I think the people should all turn out and vote April 2 for a straight Independent ticket after reading their platform.

The Diary of Thomas Wright

(The years 1836 and 1837 as recorded by the first generation of the Wright family in Tecumseh)

Dec.—

Had a party. 36 persons were present from the village.

This winter collecting timber of all kinds to build me a house. In the course of December I had a well dug and stoned up for my purposed home. Also a shop built to make brooms in, which I afterwards turned to a kitchen. Quantity of wheat raised this year 130 bushels.

Feb.—Began making brooms myself, having divided with Ingols.

March 9—My daughter Harriet was married to J. L. Guion.

March 14—Bought a hive of bees for $5.00. The season cold through this month and snow on the ground and ice in ponds.

April 21—Began to dig a cellar.

May 1—Mr. Cole preached here for the first time. (Note, at the Episopal church)

May 20—Agreed to sell half my farm to Ives H. Miles for $2,600.

June 1—May has passed off in on erespect singular for every Sabbath but one has been fair. For thirty years previous it has never failed to rain every Sabbath in the month of May.

June 9—Mr. Cole came to Tecumseh again, having been the last month preaching in Detroit to supply the place of the Rt. Rev. Samuel W. Coskry, who came into the country about a month since in the capacity f Bishop of the Episcopal church of Michigan. Mr. Cole was appointed Rector of St. Peter's church, Tecumseh.

June 9—Carpenters began at building my home. July 2 the house was raised and August 20 the woodwork was finished. Sept. 2 the mason work was completed, the painting, etc. done; so my family moved into the house Sept. 7 almost five years after having been in Tecumseh.

June 13—Charles Phelps and family left here having got thus far on their way towards Princetown, Ill.

June 29—Today my daughter Elizabeth died. She had been confined the 15th of June. The funeral service was read by Mr. Cole. Her little son survived her.

Sept. 19—Today Bishop W. Coskry preached here for the first time and administered the sacrament. On this occasion I got out to church but was not able to resume the care of the S.S. until Nov. 7.

Speculation in land has this season been all the rage, and has been carried on in an unprecedented degree. I have never before in one year known so much land to change owners. Not only in the new settlements but to the East multitudes [illegible] removed West of Lake Erie and Ohio. It seemed as though the whole of the east was emptying itself to the west. The appearance on the great roads was that of an inundation of moving population. Immense quantities of the public lands were bought up for speculation and many men made fortunes and thus a rage for getting rich at once pervaded the entire community. This rage for speculation was finally arrested by President Jackson's famous specie circular and finally put an end to by the refusal of the U. S. Bank to redeem their bills which course was followed by all the other banks in the Union in the spring of 1837. The demoralizing effects of this speculation mania was astonishing. Every old way was set aside especially industry and economy. The idea was to get rich at once. But as most of the business was done by credit or on borrowed capital many who thought themselves rich found themselves in the course of the next year still poor and people found they must cultivate their farms to thrive or indeed to live.

Nov. 9—Moses left us for the west to try to make his fortune.

Nov. 10—Mr. G. W. Cole, our Episcopal minister, came to board with us and continued until the 24 to next March.

Dec. 25—I lost an ox by his getting into the creek in which he was confined by ice and old trees so long that he died after we had pulled him out. This broke up my team. The winter had set in very early and continued very cold.

Jan. 23—Bought a yoke of cattle of Dea. Hall for 80 dollars. This winter Mr. Cole set up a Bible class which met in the church once a week through the winter. My business was chiefly making brooms and getting timber to mill to build a barn, having found the importance of one again experimentally.

We kept the horses up to the one I had sold and in taking them out to water Roswell got severely wounded in his mouth and jaws, the scars of which he will probably carry to the end of his life. The winter passed away and on the 9th of March, I heard the black birds sing and the blue birds, the 10th. This year I let my farm out to Benj. Fisk on shares.

Great commotion through the whole nation and particularly the merchantile part in consequence of the suspension of specie payments by the U. S. bank and, of consequence, by all other banks.

August—Had a pretty good crop of wheat this year and for want of a barn had to stack it out. The mill to which I had taken my logs to saw had burnt down and I must wait until it could be rebuilt for boards and in consequence it was not until late in the fall that I could get it built. Oct. 24 it was raised and finished the last of November.

Sept. 23—Moses left us for Texas.

Sept. 24—For the first time in Tecumseh I was today called to church by a church bell.

Dec. 4—Got my wheat into the barn and on the 25th my little stock of hay.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Do-It-Whose-Self?

Monk McCarthy's almost as good at publicity stunts as he is at servicing and repairing cars—which is pretty darned good.

His latest gimmick is a handbill titled: "DO-IT-YOURSELFERS! Why Not Grease Your Own Car?"

Then he follows with two paragraphs about all the greases you'll need—the full set of wrenches, spray gun, grease gun, four jacks—the ability to work flat on your back with a face full of goo. And at the very end there's this line: "Or, if that's too much trouble, we'll do the job for 75¢."

From where I sit, I'll have to admit Monk's schemes attract attention. They often seem farfetched to me, but he and I always had different opinions on how to run a business—just as we have different opinions about what's the best beverage. He likes hot tea—I prefer a glass of beer—which doesn't keep us from having a "smooth-running" friendship.

PROCLAMATION
Easter Seal Month

STATE OF MICHIGAN
Executive Office — Lansing

There are in the State of Michigan, thousands of crippled children and handicapped adults.

Our right to aid the crippled is a privilege to be accepted, guarded and exercised fully. We have a responsibility for giving each child a chance at health and happiness and a future means of livelihood.

It is economically sound to make possible such services as those financed through Easter Seal funds, since these services help dependent crippled children to become independent and self-sustaining adults. The specialized services of rehabilitation, medical and educational aid for the crippled are efficiently and effectively administered by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., and its local affiliates in this state.

THEREFORE, I, G. Mennen Williams, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the month from March 10 to April 10, 1956, as in Michigan, and urge all citizens to support this drive generously and thereby lend a helping hand to our crippled children.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Michigan, this twenty-ninth day of February, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred Fifty-six, and of the Commonwealth the One Hundred Twentieth.

G. Mennen Williams
Governor

BY THE GOVERNOR:
James M. Hare
Secretary of State

Murphys Celebrate Golden Wedding

A family dinner party in Jackson last Sunday marked the observance of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Allen road. Ten members of the immediate family were present. They were Mr. and Mrs. Wenton Murphy and daughter Rosemary and Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Murphy and son Ronald of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Murphy was formerly Miss Hettie O'Hara of Clinton and she and Mr. Murphy were married in Adrian March 14, 1906 and have spent their entire married life on the farm which is now their home. They are the parents of two sons and have three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Local Topics

Miss Mary McWilliams has received word of the birth last Wednesday of a son to her niece and husband, Pvt. and Mrs. Dan Pitkin in Stuttgart, Germany. Mrs. Pitkin is the former Nancy Lathers. The Pitkins have been in Germany for two years and will return to America in July.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs Murray Day and family were Mrs. Days' sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Johnson and children of Jackson. The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Larsen have sold their home on west Pottawatamie to Mr. and Mrs. Cal Roll of Michigan City, Ind., and are building a new house in River Acres. Mr. and Mrs. Roll will move to Tecumseh in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Porter of Vicksburg, Mich., were visiting friends in Tecumseh recently.

Mrs. Samuel Rolph of Berrien Springs, Mich., and Mrs. Edwin Williamson of Kalamazoo were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Anderson last week.

Halsey Eggleston is recuperating from a back operation. He is in Bowling Green, Ohio, and friends may write him in care of the Deck Funeral Home in Bowling Green.

Tractors

With 4-H Spring Achievement approaching 4-H tractor programs are a bee-hive of activity. 4-H boys in Lenawee County are finishing the winters work in four phases of the tractor and farm machinery work. They are studying three units on tractor care and one on machinery care. Later in the month they will be finishing their reports by writing on one of the following topics, "The Need for Tractor"; The Value of Cost Records in Operating a Farm Tractor" or "The Importance of the Proper Care of Farm Machinery."

There are five tractor clubs, with an enrollment of over 100 boys in tractor work this year. The clubs in the county are the State Line Pistons, A. C. Watters leader; Tecumseh Cylinder Heads, Charles Bishop and Richard Whelan leaders; Hudson Club, Sig Bergland, leader, North Adrian Club, Sam Mitchell and Lewis Ruesink, leaders; Sand Creek Club, Steve Franceour and Howard Bryant, leaders.

The leaders will be meeting with Ray Peffers, County 4-H Club Agent in March to plan the annual tractor rodeo where the boys will compete in tractor driving and plowing. This event will be held the last of April.

LINCOLN
The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

If this changes your former preferences ... you're in good company!

We'd like to make a prediction about you. Without reservation, we prophesy that you will revise your fine car standards upward after even a brief personal meeting with Lincoln for 1956.

The reason for our confidence? Simply this: the pleased people we've watched in our showrooms – and the names we've been writing on our waiting lists – ever since this completely new fine car made its debut.

We're certain that you – like these others who really know fine cars – will recognize at once the dramatic whole newness of Lincoln design. In its long, clean sweep of line. In the breathtaking daring of its low silhouette, a scant five feet high.

And we further forecast this: when you turn the key, your interest will turn to admiration. For you will feel the swift obedient thrust of the new 285-hp Lincoln engine as it is served up with silken smoothness by Lincoln's incomparable Turbo-Drive transmission. You will know the gentle firmness of Lincoln's ball-joint suspension system.

And all this, surrounded by the matchless luxury of Lincoln interiors . . . encircled by the protection of Lincoln safety advances . . . pampered by the automatic ease of Lincoln power assists.

We suggest you put our prediction to the test this very week – with a Lincoln safety-flex steering wheel in your hands and a long road before you. Why not make it today?

10 State Parks Get Priority for Improvements

Ten state parks in southeastern Michigan are on the priority list for improvements during the 1956-57 fiscal year if the Legislature approves a program he has recommended, Governor Williams said today. Expenditures at the 10 parks would total $1,177,500 according to his proposal.

Expenditures allotted to parks would include $870,000 at Sterling State Park, $65,000 at Metamora, $55,000 at Algonac, $40,000 at Ortonville, $40,000 at Holly, $30,000 at Pinckney, $25,000 at Island Lake, $25,000 at Brighton, $17,500 at Proud Lake and $10,000 at Waterloo.

Pointing out that Michigan's parks are in a critical condtion, the Governor asked that $3,000,000 be appropriated for a stepped-up development program throughout the state parks system. His proposal is still in the House Ways and Means Committee. His program, he said, would provide for improved facilities and make possible the purchase of land for new parks and for enlargement of some now in existence.

SOME TURNED AWAY

The critical nature of the parks situation became apparent in 1955, said the Governor, when for the first time visitors on a number of occasions were turned away from parks which were literally filled to overflowing. Last year's total state park attendance reached an unprecedented 18,000,000 visitors and, he said, attendance in 1956 will probably exceed that figure.

"Michigan is now the fourth tourist state in the Union," said the Governor. "It can and should become the first, if adequate investment in our vacationland is made in the next few years. If the State Legislature goes along with the program we now have before it, I foresee the day in the near future when we will move ahead of Florida in percentage of national tourist business. The other two leading states are California and New York, and I believe Michigan may surpass them, too."

The Governor said his recommendations for state parks are based upon "a growing realization that the American family, with its pots and pans in the luggage compartment of the car and its bed rolls strapped on top is big business. And we are beginning to realize fully that the whole central part of America is going to depend, in future years, upon these two peninsulas of ours for a place to enjoy the outdoors."

STATE'S NEAR BOTTOM

An analysis of expenditures on parks shows that Michigan is near the bottom of the list. On capital outlay, operation and maintenance, New York spends 44 cents for each park visitor. California spends 74.3 cents, and Florida spends 42 cents. Michigan spends only 13.3 cents.

"This kind of neglect," the Governor said, "is beginning to catch up with us."

New York and California, the Governor asserted, are capitalizing handsomely on their investment. He pointed out that, between them, they divided 20 percent of all tourist dollars in 1954, the last year for which tabulation is complete.

"Nearly a third of our parks lack modern sanitation facilities," said Williams. "In the two-thirds where there are such facilities, failure of the sewage disposal and water systems last summer emphasized the need for repair.

Easter Inspires Bible Land Visitors

THE CHURCH OF DORMITION on Jerusalem's Mount Zion, shown above, attracts thousands of tourists to Israel each year, especially during the Easter season. This is the site where the Virgin Mary is believed to have fallen asleep prior to her Ascension. Easter is also observed by visits to the nearby Coenaculum, room of the Last Supper, and to King David's Tomb. In addition to the procession to Mount Zion, highlights of an Easter visit to Israel include services in Nazareth, and at the Mount of the Beatitudes in the beautiful region of the Sea of Galilee, site of Christ's Sermon on the Mount. According to the Israel Government Tourist Office, 60,000 visitors are expected in Israel in 1956.

Christian Science Services Listed

How freedom from disease and discord can be established will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (414:21-23): "The Scripture declares. 'The Lord He is God (good); there is none else beside Him.' Even so, harmony is universal, and discord is unreal."

Mark's description of how Christ Jesus established harmony in the experience of the man "sick of the palsy" (2:3-12) will be among those read from the King James Version of the Bible.

The Golden Text is from Psalms (111:2): "The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein."

W. C. T. U. MEETS

The Tecumseh group of the W.C.T.U. met Tuesday, March 13 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lester Randolph on Adrian St. with 14 members present.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Jennie Gillin and the program leader was Mrs. Jessie Brown. The topics were institutes, publications and publicity and they were explained in talks by Mrs. Gladystene Daisher, Mrs. Temple and Mrs. Floyd Bryan, respectively.

The program was completed by a reading given by Mrs. Emma Day on "Trimming My Hat" during which she demonstrated how it was done.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT
BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

THIS IS the one that measures BIG – by any yardstick you choose . . .

BIG in solid pounds and honest inches . . .

BIG in high-compression horsepower . . .

BIG, best of all, in the way it makes small money talk.

For, this strapping beauty is the 1956 Buick SPECIAL – biggest package of high-fashion luxury and high-stepping performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

What that boils down to is just this:

You can call this brawny Buick your own for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars – for even less than some models of those very same cars. And the price we proudly print here backs up that statement.

But low price, alone, doesn't explain why Buick outsells every other car in America except the two well-known smaller ones.

The big reason, you will find, is because Buick gives you so much more pure automobile for the money.

You'll find it in the bigger thrill you get from commanding the agile might of Buick's big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine.

You'll find it in the greater smoothness of Buick's superb new ride – in the utter serenity of Buick's new handling ease – in the bigger satisfaction of Buick size and roominess and steadiness and styling.

You'll find it, too, in the fact that here you can get the matchless smoothness of the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off – and the extra gas-saving mileage – of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow†.

So, how about it? Will you come in real soon? We've got the facts and the figures – and the car – to prove everything we've told you – waiting for you.

Christian Science TV Programs Will Continue

Nationwide demand for religious telecast "so far exceeded our expectations, we decided to produce additional programs almost immediately," said Will B. Davis, Manager of Christian Science Committees on Publication, in announcing release of a second group of Christian Science TV films.

Over 160 television stations have broadcast the initial 13 programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals" since they were first released last September.

Heavy response from viewers throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, and Hawaii gives evidence, he said, "of an increasing thirst in this atomic age for religious values.

"Today's unprecedented interest in religion is bringing more people than ever before an appreciation of the rules for living taught in the Bible," he declared. "We are convinced that religion holds greater resources for mankind than is generally realized. Our TV programs are designed to show how practical religion can be in meeting problems of modern living."

Documented examples of the solution of character, business, health, and other problems are described in the 15-minute programs by the men and women who actually had the experiences. A moderator gives brief comments of inspirational nature, designed to show how everyone can rely on God's help effectively.

No actors were used in the programs which were produced with professional direction under the supervision of the TV staff of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the real-life incidents recorded in the programs are permanent healings through prayer of asthma, cancer, broken bones, deafness, goiter, tuberculosis, appendicitis, and angina pectoris. These and other actual experiences are cited to illustrate the healing and regenerating results of the application of Bible teachings.

"Do Busy People Need Religion?" "The Lame Shall Walk," and "The Rewards from Christianity" are titles of three of the new programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals." Others are: "In God We Trust," "Prayer Can Heal Serious Cases," and "The Strength of My Life."

The programs were filmed in Hollywood by Cinefilm Inc. Robert G. Walker was the director.

Radio programs of the denomination — which also carry the series title "How Christian Science Heals" — will continue to be broadcast over 800 stations throughout North America and overseas.

Traverse City To Entertain Order of Rainbow for Girls

The 28th Annual State Grand Assembly of the Order of Rainbow for Girls will convene at Traverse City Thursday, April 5, and continue in session through Saturday, April 7, according to Mrs. E. Alberta Coburn, Supreme Nature of the International Order of Rainbow Girls and Supreme Inspector for Michigan.

The sessions, which will be presided over by Miss Dawn Huebler of Plymouth, will be held in the St. Francis Auditorium on East 11th Street. Traverse City Assembly No. 55 will act as hostess.

Distinguished guests will be presented to the Assembly following the formal opening Thursday, April 5, and the business sessions will begin promptly at 8:30 a.m. Friday, April 6.

The Grand Cross of Color Degree will be portrayed Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. and the Grand Cross banquet is set for 6:30 p.m. on the same day.

The business of the 28th Assembly will be concluded during the Saturday morning session and the Majority Service of the Rainbow Order will be conferred Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

The annual church service to be held Saturday morning April 8 will bring the Assembly to a close.

The family banquet will be held Thursday, April 5; the Grand Assembly banquet Saturday April 7.

Tickets for the various banquets can be bought from Mrs. Ruth Carstens, 1235 Beaconsfield avenue, Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

Biggest School Starts for New State Troopers

The largest recruit training school ever conducted by the Michigan State Police has necessitated a rearrangement of facilities for lodging, feeding and instructing, but what at first seemed a big problem has been met without difficulty.

The school began with an enrollment of 152. Graduates, expected to number well over 100, will be the first of the 200 additional troopers authorized at the special session of the legislature in November.

At previous schools, recruits were housed at headquarters, but to accommodate the biggest class, seven quonset huts on the Michigan State University campus have been rented for sleeping quarters. In the earlier post war days they were occupied for this purpose by unmarried students at the university.

Two more quonsets are being used for lecture classrooms. The gymnasium at State Police headquarters, formerly also used as a lecture classroom, is now devoted entirely to lessons in boxing, jujitsu and similar activities.

The school has been split into two sections. While one group is in the classroom in the morning the other is in the gymnasium. They reverse in the afternoon and for some outside activities will be together.

It is expected to have the entire 200 men on duty by Memorial day. To accomplish this the usual school period has been divided.

Life Expectancy Goes Up 21 Years from 1900 to 1950

A child today can expect to live as long after he graduates from college as his grandfather could expect at birth. The Michigan Department of Health makes this observation on life expectancy figures. National records, says the health department, show that life expectancy in 1900 was 47.3 years, contrasted to an average lifetime of 68.4 years in 1950.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, adds that studies of Michigan's population present "some findings which may seem almost unbelieveable, but are highly significant in terms of the need for broadened local public health services."

For example, the Commissioner said: In 1954, there were 400,000 more children from five to nineteen years of age in Michigan than there were in 1930. Births in the state have gone up from 99,106 in 1940, to over 190,000 yearly. And ratio of births to deaths has climbed from 190 births per 100 deaths in 1940 to 316 births per 100 deaths in 1954.

Dr. Heustis noted that one reason for the drop in deaths is the triumph over many old-time killers, such as scarlet fever, whooping cough and typhoid. He said the infant death rate in Michigan also has been cut — from 157.1 deaths per thousand live births in 1900 to 25 in 1954.

But the state health chief issued a stiff caution against relaxing health safeguards and services. On the contrary, he said as far as public health departments are concerned, "basic child health programs such as well-baby conferences, vision screening, hearing conservation and nutrition education need broadening to protect the increased number of Michigan youngsters."

As well as holding the line against older health hazards, the Commissioner noted that both state and local health officials have urged more forceful programs against such newer threats as mental illness, home accidents and chronic diseases, which are rapidly coming into the health foreground.

Easter Fun And Feasting

DECORATING EASTER "EGGTREES," AN OLD EUROPEAN CUSTOM, IS STILL POPULAR IN PARTS OF PENNSYLVANIA. EGGS ARE FIRST HOLLOWED BY PIERCING BOTH ENDS, THEN BLOWING OUT RAW CONTENTS. AFTER BEING BRIGHTLY COLORED, THEY'RE ATTACHED TO A TREE BOUGH OR BUSH WITH GAY RIBBON LOOPS.
EARLY CHRISTIANS ABSTAINED FROM EATING EGGS DURING LENT, HENCE THEIR SYMBOLISM AT EASTERTIDE. THE ANCIENT PERSIANS WERE THE FIRST TO COLOR HARD-BOILED EGGS.
LIKE EGGS, GOOD COFFEE IS AN IMPORTANT PART OF EASTER FESTIVITIES. HARD-BOILED EGGS FOR EASTER MORNING FUN; STEAMING HOT COFFEE FOR THE PERFECT EASTER DINNER. BUT DON'T MIX THEM UP. YOU DON'T NEED EGGSHELLS TO CLEAR PROPERLY-BREWED COFFEE, AND UNLIKE YOUR COLORED EGGS, COFFEE SHOULD NEVER BE BOILED.

rate both for operations and for bonded indebtedness could be reduced.

And if taxpayers did not want to wait for the bonded indebtedness to be paid off they might be able to re-bond at a considerable smaller millage rate.

This is the point of all of these figures: the re-appraisal came at a time when we were still paying a millage rate for school buildings. And some taxpayers were hit by the re-appraisal. Immediately there was talk of reducing the city millage rate from 15 to 10 mills.

If we could reduce the six mills on school bonds down to two mills then we could pick up two mills more on city millage which would give us 12 mills for city operations instead of 10 as is now proposed. And we still would be paying less millage than we did last year.

It seems to us that the council and the school board could get together to reconsider the relationship of the summer and winter tax, not only with the idea in mind of reducing the bonded indebtedness school millage rate but to see if the city could pass a 12-mill rate to help meet the various needs.

All of us stand to benefit from this sort of inter-board cooperation between the council and the school board, not just on taxes but in a number of other areas.

Archery deer hunting, growing more popular each year, attracted a record turnout of more than 37,000 sportsmen in Michigan last year, an increase of some 4300 over 1954.

Hunting license sales reports through Feb. of this year show that 33,630 residents and 3509 nonresidents purchased archery deer permits for the 1955 season.

Archery hunting licenses for 1954 included 29,941 residents and 2883 nonresidents.

Other hunting license sales also showed increases over 1954. Resident small game hunting license sales reported through Feb. totaled 701,959, a 2.4 per cent increase over the same period last year. Nonresident small game license sales jumped from 72131 to 7749, a 7.2 per cent increase.

The first of three special postage stamps emphasizing the importance of wildlife conservation will be realeased in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, May 5.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said the design of the first stamp portrays a wild turkey in flight and represents an outstanding example of conservation work being carried on by state and federal agencies. Michigan is one of several states which have wild turkey restoration programs.

Other stamps in the series, which was designed by Bob Hines, artist for the federal Fish and Wildlife Service, will represent a mammal and a fish, Specific design and sale of the other two stamps will be announced later.

Acorn and beechnut crop failures have sent hungry squirrels in search of other foods throughout several sections of the state.

Reports from the western part of the lower peninsula indicate many squirrels are feeding on the bark of elm, beech and maple trees.

D. H. Jenkins, Conservation Department game biologist, explains that squirrels normally strip some bark from trees to supplement their diet, but the current shortage of acorns and beechnuts has caused an increase in this activity.

Thousands of Michigan ice fishermen are enjoying the last days of the popular sport this season before spring thaws call a halt to winter angling.

Spear fishermen put away their equipment when spearing season closed Feb. 29 on inland lakes, but hook and line enthusiasts will be active as long as ice conditions are safe.

"Tip-ups" still dot the ice on many Michigan lakes, particularly in northern regions of the state. The tip-ups vary in design from homemade contraptions that tilt vertically when a fish pulls the line tight under the ice to elaborate spring devices on which the striking fish releases a trigger and causes a red flag to fly up—drawing the angler's attention to the line.

Wintertime catches include perch, bluegills, lake trout, pike, walleyes, whitefish and smelt.

During the winter, fish often lack the fight and gameness they possess in warmer weather, but ice fishing requires special skills. Many fish display fickle wintertime appetites or a lack of interest in food and the usual baits may not do the job.

Ice fishing—growing in popularity each year—offers plenty of sport for the outdoorsman, with tasty fish dinners as an added reward.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

A SUPPLEMENT TO "MAMA GOES ON SAFARI"

So many things happened on the Safari that Mama has been telling about that I, now, when asked to put down my impressions and experiences, hardly know where to begin. I am sure, however, that we are all interested in food, and since a Safari, like an army, travels on its stomach, it is perhaps proper to start with my impressions of one of the most important things concerning our stay on the dark continent, namely, the commissary department.

I shall begin by introducing the headman in charge of the culinary arts, a black savage, who provided us with many delightful surprises at the dinner table.

WORE ONLY RED ROBE

Abdulla, the cook, an important looking character, wearing the only red robe in camp, was master of all he surveyed around the cooking quarters, a wing of our open campsite; a potentate; the unquestioned boss in his area of the perpetual fire, hot ashes and battered pots and pans. His facial expression was one of unquestioned self confidence — his general appearance belying his age, and his long experience giving him a calm and sage look.

For some reason he always greeted me with "Jambo, Jambo" meaning "Goodmorning" instead of the customary "Jambo Bwana" meaning "Goodmorning, Sir." I had observed this distinction between the white hunter and me with some amusement, a condition which lasted until the day I brought home my lion. After that he happily greeted me with a loud, clear "Jambo, Bwana!"

This interesting man from the region of the cooking pots and warm water dispensary always met my approach with a steady gaze, but respectful attitude. I am sure he considered himself my equal, and I am not so sure he was not.

SHIES FROM PICTURE

One day when we all were snapping pictures around camp, I also wanted to take a picture of Abdulla. He, at that time, was working at some menial task not associated with the art of cooking, dressed in a dirty sweat shirt, which I had not had the sense to notice. He made it very clear that he preferred no picture until he had on his royal red robe, the only way his appearance was befitting his high office. Of course, he was right, and I felt pretty apologetic about the whole affair.

Shortly after we arived at our first camp near Maralal, about 300 miles north of Nairobi, and had provided a few Thomson gazelles for the dinner table, we found that two Tommies weighing about 90 pounds each didn't satisfy the hunger of 28 natives very long. The natives, when given the chance, liked to eat five or seven pounds of meat per day each. So I noticed that Andy was looking for buffalo.

BUFFALO — LEOPARD

It seemed all right when I was at home with a book or television set, to pleasantly visualize myself, with some braggadocio, in the role of the hunter, sallying forth, mowing down buffalo bulls right and left. Who has not been guilty of that sort of thing at times? But now I had to admit it gave me a funny feeling in the pit of my stomach to know that we were seriously looking for one of these animals about which I had heard and read so much and which is held in considerable awe even by the most experienced white hunters.

Abdullah was looking for meat, a lot of meat, and Andy was going to see that he got it. I was going to do the shooting and due to the pressing need for meat, we were not going to be too fussy about the size of horns. I would have a chance later, perhaps, to get a real trophy, which meant shooting another buffalo. Well, I had asked for it and here it was!

First, we had to locate or pinpoint the buffalo and, contrary to expectations, this did not prove to be so easy. In the so-called Northern Frontier Territory, where we were, the buffalo was not so plentiful that it appeared in herds of many hundreds, but rather in smaller groups of perhaps three to groups of several dozens. Besides, these groups of animals had felt the hunting pressure to such an extent that they were mostly found in the dense brush or jungle rather than in the open country where they used to graze before the white man appeared on the scene.

Robert Mitchum stars as a two fisted lawman in "Man With the Gun." Jan Ste[illegible] is co-starred in this stirring drama of the old West.

GET IN CLOSE

When hunting buffalo or any other dangerous animal, the white hunter, who incidentally always is a game warden, demands that the hunter gets within 25 yards or less, sometimes much less, before he fires. This requirement is to make sure that the hunter, even though he may be a little nervous, will get in a telling shot the first time. In this way the animal will not get away wounded, and the charge of a wounded animal will not have much chance of succeeding. There is no question about the sonudness of this strategy, although it may creep a little between the shoulder blades the first few times one is so close to so large an animal.

Let no one think that it is not necessary to exercise care when tracking buffalo. It is one animal which not only has good eyesight, but also a keen sense of hearing and smell. One must be extremely careful of not breaking twigs nor allowing bushes to brush against the khaki trousers or coat generally worn by the hunter. As a matter of fact, were it not for the fact that they would be too warm, heavy strong woolen clothes, like those we use for deer hunting in Michigan, would be far better for this type of hunting. The branches, brambles, and weeds will give no sound against a pair of woolen pants or coat sleeve, whereas they make a swishing sound when khaki is worn instead of wool. This swishing sound is easily detected by the buffalo.

WALK TO GROUNDS

In the morning we'd drive out from camp to a likely place where the jungle would be interspersed with clearings. There we'd park the jeep and start out on foot, walking most of the day, sneaking along game paths on the alert for signs either of animals or their tracks. Whenever we would find a set of buffalo tracks we would follow them, using the white hunter's as well as the native's experience and knowledge as to where the animals would be apt to be at that particular time of day.

Several times when stopping to investigate the area around a natural salt lick, we would find signs of a herd having been there during the night, but in spite of our arriving on the scene at the break of dawn, the animals would be gone with only fresh cow patties left as evidence. It was getting discouraging.

Finally one day when we were following some fresh "spoor" the trail became hot and we found ourselves so close to a herd of buffalo that I could smell them. Everybody tensed. This was it!

D.A.R. Members Attend Convention

Members of Abi Evans chapter D.A.R. were in Jackson this last week, assisting in the entertainment of the state D.A.R. conference of which they were a hostess chapter.

The conference, which lasted three days, was held at the Hayes Hotel and the programs featured some outstanding speakers.

Thursday evening Congressman Alvin Bentley spoke on the Bricker amendment and other pending legislation and the Friday evening speaker was Dr. Fred Schwarz of Australia. Dr Schwarz is a psychologist and physician who is on a lecture tour of the states, speaking on the subject of "Causes, Course and Cure of Communism," his theme being that communism is being substituted for religion and must be combatted from that ground.

Administrator Is Speaker at Hospital Auxiliary

Four new members were presented to the Auxiliary of Herrick Memorial hospital at its March meeting last Tuesday evening. They were Mrs. John Sisson, Mrs. Clarence Champanois, Mrs. Don Ketteman and Mrs. Don Purkey.

Mrs. Earl Baldwin had charge of the meeting in the absence of the president and devotions, in the form of several stories of spring and the Lenten season, were given by Mrs. James Barton.

The committee in charge of the hospital cart reported plans for the purchase of a larger one to take care of the increased demand. Mrs. Earl Wood was appointed to head the committee for the auxiliary card pary to be held April 13 in the American Legion Home.

Mrs. Hugh Walters reported on the workshop held in Kellogg Center at East Lansing, March 13 which she attended in company with Mrs. Charles Mensing and Mrs. Baldwin.

The speaker of the evening was Orrie Gilbert, superintendent of the hospital and his topic was the new financial organization of the hospital and its general business situation. He reported that there had been a 23 per cent increase in the number of patients served and that at present there were 40 beds for surgical and medical patients, 16 bassinets and three incubators. He stated that recent purchases at the hospital included three wheel chairs, an ice machine, an air conditioner for the lobby and new office equipment. He answered many questions which added much interesting information.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Jack Osburn, Mrs. Carleton Cook, Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, Mrs. Leo Bishop and Mrs. Ben Hammack.

Birds Are Topic of Garden Club

Birds were the subjects discussed at the March meeting of the Garden Club Friday afternoon. Held at the home of Mrs. Robert Bonner on Rogers highway, it was attended by 20 members and nine guests. Three new members were presented, Mrs. Hugh H. Hanna, Miss Lillian Cannon and Mrs. Herman Koelbel.

Miss Mary McWilliams presided in the absence of the president and roll call was answered with stories about birds bringing out some very interesting facts. Mrs. F. C. Dickinson was program leader and, in addition to observations of her own, she introduced Mrs. John Thompson, who told of her experiences with a family of wrens. A paper on the general topic of "Birds in My Back Yard," written by Mrs. Ella Brown was read by her neighbor, Mrs. Robert Warren, with sidelights on the liberal education she had received from Mrs. Brown on that topic.

The hostess, assisted by Miss McWilliams, Mrs. George Wright and Mrs. Grace Coffey served refreshments with Mrs. Earl Wickwire and Mrs. Thompson presiding at the tea and coffee services. St. Patrick's Day set the theme for the decorations.

Mrs. Laine Holden Heads High School PTA; Panel Discusses Life Adjustment

Officers for next year were elected at the Thursday evening meeting of the Central Parent-Teacher Association. Re-elected were Mrs. Laine Holden, president; James Barton, parent vice-president; Lawrence Holdridge, secretary and Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, treasurer. Mrs. Mervyn Boltz will be the new teacher vice-president.

The committee on band uniforms reported that they now have on hand approximately $3200 which will purchase 46 and one-half of the 70 uniforms desired. A request for funds has been sent to the Community Fund Board which has delayed action on the matter until there can be a joint meeting of representatives of the uniform committee, the Community Fund and the school board. The entire sum needed to buy uniforms is $4452.

In connection with this report it was decided to form a Band Boosters' Club under the sponsorship of the P.T.A.

The group also voted to sponsor the junior high May party, the date for which has not yet been set. The committee appointed for this event is Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holdridge, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kruger, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sisson and Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Boltz.

The evening's program consisted of three interesting and stimulating reports by Mrs. Roy Cadmus, Mrs. Boltz and Dermont Poley on the work done this year in their classes on life adjustment. Principal Neville Hart was moderator. Until now this subject has been taught in the seventh and eighth grades of junior high and in the senior twelfth grade. Next year it will be included in the courses of either the ninth or tenth grade.

Life adjustment is a new course in the high school this year and the parents were interested and enthusiastic about its development.

Boys and girls have different teachers in the junior and senior high school but Mr. Hart's class in senior problems was co-educational.

In the junior high the classes alternate with physical education. Problems concerning health, personality, social relationships, emotions and sex are discussed in these classes and teachers are trying to teach and clarify the best standards of thinking and behavior.

Reports also were given on physical education by Victor Lawson, Jr., and Miss Carol Sheffer.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program by Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. W. Hugh Browne and Mrs. James Linden. This was the last meeting of the year and the association has adjourned until fall.

Easter SERVICES

Easter morning in Tecumseh will begin with 6:30 sunrise services at Tecumseh Airport. The Rev. Bernard Gill, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will lead the worship which has been planned by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association. The public is invited.

In case of inclement weather, it has been announced that the service will be held in the Methodist church. Individual churches are planning to serve breakfast for members of their congregations attending this early morning event.

Rotarians To Fete Farmers

Leonard Kyle, agricultural economist with Michigan State University, will speak next Tuesday night, April 3, when Tecumseh Rotarians fete area farmers at a dinner program which will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the First Methodist church.

Mr. Kyle is in charge of 20 counties in the east district of the state, including Lenawee, in what is known as the farm management project. He will discuss farming changes and what they mean to all of us.

His appearance at the dinner here was arranged for by Louis G. Hall, county agricultural agent.

M. G. Partridge is local chairman of the dinner.

Election Questions

These eight questions were asked of the 12 council candidates who also were asked to submit pictures for publication. Eight of the candidates responded. Four candidates representing the Independent Voters Ticket declined to comment and they did not submit pictures.

1. Do you favor keeping the 15-mill tax rate or would you prefer a reduction in the millage rate. How much of a reduction? Why?
2. Would you support a sinking fund for a new city hall?
3. Do you have any plans for getting new business and industry for Tecumseh? If so, what are they?
4. What would you do to bring about public improvements such as public parks and cleaner and better streets?
5. What could be done to enlarge the city recreation department to a full time program the year around?
6. Would you favor a bond proposal to build needed water and sewer lines in those areas that do not have them?
7. What, in your opinion, is the most important community project that needs immediate attention?
8. Would you say that the city has made normal progress in the past two years? Please elaborate.

More Rural Schools Join Tecumseh

Voters in five more rural school districts have voted by large margins to annex their districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools. This brings to 11 the number of rural districts that have joined Tecumseh.

Voting Saturday, March 31, on annexation will be Pink (Franklin Two), Kelley (Raisin Two) and Macon Village, (Macon One).

Voters will have three proposals. One is for annexation; one is to raise the tax limitation to 13 mills of assessed valuation to support Tecumseh's debt retirement; and the third is whether the district should assume its share of the bonded indebtedness of the Tecumseh Public Schools.

Only district taxpayers may vote on the last two proposals. Any registered voter in the districts may vote on annexation.

Wednesday, March 21, Bird (Macon Three) voted. Voters approved proposal one 39 to 6; two 38 to 6; and three 31 to 6.

Saturday Centennial (Raisin 10), Lamkin (Franklin 10 Fractional), Franklin Center (Franklin One) and Newburg (Clinton One) voted to annex.

Centennial's vote was 16 to 4; 16 to 4; and 15 to 4.

Lamkin voted 27 to 2 on the proposals.

Franklin Center voted 51 to 7. Newburg voted 16 to 4.

MEN ARE ARRESTED

Tulon A. Martin of Tecumseh appeared before Justice Robert L. French Thursday and pleaded guilty to drunkenness.

Martin, who was arrested by Tecumseh police Tuesday night, was ordered to pay a $15 fine and $8.60 costs or spend 15 days in jail.

Alpha B. Brown, 37, of Louisville, Ky., was arrested on a drunkenness charge by Tecumseh police at 4 p.m. Wednesday, and is in the county jail awaiting arraignment.

ENDS SATURDAY

Saturday, March 31, is the end of the special Red Cross plea in the Tecumseh area. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. L. W. Larsen.

The Raisin Township quota was $350. So far $61.50 has been turned in. Mrs. Leslie Calhoun is chairman.

Good Friday

Union Good Friday services sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association will be held in the Friends church from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Friday, March 30.

Messages will include "Christ in Life," by the Rev. Horace James of the First Methodist church; "Christ in Trial" by the Rev. Bernard Gill of the Nazarene church; and "Christ in Death" by the Rev. L. H. MacPherson of the Assembly of God. Other Tecumseh ministers also will share in this service.

The public is invited to attend these Good Friday services.

Kohler Office To Move Monday

After 10 years in the same location the Kohler Real Estate office is moving from 110 west Chicago to 116 west Chicago or two doors west of its present location.

The office will move to its new quarters Monday, April 2.

The new offices are done in light green with mahogany panels. They are separated by glass panels.

Mrs. Richard Morse has joined the firm as office secretary.

—o—

CLOSE GOOD FRIDAY

Some stores will close Friday for Good Friday services.

The city office, the United Savings Bank and the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association's Tecumseh office, also will be closed. Community Good Friday services are from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the Friends church.

EXPECT RECORD VOTE MONDAY

Girl Scouts Will Hold Egg Hunt

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association will sponsor an Easter Egg Hunt for boys and girls Saturday afternoon, March 31, at 2 p.m. on the recreation field.

Mrs. Julius Vincze and Mrs. Wellington Wotring are co-chairmen of this project and will be assisted by the following troops of Girl Scouts: Troops No. 16 and 17 will serve as a committee on protection and first aid; Troops No. 7 and 9 will hide the eggs and conduct a refreshment stand; Troop No. 5 will have charge of the contests; and Troop No. 11 of Senior Scouts will sell and collect tickets at the gates. President of the association, Mrs. Howard Truesdale, will be on hand to award the prizes such as live rabbits and lamb cakes.

All pre-school age children and those through the second grades will compete on the field near the James street entrance while children in the third grade and older will use the west end of the field for their competition.

Children are urged to buy their tickets which is a small donation from the Brownies and Girl Scouts in advance but tickets will be available also at the gates.

This affair is in lieu of the Scoutorama which had to be cancelled and the Girl Scout cooky sales of other years.

Proceeds will be used for the promotion of the Girl Scout program in the community.

There are 20 troops of Brownies and Girl Scouts this year. No girl has been refused scouting in Tecumseh and all work of the adults is on a voluntary basis. All Brownies, Girl Scouts and registered adult members of Scout Association are reminded to furnish one half dozen of colored, hard boiled eggs. In case of inclement weather Saturday, the Easter egg hunt will be conducted Monday afternoon, April 2, at the same hour and at the same place.

Services Held for David A. Watson

David Allen Watson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Watson died Friday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital where he was born March 20.

Survivors are his parents; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Watson of Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lowe of Tecumseh and great grandparents, Mrs. Byron Agnew of Adrian and Mrs. Helen Lowe of Birdsall.

Graveside services were held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Raisin Valley cemetery with the Rev. Edward Escolme officiating.

Twelve Seek Four Posts on Council

A record crowd for a city election is expected to go to the polls next Monday, April 2, to vote for four of 12 candidates seeking council posts.

Political observers believe that more than 1200 of the 2865 registered voters will go to the polls. Their belief is based on the interest that partly has been created by the "politicing" of the Independent Voters Ticket and four of the eight other candidates who seek council seats.

The four on the Independent Voters ticket are Paul Snyder, Marvin Rumpf, Pete Thielan and Gilbert Nighswander. The four who have answered some of the charges of the Independents are H. H. Hanna, Donald Purkey, Harold Kelso and Donald Brazee.

The four others seeking election—Stephan Illeck (his name heads the ballot because he was the first to file his nominating petition), Mary Bowers, James Freckelton and Lowell Edwards are running by themselves.

TWO ARE INCUMBENTS

Two of the 12—H. H. Hanna and Donald Purkey—are incumbents. The three elected candidates with the greatest number of votes will receive two-year terms; and the one elected candidate with the lowest number of votes will receive a one-year term.

There is no contest for justice of the peace. Last year the incumbent Robert French was elected to a four-year term.

GET OUT VOTE

In addition to the candidates there are several groups geared to getting out the vote Monday. The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a tag which reads "I Voted. Did You?" This tag will be given to every voter. The chamber also offered a complete registration list to all 12 candidates; four accepted.

Rides to the polls are being offered by the chamber and by four new car dealers here. The dealers and their phone numbers are Butler Motor Sales, 289; G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc., 563; Wilson Motor Sales, Inc., 888; and Schneider Brothers Garage, Inc., 65. The chamber of commerce number is 259.

Absentee ballots for voters out of the city may be picked up from Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk, until 2 p.m. this Saturday. The ballots must be turned in by Monday at 8 p.m.

VOTE IN THREE PLACES

Voters this year will vote in three polls. Two and three are in the Legion Home and one is in the fire barn.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Youths Wreck Stolen Car

James Walker, 17, of 209 north Pearl, Tecumseh, and Clarence Logsdon, 20, of 111 north Pearl, Tecumseh, were apprehended by local police last Thursday night for unlawfully driving away a car from the parking lot of the Tecumseh Products Company.

They took a ride that covered three counties then near Hudson they missed a curve, lost control and wrecked the car owned by Robert Sawdey of North Adams.

The youths hitchhiked back to Tecumseh.

Saturday they were arraigned before Justice L. J. Van Deusen of Clinton and Walker demanded an examination. He was released on a posted $2000 bond. Logsdon waived examination. After posting a $2000 bond, he was bound over for circuit court trial.

Mayors

At drawings held in Lansing Tuesday Tecumseh and St. Clair of St. Clair County were paired for the third annual exchange of mayors' day which will be held Monday, May 21 as part of Michigan Week activities. St. Clair has a population of 4098.

Britton drew Barryton of Mecosta County. It has a population of 445.

Russell Swaney, Michigan Week general chairman, commended officials for their enthusiastic cooperation on the exchange and urged that the paired towns start immediately to co-ordinate their plans for the day's program. Usually, the cities and villages go all out to welcome the visiting mayor and his party by entertaining the group with tours, parades, banquets and other civic festivities. The exchange is planned for a Monday because most cities hold their council meetings and the visiting official usually presides on this day.

Eight of 12 Council Candidates State Their Views

STEPHAN ILLECK

1. If the 15 mill tax rate can be reduced and still give us ample working capital my answer is yes.

2. Support of city hall fund is dependent on whether it can be part of a street and sewer overall program.

3. If our current water supply can be made adequate then our chamber of commerce should solicit, through industrial media, industries that will fit into our geographical location to those in-

DONALD BRAZEE

1. I would favor levying sufficient taxes to operate an efficient and economical municipal administration. At the present time I think we should hold the line. Our school bonds will soon be retired; at such time the millage for opering our city could be increased without a general increase in taxes.

I definitely feel we should be realistic about the entire tax picture and realize that if we want

MARY BOWERS

1. This is too complicated a question to answer at this time in view of the controversy surrounding the recent property re-appraisal and the distribution of the now prevalent millage division between the schools and city. Therefore, I would need all the facts before giving a definite opinion.

3. Plans, no, not at the moment, ideas Yes!

4. I believe a planning commit-

DONALD PURKEY

1. I am definitely against keeping the 15-mill tax rate and suggest cutting it five, making a 10 mill rate. Our city can operate on 10 mills so why tax any more than we need?

2. I definitely would not suggest a sinking fund for a city hall. The city has too many obligations now.

3. Business cannot be forced to come to our city. If they do come it will be because Tecumseh appeals to them and how can we ap-

HAROLD KELSO

Any story on the Kelso family should include everyone, because it is strictly a partnership arrangement as far as Tecumseh civic and church activities are concerned.

JAMES FRECKELTON

1. I am in favor of reducing the millage from 15 to 10 mills owing to the increase in valuation. This should make our revenue about the same as in the past. I believe that the people of Tecumseh are paying enough taxes at present and I understand that the city can operate efficiently with the present taxation. However, if it is necessary to make any additional taxation for public improvement, I believe that it should be put to a

In my opinion it would be difficult to give a yes or no answer to most of your questions, so I will make the following statements:

LOWELL EDWARDS

1. Yes I would like to see a reduction in the 15 mill tax rates but it isn't possible to say how much it should be cut until the future budget and other necessary figures are known.

2. I would support a sinking fund for a new city hall only when it can be worked into the budget without raising the taxes.

3. At present I personally don't have any plans for getting new business and industry into Tecum-

Britton Announces State Farmer Awards

Britton-Deerfield F.F.A. Chapter received notice of four State Farmer award degrees. Those earning the degrees are Richard M. Bruce, Harold R. Rhora, Paul A. Goetz and Kenneth A. Bortel who also is a candidate for state office in the Michigan Association of F.F.A.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Bruce, Sr., Route 1, Britton. He will graduate from Britton high school in June and he has been a very active member for the past four years. He has served as secretary, and two years as president leading his chapter in several accomplishments in parliamentary procedure, farm forum (district winner), served on numerous committees, given the farm mechanics award for outstanding work in farm machinery and equipment.

Dick has been a member of student council and he has been very active in school sports, playing football, basketball and baseball. Dick has been a member of the County Line 4-H Club, Britton.

His farming program for the past three years consisted of 24 acres of wheat, 53 acres of soybeans, 29 acres of oats, 63 acres of corn, 26 head of swine and one dairy calf. His accomplishments included partnership with his father and brother-in-law earning more than $3,000 invested in farming. Dick's future in farming includes a 240 acre farm for this year.

Paul Goetz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goetz, Rural Route 3, Blissfield. Paul is a graduate of Deerfield high school, attending two years at Britton under the cooperative vocational agriculture agreement between Britton and Derefield high schools.

Paul was an active member for the past three years serving on committees and a delegate to the state convention representing our chapter. He was the outstanding dairy project member in 1955. Paul is an active church member, having perfect attendance for several years and in school served as class treasurer.

Paul has an outstanding farming program including four dairy cows, seven sheep, 140 acres of buckwheat, seven acres wheat, seven acres of oats, 20 acres of corn and seven acres of soybeans. For the past three years his earnings were $3,276 in labor income, with $3,100 invested in farming.

Paul is farming 390 acres now with his father and sister.

PAUL GOETZ

Kenneth A. Bortel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bortel, Route 1, Britton, and a senior at Britton high school, received the state farmer degree.

Kenneth has been an outstanding F.F.A. member, serving as junior secretary and junior president and vice-president, for the past two years as general chairman of the F.F.A. program of work for all chapter activities. He also is a very active member on all committees. Ken has been a member of the parliamentary procedure team and second place winner in public speaking.

All the members with Kenny have attended state convention and leadership camp for officer training. He received the Farm Safety Award for his work in the community safety campaign. He is also the Chapter Star Farmer for 1955-56 and a candidate protem for state office in the F.F.A. Association.

He has been active in high school sports, class activities and student council, active in church and 4-H activities.

KENNETH BORTEL

His farming program includes one acre tomatoes, 20 acres soybeans, 29 acres of corn, seven acres of oats, seven acres of red clover, two dairy cows, and three sheep earning $1,326 and $2,121 invested in farming.

Kenneth is farming 300 acres with his father.

The second Britton-Deerfield F.F.A. member to receive the State Farmer Degree is Harold Rhora, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rhora of Britton, a 1956 graduate of Britton high school.

He earned this degree on his accomplishments which include chapter secretary and reporter for the past three years, chairman of the cooperative activities and supervised farming activities. Under his leadership Britton built its group projects of crops, beef and poultry. Harold also has been active in parliamentary procedure for three years and a member of the winning (district) farm forum team.

He has been active in other school activities, a member of the honor roll for the past two years, sophomore class president, junior and senior class treasurer, an active member of the football, basketball and baseball team.

Harold's farming program includes 14½ acres corn, seven and one-half acres of oats, six acres of wheat, four acres of rye, five head swine and litters—earning $1,900 with $3,000 invested in farming.

HAROLD RHORA

His program includes for this year working 199 acres with his father and renting 120 acre farm, besides doing considerable amount of custom work.

Chemical Keeps Onion Quality

Richard Balabon, vegetable farmer north of Imlay City, raises onions that never sprout when they're stored. When many growers' onions have long sprouts and are somewhat soft this time of year (like those in inset). Balabon's product is solid and much in demand. His "secret" is spraying the onion crop two weeks before harvest with a chemical called maleic hydrazide. The chemical's power to prevent sprouting in both onions and potatoes was demonstrated six years ago by Horticulturist S. H. Wittwer of the Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment Station. Some city folks make a special call at the Balabon farm and ask for onions because his product keeps in good condition longer than unsprayed onions. And the chemical can be applied for two to three cents a bushel. The chemical also prevents sprouting in prepackaged radishes when the crop is sprayed before harvest. (M. S. U. Photo)

DISTRICT TEA HELD

The northeast district tea was held at the Holloway Presbyterian church from 2 to 4 p.m. last Tuesday. Mrs. Virgil Lowery welcomed the guests and Mrs. Harry Farley acted as general chiarman.

Mrs. Hugh Mitchell was elected to serve two years as district representative on the county executive board.

Virgil Pinckney, superintendent of the Girls' Training School at Adrian was the afternoon's speaker and told of the education and activities of the students of that school. A solo, "Danny Boy" was sung by Mrs. William German and at the conclusion of the program Mrs. Lowery and Mrs. Mitchell served refreshments.

P.T.A. WILL MEET

The Holloway P.T.A. will meet Thursday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m. Students from the Holloway school will participate in the program and members of the Tecumseh chorus will be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Mitchell and Mrs. Albert Neuman will be in charge of entertainment and the refreshment committee is Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wagner.

The Holloway Presbyterian church will have a communion candlelight service Thursday, March 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Dorothy Kopke was hostess to the Round the Block Extension Club recently.

Easter Sunday services at the Raisin Center Friends church will begin at 6:30 a.m. with an Easter sunrise service with breakfast following in the church basement. At 10 a.m. there will be morning worship and an Easter cantata by the combined youth and adult choirs. Sunday school will be at 11 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. an Easter play will be presented by the young people of the church.

Honoring the 16th birthday of their daughter Juanita, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mills entertained Saturday evening at a party for 20 friends. The honored guest received many gifts and refreshments were served.

Dennis Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farley was home over the weeekend from Mt. Union College. He has been initiated into the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Gerald Griffin was in Grand Rapids Saturday and Sunday for the Michigan state bowling tournament. He is a member of the Tecumseh Products Co. Aces team.

Mrs. Ida Grandstaff's great granddaughter Beverly Ann was her guest Saturday while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kehoe moved to their new home in Adrian.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawson have received word of the birth of a granddaughter Linda Jean, March 14. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson of Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Walters were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walters of Blissfield.

James Lunn was in Jackson Saturday to take tests for the air force academy.

Mrs. Tom Mitchell is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Palmer of Jackson, Miss., for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell and daughter Molly attended a dinner dance in Jackson Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lunn and daughter Margaret Ann and Max Minnich were in Detroit Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kopka and sons of Sand Creek were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bennington.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Meyers were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Casell of Britton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and son Bill were guests Thursday evening of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Derby of Addison.

have always been engaged in both civic and church activities. I was one of the original council members when Tecumseh changed from a village to a city. I have also served on the planning commission and recreation board. The Rotary Club is one of my favorite activities and I have had the honor to serve as one of its presidents. We have also both served on many church and other civic groups.

We are both very grateful for the many people that we have become acquainted with during the time that we have lived in Tecumseh. It has been a wonderful experience and we are appreciative of the opportunity of having been able to contribute a small part in the growth of this community.

After serving on the first city council, it was my desire to never again seek a public office. It has been called to my attention that a group has organized in Tecumseh that is anti on every progressive issue. We have always endeavored to promote forward ideas that will keep Tecumseh moving ahead as a city where its citizens enjoy working and living. It is rather disgusting to see in print the vicious statements by which this group is attempting to undermine the work that has been done by our present city officials. The insinuations are completely without basis of fact. Therefore, if elected it will again be a pleasure to contribute whatever we can towards the affairs of the community.

1. Ten mills on re-assessment values should enable the city to provide present essential services.
2. I would not support a sinking fund at this time.
3. The enticing of new industries to settle in Tecumseh, would seem to be a function of the chamber of commerce. I do not believe that the city government should be saddled with this responsibility.
4. and 5. An eventual city service should be a park and recreation department.
6. No.
7. Review of fire protection facilities. Move garbage and refuse dump. Provide additional playground and recreation facilities.
8. The city has made more than normal progress in the past two years.

Edwards

seh, but if I am elected to the council I would do my best to try to encourage new business and industry to come to Tecumseh and help any organization or person that is working for that cause.

4. Cleaner streets: I think signs around town warning of a fine for discarding trash and paper would help especially for people driving through. Also a pickup of trash by city trucks once a month or so would help but mostly a campaign to educate the people of this city that they are the only ones who can really keep our city clean.

Public parks: Public parks to be proud of is something every citizen should want but they cost money. With the council and some civic organizations (Garden Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, etc.) working together we should be able to improve what we do have without too much expense.

Better streets: Streets have got to be fixed, perhaps by putting in one good street a year would pay off but that is something that has to be worked out in the budget.

5. The best way to enlarge the recreation department to a full time program the year around would be to hire a full time professional athletic director to direct all youth activities and recreation programs. He would have to have the help of not only the city council but all civic groups and also the financial aid as well as the individual support of all these groups.

6. I would like to know more about both sides of this bond proposal before giving a definite answer.

7. I feel that the most important community project would be complete unification of the people of the city of Tecumseh, instead of this internal unrest we now have. Regardless of who is elected to the city council let's all accept them and work together for the betterment of Tecumseh.

8. I think Tecumseh has made normal progress. Factories are employing as many and sometimes more people than before. New homes are still going up but although taxes are necessary for growth and progress, high taxes can also discourage people who are thinking about living or starting a business in Tecumseh.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

IT ALSO SNOWED BUCKETS 66 years ago in Tecumseh. If you don't believe it look at the picture in the window of the Heidenreich jewelry store. Captioned "history repeats," the picture shows the main drag under about a foot of snow in 1890.

GLENNIE BARTON is a real neighbor. The small fry of the James Bartons had a gold fish that turned up its toes (or didn't you know that goldfish had toes) and died. Glennie thought his neighbor's cat, a feline owned by Miss Clara Waldron, would like a fish dinner so he carried it over to Clara's house. But the cat, probably holding out for a smelt dinner, turned down the potential delicious morsel.

GLENN KOHLER IS plumb tuckered out. He's been working about 80 hours a week readying his new offices for an opening next Monday and after a sneak preview of the new place we know his efforts have not been in vain.

M. W. REYNOLDS of Durand, former Tecumseh resident, sent us a little note when he renewed his subscription. He wrote: "We like the HERALD very much. It is like getting a letter from home every week. Tecumseh is doing wonderful things in a great way and more power to all of you." Mr. Reynolds' wife was the former Orpha Beal and she will be remembered by older residents.

ROY DAHLKE LIKES phone calls about business but he would just as soon have callers use the great invention of Alex Bell after 5 a.m. in the morning. Roy ran an ad last week stating that folks could call from 5:15 to 7 p.m. but his caller must have thought it said a.m. And the result was a shattering experience for the Dahlke family.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land.—Song of Solomon

VFW AUXILIARY GIVES FOR BLEACHERS, BAND

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary of Hall-Slater post VFW last Wednesday evening it was voted to donate $100 to the bleacher fund and to give $5 to the band uniform drive. Annual reports of officers and committee chairmen were given.

The next meeting, April 4, will be installation of officers with Mrs. Wyman Campbell of Milan as installing officer.

Following the program lunch was served by Mrs. Glenn Kohler and Mrs. Earl Kruger.

SCOUT ASSOCIATION MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association will meet in the Scout Cabin Wednesday, April 4, from 9:15 to 11 a.m. with the president, Mrs. Howard Truesdale, presiding.

All leaders, assistant leaders, committee members, and officers are asked to be present. Besides routine business there will be an election of officers. The leaders are reminded to place their orders for Court of Awards supplies with Mrs. Gerald Griffin as soon as possible.

Nurses Plan Disaster Clinic April 5

A group of nurses from the Tecumseh area headed by Mrs. Cecil Williams will take part in a disaster clinic to be held in Adrian next Thursday, April 5. Sponsored by the Lenawee District Nurses' Association under the guidance of the American Red Cross and the department of Civilian Defense, this workshop will be held in the Eagles Home from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Other local nurses will be Mrs Lester Reed, chairman, Mrs. Gene Tuckey, Miss Vivian Hahn, Mrs. Norris Kopka and Mrs. Journey Stoner, Jr.

Tecumseh area persons who will take part are the Rev. B. O. Bashore, county civil defense director; Dr. R. E. Dustin and Dr. C. L. Cook.

Grade School News

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children enjoyed their trip ot Mr. O'Pravil's farm, March 21. The pony ride and a ride in the big farm wagon were great fun. We saw all of the farm animals that we have had stories about. The inside of the barn and silo were interesting spots, too. The new story of our trip is fun to read. Mrs. Hartwig, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Glascock, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Hanna, and Mrs. Ward made the trip by bus with us. We all want to say "Thank you" to Mr. O'Pravil for being so kind to us, and to our mothers for their help.

Most of us in the first grade are working very hard because we would not want the Easter bunny to come into our room and find us not working. All but four of us are reading in Our New Friends.

Recently, Ricky Wright celebrated his seventh birthday. His mother brought a treat for all of us to enjoy.

The second grade took a walk for science class and recess one day last week. We looked very carefully at our tree and found that the birds on it are much larger than they were a month ago. We saw some robins, a blackbird, a cardinal and we think we saw two wrens. We are all looking for returning birds after school, too. Cnythia Tatar saw six whistling swans, two golden eyes, and two woodducks at the Red Pond. Emily Manwaring saw a Baltimore oriole. Spring certainly must be on its way!

Lynn Gomez and Calvin Rickard had birthdays last week. We enjoyed the birthday treat which Calvin brought and were pleased to have Mrs. Rickard visit us for a time. Mrs. Filter also visited our room one morning. We do like to have visitors.

Keith Kilbourn is back with us in third grade after a vacation in Florida with his parents. Bob Miller is also back after being home with the measles.

Mrs. Westdyke showed us how to make Easter bunnies using paper sacks. They turned out real cute.

Our first reading group has completed two basic readers and is now reading in supplementary books.

Aprill Warren and Clari Maynard celebrated their birthdays. We enjoyed their treats.

The world of nature is of great interest to the fourth grade right now, not only because we are studying about it in reading and science classes, but because its spring! Our back bulletin board is full of animal pictures we have found. We hope to visit the zoo sometime soon to see these animals.

The fifth grade has been learning to write business letters. We wrote to several different people and places. We have had replies from Ford Hospital, Governor Williams, Fort Worth, Texas, and Houston, Texas.

The sixth grade is enjoying a change from fractions. We are working with denominate numbers now.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

We have a large box packed full of lost articles that no one seems to claim. If these articles had names on them, the owners could easily be found. Lunch boxes and sacks should also be tagged with the owners' name.

The second floor restrooms have a nice new coat of paint.

Barry Willimason brought a cocoon to Mrs. Munger's first grade room last fall. The other day it hatched out into a beautiful big moth. These children are also happy because they just finished reading another book. This one was named Peter's Family.

Mrs. Neitling's first graders are busily looking for signs of spring. They are learning about birds that go away in the fall and do not return until spring.

In place of "show and tell" time, the children are now writing little stories which they read to the class.

Mrs. Callihan's second graders are all ready for the Easter rabbit and are watching him check the list on their door.

The forsythia in their room is in blossom so they know that spring is here.

They are also learning to write the cursive letters. They know more than half of the alphabet and will soon be using them in their "We Talk and Spell and Write" next week.

Mrs. Puffer brought four baby chicks to school one day. The children had been studying about quails and were interested to see how much little chickens resemble the pictures of the little bobwhites in their science books.

Second graders in Mrs. Van-Winkle's room are making a calendar for the month of March. They are anxious to find out how many days will be "lion days" and how many will be "lamb days."

Mrs. Weitenhagen's third grade lost a boy, Reyaldo Torres, this week. They now have 37 boys and girls.

They have started on multiplication and are now studying the twos and threes.

In social studies they are reading about a wholesale house and how different articles are bought and sold.

Linda Wagoner had a birthday party last week and we had fun eating and playing games.

The third graders in Mrs. Schwartz' room have been playing "True Detective." They try to identify these by the buds and leaf scars on the twigs. The magnolia buds Ned Rosacrans brought are now opening. Robert Glenn and Russell Blanden mounted and labeled seven twigs. Susan Leighton made a report to the class on the sugar maple tree.

The children in Mrs. Bailey's fourth grade have been having an interesting time decorating their rooms for Easter. Posters and pictures have been made.

In the arithmetic game groups have been formed and the scores are quite even.

Mrs. Whiting is reading the book called Half Magic to her fourth grade and all are enjoying it very much. Tuesday is Library day and the children enjoy choosing books to read to themselves. On Fridays, five films are shown at Social Studies time. These films are on health, science, conduct, and fiction.

Our science books will be finished soon.

In our spare time we have been making Easter posters. They will be used to decorate our room.

Karen Robinette in Mrs. Uckele's fifth grade, brought some pictures of Luray Caverns and Mammoth Cave to show the pupils.

The children are enjoying both giving and listening to very interesting oral book review.

WEST BRANCH NEWS

The month of March
Has just blown in
To say that spring
Will soon begin.

Most of us here at West Branch are busily working on Our New Friends. This will probably be the last reader for us this year.

We are trying now to perfect our counting from 1 to 100.

We have about finished our group recognition of groups from one to ten. Also, we are writing our numbers from one to 100.

Stephen Sowers and Larry Stalls celebrated their birthdays this month.

Gladys Hartley, David French, Jean Ford, Stephen Sowers and Gloria Randolph have been out of school with chicken pox.

SECOND GRADE

The following celebrated their birthdays in March. David Phillips, Larry Koons, Linda Brazee, Marsha Curth, and Sharon Beemer. For David's birthday his sister Mrs. Hollis brought cupcakes. Linda and Marsh brought candy bars and Sharon home made cookies.

We are trying to learn to tell time. About half of the group have learned quickly but some of us are finding it very difficult.

Mrs. Bob Robison and Mrs. Richard Brighton were our most recent visitors. Mrs. Brighton brought delicious home made St. Patrick Day and Easter cookies for all the children.

We have finished our social studies reader "Some Day Soon." Reading this has helped some decide what they will do when they grow up.

The peanut plant that Teresa Mann brought is growing. As yet we have not discovered any peanuts.

THIRD GRADE

We have just finished our science unit about machines. Each chlid made a machine to demonstrate to the class. Most of our machines were made from tinker toy sets. These showed us how pulleys, cogwheels, and axles work to make all work easier. We learned what levers and fulcrums are and the science laws that are demonstrated by each.

In arithmetic we are learning to multiply by two and three. Most of us find it easier than subtracting and having to borrow.

In reading we have read many animal stories. We have learned how to identify animal's tracks. Our teacher showed us how to make plaster casts of these tracks. We made casts of deer running and walking, opposum, raccoon, woodchuck, and a badger. When one boy stepped in wet plaster he discovered that it is very hard to wash off shoes.

We are learning spring songs in music class. We love to sing.

We had a birthday treat for Joel Rutherford's birthday. His mother brought us ice cream cones and cookies. Betty Hyde's birthday was March 21, and she treated us to "Life Savers." Larry Whelan, JoAnn Green, Susan Hohenstein and Marvin Garcia also have birthdays this month.

A sure sign of spring in our room is the bouquet of pussywillows. Some of them have roots. We made March kites too.

For our language project during the next two weeks we will be giving book reviews. The main objectives of this project are:

1. To urge children to read books for pleasure.
2. To have children use the library outside of school hours.
3. To help children become independent in choosing a book to read.
4. To urge each child to have a library card and use it.
5. To teach each child how to give a book review, write a book report, and write titles of books and author's names.
6. To have each child give an oral book review.

COMFORT EXTENSION

Mrs. Leslie Calhoun was hostess to the Comfort Extension Club last Wednesday evening. The lesson on "Getting Your Calories Worth" was presented by Mrs. Gloria Calhoun assisted by Mrs. Margaret Benedict. There were seven members and one guest present. The club donated $4 to the Red Cross.

INFANTS BAPTIZED AT BAPTIST CHURCH

There was dedication of infants at the Palm Sunday service of the Tecumseh Baptist church. The ceremony included the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gray; Marsha M., Peggy E. and Gary R.; Jerry D. and Clifford R. Poll, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Poll; Larry Cy and Lynn Perl Sebring, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sebring and David Paul, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Stanley Cook.

The special music was supplied by the Chancel choir singing "Jerusalem He Cometh" and the subject of the morning's sermon of the Rev. Blair Bashore was, "And There Were Two Processions".

BIRTHDAY HONORED

Seven year old Deborah Purkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Purkey, was guest of honor at a birthday party last Friday afternoon. Her mother, assisted by Nancy Day entertained 10 of her little friends at games and supper. Each guest received a favor and took home a decorated Easter basket they had made during the party. Yellow and pink formed the color scheme of the supper table and a lighted candle marked each place. Deborah received many beautiful gifts from her guests.

The car says GO and the price won't stop you!

A Performance Sensation... A Fashion First!

There's an all-new way to measure automobile performance—and that's to measure it against Pontiac!

For Pontiac performance outstrips in a breeze any other on the road. And it didn't just happen! Pontiac engineers started from scratch with a brand-new Strato-Streak V-8 engine.

Then they added another triumph, the all-new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* especially engineered to work as a super-efficient team with Strato-Streak power!

And what a team it is! There's the blazing "go" of 227 h.p. in the most modern, high-compression, high-torque engine you can buy!

There's the incredible smoothness of Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic's liquid coupling and the instant, positive action of its gears.

No wonder they're calling Pontiac America's No. 1 spine-tingler! You will, too, when you see how it tames traffic and shrinks the miles.

Just as forward looking as the engineers, Pontiac designers set an equally new trend in styling . . . obviously branded with the stamp of the future.

Surprisingly, all this one-of-a-kind performance and style is priced well within the reach of any new-car buyer. We invite you to come in soon for the facts.

*An extra-cost option.

You can actually buy a big, glamorous Pontiac 860 for less than you would pay for 43 models of the low-priced three!

Mr. and Mrs. John Foote and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Palmer have returned home after spending several weeks in Florida.

Ray Gilmore of Tecumseh called on the Misses Lulu and Julia Gilmore recently.

Pfc. Erwin K. Pennington has notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pennington that he is stationed in Korea with the first Marine aviation wing. Pfc. Pennington entered the Marine Corps in March 1955 and received his boot training at San Diego, Calif. He spent eight weeks training in electronics at Jacksonville, Fla., and eight weeks in radar school at Biloxi, Miss.

MARY FOSTER CIRCLE

The Mary Foster Circle of the Methodist church met in the social room of the church Thursday evening with Miss Vera Gilbert and Mrs. Edward Leighton as cohostesses. Mrs. Andrew Woodward presided at the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Herbert Dillon.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Jennie Temple, who was assisted in conducting the program by Miss Gilbert, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, Mrs. Edward Beal and Mrs. Don Martin. It was decided to entertain the Buttercup-Brownie troop at a planned potluck dinner May 24.

Mrs. Walter Beck will entertain the Circle for their April meeting and Mrs. Waldron will have charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Strong of Melvindale came Saturday to spend the Easter vacation at their home here.

Those from Ridgeway attending the white breakfast at the Tecumseh Methodist church last week were Mrs. Marilyn Ries, Mrs. Genevieve Sisson, Mrs. Gertrude Birdsall, Mrs. Nina Sturtevant, Mrs. Lorene Edelbrock, Mrs. Gertrude Exelby, Mrs. Alice Landin, Mrs. Jane Bird and Mrs. Agnes Sturtevant.

The Good Friday service will be held at the Ridgeway Methodist church with the Rev. C. A. Bearinger as speaker.

The United Workers of the Methodist church will have a bake sale Saturday, March 31 at 10 a.m. at Eberhardt's insurance office in Tecumseh.

dustries' requirements. A salesman can always find a buyer for what he sells, somewhere, somehow.

4. Appoint a commission to study the requirements and consider the program as part of our general improvement plan contigent on earmarking monies to bring this to a reality.

5. A recreational activities building would be my aim. such as a "civic center" which is surely needed. This would house in conjunction with outdoor activities, an area for diversified programs. A local organization up to this time has been most kind in making their building available, but it still is inadequate for any public meeting place. A civic center would handle all youth programs requiring indoor areas. Many organizations are handicapped because of this condition in functioning at 100 per cent. We are fast becoming a metropolis, bursting at the seams, a civic center is a top priority for recreational program.

6. Yes, but to incorporate those requirements into a general street, water and sewer program.

7. Other than the promised sewer and water plan, a durable resurfacing street program.

8. Progress in the past two years is not in evidence, since it is only visible to the average citizen when he sees his streets in good shape, has adequate water and sewers. Those within the heart of the city are convinced by the good street surfacing, those on the outer edges by either sewers or water or both. We are going through growing pains and to many, inadequacies of foresight of the past are apparent, which affects their own comforts. But, with our re-appraisal completed and a more equitable assessed tax return apparent, the task ahead takes on a more realistic overall view, because we now can lead to planning a workable long term financing program to do the things we need to do NOW.

Brazee

more, we have to pay more. A $150,000 budget for our city, and the taxpayers' proportionate share is quite small when we consider the services we get from local government.

2. No, not at the present time. I do not question the need for a city hall, but there are other places where our money should go first.

3. I do not have any definite plans along that line. As far as business is concerned the chamber of commerce is working on this problem and I feel that when it is to the advantage of business to come here they will come. I would like to see our industry more diversified, but we must also realize that from a governmental standpoint, a too rapid growth creates more problems.

4. The answer to this depends on question 1. The city can't operate on a minimum budget and have all the improvements we would like. I would like to point out that we do have new streets where curb and gutter have been put in and there is a provision for some bituminous concrete in the budget.

5. Recreation is not a municipal governmental function at the present time. If the recreation board wanted to delegate the administrative authority to city government, and employ a recreation director who would be responsible to the manager we would have a better and more comprehensive program and a more efficient administrative organization. In this case the board still could be kept in an advisory capacity.

6. I assume this refers to a general obligation bond. If so, this would have to be voted upon by the people. I think a more realistic solution would be to have the city extend the sewer and water lines to those areas and set up a special assessment district for the affected areas.

7. I think the greatest needs are in the field of public works: streets, sewer, water, wells, etc.

8. Yes, I think the people of Tecumseh have received full value for their tax money. The following is a list of recent accomplishments:

A. Expenditures for improvements:

1. $25,000 for new construction on Chicago Blvd. $3,100 for new traffic signal. $3,000 for new lighting.
2. $10,000 for new parking lot.
3. Development of two new wells, $23,000.
4. Purchased 3 large pieces of equipment, 1 heavy duty truck, 1 large grader and a yard loader. Total expenditure, $27,000. This equipment was needed to reduce the cost of public works improvements and will last for years.

B. Public Works Improvements at reduced costs representing savings to taxpayers.

1. Because of the assistance of the city manager in constructing the sewage disposal plant there was a saving of over $40,000.
2. Installation of sewer across river and on Burt street at less than contractor's bid.
3. Installation of 45,000 ft. of curb and gutter at 57c per ft. less than contractor bid.
4. Development of our second new well at a cost of only $4,000. City manager did the engineering at an estimated saving of $4,000.
5. Saving an operator's cost on disposal plant of over $1,000. The city manager has personally taken care of it every Sunday for the past three years.
6. Installation of sewer and water on south Union and Russell road and lift station on Russell road. The money to build the lift station was a personal gift to the city. Without the lift station a sewer main from the disposal plant would have had to have been built at an engineer's estimate of $42,000.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I personally regret very much the unfounded attack on the city manager that has been made by the candidates in this election who claim to represent the Independent Voters' League. I think Mr. Nelson's record of efficient administration speaks for itself. Our system of local government leaves the manager defenseless because he is not supposed to be a politician and he is responsible only to the council.

I think the truth of the situation is that there are no specific charges that can be made against any city official and so these people have resorted to a smear campaign which is full of propaganda and unfounded insinuations.

—o—

Bowers

tee of perhaps three people should be appointed by the city manager to review this problem. Good clean streets and parks are an important asset to any city. Much could be done and the whole community would benefit from it.

5. In the future it would be a wonderful thing to see Tecumseh have a community center for both young and old and if funds were available, hire a director to run it. It would help right now to have a hall equipped for our young people, open several evenings a week with adults that are interested in the welfare of our teenagers to help organize and supervise it.

6. Yes, driving through some of these areas after a very heavy rain for several days helps a person answer this question.

7. There are two equally important. The new city hall and civic auditorium, but I think the city hall should come first.

8. In answering this question first I would like to go over a few of the major developments that have taken place in the past two years. New stores and businesses: Lad & Lassie shop, Wolf's Appliances, Cal's Tog shop, Tecumseh Lumber Co., Tecumseh Saw Shop, Ousterhout's Flower Shop, Linger's Meat Market, and Ben's Barber Shop.

A few other projects are: the new wing on Herrick Memorial hospital, Patterson elementary school, St. Elizabeth's parochial school and convent, Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool, junior chamber of commerce organized, East Branch school bought for new city hall site, V.F.W. post home, M. & M. shows started, appraisers from the J. M. Cleminshaw Co., Cleveland, completed their work on re-appraising city property, and last, but certainly not least, the ever-expanding Tecumseh Products Co.

I know there are many more things that I have probably forgotten, but as an individual speaking, I would definitely say that Tecumseh has done much more than just make normal progress in the past two years and I certainly hope it continues.

—o—

Purkey

peal to them with such radical groups as the anti-fluoride people.

4. We could have done a lot of improving on our own parks and streets this past year if we hadn't been burdened with the unnecessary expense of fighting the false accusations put to us by the anti-fluoridation committee. A lot of this same bunch of radical people are backing a certain group now running for posts on our city council.

If these same people would spend just half the money and time promoting Tecumseh, what a wonderful city this would be.

5. We could enlarge our recreation program a great deal just by having a full time man do nothing but that work. Maybe some day we can.

6. Absolutely not. As our ordinance is now set up the land developer pays all this and it wouldn't be fair to the taxpayer to have to pay for what a developer should do.

7. The most important is for the good citizens of Tecumseh to force an apology out of a certain group of people who willfully and wrongfully made false accusations about our present council and city employees.

8. We certainly have but it would take a full page to cover all the city has done. For instance, the city has taken the initiative to rebuild the water system as the state recommended more than two years ago.

Remember, though, a person must walk before he runs.

The city is walking now but in due time it will be running and all concerned will be justly proud of Tecumseh.

—o—

Freckelton

vote of the people.

2. I am definitely in favor of a sinking fund for a city hall. We all should have civic pride; providing the budget will stand the laying aside of enough money to cover it. The people should also have a say in this.

3. Regarding new business and industry, I can't understand why a town as prosperous as Tecumseh does not now have new industries and business. The fault must be here and the problem is to ferret out the fault. We should also find out why so many people shop outside of Tecumseh and rectify this situation first. Questionnaires would help.

4. Regarding public improvements and cleaner and better streets. A city is judged a great deal by its appearance. It is either a clean and prosperous city or a dowdy and poor city. Our city is prosperous and it should be kept clean. Our streets and parks should be under expert supervision and we should have regular rubbish pickups. Ask any citizen.

5. In regard to our city recreation program. So far our board of education has done a very good job of our recreational program the year round. I can not make any further predictions until future investigation.

6. I favor a bond proposal to build needed water and sewers where they do not have them. It has to be done eventually. Why not now? This is also an issue that may have to be decided by the people, depending, of course, on the magnitude of the project and the method of repayment.

7. The most important community project which I believe needs immediate attention is the completion of curb and gutters and the resurfacing of some of our streets, which are in very poor condition. They will definitely not improve until the curb and gutter project is completed.

8. Our city has made remarkable progress in the last two years. Elaboration is hardly necessary. One merely has to look around. Our fine new subdivisions that have arisen; the extension of Indian Acres, the new River Acres; an asset to any city, and all the beautiful new homes that have been built. Home improvements, etc. Tecumseh is a going city, thanks to our people and will keep on going. I am proud to be a citizen of Tecumseh and sincerely hope to have the opportunity of serving those who have made it what it is.

Hanna

Tecumseh Products Company for nearly 17 years and I am presently employed as office manager.

My wife and I live in our own home at 203 Adrian street, and we have two married daughters and one granddaughter.

I came with my family to Tecumseh in March, 1895. At that time there were still many residents who knew many of the earliest settlers, so I know much of the history of this wonderful community.

All of my adult life I have supported every movement which I felt was for the betterment of this community and its people.

My public experience includes 26 years as township clerk, 10 years as township supervisor, four years as postmaster and two years as councilman and city supervisor. I also helped write the new city charter.

In all of those years, I have never asked anyone to nominate me nor to vote for me, so I am extremely proud of the confidence shown by the voters, and I can truthfully say that I have never knowingly betrayed that confidence.

As for the city tax rate this year, the council has agreed that it will not exceed 10 mills, and I can assure you that no person or group has used any pressure or even suggested that we reduce the rate.

With Federal, state and school taxes being what they are, we are convinced that the people are paying just about all the traffic will bear. We are ever mindful of the fact that a large percentage of our people are burdened with high interest charges in trying to buy their own homes.

Our city has "growing pains" and the needs for improvements are many, but they can only be brought about as fast as the taxpayers are able and willing to pay for them.

So many things are needed that they sometimes overshadow the progress that we have made in the past two years. And we have made much progress, and our program calls for continued progress.

Our greatest need right now is the expansion of our water system, and we are presently working on plans to bring this about. As this will be paid for over a period of years by the water users, it is one more reason why we should hold the line on property taxes.

So far as getting new industries to locate here, I feel that is a job for the chamber of commerce. We councilmen all have to work for a living and we have our hands full trying to administer the affairs of government.

I have never had much faith in platforms and promises, so my only promise is the one I have always made to myself, and that is —To use my best judgement as the different problems arise.

Business Women Discuss Michigan and Its History

Mrs. R. W. Dixon, vice president of the Business and Professional Woman's Club presided at the regular March meeting Monday evening in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ray Sluyter.

Routine business was taken care of and the club voted to answer an appeal of the bleacher fund committee by immediate payment of $300 of their $500 pledge for that purpose.

"Michigan, My Michigan" was the program topic and the theme was carried out in the introductory music. A quartette made up of Mrs. Duaine Service, Mrs. Nina Heath, Mrs. Oscar Bryan and Mrs. W. G Waldron sang the new version of "Michigan, My Michigan" which has both new words and music.

The program leader, Miss Clara Waldron then told of some of the events in Michigan's early history in which Tecumseh and its leaders had played an important part.

The feature of the program was a colored, sound film entitled "Out-State Michigan" supplied through the courtesy of the Consumers Power Co. and shown by George Hammel, who was in charge of the projector. Picturing the major industries of the state outside of Detroit, the film also showed the agriculture of Michigan and its transportation systems, resources and natural beauties. The colors were very beautiful and the audience found it

Our Platform

1. Based upon our State-forced reassessment and a 15 mill tax authority under the Charter, irresponsible personnel upon our City Council could wreck our Municipal finance structure and drastically increase our taxes.

THESE FOUR ARE PUBLICLY PLEDGED TO HOLD THE TAX RATE TO 10 MILLS.

2. The present Council is handling a big city operation with an inexpensive but efficient group of seasoned City employees.

THESE FOUR ARE PUBLICLY PLEDGED TO SUPPORT OUR OUTSTANDING E. J. NELSON AS CITY MANAGER AND TO MAINTAIN OUR WELL-QUALIFIED OFFICERS ON THE PRESENT POLICE FORCE. THEY ARE OPPOSED TO ADDING ANY UNNECESSARY PERSONNEL TO THE PUBLIC PAYROLL.

3. The City Council is carefully planning the future development of Tecumseh and attempting to follow the long-range view. Facilities are being extended to Tecumseh Acres and to other areas upon a special assessment basis. Development of subdivisions has not been, and must not be, at the expense of the general taxpayer.

THESE FOUR ARE PUBLICLY PLEDGED TO EXTEND SEWER AND WATER FACILITIES TO ALL PARTS OF THE CITY AS FAST AS THE PROJECTS CAN BE SCHEDULED.

4. The present Council has maintained open meetings and has encouraged the citizenry to attend. They have sought to treat all persons with courtesy and with a friendly spirit of understanding. They have attempted no retribution against that small group of malcontents whose unfounded accusations have proven so irritable to the public conscience; and they have tried to maintain the decorum due their office.

BUT THEY WILL NOT SACRIFICE PRINCIPLE TO POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY. NOR WILL THEY PERMIT SLANDER AND CALUMNY TO SWERVE THEM FROM THE PATH OF PUBLIC DUTY. THEY ARE THERE TO SERVE YOU — THE CITIZENS OF TECUMSEH—IN ANY MEASURE DESIGNED TO PROMOTE THE PUBLIC GOOD.

CAMPFIRE BANQUET ATTENDED BY 175

One hundred and seventy-five Britton and Macon fathers and daughters gathered in the Britton Congregational Christian church Saturday evening for the banquet that honored the birthday anniversary of Campfire Girls and Bluebirds.

Dinner was served by the Fellowship class of the church and tables were decorated for the anniversary in keeping with the theme "Plant Seeds-Reap Friendship" with wheel barrows and boots filled with garden seeds and lighted candles, which had been the project of the Campfire Girls and Bluebirds.

The program opened with the Campfire blessing and group singing led by Mrs. Rudolph Koczman with Charlene Prielipp at the piano. Mistress of ceremonies, Mary Ellen Millyard then presented the following program: Pledge of allegiance by Connie Godzina; welcome to fathers, Lois Neidlinger; response, Vern Neidlinger, who then presented the leader of the Co-He-Wo group with a steam iron from the fathers of that group.

The Campfire law was led by Cynthia Frayer and Lynn Koczman. Introductions of the various groups and their leaders and sponsors were made by Mrs. Jennings Frayer and the Bluebird wish and song were led by Mrs. C. Godzina. A reading, "Farmer Going to Market" was given by Mrs. P. Cadmus and two foreign students from the University of Michigan were then introduced by Mrs. Koczman. They were Miss Aurora Minozo, former psychology teacher in Quezon City, Philippine Islands, who told of her country and Miss Lilly Maung, a student from Rangoon, Burma, who also told of life in her country.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. O. E. Priest.

Union Good Friday services will be held at the Ridgeway Methodist church with the Rev. C. A. Bearinger in charge.

I Love Easter

Maybe I'm prejudiced because it's 'my day' but I'm just nuts about Easter.

I love the chocolate bunnies and the chocolate chicks.

The whole world seems new and very spic-and-span and full of hope and promise . . . the bells in the church steeples have a special ring . . . little girls look prettier . . . little boys stay neater longer because it's Easter.

Oops! I almost forgot my message. On behalf of the Kroger stores who help you live better for less all through the year and all the friendly folks who make marketing at your Kroger store pleasant.

a Happy Easter to one and all!

CAMPING OUT—Jim Graham and Bob Williams here on the kitchen detail were two of 14 Scouts of Troop No. 4 who camped out at Ray Shelton's farm recently. It was so cold the two nights the Scouts were out that the pump froze and water had to be transported from Ray's house back to the cabin in the woods.

It was so cold that the photographer's hands shook so much that heads in the pictures were "chopped off."

Dave Hohenstein, patrol leader, and Clyde Cook, assistant Scoutmaster, did yeoman service on the fireplace, trying to keep the cabin heated to offset the 18 degree temperature outdoors.

The American Legion Helps Build a Better America!

The young men on the steps of our nation's capitol are the citizens of tomorrow. Having attended Boys State and Boys Nation, sponsored by The American Legion, they know the rights and responsibilities of American citizenship.

More than twenty thousand like them, age 15 to 17, attend Boys States every year and "learn by doing" at these annual sessions of functional citizenship. As "voters" and "office holders" they discover what makes our system of government "tick."

A million more youngsters get basic training in good sportsmanship on American Legion baseball and junior baseball teams. Three hundred and fifty thousand participate in The American Legion's state and national oratorical contests and get a working knowledge of the U. S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Twenty thousand are selected annually for The American Legion's School Medal Awards. These are just a few of the fine character building activities spearheaded by the Legion.

Your local American Legion Post is one of the 17,200 posts which help support such Americanism programs; help promote equally important programs of Child Welfare, Rehabilitation and National Security; help build a better America.

All America salutes The American Legion on the 37th anniversary of its birth, March 15 to 17. Eligible veterans of World War I, World War II, or the Korean War are invited to join The American Legion. Why not contact your local post today?

5 big reasons why the really new Plymouth gives you more for your money than any other low-price car

1 You get exclusive Push-Button Driving
Touch a button—off you go! This positive mechanical control is the safest, easiest ever. Only Plymouth has it among low-price cars.

2 You get the biggest car in the low-price three Inside and out, Plymouth is the "big boy" in its field. 17 feet long. Outmeasures the others in every important way. More room for all!

3 You get the only really new styling of the year
Don't let other low-price cars fool you with warmed-over '53, '54 and '55 models. Get the really new car—the all-new '56 Plymouth.

4 You get the greatest array of safety features
The "other 2" can't match Plymouth for safety. Only Plymouth offers Safety-Rim wheels, electric windshield wipers, 2-cylinder brakes.

5 You get the biggest deals around
Plymouth's value lead has sent sales soaring, enabling dealers to give you amazing deals. Come see how easy it is to own a big Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH costs less

From the day you buy it . . . through all the years you own it . . . you'll spend less on a Plymouth. That's one reason more Plymouths are used as taxis than all other cars combined.

Setting the Record Straight

A few of the points in the platform of the self-styled "Independent Voters Ticket" need intelligently to be analyzed. Some of the utterances of the four candidates who seek council posts in the election next Monday can be brushed aside as political yak-yak, thus they need no answer.

But five of the points in their 12-point platform that has circulated rather freely about the city need a little more air.

In their point number two the four state: "Levy fair non-partial property taxes." What in the world do they think already has been done? You can't get a more impartial levy than to have all real and personal property re-appraised by trained men who have no personal interest in the outcome. This has been by the present council.

In points seven, eight and 12 the candidates would like "to publish in the newspaper all disbursements of the people's tax money; also bids on public works; and give a published report of all funds every three months."

Since there are those who think these points were prompted by this newspaper to increase its legal printing revenues, let's set the record straight. There is no connection in any way, past, present or future between the four candidates and this newspaper.

The implication of publishing "all disbursements . . . " is clear: facts concerning how tax money is being spent are being kept from the people of Tecumseh.

Yet all records of expenses, even for a lead pencil, are open to any citizen of the city at all times and all city accounts are audited by competent auditors every year. This audit, incidentally, is published by the city and copies of it are on file for any interested citizen to see.

Publishing of disbursements as outlined in the candidates' platform would be an unnecessary spending of city funds.

Point number nine actually is the most malicious. It reads: "Hire a competent city manager who has a comprehensive knowledge of city affairs and management at a salary that justifies his ability."

We would like to see a better and harder-working city manager than Tecumseh's present city manager. But we never will see one. There just aren't any. Every personal and

ST. PETER'S GUILD HAS MARCH MEETING

St. Peter's Guild of the Episcopal church held its March meeting last Thursday afternoon at the Parish House with Mrs. E. C. Dickin conducting the business meeting. Mrs. E. LaVern Russell was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. M. W. Wilson read an article entitled, "Why I Believe in the Resurrection."

Mrs. William Wright was program leader and spoke on the subject, "The Symbols of the Church." Her carefully prepared paper was both interesting and informative.

Sixteen members were present and there was one guest, Miss Margart Duell of Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Clarence Brock were hostesses for the afternoon. The next meeting will be April 12 also at the Parish House and will be in charge of Mrs. John Keeney and Mrs. R. K. Anderson.

Realty Views

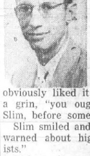
The sunshine and warm fresh air made the whole outdoors take on new charm. Spring Fever attacked Slim Connors, a friend of mine, and he found himself in our office.

"I'd like to find a good acreage," he said.



"Fine," I replied, "it's a perfect day to look at property."

I selected the acreage I considered our best value in the price range he wanted. He obviously liked it, so I said with a grin, "you ought to buy this, Slim, before someone else does."

Slim smiled and said, "I've been warned about high pressure artists."

"I know it may be overdone," I replied, "but seriously many people wait too long. I've seen their disappointed looks when they decided to buy nad find out the property is gone. Naturally, I wouldn't want that to happen to a friend."

"That's interesting" said Slim.

"You see," I continued, "acreages are unique. No two are alike. If you find one that is especially appealing and you can afford it, you'd better buy it. It might be a long time before another as attractive shows up."

"O.K." Slim said, "I was just teasing. But I can see you are really sold on this place. Let me show it to my wife and we'll give you a prompt decision."

They bought it — and have thanked me many times since!

May we help you find a good acreage too? You'll like our conscientious service.

New Local Assessed Valuations Little Effect Average City Taxpayer in Amount of Cash Paid for Schools

BY SUPT. JAMES MC DOWELL

I have also been asked by local as well as rural taxpayers, "How does the cost of schools in Onsted, Britton, Macon, Clinton nad Tecumseh compare?" Since I can use only last years rates (although Clinton has just passed another bond issue which was not included in the rates issued by the Board of Supervisors this year) the actual millage quoted will be less than that required of all their taxpayers next year. Also, for purpose of comparison I have transposed the various state equalized tax rates into the local equalized Tecumseh City Tax Rates last year.

Future predictions are always a hazard for the facts are not always kind.

However, be that as it may, here goes. Since there is but $228,000 remaining of the present bonded indebtedness of the Tecumseh Public Schools, and there will be, if most of the 18 districts now considering annexing to Tecumseh are annexed, a total state equalized valuation of between 30 and 40 million dollars only a short period of time is necessary to pay off this debt.

At the past rate of 13 mills local, it could be paid off by Christmas of this year. However, this would be quite a burden on local taxpayers, since the new local valuations are considerably greater, and therefore, the board has agreed to levy for the bonds of 1952 not more than $138,000 which when assessed against the local equalized valuation of the whole new district might be close to $7.00 or $8.00 per thousand rather than the $13.60 assessed last year.

This would mean quite a savings to the individual taxpayer on the bonds alone for next year. However, the state requires at present that a school levy 5 mills for operation on state equalized valuations to receive state aid which pays better than 70 per cent of the funds used to operate our schools each year. We levied 5.9 mills on state equalized this year.

If the state requires additional millage to participate fully in state aid or if the board needs additional funds for operation of the schools this request would be made to the board of supervisors and if honored the operational rate would then rise slightly but would not exceed the savings to local taxpayers on the millage reduction on the bond issue.

As far as City of Tecumseh taxpayers are concerned, the future is brighter than at any time in the last 10 years since all will receive assistance on the present and future bonds necessary for all school buildings in the district.

Also, since an independent company has helped to assess all property in the city each taxpayer is assured a more nearly perfect share of taxes than ever before. Also of importance is the fact that property not assessed in the past has added a considerable amount to the local valuations and, therefore, the total amount of tax needed from the average property owner should be less than would have been possible otherwise.

Actually, as presented above, changing our average home owners' local assessed valuation, either higher or lower, if he was assessed fairly previously, has no effect upon the actual number of dollars he will pay in school taxes since they are levied on state equalized valuations.

However, many other factors do cause changes and, as stated above, help to make the school tax picture for Tecumseh city property owners brighter than during the past 10 years.

CAMPING OUT—Boy Scouts of Troop No. 4 camped out at Ray Shelton's farm on north Adrian road last weekend. Although the mercury dipped to 18, the 14 Scouts had a lot of fun and many of them passed tests. Here Nick Dinius wields an ax as trusting Chuck Beard holds a hunk of wood.

Raisin Green Bees Meet

Thirteen members and one guest of the Raisin Green Bees met at the home of Mrs. Louis Richards, Monday evening. The meeting was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Edwin Gove. Roll call for the evening was "Our favorite menu for one meal."

Members were reminded that achievment day is being held May 2.

A vote was given among the members to have a recreation program following each meeting in the future.

Mrs. Alice Socks volunteered to write to the television program "Ladies Day" and inquire how tickets for the program may be obtained.

After the business meeting the lesson on "Getting Your Calories Worth" was given by Mrs. Edwin Gove and Mrs. John McVay. A social hour followed.

The next monthly meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. George Downard April 16.

Members are reminded that this is a "Come As You Are" party when they are called on by Mrs. Edwin Gove and Mrs. Merlyn Downing.

(The day to day story of early Tecumseh as recorded by the first of the Wright family to come here)

Jan. 14—Bishop W. Coskry here, by whom self, wife and 24 others, all women, were confirmed.

May 1—Moses came home from Texas.

August 9—Today a locomotive from Toledo came up to the village.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Wright makes this very casual mention of an event which was the occasion of much celebration. It marked the completion as far as Tecumseh of the "Palmyra to Jacksonburg Branch" of the Michigan Central R.R., the successor to the "Erie, Kalamazoo" running from Lake Erie to Adrian. It had wooden rails and for several years was largely horse drawn but a wood burning engine drew the "Excursion train" which celebrated the opening)

August 10—Again we are visited with ague fever, three of us, self, Moses and Roswell.

In the spring of 1835 I built a farm house about 60 rods north of my house for the purpose of having a house where I could put in a family. I have so much been sick that I am unable to work the farm. But it proved an injudicious project. Moses came home from Texas so much improved in health that he is able and willing to take the management of it and work for the benefit of the family.

Jan. 7— My taxes were $3.42.

We raised on our farm, of wheat 210 bushels of which we sowed 25 bushels and the family used 42 bushels. But the wheat was cut off by the fly so that I had not so much after harvest as I sowed. My son Moses took a journey to New England and returned, July 4th with a wife.

The present season is unprecedented in the large assemblies collected by the political excitement now existing respecting the coming election of the President of the United States. At Fort Meigs there was collected an assembly which was estimated at 70,000 men. They were addressed by Gen. Harrison, the Whig candidate. At Dayton in Ohio over 100,000. At Boston, Mass. 80,000. The excitement is equal in both parties and nothing is unsaid or undone to accomplish the carrying of the election. In this village a large meeting was holden by both parties and both had procured men from Detroit to make political harangues, to which was added, by the Whigs, singing political songs. The political fever was kept unabated until after the election which resulted in placing Gen. Harrison in the presidential chair.

Among the many things that employed the speculations of those who are making haste to be rich, Rohan potatoes come into play. But as this was a short lived as well as a small affair nobody got rich and nobody was made poor by it. It afforded a good topic of conversation and in a year or two was done with.

September was a tough time. Self was taken sick about the last of August. About the middle of the month I had got so I could wait on Mrs. Wright, who was taken sick and continued sick more than a month. Emeline was sick also and went over to the village to her sister Hattie. Augusta was sick and was taken over to Dr. Patterson's where she staid until the 21st of Oct. when she came home but so feeble as to be unable to do anything that could be called work.

Oct. 1—Col. Johnson visited in Tecumseh when his party had a gathering.

Oct. 17—A gathering in the village of both parties.

Mrs. Wright has been the only female in the family for three weeks and she sick. Sister Cleaveland came and spent three days here. Francis and Harriet came up several times to spend a day with us which helped us very much.

Oct. 24—Snow squalls, the first this season.

Oct. 25—Last night or rather this morning had a great frost. This season has been extraordinary because of abundant rain.

Nov. 3—Election day. The Whig party prevailed in town by a majority of two votes.

Nov. 6—Mrs. Wright got out for the first time and went over to Dr. Pattersons.

Nov. 9—Emeline came home.

The number of inhabitants in Tecumseh (township) is 2494. In Lenawee 17,400.

November 10 — Mrs. Wright went to washing, the first time in 3 weeks. We have now got in our potatoes and rutabagas.

Nov. 14—Snow all day. It fell all of 10 inches.

Dec. 2—Snow gone but cold weather.

Sleighing began Christmas day and lasted until the 14 of February 1841. The past year I sold my compass, having very little use for it.

(Note—Mr. Wright had evidently been a surveyor in the East in addition to his other activities)

Feb. 3—I tried again to make maple sugar but failed. I bid adieu to that business forever.

This year got twelve loads of hay from the little meadow.

YOU'LL GET A REAL BOOT OUT OF THIS BEAUTY

(Just switch the pitch and see)

WE'LL grant that you'll get a kick from just looking at a new Buick—it's that kind of automobile.

But you'll have to take the wheel, turn the key and press that pedal before you get any idea what this sizzler on wheels can do to your spirits and well-being.

It will take you only a handful of happy minutes to get the idea.

Just nudge the pedal—no more than a gas-saving inch—and you'll feel the instant new getaway that's yours with the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* even before you switch the pitch.

Just find a spot where you can safely and legally call out the reserves—then floor the pedal. That switches the pitch instantly—and in the same split-second you're at full-power acceleration and sweeping ahead like you never did before in any other earth-bound vehicle.

And all the while, just lend an attentive ear to the whispered might of that big 322-cubic-inch V8 that powers this spectacular performance. For that's the smoothest, the quietest and the highest-powered engine, Series for Series, in all Buick history.

There's more, of course, to make the thrills come thick and fast when you're bossing the best Buick yet.

There's the deep, soft comfort of big interiors—and the sweet and solid steadiness of that great Buick ride.

There's the grace of line you can see stretching before you—and the sure and nimble way this beauty handles and corners and tracks and targets to the road.

So come be our guest at the wheel of a spanking-new Buick—just for fun and kicks and a new excitement. And if you feel this is the car for you, we'll show you prices and a deal that say it's yours for sure. Drop in today or tomorrow, won't you?

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG
(A Supplement to "Mama Goes on Safari")

We stopped dead still and tried to look as inconspicuous as possible for we could now hear the rustling noise of animals moving about. The undergrowth was hard to see through and we all felt that the buffalo were not aware of us and that given a little time, they might move about so we could get a glimpse of them.

Sure enough, after a while a young bull came moseying out and away from the rest of the herd which we could not see. Andy whispered "shoot!" and I shot him twice behind the front leg. The poor fellow took a couple of steps and fell on his side. It was very undramatic and tame to me as I had expected a lot more violence.

I had used the 300 Weatherby Magnum with solid noses and although the bullets went straight through the chest, the speed of the projectiles must have been great enough to create the necessary shock. His horns were not the kind you find mentioned in Rowland Wards catalog, but he was big and fat and would solve the meat problem at the moment.

MAMA LEFT BEHIND

After a short palaver we decided to leave two of the natives with Mama so they could cut up the meat and make a path through the jungle, get the jeep in close enough for loading, and be ready for departure by the time we would be back from a sashay after the rest of the herd which had bolted at the sound of the shots. Mama being a great sport agreed and we started off.

Shortly after our departure we heard a peculiar coughing sound in the woods not far from the path we were following and I noticed Andy and N'Gora exchanging meaningful glances. "That was a leopard," Andy said, "maybe we shall have some fun."

How many miles we covered that afternoon, I do not know, but eventually we gave up the chase and went back to our starting point to see how Mama and the natives were getting along, stripping our buffalo.

When we arrived, they were backing the jeep out of the woods and we went up to look at the carcass as Andy seemed to have something in mind. As we came close to what was left of the buffalo, a leopard jumped up with a snarl and disappeared into the woods.

"That was the fellow we heard coughing, you remember?" Andy said. "Rather cheeky of him. He must really be hungry."

WAIT FOR LEOPARD

After a few hurried instructions everybody withdrew except N'Gora and I, who hid ourselves behind a bush waiting for the leopard to reappear. We saw him a couple of times in the shadow of the woods, but never well enough to get in a good shot.

After about half an hour Andy came back with the jeep and we all helped by rope and advice to get the buffalo carcass hauled out of the woods to a lonely tree of proper size and shape. After several mishaps with an old piece of rope, we finally succeeded in hoisting the gory thing and tieing it to a stout branch. Andy was happy; "Now let Chui come out here for his breakfast tomorrow morning. We shall keep a date with him."

Next morning at sunrise we were back and Andy let me fall out of the left door as he, without stopping, slowly drove past a bush about 25 yards from our special tree. N'Gora slid in beside me and we started our wait, being absolutely still, so as not to give away our presence.

It did not take long before a grey form showed itself in the shadows among the trees. Never will I forget the thrill and excitement of the moment; would I get a good chance; would I hit him right — a wounded leopard is dynamite.

HE'S BEAUTIFUL BUT DEAD

All of a sudden the fellow was out in the sunlight sitting on the ground like a big tom cat. I did not see him come out, but all of a sudden he was there. The sunlight shone right over my shoulder and in on his chest. His hide was the most beautiful combination of light background and black rosettes, his eyes big and yellow as buttercups looking straight at me. He was sitting up on his haunches facing directly towards me and I I was wondering if he could see me as I squeezed the trigger. BANG!

How could I have missed him, or did I? Chui had disappeared in a tremendous leap that carried him in a great arc towards the woods.

N'Gora and I looked at each other and got up from our sitting position. This was ticklish business. However, after stalking about 100 yards, guns ready, safety off, we found the leopard in all his beauty—dead.

We were back in camp half an hour later and great was the reception as Mama has described it.

TACTICS ARE CHANGED

The day I brought down my secon dbufalo we had changed our tactics of hunting in the jungle patches and clearings and were, instead, looking for areas where the old grass had been burned off and new grass had started to grow again. In such places the new green grass was evidently too tempting for the single old bulls and sometimes one might be found there grazing after daybreak when the general herd had long since retired to the jungle.

After a lot of scouting in the jeep we spotted a couple of animals on a green slope a long distance away and, after driving as close as we dared, proceeded to stalk our quary. After much sneaking, taking advantage of what little cover available, we found ourselves unable to approach closer without detection and it was suggested that I try to take the biggest one of three bulls visible.

I was out of breath and in poor condition to shoot, but as the buffalo was beginning to look uneasy and walking farther away, I had to make a try. Kneeling on one knee and doing my best in squeezing off a shot, I missed clean. The bulls bolted, of course, and so did some more buffalos we had not seen before, disappearing into the jungle quite a distance off.

It is difficult to describe the feeling of chagrin and hurt pride which prevailed the next moments.

WHAT . . . A HUNTER?

I knew I should have waited, that the distance was too great; that it was "not good" to kneel. What had happened to Andy's judgment that he could have suggested such a thing? The animal was hundreds of yards away. Where was his rule about the 25 yards maximum?

I should have sat down, so as to get a better aim. Never again. All the stalking, creeping, and effort by everyone for nothing.

It appeared Andy had said to wait and I had not heard, probably due to excitement. What a clumsy fool I was.

Christian Science Services Listed

The significance for all mankind of Christ Jesus' victory over disease and death will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural passages regarding Jesus' crucifixion, resurrection, and ascension will be among the Bible selections to be read from the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. "Unreality" is the Lesson-Sermon topic.

Radings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following: "The resurrection of the great demonstrator of God's power was the proof of his final triumph over body and matter, and gave full evidence of divine Science, — evidence so important to mortals. The belief that man has existence or mind separate from God is a dying error. This error Jesus met with divine Science and proved its nothingness" (42:15-21).

Music Club Has Easter Program

"Oratorio" was the subject of the program conducted by Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney at the March meeting of the Tecumseh Music Club, Tuesday evening. The group met at the home of Mrs. Robert Warren, who was assisted by Mrs. James Danforth and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz.

Mrs. William Hayden opened the program by reading a poem written by her grandmother expressing the Easter season. The leader then gave a history of the oratorio, sketching the more famous ones and their composers and introduced club members, who illustrated the selections she mentioned.

Mrs. Murray Day read excerpts from "The Creation;" Mrs. Hayden played parts from a number of the great oratorios; Mrs. Schwartz sang, "O Rest in the Lord" and "He Was Despised" and Mrs. Harley McConnell sang "He Shall Feed His Flock."

In keeping with the season, Mrs. W. G. Waldron described the showing of the "Passion Play" which she saw in Oberammergau several years ago. Her description was illustrated by pictures shown by Mr. Waldron.

A short, routine business meeting was held and the hostesses served refreshments during the social hour that followed.

DAUGHTERS MEET

Sixteen members of the Daughters of the St. Peter's Episcopal church attended the meeting in the Parish House Tuesday evening. Mrs. A. C. Hamaker reported on the courtesy committee and Mrs. Harry Schuch told of the recent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the church.

The group decided to pay their 1956 church pledge at once, to make an Easter offering and to pay a sum towards the Easter flowers for the church as a memorial.

The Lenten study was presented by Mrs. Harry Schuch and at the close of the meeting Mrs. Hamaker and Mrs. Louis Schneider served refreshments.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children will go to Mr. O'Pravil's farm on March 21. We have made up a story that we like to read. It tells about all the things that we will see.

Clyde Kehoe has joined our first grade. He has been attending school near Hudson.

John Davis from Britton has transferred to second grade. We are very glad to have you with us John.

We are getting ready to start cursive writing and are very interested in this. Many of the letters are not too different from our manuscript letters.

We have been learning about magnets in our Science class. We were so surprised to learn that many of the things in our homes make use of magnets in their operation. We are also reporting all the signs of spring which we see. We think the recent snow storm is just March weather and not a spring sign.

We are busy decorating eggs for Easter in third grade. We are using all sorts of things and some of our eggs are real cute. All of us who received an "A" in spelling on our weeks words, made an egg for our large basket on our front bulletin board. Our basket has a lot of eggs in it.

Toni Herrick and Keith Kilbourn are enjoying the Florida sunshine with their parents. Pat Ward had a birthday.

Doug Dew brought some snails for us to watch for science. Dianne Hoch brought a coconut for us to see. We had Mr. Young break it and we all had a sample.

Our African Lily grew to be 66 inches tall and has blossomed. We enjoyed watching it grow so rapidly, but did not care for the odor.

We have our room decorated for Easter, with an egg tree, egg figurines, Easter pictures, and a large Easter basket.

Jack Dick and Ann Metcalf were the only two who had a star paper in Self-testing Drill 13 in Arithmetic this week.

Connie Lee Schneider, Nancy Nixon, Ann Metcalf, and Robert Oswald had perfect papers in Problem test 6.

The sixth grade has been preparing longer reports. These required much extra preparation and research. On hearing them read we agree the extra work was worhtwhile.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

All of the kindergarten can recognize their names. Some of the children can recognize the name cards of their friends'. Almost all of the children can write their names in manuscript. Kindergarten has been having fun with a rhyming word game. One day they played it with first grade.

Mrs. Munger's first grade pupils are excited about the trip they are planning on taking to the Sugar Bush.

Almost all the children in Mrs. Puffer's second grade can now tell time because of the large chart they made and placed around their clock. The chart has labels "minutes to," "minutes after," and "half-past."

Merwin Smith, first grade, Nancy Ford, second grade, and Mary Ford, third grade, are absent because of recent tonsillectomes.

Mrs. VanWinkle's second grade are having a lot of fun making and designing Easter hats. They are planning an "Easter Parade" for the Thursday before Easter.

Mrs. Callihan's second graders are learning about money. Billy Hadley brought a good collection of European coins for the children to see. The boys and girls are also learning to count by fives and tens. Eighteen from Mrs. Callihan's room have ridden on the Tecumseh Indian bus. The rest hope to ride very soon.

Judy Purkey brought some Pussywillows to Mrs. Whiting's room. This makes the children think Spring will soon be here. Terry Haughn had a birthday on Monday, March 12. Sharon Korth's mother and grandmother visited her room on Wednesday, March 14.

Mrs. Baily's fourth grade has a new fish bowl with several guppies in it. Mrs. Westdike gave them the fish and they bought the other things they needed with the money they received for having the largest percentage of parents at the January P.T.A. meeting.

Larry Flowers played his accordion on a radio program recently.

The "Bow Club" is planning to visit the greenhouse the twenty-fourth of March.

New pupils at Central are Loren Pickford, Gary Rutledge, Tommy Koons, and Levi Wirtanen, first grade. William Hadley, Josephine Abshere, Janet Pickford, second grade. Venus Cole, first grade, has left to go to Kentucky.

The combined meeting of the West Branch and Central P.T.A. was attended by approximately one hundred parents and teachers. Mrs. Callihan's room won the attendance award.

EDITORIAL

municipal problem, no matter how small, is a personal task to him and he tries to solve them all. If he weren't a good city manager—and the real record shows that he is—we would keep him for his effort and ambition alone!

In point 10 the four candidates state they would "revamp the police department and make it an official arm of the law." "Revamp" is a strong word; and so are "official" and "efficient" strong words. The implication is apparent: that the local police force is not doing its job. We will admit that in some areas it could do better (all of us could) but to imply that it is not presently an "official arm of the law" sounds like utterances from those with personal grievances.

The "Independent Voters Ticket" has handed out hundreds of hand bills that spewed forth its "platform" but not one of the candidates answered eight questions on REAL CURRENT ISSUES that the other eight candidates commented on.

Why didn't the four "Independents" answer the questionnaire?

Taking Off Weight Is One-Man Job

You can't lose weight unless you've really made up your mind to do it.

Weight control is an individual problem. No one can do it for you. The more you lean on someone else for support, the less likely you are to be successful. You must make changes in living as wel las in eating, changes which you live with indefinitely — not just for two months while you lose 10 pounds.

This philosophy is expressed in a new bulletin, "Live Lean and Like It," available at county extension offices. Written by Dr. Margaret Ohlson, nutrition professor at Michigan State University, the bulletin tells who should lose weight and then how to go about doing it.

FASTING WON'T DO IT

Fasting today because you overstuffed yourself yesterday is not the way to make good food habits. Your body needs the basic nutrients every day and it needs them equally distributed throughout the day. These daily basic nutrients can be had by including: One pint of skim milk or buttermilk; three servings of high protein food, such as egg, meat, fish or cheese; three servings of cereal; two servings of green vegetable; two servings of fruit; and three small pats of butter or margarine, or three tablespoons salad oil or shortening.

How much additional food you should add to this basic daily diet depends on how many calories you, as an individual burn in a day. This will vary from 1,500 to 6,000 calories depending on size, sex, age and the amount of work you do. For example, if you are a young woman of average size whose work is done chiefly in a sitting position, you need 1,900 to 2,200 calories every day to main*tain your weight. If you* want to lose weight, then you must subtract 500 to 1,000 calories per day from this figure.

SATISFY YOUR APPETITE

The extra foods you add to the basic diet may mean a lot in terms of satisfying your appetite, points out Dr. Ohlson. A potato per day can be an excellent investment in morale; or so can an occasional cookie. Often a choice of whole milk instead of skim milk may mean the difference in being satisfied or really hungry before the next meal.

Regular, consistent exercise can help you lose weight, but only if done while on a well balanced diet suited to your needs. Dr. Ohlson suggests that a thorough medical check should always precede weight reduction. And, as you grow older, you should see your doctor at regular intervals even if you only want to maintain your weight.

Dr. Ohlson's bulletin "Live Lean and Like It" is available from your county home demonstration agent. Just ask for Extension Folder F-208. Or get it by writing to the bulletin office at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Local Topics

Mr. and Mrs. George French re*turned* the last of the week from a short vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fisher have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Farver on West Chicago Blvd. The Farvers will build a new home in River Acres.

Mrs. Richard Mead was in Ann Arbor recently visiting Miss Mary Scarlett, who is a patient in St. Joseph Mercy hospital. She has been ill for several weeks but her condition is much improved.

Callers Saturday and Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Panck were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cross of Britton, Mr. and Mrs. James Cross and family of Durand, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anthes of Williamston, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metcalf of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Durfee of Fenton.

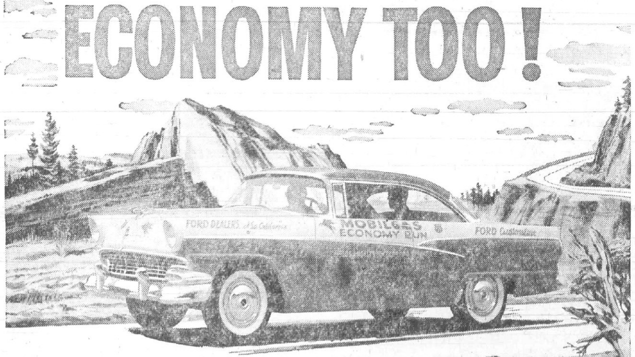
Famous bulletin from Mobilgas Economy Run

FORD WINS IN ECONOMY TOO!



V-8 WINS CLASS A

In this year's Economy Run a new Ford V-8, with Fordomatic, was the official victor over every car in its field, with a winning average of 47.7643 ton-miles per gallon. This means that the sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight, with greater gas economy per pound, than any car in its field.

This latest Ford victory was scored over a rough and rigorous 1,468.8-mile route running from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs. Through the heat of Death Valley and over chilling mountain heights . . . through gas-eating city traffic and over the straight-line open road . . . Ford proved anew its traditional reputation for economical performance.

The winning Ford was a regular-production model taken right from the assembly line. It was no different than thousands of '56 Fords you see on the road and in dealer's showrooms. This proves that Ford, the Performance, Style and Safety leader, leads in Economy, too! That adds up to four big reasons why the '56 Ford is worth more when you buy it, while you drive it, and when you sell it, too!

The "ton-mile" formula is used by contest officials to insure equal chance for all cars in each class, regardless of size or weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by the number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

PTA's Plan Polio Dance

The combined PTA sponsored benefit dance for the March of Dimes will be held Saturday night, April 7, in the high school gym. All proceeds will go to fight polio.

S. R. Illeck is chairman. His committee is Keith Barron, tickets; Carson House, iron lung; Bob Wood, publicity; Bob Anderson, decorations.

Music will be furnished by the Products orchestra. The Teen Club, under direction of John Hamilton, will be in charge of refreshments.

The purpose of this annual dance is not only to raise funds for polio, but it is also a means of enabling all the P.T.A. groups to have an annual get-together.

The chamber of commerce has been cleared for this date.

Tecumseh is invited to participate.

Bishop Crowley Will Appear at St. Peter's Church

This coming Sunday April 8, at St. Peter's Episcopal church, the Right Rev. A. H. Crowley, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, will be present for the Apostolic Rite of the Laying on of Hands, or better known today as the Service of Confirmation.

This service will be conducted at 5 p.m.

BISHOP CROWLEY

After the service there will be a reception in the Parish Hall at which time all persons will have an opportunity to meet the Bishop and Mrs. Crowley, also to welcome the newly confirmed into the fellowship of the church.

Bishop Crowley, before his consecration, was Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Grosse Ile. While there his diocesan offices were many and varied; member of the Diocesan Executive Council, Department of Christian Education, Board of Examining Chaplains, Standing Committee and others.

The public is invited to attend this service.

PATTERSON P.T.A. MEETING CHANGED

Instead of meeting tonight (Thursday) as originally planned, the Patterson P.T.A. will meet jointly with Central P.T.A. Wednesday, April 18, in the high school gym to see a gym demonstration by the fourth, fifth and sixth grades under the direction of Mrs. Michelina Hardcastle and Carl Hale.

Schools Join Tecumseh

Two more rural school districts have voted to annex to the Tecumseh Public Schools. Saturday Pink (Franklin Two) and Macon Village (Macon One) approved annexation.

As in past elections, districts that voted Saturday had three ballots. The first was on annexation. The second one was to raise the tax limitation to 18 mills of assessed valuation to support Tecumseh's debt retirement fund. And the third was whether the district should assume its share of the bonded indebtedness of the Tecumseh public schools.

Only district taxpayers were allowed to vote on the last two proposals. Any registered voter in the district could have voted on the annexation proposal.

These were the results of the voting on the three proposals:

PINK — 27 to 7; 22 to 12; and 18 to 3.

MACON VILLAGE — 108 to 8; 104 to 11; and 85 to 10.

Results Saturday brings to 13 the number of rural schools that have annexed to Tecumseh.

Five others have been discussing the subject. Saturday, April 7, Kelley (Raisin Two) and Saturday, April 14, Colvin (Raisin Five) will vote an annexing to Tecumseh Public Schools.

Several Hundred Hunt Girl Scout Easter Eggs

Several hundred boys and girls invaded the recreation field last Saturday afternoon to participate in the Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association.

The affair began promptly much to the disappointment of the late comers and lasted only a few minutes as it was a competitive thing. One would have thought that a swarm of locusts had devastated the field which was very colorful only a few minutes before with 2200 colored eggs.

Sixteen prizes consisting of Easter baskets, home-made cakes, and four live rabbits were awarded to the following: Darrel Beal, David Beemer, Johnny Bolden, Randall Dotson, Randy Fergus, Kathy Hammack, Dennis Harrison, David Hartwig, Fred Kachur, Donald Linden, Sandra Miller, John Oberlin, Richard Smith, Terry Sniffen, Linda Weakly and Donald Whelan. The prizes were presented to the winners by Mrs. Howard Truesdale, president of the Association.

Mrs. Julius Vincz and Mrs. Wellington Wotring were co-chairmen of the activity assisted by the junior and senior Girl Scout troops.

The Association wishes to thank all who had a part in making the affair a success as a community service as well as financially.

It was estimated that the profits will be around $225 which will be used for the Brownie and Girl Scout program in Tecumseh.

The Association is also grateful to Mrs. James Gabler, Ronnie Wotring, and George Rhinehart for making the donation tickets.

Boy Beaten by Mother

Gary Keehl, 11, is recovering from injuries received in a beating administered by his mother Mrs. Hazel Keehl, 702 east Chicago boulevard.

Arraigned before Justice L. J. Van Deusen of Clinton Tuesday, Mrs. Keehl of Clinton with assault to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Waiving examination, she was bound over to circuit court trial and a bond of $2000 was ordered.

Clinton State Police who made the arrest on a complaint signed by the boy's step-mother said Mrs. Keehl beat her son with a rubber-covered electrical cord.

His step-mother discovered his condition when she called at his home to pick him up for a visit.

The boy had cuts, welts and bruises on his arms, buttocks, legs, shoulders, back and hands. His arms and legs were swollen.

Mrs. Keehl told police her son had taken 10 cents from his sister.

Editor Suffers Head Injuries

Gillis Kidd, 42, of Tecumseh was discharged from Herrick Memorial hospital Friday after suffering head injuries in a fall Wednesday, March 27, on south Occidental road.

Mr. Kidd, editor and publisher of the Tecumseh Free Press, a new newspaper that listed the platform and backgrounds of the four candidates on the Independent Voters' ticket, was delivering the newspaper when he fell on the ice and struck his head. He was found unconscious on the porch of the home owned by Lewis Watson at 7188 Occidental road.

After the accident it was rumored that Mr. Kidd had been struck down by either somebody who did not agree with his political beliefs or by somebody who was opposed to his newspaper.

But Tecumseh and Michigan State Police could find no evidence of foul play.

DRUNKS ARRESTED

William Garland, 37, of Britton Route 2 and Marcum Brown, 63, of Adrian were arrested by Tecumseh police Tuesday afternoon on a drunkenness charge.

They are awaiting arraignment in justice court.

VALUATION OF CITY IS $15,683,100

City assessor John Saling reports that the city's local assessed valuation is $15,683,100. Eighty-five "aggrieved taxpayers" turned out to discuss their individual assessments with the board of review last week.

1372 Voters Elect

Hanna, Purkey Kelso, Brazee As Councilmen

Election Given "Clean Bill of Health"

The election Monday was given a "clean bill of health" by the director of elections.

Robert M. Montgomery of the department and an assistant spent all day at the polls here.

Mr. Montgomery before he left for his home in Lansing immediately after the final count made this statement:

"We have had numerous questions in our office on the conduct of elections in Tecumseh.

"In fairness to everyone concerned we felt it was a good idea to be present at the election today which we understood was rather hotly contested.

"Our only interest in the election was to make sure it was properly conducted.

"Aside from some minor technicalities which were corrected at once the election was conducted without any irregularities.

"We discovered no electioneering in or near the polls and we feel that the members of the election board did their work carefully and conscientiously."

Hanna Heads Ballot

A record number of voters Monday re-elected two incumbents and elected one "old" councilman and a new councilman to the city council.

Councilmen re-elected were H. H. Hanna and Don Purkey. Harold Kelso, who previously had served as a councilman, and Don Brazee, a new man, also were elected.

Leading the ballot was Mayor Hanna with 957 votes. He was followed by Harold Kelso with 800; Donald Brazee with 795 and Donald Purkey with 760.

These four went in office with a margin of about three to one over the four candidates who ran on the Independent Voters' Ticket.

Mayor Hanna and councilmen Kelso and Brazee were elected to two-year terms. Councilman Purkey was elected to a one-year term.

A sunny day with the temperatures in the high sixties helped to make a record turn out with 1372 of the 2865 voters turning out to vote.

Two years ago last March 1298 voters turned out to vote down fluoridation.

The charges and counter charges of the Independent Voters' Ticket and the slate headed by Mayor Hanna which was elected Monday created a lot of interest in this year's city council election.

Leading the Independent Voters' Ticket was M. H. Thielan with 304. He was followed by Marvin Rumpf with 301; Paul Snyder with 281; and Gilbert Nighswander with 268.

The real "independents", on their own throughout the campaign ran like this: James Freckelton, 334; Stephan Illeck, 263; Mary Bowers, 240; and Lowell Edwards 111.

Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk, commended the election workers for their efficiency in conducting the election.

The complete council now is comprised of Mayor Hanna, Arthur Schwartz, John Hamilton, William Powell, Harold Kelso, Donald Brazee and Donald Purkey.

The vote was canvassed at a special meeting Tuesday night and next Monday the council will meet in a special session to organize. At this time the mayor and mayor pro-tem will be named.

ANNOUNCE CHANGE

The dance revue planned by the American Legion Auxiliary for April 27 will be held in the Union Hall instead of the Legion Home as previously announced.

CHURCH CIRCLE MET MONDAY

Mrs. Dale Bowen conducted the devotions and was also in charge of the program of the April meeting of Presbyterian Circle No. 4 Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Clarence Gilman. Seventeen members were present and a routine business meeting was held.

It was announced that there would be a father-daughter banquet in the Presbyterian Fellowship Center, April 11 and the group was also told that coffee is being served each Sunday morning at 9:15 in Fellowship Center for those who desire to attend.

The May 7 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. James Elliott.

TWO C OF C GROUPS MEET THURSDAY

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce retail and professional divisions will meet at the Tecumseh Country Club today (Thursday). The retail division will meet at 1:30 p.m. for luncheon and the professional division will meet at 6:30 p.m. for a dinner.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

COMMENTS ON OUR little election extra were most heartening. And a lot of folks wondered how a little old weekly could be on the streets with a paper just a little more than an hour after the election results were known. Frankly, we'll let you in on some confidential information: we had five of the pictures and five of the names already to use in headlines and the layout of the page was done Monday afternoon. Don't ask which candidate represented the fifth spot . . . we won't tell.

WINNING POSTERS in the Poppy contest sponsored by the VFW may be seen in the Palman store and they're really honeys.

YOU SHOUD HAVE seen the look on the face of Hal Kelso when he stopped in the office one day and I met him at the door with a sparrow in my hand. This was the story: the sparrow was picked up outside the door by Clara as stiff as a board (the sparrow that is . . . not our social reporter). She brought her feathered friend into the office and after about an hour and a half he thawed out and tried to escape out the window. Trying to keep the little fellow from batting his bird brains out against our window, I carried him out as Hal came in the door. It was just one more service that we have at the office and, as most folks know, a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

IT WAS INTERESTING to note that a banker friend from Lapeer, Mich., authored this week's prayer on the editorial page. It was written by Charlie Laesch, president of the First National Bank of Lapeer.

LEON WILLIAMSON WRITES from San Diego, Calif. (and please don't tell the chamber of comerce there that he's peddling such stuff): "We have had 114 earthquakes since we arrived in Calif."

WHEN MARK TWAIN was a young and struggling newspaperman in San Francisco, a lady of his acquaintance saw him one day with a cigar box under his arm looking into a shop window.

April Sky Is Bright with Many Planets

April is a month for stargazers who prefer looking at planets; five bright ones will be visible, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

There can be no mistaking Venus, she says, because it's the brightest object in the heaven (with the exception of the Sun and Moon). It now appears high above the western horizon after sunset, and by April 12 will set about four hours after the Sun.

Jupiter, visible toward the east after dark, rides high across the heaven throughout most of the night. On April 19, the professor notes, the gibbous moon (between half moon and full) will pass about six degrees below Jupiter.

Saturn, the ringed planet, rises around 10 p.m. just preceding the rising of Scorpius. The planet is located at the extreme western tip of this constellation and can be picked out easily enough because it shines with a steady light — as do all planets — while nearby stars will be twinkling, Professor Losh describes.

By the end of the month the red planet, Mars, following Saturn, will rise at about 2 a.m. It will be moving from the constellation Sagittarius to Capricornus and will be increasing noticeably in brightness.

Mercury, closest planet to the Sun and hardest of the naked-eye planets to see for this reason, will be visible during the last week in April when it reaches its greatest angular distance from the Sun, astronomer Losh states. It will then set more than an hour after that body.

And speaking of the Sun, reminds Professor Losh, by the end of the month we'll have about 14 hours of daylight.

DELORA FLETCHER

Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher announce the engagement of their daughter Delora to Edward E. Bock, the son of Joseph Bock and the late Mrs. Joseph Bock of Britton.

The wedding date has been set for Aug. 18.

Miss Fletcher is a member of the senior class of Tecumseh and Mr. Bock graduated in 1952 from Milan high school.

Wit and Wisdom Elects Officers

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Waldron entertained the members of the Wit and Wisdom Club at their home Monday evening with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge, David Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Finch.

This was election of officers and the balloting resulted in the choice of the same group that had charge last year. They are: president, Mrs. Herbert Munger; vice president, Earl Greene; secretary, Mrs. Earl Wickwire and treasurer, Mr. Waldron.

Miss Ruth Harding, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Crisp and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon, who are the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual spring banquet announced that it would be held May 7 at the Baptist Youth House. Announcement was also made of June 4 as the date of the club picnic when Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee will be hosts at their home at Iron Creek Mill Pond. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Munger.

Music for the Monday evening meeting was planned by Mrs. Waldron and included two two-piano duets played by Mrs. William Hayden and Mrs. John McColl. They played "The Saber Dance" and "Andalucia."

Some very interesting and beautiful pictures were then shown by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, depicting phases of their life in Japan. Those taken by Mrs. Laidlaw showed the homes and domestic customs of the Japanese while the doctor's pictures were mostly of the country's agriculture.

Bert Lanning Died Monday

Bert Lanning, a resident of Raisin township for more than 50 years died Monday morning at the family home on Pocklington road after a short illness. Mr. Lanning had been a farmer all his adult life. He was a member of the Tecumseh Baptist church.

The son of John and Effie Lanning, he was born in Franklin township, May 14, 1880. He is survived by his wife, Inice; a son Ned Lanning; a daughter Dola Lou Barnes; a step daughter Leola Alderdyce, all of Tecumseh and a brother Harold Lanning of Adrian. Preceding him in death were a son Merle Lanning and a daughter Leora Nobles.

Funeral services for Mr. Lanning were held at the Green Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. Alvin Brazee in charge. Burial was in Brookside cemetery with John Calhoun, Ted McConnell, Roy Cadmus, Clair Woodward, Clarence Kopka and Harvey Lewis as bearers.

Irene Kochis and Curtis Isom Married Saturday

Irene Kochis, whose home is in Tecumseh, became the bride of Curtis Isom of Adrian Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of 16 Mill street.

MRS. CURTIS ISOM

Miss Kochis is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Kochis of Maybee, Mich., while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Treman Isom of Alamaba.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edgar Owens, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church and the bride was given in marriage by her mother. The couple was attended by the bride's sister and husband, Rose and Denny Richmond of Maybee.

Both the bride and her attendant wore navy blue suits with white accessories and Mrs. Kochis' suit was also blue while her accessories were black. All wore orchid corsages. The groom and his best man were also in navy blue.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding reception was held in the Brown home. Refreshments featured punch, served from a beautiful cut glass bowl and two decorated wedding cakes topped with miniature bridal parties.

After a week's wedding trip to Alabama, Mr. and Mrs. Isom will reside in Adrian. Both are employees of the Tecumseh Products Co.

HONORED BY FRAT

David Lott, a junior at Adrian College, was recently honored by his fraternity when he was elected president of Alpha Tau Omega, the oldest fraternity on the Adrian College campus.

Mr. Lott, who lives in Tecumseh, has held many offices in the fraternity before being elected to his present position.

BROWNIE TROOP RECEIVES PINS

Investiture services were held Monday afternoon for members of Brownie Troop 20, the Iris Troop. The ceremonies took place in the Baptist Youth House with 13 mothers present.

Fourteen of the 15 Brownies received their Brownie Scout and their World pins. Laura Seager was absent because of illness. Scout pins were also given to the committee women attending. Mrs. Junior Fouts and her Brownie Troop 13 were additional guests. The investiture was followed by the serving of punch and cookies.

Grange Will Have Joint Meeting

Tecumseh Grange will meet jointly with Deerfield Grange for their regular meeting April 12. The two granges will have their business meetings in conjunction at which time the Tecumseh third and fourth degree team will exemplify their degrees for candidates from the following combined granges: Morenci, Medina, Deerfield and Tecumseh. A cooperative supper will be served after the meeting.

Saturday evening, April 7 Tecumseh grange will take the gavel and present the program at Rome Grange. There will be a potluck supper at 7:30 with Tecumseh members serving cake.

Last Friday evening the first and second degree team, along with other Tecumseh members, attended the Morenci Grange where the team exemplified their degrees on a class of candidates from the four combined granges. More than 30 attended from Tecumseh.

Saturday evening a group of 15 from Tecumseh attended the North Rome Grange meeting and furnished the program which consisted of assembly singing, skits, readings and musical numbers after which all were seated in the dining room for a late lunch.

Members are urged not to forget the regular Saturday evening dance at the hall, April 7 to which the public is cordially invited.

Services Held for Ralph Blesing

Ralph Blesing, a native of Tecumseh, died suddenly Saturday morning at his home in Ionia, following a cerebral hemorrhage. He was the son of the late George and Mary Blesing and was born in Tecumseh, Oct. 26, 1890.

He spent his boyhood in Tecumseh moving many years ago to Ionia, where he had been employed by the Green Furniture Manufacturing Co. for the past 43 years.

He is survived by his widow, Bess; a stepson, Gus Messacar of Lansing and a brother, Don Blesing of Tecumseh. His parents and a brother, Harold preceded him in death.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Blesing were in Ionia Monday where the funeral services and burial were held.

The wedding will take place Sept. 8 in the First Presbyterian church of Tecumseh.

Sunrise Service Attended by 175

Although due to the cold the sunrise Easter service was held in the Tecumseh Methodist church instead of on the grounds of the airport as had been planned, it was an inspiring gathering for the 175 persons who filled the sanctuary. The altar was massed with Easter lilies.

The service was opened by the Rev. Horace James and the Easter message was given by the Rev. Bernard Gill of the Church of the Nazarene. Young people from the collaborating churches also participated in the worship, Gary Hizer representing the Methodist church, Alan Dickinson, the Presbyterian and Betty Bishop, the Baptist.

Following the service, breakfast was served for the young people in their respective churches. About 40 were fed at the Baptist church at tables set in the form of a cross and decorated with lilies. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cook were hosts and were assisted by Mrs. Harry Beland, Mrs. Vern Manwaring and by the young people.

About 75 young people adjourned to the Presbyterian Fellowship Center where breakfast was served by Mrs. Lee Purkey, Mrs. James Barton, Mrs. Charles Stephenson, Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, Mrs. H. H. Hanna, Mrs. Stephan Illeck, Mrs. Bart Aiuto and Mrs. John Hamilton.

At the Methodist church the Youth Class with their leader, Aden Mead planned and served breakfast for about 35 of their number.

Little Dickie Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kuhn, fell from a swing in his yard Monday and broke both bones in his left arm. After spending a day at Herrick Memorial hospital he is home and improving. Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Breneman of Detroit and their family were Easter guests in the Kuhn home.

Miss Ellen Snedecor, who teaches in Auburn Heights spent the Easter vacation at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Downard and family were Easter Sunday guests of Mr. Downard's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cutchall in Sherwood, Mich.

Best Sellers Reviewed for Monday Club Women

Ten of the year's best selling books were briefly but vividly reviewed by Mrs. Dale Bowen for the benefit of the 55 members and guests attending this week's meeting of the Tecumseh Monday Club at the Methodist church.

Introduced by Mrs. L. W. Larsen, program leader, Mrs. Bowen sketched the interesting highlights of "Last Hurrah," McKinley Kantor's "Andersonville," "Auntie Mamie" by Dennis, "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit" by Wilson, Wouk's, "Marjorie Morningstar," "10 North Frederick Street" by O'Hara, "The Episode of the Sparrow" by Renner Godden, Walter Lord's "A Night to Remember" and "Tender Victory" by Taylor Caldwell. She also included and recommended an article in the latest "Ladies Home Journal" on "Perfect Housekeeping".

Following her talk the audience was much interested to learn that in the June or July issue of "Travel" magazine would appear an article by Miss Marda Gene Duncan entitled "Traveling on Eight Wheels".

Announcements made during the business meeting included one from the ladies of the Addison Women's Club, the hostess club for the annual Federation of Women's Clubs April 19 asking club members to bring their hobbies and announcing that a noon luncheon would be served.

The date of the Monday Club's annual spring luncheon has been set for April 16. It will be held this year in the Episcopal Parish House with reservations to be made by April 12 with either Mrs. Carlos Jones or Miss Lillian Cannon.

Mrs. E. H. McConnell reported that two young people were to represent the club in the contest for Interlochen Music Camp, Alice Titley in piano and Jackie Rucker, voice. A communication was read from state representative Rollo Conlin acknowledging receipt of the club's petition regarding road side hunting and the conservation department's part in setting deer seasons. A request from the bleacher committee was tabled because of lack of funds on hand and Mrs. Lee Purkey was reinstated to membership.

The tea table was decorated with a centerpiece of sweetpeas and tea and cookies were served by the hostess committee with Mrs. Jennie Temple and Mrs. Truman Rentschler pouring.

FAMILY NIGHT HONORS PASTOR'S BIRTHDAY

Family night at the Friends church Saturday evening was a combination of that annual event and a birthday party for the Rev. Edward Escolme, whose natal day was the following Monday. About 75 members of the congregation assembled for the 6:30 potluck supper and for the program which followed.

Miss Celeste Richardson and Miss Eva Clauson, who are conducting special meetings in Adrian, were among those present and Miss Richardson sang two songs. Mrs. Emma Day gave one of her always enjoyed readings and after the group adjourned to the church sanctuary pictures were shown which had been taken by Richard Butler during his military service in England and Germany.

The many gifts received by Mr. Escolme demonstrated the esteem of his congregation.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Macon Campfire Girls and their parents had a potluck supper Friday evening at the Macon Church in observance of the 46th anniversary of the founding of Campfire. Tablecloths and napkins were sketched with the symbol of the crossed logs and fire, and centerpieces were arranged by a committee of the Campfire Girls.

A welcome to the parents was given by Carolyn Bartels and the blessing was given by Ann Wilson. The Campfire Girls then entertained by singing "The Campfire Girls Law", playing two games learned in Campfire and singing the "Closing Song".

Missionary to Speak at Friends Church

HARRY BOLLBACK, Word of Life missionary to Brazil now on furlough, will speak at the Tecumseh Friends church Wed., April 11, at 7:30 p.m. During his furlough period he is traveling throughout the country as a youth leader and evangelist for the Word of Life Fellowship of New York City.

Mr. Bollback returned from Brazil last spring where he did missionary work among the uncivilized, savage Indians in the Xingu Valley. On one trip into the Xingu Valley, he and his party were attacked by the Chavantes. His messages contain not only evangelistic appeal, but with the foreign field on his heart, he often refers to his missionary experiences.

Former pianist on the Word of Life Hour, Bollback was with the broadcast when it was first aired over the networks. During World War II he joined the U.S. Marine Corps and served overseas in the Pacific area. Coming out of the service, he attended the Philadelphia Bible Institute. He went to South America upon completion of his courses there.

Last summer Mr. Bollback was director of music at the three Word of Life camps in the Adirondacks.

Mr. Bollback, his wife and famliy are among the 42 missionaries which Word of Life is helping to support in 14 countries around the world.

The public is cordially invited.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS HAVE MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. George Green Jr. were in charge of the entertainment of the Christian Workers of the Baptist church Friday evening in the Youth House following their 6:30 potluck supper. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cook were hosts for the evening and there were 14 couples and their children present. Four "baby sitters" entertained the little folks.

A ways and means committee was elected with Mr. and Mrs. George VanCamp heading the group. Remaining members chosen were Mr. and Mrs. Max Elliott, Edwin Gannaway and Jesse Gray.

The workers decided to meet the fourth Friday evening of each month instead of the last as had been their schedule. April 27 will be the next meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Gannaway as hosts and Mr. and Mrs. Max Elliott in charge of the entertainment.

Says "No Thanks, I Don't Want Any"

A circular letter received by the editor and we presume by many others, advertises a big "saving" on fire and automobile insurance to which we have the following reply:

"No, thanks! We shall be obliged to reject the offer... We get reasonable insurance rates by purchasing our insurance protection from established, reputable local agents who are here on the ground and whose services will be available should we have a loss against which we are protected in the standard insurance policies in our safe. We would not be obliged to indulge in lengthy correspondence with some stranger in Kalamazoo, or Timbuktu. The local boys would be on the job, would check and report the loss, and settlement would be made without difficulty or quibbling.

"Moreover, the established insurance agents are our friends and neighbors. They help support our schools which two of my kids attended for about 10 years, and from which they were graduated; they help support the churches that provide me and mine spiritual stimulation; they help support the police agencies that protect my property against plunder; they help support the fire department that protects my property against fire; they help support the city, school district, district, county and state governments that bestow many blessings upon me.

"Why should I take my insurance business from these benefactors, these friends, these fellow citizens and give it to some foreign concern that doesn't care a tinker's dam about our town, except for what profit they can extract from it?

"The few cents I would save on every hundred dollars of insurance protection I now have wouldn't begin to compensate me for the trouble and inconvenience in event of a loss. It isn't worth the difference.

"Cheap insurance is like any other cheap commodity; it's very apt to be more expensive in the long run."

WILL CONDUCT SERVICE

A group of students from Adrian College, members of the pre-ministerial department, will conduct the regular morning services at the First Methodist church of Tecumseh next Sunday morning.

Merlow Packard Died Tuesday

Merlow M. Packard of 45 west Brown street, a life long resident of Tecumseh, died Tuesday afternoon at Herrick Memorial hospital where he had been a patient for only one day.

Mr. Packard was born in Tecumseh, Feb. 28, 1892, the son of Oscar and Martha (Adams) Packard and had spent his entire life in the town. He had been employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. un*til two years ago when ill health* forced his retirement.

He is survived by his widow, the former Adelia Mapes; two sons, Lawrence and Seaman Packard, both of Tecumseh; two daughters, Irene, Mrs. Charles Hyatt of Tecumseh and Lucille, Mrs. Russell McConnell of Elliott, Maine. He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Seaman and in 1917 by his first wife, the former Mary Dinse.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home and will be in charge of the Rev. Alvin Brazee. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

THREE ALARMS

Firemen answered three alarms during the week.

Friday they were called to the Richard Walker home at 3704 Russell road where the motor on an automatic washer burned out.

Monday they were called to the Robert Wood home at 3200 Shady Lane. Minor damages resulted from a flooded oil furnace.

Tuesday they were called out when an air cleaner on a car parked in front of Coscarelli's Soda Grill caught fire.

The Silver Lining

"Mr. Clemens," she said, "I always see you with a cigar box under your arm. I'm afraid you are smoking too much."

"It isn't that," he replied impishly. "I'm moving again!"

THE REST OF THIS is devoted to the wildlife in and around Tecumseh: Ella Brown has seen and heard Evening Grosbecks already . . . Saturday she counted 65 Whistling Swans on what used to be known as Southard's pond in Raisin Township . . . Sunday we counted 38 . . . Mr. and Mrs. Proctor Pace, driving east on M-50 Sunday evening, saw a deer on the north side of the highway near the Milburn Brooks home. Mr. Pace thought he saw two but both he and Mrs. Pace are sure of one. They did not identify it as a buck or doe and it disappeared into the fields as they drove past.

Doubts Soviet Gain in Power in Commerce

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is reprinted from The Michigan Journalist, University of Michigan laboratory newspaper. Miss Porter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Porter of Tecumseh.)

BY GRETTA PORTER

A University economist doubts that the Soviet Union is ready to initiate a drastic new trade policy.

Early in February, Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev "challenged the capitalist nations to an all-out economic war for survival." Khrushchev added that the Soviet's chief aim is to make communism "a world system."

Some observers wonder if perhaps this isn't just another Soviet bluff. Others, including Professor Z. Clark Dickinson, question Russia's ability to carry out such a challenge.

Capacity Has Increased

"Even though Russian production capacity has increased percentage-wise," Professor Dickinson said, "they still have a long way to go. The rest of the world has not been standing still. Nevertheless, there has been a remarkably rapid increase in (Russian) output since the devastation of World War II."

These facts strongly imply that although Russia is now behind in production of strategic goods, her increasing production rates might well be viewed with alarm by the Western world, Professor Dickinson said.

Attempting To Lure Trade

"They are attempting to lure trade on every hand," he said. "Their needs for imports are apparently much greater than their capacity for exports.

"I don't think the Russians really expect to go very fast in 'communizing' the rest of the world. It would seem to be a long term affair," he said.

Trade Wall Inevitable

A Soviet trade wall is inevitable; this means there could be no private trading across any of the Russian or satellite borders, Professor Dickinson emphasized.

In the past, Moscow's war machinery has not been of superior quality. This is brought out by De Húszar and others in the book, "Soviet Power and Policy." But De Huszar thinks the performance of the MIG jet in Korea proves that the Soviets are concentrating heavily on improving their war equipment.

May Overcome Shortage

A Soviet plan to expand with regard to substitute and synthetic materials, however, promises to help overcome a shortage of consumer goods, reports The New York Times.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party announced its decision to invest 11,000,000,000 rubles in artificial fibers and supporting industries during the new Five Year Plan.

Khrushchev reported to the party congress that increased production of synthetic raw materials and substitutes would be important to further increase Soviet output of consumer goods.

"In the past, however, leaders of the USSR have made many promises that they were ready to make consumables much more abundant," commented Professor Dickinson.

"For example, Malenkov spoke in this vein soon after Stalin's death and this action is supposed to be one reason for his demotion. Khrushchev's talk of 'synthetics' sounds like a variation on an old refrain."

TOLEDO DOG SHOW SET FOR APRIL 8

Dogs from most of the States, Canada and abroad will meet for competition in the Toledo Kennel Club Dog Show, to be held in the Civic Auditorium, Toledo, Sunday, April 8.

The dogs will be on display on the benches, a total of 971, exactly 100 more dogs than last year; 72 different breeds and varieties of breeds will be represented.

Seen for the first time here will be the Rodesian Ridgeback, a breed just recognized by the American Kennel Club. It is used for hunting lions in Africa. Other rare breeds to be seen here in Toledo again which have not been shown here for quite some time are the Belgian Sheepdog, Coonhound, Dandio Dinmont Terrier and Italian Greyhound.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Comparison of field reports with past years indicates Michigan deer starvation losses this winter may be the worst since the 1950-51 winter when an estimated 40,000 to 50,000 deer died.

I. H. Bartlett, Conservation Department deer specialist, said conditions remained "critical" this week for deer in all northern districts of the state.

New snowstorms during the last week aggravated the plight of already weakened deer and starvations were reported in all districts of the upper and northern lower peninsulas.

Deer were in or very close to winter yards throughout the upper peninsula as maximum snow depths reached 2½ feet in most districts.

Northern lower peninsula whitetails also were confined to deer yards or heavy cover except in the most southern parts of the Gladwin and Baldwin districts. Snow depths throughout that region attained maximums of 1½ to 2 feet.

Below zero temperatures were recorded in both the upper and lower peninsulas, making survival even more difficult for deer. Food shortages hit the animals hardest in colder weather when more food is required to maintain strength.

Forest cutting operations, which supply tree tops for deer feed, were temporarily halted in many areas by heavy snows last week. Cutting crews were unable to travel into timber areas.

Deer losses to dogs also continued to increase as dogs were able to overtake weakened deer floundering in deep snow.

Past experience indicates deer losses in problem areas will continue at an increasing rate until the spring breakup. Total losses will be greatly influenced by severity and types of weather and the length of time until the breakup.

If you think you see a pink duck sometime during the next several weeks, there's no need to rush off to an eye doctor or a psychiatrist—technicolor waterfowl actually are winging their way north.

Many ducks and geese have been banded and dyed various colors as part of special studies on local movements and migrations of waterfowl. The studies are being conducted by the federal Fish and Wildlife Service and conservation agencies in several states.

Bird watchers in Michigan may detect the marked birds, generally with the aid of binoculars, during spring migration flights which take place from mid-March until May.

Canada geese have been marked at southern wintering grounds with colored neck bands and dyes.

The dyed ducks include such species as green-winged teal, blue-winged teal, pintails, ringnecks, baldpate (widgeon) and scaup (bluebill). Other species, as well as the dyed birds, have been marked with identifying leg bands.

Persons who sight any of the specially-colored birds are requested to contact the Conservation Department's game division at Lansing, giving specific information as to color combinations, locations of coloring on the birds and where and when the birds were seen.

Race Car Owners, Drivers Meet April 11

A meeting of local race car owners and drivers will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, April 11, in the Wauseon Sportsman Club, it was announced today by John Marcum, President of the Midwest Association for Race Cars, Inc., and Joe Dominic, of Archbold, Ohio., new track and concession manager of Wauseon Raceway.

This meeting has been called to set forth plans for the 1956 season at Wauseon Raceway, and to explain the new "Modern Stock Division". This division, limited to 1948 to 1953 model cars, will form the bulk of the racing card at Wauseon Raceway this year.

Expected to attend this meeting are such local area drivers as Herb Lammons, and Bert Green, and all local car owners and drivers interested in racing at Wauseon Raceway, and Adrian Raceway this season.

Racing at Wauseon Raceway will be held Wednesday nights again this year, with opening day planned for about mid-May.

Many of the old favorite drivers of past seasons are expected to return this year and a larger field of local drivers are expected to enter this year,

Notes on the Election

WELL, NOW, LET'S get on with it. There's work to be done. Even though some bitterness seeped into the city election and some folks had their feelings hurt, there's no point in holding grudges. The best thing for Tecumseh and its citizens would be to have all of us give our support to the council and wish it well in the task of building a bigger and better Tecumseh.

WE IN THE NEWSPAPER business write of "record votes;" yet it is most discouraging when the voting figures are analyzed. A record vote of 1372 turned out Monday but 1493, or more than half, of the registered voters stayed home. It was a sunny day and an important local election was being waged. But they stayed home. They were too busy to take part in the most basic freedom that they have. In fact, many of them didn't even know who the candidates were; and some of them didn't even know an election was being held.

THE THREE-TO-ONE MARGIN of Mayor Hanna, Hal Kelso, Don Brazee and Don Purkey over the four candidates of the Independent Voters' slate could be construed as a vote of confidence in the two incumbents Mayor Hanna and Don Purkey; and Mayor Hanna is to be congratulated for leading the ballot with 957 votes. The overwhelming victory of the four councilmen also could be construed as a vote of confidence in the fine work of Ed Nelson, city manager, and the police force, chief targets of the Independent Voters in pre-election campaigning.

THE MOST "RIDICULOUS" and, as it turned out, the most "sublime" aspect of the election Monday was the presence of two men from the director of elections office. The ridiculous part was the fact that they had been called in to "police" an election here. The "sublime" part was that they found "no irregularities" which actually was expected. The malicious and dangerous accusations that Tecumseh elections could possibly be conducted with foul play have been totally discredited. Everyone concerned can be mighty thankful that our election was given a "clean bill of health" as was expected.

"IT IS DIFFERENCES OF OPINION THAT MAKE HORSE RACES"

In a horse race differences of opinion only mean the gain or loss of money, but where medicines are concerned your health, even your life is at stake.

It is the opinion, enforced by the laws of our state, that a Pharmacist must gain the necessary knowledge at a college of pharmacy, and pass an examination to prove that knowledge before being permitted to compound prescriptions. Only a Pharmacist has this complete training.

Therefore there can be no differences of opinion as to where the safest place is to obtain any medicine. Always get any medicine in a pharmacy from a pharmacist.

YOUR PHYSICIAN CAN PHONE TECUMSEH 245 WHEN YOU NEED A MEDICINE

Realty Views

Mrs. Frandom looked worried as she entered our office.

"I sure hate to do this," she said, "but we have to sell our acreage and we want you to handle it for us."

"What's wrong?" I asked.

"It's my husbands health," she replied. "He had a heart attack last winter. The doctor says he can't do a spade of yard work. I told him we'd better not stew about it. Just sell it and get a closein home with a small lot."

"Well," I replied, "you couldn't have picked a better season. In the Spring everyone likes the out doors and we get a heavy call for good acreages such as yours. It should sell quickly."

Mrs. Frandom smiled, "yesterday's not too quick. I know my husband. He will overdo if I don't get him away from that place."

Fortunately, for all concerned, the acreage sold right away.

If you plan to sell your acreage, call on us. Spring is here and we need more good listings. Drop by, or merely phone and we'll visit you.

The Diary of Thomas Wright

(Life in early Tecumseh as recorded by the first generation of the Wright family in Michigan).

Scattered penciled notes give more information about the new farm home while it was under construction, as—

Dec. 1835—Agreed with Jefferson Nash to make a sufficient number of shingles for my house, one foot long, one-third of an inch thick to be delivered here and to be measured on the roof for ten shillings a thousand.

Jan. 1836—Got broom shop finished. Concluded to have Mangus build my house. (memorandum) Borrowed a walnut tree of Henry, two feet in diameter to be paid for by white wood of equal size.

June 1837—Today sent calf skin to Stocking to be tanned.

Aug. 10—Today Ashel began getting brick. Aug. 20—Today Mangus finished his work on the house. Chimney in house has 7000 brick in it. Have bought 73 bushels of lime.

Sept. 1837—Wm. Sutton has split 1000 rails—$10.

Mr. Wright then continues regarding events of 1841—

Among the transactions of this year those which relate to our Episcopal minister, Mr. Cole are worthy of note. He had come into Michigan expressly to be rector of the church in this place and here his ministry was for the most part acceptable. But for about a year before he left us he became dissatisfied with some movements in Gen. Brown's family.

Mrs. Brown was a communicant but would with her husband occasionally dance. They thought that not incompatible with her religious profession. Mr. Cole thought it was. Further, Mr. Cole was a teetotalist and at the celebration of our national independence in 1839 Mr. Cole objected to having wine drank on the occasion and refused to attend if there was. Gen. Brown thought everyone should have the right to act his own judgement. —that those and those only who were minded to drink should pay for it and others should not. Gen. Brown kept a tavern. He made the entertainment. Many of the parish and their families attended. Mr. Cole came and, observing that wine was on the table, he left. This displeased the General who observed that there could be no impropriety for a minister to be where most of his parishioners with their wives and daughters were, and who wished to have him with them.

In the course of the season, Mr. Cole preached one or two sermons in which Gen. Brown considered himself personally pointed out. In consequence he shut up his pews and with his family abstained entirely from going to church.

Gen. Brown is a man of influence among a particular set and always has a party at his beck. These were entirely controlled in opposition to Mr. Cole. A great error of Mr. Cole about this time was writing a letter to Mrs. Brown justifying her and totally disapproving of her husband. Myself and several others of the society took a neutral station, but so much feeling was manifested that it was plain that Mr. Cole's usefulness among us was ended. And he himself was sensible of it and he sent to the vestry his resignation to take effect the first of June, 1840, completing four years of his ministry in Tecumseh.

Another peculiarity of this time, 1839 and 1840, was stealing. A nest of rascals had got located among us and it was carried on systematically. Not only were many stores broken open and plundered but horses, cattle and hogs. Divers fat cattle were found to have been slaughtered in the woods, fatted hogs were turned from their pens and driven off and slaughtered. It was not much doubt who some of them were and they lived among us but no fact could be proved against them. People were roused up. A society was formed for detecting thieves and robbers, and the rogues would be the first to join and the most active in concerting measures to stop its progress. They would nominate officers, particularly the pursuers who would be careful never to discover a rogue and thus it all amounted to nothing. (Later Memorandum) three of them have since got into state prison I know.

Herrick Memorial Hospital Licensed for Maternity Care

Herrick Memorial hospital is one of six hospitals in the county that have been fully licensed to provide maternity care, reports the Michigan Department of Health.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, released the list of fully-approved hospitals as a sign of the "significant strides forward toward giving the very best medical care to our new babies and their mothers."

Three years ago, he said, only 143 Michigan hospitals were on the fully approved list; a year later, 185 had qualified; and the number fully licensed now stands at 237.

The Commissioner gave high praise to hospital personnel, and said that "for the most part, the hospitals have been the first to give wholehearted and enthusiastic support to the licensing program."

The Commissioner's report showed that the 237 Michigan hospitals now holding full licenses have a total of 3,921 maternity beds.

Today, he said qualifications for full maternity license include 93 regulations as "musts" and 44 provisions which the hospitals must at least include in "immediate future plans."

Included under the standards, the report concluded, are equipment for care of mothers and newborn infants, formula preparation, record-keeping, control of anesthetics, nursing techniques, baby identification and even the hospital plumbing system.

"88" HOLIDAY COUPE

Double-Duty Beauty
—WE CALL IT "INTAGRILLE"
TWO FRONT BUMPERS IN ONE...
FOR PROTECTION HIGH AND LOW!
Here's what's out in front when you're behind the wheel of a new Oldsmobile! It's the exclusive "Intagrille", a full-depth bumper of sturdy steel, locked to the frame for your protection . . . double protection!
But that's not all! Oldsmobile did more than put a steel safety wall between you and all outdoors. "Intagrille" is out ahead in beauty as well as utility. That rugged front end is just as much an eye-catcher as it is functional. You not only get two bumpers in one—double protection high and low—but "Intagrille" instantly indicates all the Oldsmobile beauty to follow.
NEW IDEAS EVERYWHERE! Behind the "Intagrille" is overall beauty that's yours only with Oldsmobile's styling leadership! And the smooth action of super-resilient coil springs and larger, wider rear leaf springs means easy-going comfort. Rugged Oldsmobile chassis design—solidly stabilized at six points—resists road roam, takes away side sway on curves and corners.

Christian Science Services Listed

Availability today of God's healing and regenerative power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

Christ Jesus' healing of the "man with an unclean spirit" will be read from Mark including the following (1:27): "And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him."

Among the correlative passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (494:11): "It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Now that the Easter recess is over the children and teachers alike at Central are busy accomplishing all the things that have to be crowded into the few short weeks remaining in this school year. Mr. Kelty's fifth grade recently completed the study of Alaska. One of the activities they enjoyed most was a film shown by Mrs. Donald Cobb which showed a glacier, kodiak bears, seals and innumerable and ever-interesting salmon. Thank you, Mrs. Cobb!

Louise Stutesman, Janice Hall, Letha Kimerer, Hilda Dotson, Zaiga Freimanis, Suzy Rose, Janet Forrester and April Smith are doing an excellent job of keeping the library in order.

The boys and girls in Mrs. Miller's fourth grade have joined the Ivory Inspection Patrol and to pass have to be clean and neat each day.

These same children have filled the display case with an exhibit of many things that they have learned about Seattle in their Social Studies. This display is attracting much attention and it might be said that many people other than fourth graders are improving their knowledge of the northwest from a pause at the show case.

Several Central teachers are taking advanced work in evening classes this semester. Mrs. Puffer, Mrs. Whiting, and Mrs. Schwartz go to Michigan State Normal on Thursday nights; Mrs. Callihan goes to Adrian College; while Mr. Kelty goes to the University of Michigan on Mondays after school.

Edsel Brooks, from Mr. Francouer's sixth grade, brought a large selection of Popular Science and Popular Mechanics magazines for use in his room. Tom Hicks, Roger Fox, David Crosby and Jerry Holdridge have found these magazines very interesting and helpful as they contain many items.

We wish to congratulate Joe Anderson, Captain of the Safety Patrol and Jean Packard, Captain of the Service Squad on a job well done for the safety of their school.

The kindergarten children had such a happy time decorating their room for Easter. There was great excitement the day some real live baby chickens and a big white rabbit came to visit.

The children had an Easter parade to show their bunny hats.

The gym classes have been working on their gym demonstration which will be April 18 in the high school gym. The costumes, for the dances should be ready by Monday, April 16.

Mrs. Thomas' room has been studying about food. We have learned that our food is grown on the farms. It is then sent to a cannery. From the cannery it goes to a wholesale house. The grocery stores or retail stores buy from the wholesale house. Finally, we are able to buy our food at the store. Even the farmers go to the store and buy food that has been canned or packaged. In this way food goes around in a circle or merry-go-round. We decorated our bulletin board to show how this works.

Ronnie Clark celebrated his ninth birthday in March. Happy Birthday Ron!

Jumping ropes and marbles are much in evidence at recess and noon-time and all the children are eagerly awaiting the time the playground will be dry enough for some exciting baseball games.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Happy Ending With A "Familiar Ring"

Buck Howell says he and his Missus had quite a time at the Stockman's Convention in Chicago. But for a while they had a "breakdown in communications."

The phone bell in their hotel room was pitched so low they often didn't answer their calls. "Never knew if it was for us or not," Buck said, "always sounded far off—like it was ringing in someone else's room."

Finally, Buck hit on the obvious solution. He just made a deal with the hotel switchboard operator that whenever she called them she'd use two long rings and a short—their party-line signal back home.

From where I sit, our own familiar routines tend to make other ways of doing things seem strange. That's natural. For instance, if you've always had ice water with your meals, you might think it's odd that lots of us prefer a bottle of beer at dinnertime. I say you've a right to your own customs . . . but don't call mine wrong.

Joe Marsh

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new — just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms — it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New

Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-prowed grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new — the fender ports are new — the sweepspear is new — and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours. But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflow* is New

It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration" — which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel — plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New

To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New

All 1956 Buicks have new and mighty 322-cubic-inch V8's — with record highs in power and compression—with unique new double "Y" manifolding to step up efficiency —with new carburetor "deicing"—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New

And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet — by a wide measure — and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

(A supplement to "Mama Goes on Safari")

I was mortified. What a hunter I had turned out to be. The first chance at a real fine specimen and a ton of meat for camp to boot.

Andy said nothing, but I knew he was wondering why he had chosen the profession of taking novices out hunting in general, and buffalo hunting in particular.

Well, if at first you do not succeed —. We maneuvered around to the edge of the jungle where we had seen a second group of buffalos disappear and proceeded to follow their tracks. These animals, we knew, had not seen us, but only bolted due to the noise from the shot. Therefore, they might not go too far. We followed them for two hours and never saw a hair. Eventually we lost their tracks and returned to our starting point.

EXPLAINS TO ANDY

I thought Andy was disgusted beyond expression and I finally faced him when we were taking a short rest. "Now look here", I said, "It is no use feeling so bad about what happened. You cannot expect perfect performance when you take a tenderfoot out hunting. The excitement, buck fever, inexperience and what have you; we all do foolish things and behave like asses at times, but don't let it get you down so. You have to expect some of that and after all, it is no reflection on you".

I was completely mistaken in the man; he was preoccupied and not the least disturbed. He grinned, "Sure, sure, don't worry. That is nothing. We have just started and we are now going to go after the big fellow, but we wanted him to have time to calm down first". That put me back feeling good again.

We now, very stealthily, entered the jungle, following the footprints made by our three bulls.

THEY'RE UNPREDICTABLE

Andy had told me that old bulls were somewhat unpredictable and that our three fellows might be miles away, and again they might be just inside the heavy cover watching. Never had I seen N'Gora more careful. We made no noise, no leaves rustled, no twigs snapped, and we had proceeded, perhaps 100 yards down a steep hillside, when things happened.

I was standing on a broad game path running parallel to the slope, feeling rather uncomfortable about the heavy cover all around me, which prevented me from seeing more than 10 to 15 feet in any direction except along the game path. Suddenly a crashing, galloping, stamping noise started a little above and to the left of me. I could see the heavy brush move, and in the same instant, a big bull came charging down to the path I was standing on, turned right and tore right toward me.

COULDN'T HAVE MISSED

There was no time to become scared. I lifted the gun and wondered if I could hit the little triangle of his back which barely showed above his big horns, when he suddenly changed direction and plunged into the green wall of foliage and down the hillside. Right then I lowered the aim and put a 470 bullet into the flank, back of the front leg. I knew it was done well. He was close enough. I could not have missed.

Immediately N'Gora and I ran after him, down the hillside in the path he had made, in the dust and the smell and the blood. A hundred yards further down he was standing, head lowered and near collapse. I finished him off with a second shot. He was big and fat and beautiful, especially beautiful to me. I had got him the right way and I would never forget the awesome sight of his bearing down on me full speed.

For three days thereafter we had buffalo tail soup on the menu at camp.

HODGES DRUG STORE Monthly News

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

Everybody knows that a dollar today has much less purchasing power than it used to have. Many of the things you buy now cost two or three times as much.

But we pharmacists are proud of the fact that almost everything you get from us has advanced much less than the average increase. Most of the things we supply cost only a few cents more than they used to. Some of them cost less.

Even the apparently expensive new medicines are really a greater value than ever. You get well so much quicker, your physician makes fewer visits, and you get back to work so much faster. And of course they save more lives.

Proof of this is the fact that according to government statistics, in 1939 you spent 0.87% of your income for drugs and medical preparations, and now according to the latest released government figures you are spending only 0.64%, a reduction of about 25% less.

We will continue our permanent policy of pricing everything as low as high pharmacy standards permit.

Field and Streams

Conservation law convictions reported during the last week showed that 27 violators paid a total of $748 in fines and court costs, or an average of more than $27 for each offense.

One man was assessed $22.80 in fines and court costs in a Manistee Justice court for allowing dogs "to molest, harass and annoy deer."

Money from all conservation law fines goes to the state library fund.

A Conservation Department crew using a tracked "Sno-Cat" formed the key link in a chain that helped Air Force officials recover the bodies of two airmen in a remote snow-blanketed area of southwestern Alpena county this week.

The plane, an F89H Scorpion jet interceptor from Wurtsmith Air base at Oscoda, crashed Monday morning 30 miles southwest of Alpena. It was located Tuesday morning and military officials called for department assistance.

The Sno-Cat was taken by truck to within 1½ miles of the crash and used to carry out the bodies of the two airmen and to carry men, food and supplies into the area where a crash investigation took place.

Councilmen Re-Elect Mayor Hanna

Upped

City manager Ed Nelson was given an increase in pay of $1,000 by councilmen Monday night. He was raised from his current $7500 to $8500 a year.

And councilmen increased his car allowance from $300 to $500 a year.

After Mr. Nelson had gone through his new budget, councilmen asked where the increase in salary was for the city manager and the vote for upping his salary was unanimous. And so was the car allowance increase.

Mrs. H. Truesdale Re-Elected Head of Girl Scouts

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association met in the Scout Cabin last Wednesday morning with the president, Mrs. Howard Truesdale presiding.

More than 40 leaders, assistant leaders, committee members and officers were present.

Mrs. Edwin Bunge, Mrs. Jack Nichols and Mrs. Russell Cooper were hostesses during the coffee hour.

During the business meeting the following were elected to be officers for the ensuing year to begin at the end of the June meeting: president, Mrs. Howard Truesdale; vice-president, Mrs. George Walworth; recording secretary, Mrs. George Derby; treasurer, Mrs. Wellington Wotring; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Victor Lawson; custodian, Mrs. John Hanna; secretary of supplies, Mrs. Don Johnson; registrar, Mrs. Duncan Oliphant.

Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mrs. Jack Nichols and Mrs. Howard Morris were members of the nominating committee.

The Court of Awards will be held in May this year. Mrs. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Glenn Kohler and Mrs. Robert Smith will be in charge of arrangements.

NEW DIRECTORY WILL GO ON SALE

It is expected that the new directory of the city of Tecumseh will be ready for sale and distribution by the last of next week. At this time copies which have been ordered will be delivered and additional copies will be on sale. Announcement will be made later as to where these may be obtained. The sale will be under the supervision of the Business and Professional Woman's Club and information may be obtained from the president, Mrs. Ray Sluyter.

WITH THE SIXTH FLEET in the Mediterranean James W. Hite, seaman, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hite, of 308 west Kilbuck street, carries out the paper work of the Executive Officer aboard the attack carrier USS Intrepid (CVA-11).

But it's not all work in this man's Navy. Once in awhile Jim takes time out to relax and to enjoy himself in the crew's lounge.

9 Children Shot with BB Gun

A 13-year-old boy who shot nine children with a BB pistol while they played on Central school playground was investigated by Tecumseh police Monday afternoon.

He told police "I shot them in the legs just to hear them holler." But he must have raised the sights once for one girl was shot in the nose about an inch from an eye.

His pistol and ammunition were confiscated by police who are investigating an Adrian seller and the boy's case was turned over to the Probate Court.

C.A.P. Tests for Scholarships

Three cadets from Tecumseh's C.A.P. training classes were in Jackson Sunday where they took screening tests for flight school scholarships.

Ray Puffer, Lonnie Penrod and Marshall Boike were selected because of their qualifications. To be eligible for a scholarship a cadet must have had six months C.A.P. training, be 17 years of age and have his parents' consent.

He must be able to pass the commercial pilots physical standard test, be outstanding in unit activities and have satisfactory school grades.

A scholarship entitles the cadet to 10 hours of free dual flying instruction which in most cases qualifies him for solo flight.

April 22 to 28 is national C.A.P. week and during this time units will be engaged in money raising projects to help finance these scholarships.

The local unit at present is engaged in organizing a junior C.A.P. Rifle club.

Kelley Rejects Annexation

Voters in Kelley district (Raisin Township Number Two) Saturday rejected annexation to the Tecumseh Public Schools.

It marked the first time that a rural school had turned down annexation to the local system. Thirteen others have annexed.

Saturday Colvin district (Raisin Five) will vote on annexation.

Like other schools Kelley voters had three proposals: one was on annexation, the second was to raise the tax limitation to support the Tecumseh district's debt retirement and the third was for the rural district to assume its share of bonded indebtedness.

These were the results:

Proposal one, 23 yes, 22 no; proposal two, 21 yes, 24 no; proposal three, 17 yes, 17 no.

All had to pass to make annexation possible.

Tuesday night representatives from the Kelley District at the board of education meeting were told by Supt. McDowell that he will check the law to see what steps the district may take possibly to vote on annexation again.

Girl Scouts Set Jamboree Sat.

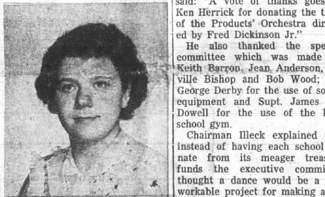
The Girl Scout Jamboree will be held at Saline Valley Farms this Saturday, April 14, when about 125 girls will be guests of the Association at a cook-out, games and stunts.

The girls will leave the Scout Cabin at 10:30 a.m. and return by 5 p.m. They will be accompanied by their leaders, assistant leaders and committee members. In case of inclement weather, the affair will be held indoors.

Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mrs. Victor Lawson and Mrs. Victor Peterson are in charge.



JACQUELINE RUCKER

WINS SCHOLARSHIP — Jacqueline Rucker, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Rucker, who was sponsored by the Tecumseh Monday Club for a summer scholarship to the Interlochen Music Camp was one of four contestants to be chosen to represent Lenawee County.

Jackie is a voice pupil and will receive two weeks of training at the camp. She won in competition with singers from all over the county in the contest held in Adrian last week. It is expected that she will take part in the program of the annual Monday Club luncheon and she will be a guest of the County Federation to be held in Addison, April 19.

$100 Realized from Benefit Polio Dance

About $100 was realized from the benefit polio dance sponsored by the combined PTA's in the high school gym Saturday night.

General chairman Stephan Illeck said: "A vote of thanks goes to Ken Herrick for donating the time of the Products' Orchestra directed by Fred Dickinson Jr."

He also thanked the special committee which was made up Keith Barron, Jean Anderson, Orville Bishop and Bob Wood; and George Derby for the use of sound equipment and Supt. James McDowell for the use of the high school gym.

Chairman Illeck explained that instead of having each school donate from its meager treasury funds the executive committee thought a dance would be a fine workable project for making a donation to the March of Dimes.

He also reported that next year the polio benefit dance will be held in late Jan. or early Feb. at which time a 100 per cent support is anticipated by all PTA members.

Hold Meetings

Ninteen members of the retail division of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and 15 members of the professional division met last Thursday at separate meetings at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Retailers discussed possible promotions and decided to rotate their meetings from breakfast, lunch and dinner. Chairman Cal Damon presided.

Dr. R. G. B. Marsh was elected co-chairman with Russ Garno of the professional group. Dr. Marsh succeeds Bill Hanna who resigned. Bill said he was too busy with his own business to give the job his best efforts.

The Silver Lining

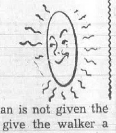
Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears



CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

IN TOO MANY CASES a pedestrian is not given the right-of-way. But we always stop to give the walker a chance. One last week was given a fighting chance to make it across the street without sacrificing life or limb and he was heard to remark: "Go ahead. My gas costs less than yours."

CONGRESSMAN GEORGE MEADER always writes newspapers a chatty, meaty and interesting weekly letter. This week he outdid himself. But let the Congressman tell about it in his words:

"I spent part of last week aboard the Forrestal and the USS Boston, a heavy cruiser converted to fire guided missiles. Commissioned Oct. 1, 1955, the Forrestal accommodates over 100 airplanes and can launch jet fighters by steam driven catapaults. Propeller driven fighters and attack bombers take off using only half the length of the flight deck, a distance of about 500 feet. Part of the deck is angled to one side which makes it possible to recover planes while others are being launched.

"One unforeseen episode gave rise to a good deal of amusement during the operation. Three members of Congress rode one of the three elevators which bring the planes from the hanger deck to the flight deck. Something went wrong, and when the elevator reached the flight deck, it dropped about eight feet, and then proceeded to bounce the Congressmen around. In ceremonies later in the wardroom, Secretary of the Navy Thomas cited the Congressman for unusual performance beyond the call of duty and awarded each the 'Order of the Purple Spot'."

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "If you want a place in the sun, you must expect to get blistered."

A LAD IN A NEIGHBORING town told his dad how he had run home from school behind a bus and saved 10 cents. The dad became furious and he gave his pride and joy the dickens because the lad had not run home behind a taxi and saved 50 cents.

THIS ANONYMOUS POEM has some merit when you consider the recent milk strike:

Longed for:
A cow of modern make,
That milks five days for leisure's sake,
That sleeps on Saturdays, snores on Sunday,
And starts again afresh on Monday.
Wished for:
A herd that knows the way
To wash each other day by day,
That never troubles to excite us

(See SILVER LINING, Page 8)

Budget

Give or take a few dollars, the city will have a budget of about $324,000 for the new fiscal year. Ed Nelson, city manager, reports this is about $24,000 over last year's budget.

He and councilmen discussed the new budget at a preliminary hearing Monday night.

Councilmen and the city manager are basing their figures on 10 mills of tax. Millage-wise, the new budget has this breakdown:

|---|---|
| General | 4 2/3 |
| Sewer | 2/3 |
| Cemetery | 2/3 |
| Highways | 2 1/2 |
| Disposal Bond | 1 1/3 |
| Hospital | 1/6 |

The city manager and councilmen will do more work on the budget next Monday night at a regular meeting.

Band Uniform Drive Will Reach Its Goal

With an assist from the board of education the band uniform drive will reach its goal of providing 70 uniforms, plus a director's and twirler's uniform for the Tecumseh high school marching band.

The board Tuesday night, after hearing band uniform drive chairman Mrs. James Barton's figures, decided "to pay the balance on the uniforms when they arrive."

This will probably amount to $277.

Mrs. Barton told board members that the drive has netted $4035 to date and two more uniforms at $70 each have been pledged. The total price of the uniforms will be $4452, leaving a balance of $277 to be paid when the uniforms are delivered.

Mrs. Barton, on behalf of the high school PTA which sponsored the drive and members of the band and director Donald Johnson, thanked the public and the board of education for their contributions.

Church Furniture Is Dedicated

The 128th year of the First Presbyterian church was commemorated Sunday when the Rev. George E. Walworth and members of the congregation dedicated new furniture in the sanctuary.

April 6, 1828, a religious society was incorporated that was titled the First Presbyterian church of Tecumseh. There were 10 charter members. Today the congregation numbers 542.

BECOME MEMBERS

Last Thursday night the 40 et 8 Voiture 997 ritual team from Lenawee County initiated these members into the local American Legion: Wallace MacGeorge, Edwin Gove, Jerry Henry, Douglas Maves, Jim Welker, Dean Pilbeam, Harold Brion, Tom Corkery and Carol Conklin.

Schwartz Re-Named Mayor Pro-Tem

H. H. HANNA
Mayor

ARTHUR SCHWARTZ
Mayor Pro-Tem

Mayor H. H. Hanna was re-elected mayor of the City of Tecumseh by action of the council Monday night and councilmen at their special re-organizational meeting re-elected councilman Arthur Schwartz as mayor pro-tem.

In the mayor election Mayor Hanna polled six of the seven votes and one vote was for councilman Schwartz. In the mayor pro-tem election councilman Schwartz polled five votes and councilman Harold Kelso polled two votes.

Mayor Hanna, who begins his second full term as mayor, — he was named to part of a term when Charles Mensing resigned — told councilmen: "You have been wonderful to work with. It has been a pleasure to be associated with all of you and I appreciate your confidence in me."

Prior to the election the "old council" signed over and retiring councilman Robert H. Moore told the rest: "You have cooperated wonderfully with me. There has been some criticism of our actions; but that was to be expected. If you ever need any help on any city problem, please feel free to call on me. Good luck to all of you."

Councilman LeRoy Titley, the other retiring councilman, was not present Monday night.

City clerk Mrs. Naomi Sallows swore in the four new councilmen H. H. Hanna, Harold Kelso, Donald Purkey and Donald Brazee. Mayor Hanna and Councilman Purkey were re-elected to the council April 2.

CHOIR WILL MEET

St. Andrew's Choir of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the Fellowship center tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. for a coffee hour and to hear the recording of "The Seven Last Words of Christ," the cantata presented by the choir on Maundy Thursday.

Delmar Crisp Joins Staff of Business School

Delmar E. Crisp, business education coordinator of the high school has resigned to join Stautzenberger Secretarial School.

DELMAR CRISP

The school, a member of the National Association and Council of Business Schools, has been located in Toledo 28 years. It offers training in all fields of business endeavor.

Buying the interest of retiring J. W. Selfe, Crisp will become secretary-treasurer of the school. He will be teaching accounting and secretarial training.

Mr. and Mrs. Crisp and their two children plan to move near the close of the school year.

(See DELMAR CRISP, Page 8)

Passes Century Mark

JOHN KELLOT SOMES observed the passing of his 100th birthday Sunday when members of his family and friends gathered at the home of his daughter Mrs. Ed Sayler on Green road.

Born April 8, 1856, in Lorain County, Ohio, he has lived with the Ed Saylers for eight years.

He has three other children besides Mrs. Ed Sayler. They are Durling Somes of Sand Creek, Eber Somes of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Fred Sayler of Britton. Mr. Somes also has 15 grandchildren.

He came to Michigan in 1874, once owning a farm in Ogden Township.

He attends the Raisin Valley Friends church.

Beaver's Not So Eager

Does the eager beaver ever goof off?

"Yes," answers George Hunt, instructor in wildlife management at The Univesrity of Michigan. "He ignores the time-clock during three seasons of the year. But all through the fall, he puts in a full night's work gathering food for winter, or building or repairing his skillfully constructed dam."

"The beaver — other than man the cleverest engineer among Michigan mammals — constructs his dam chiefly of small sticks and mud mixed with a few rocks," Hunt says. Upstream the surface is smoothly plastered with mud. Downstream it is chiefly the projecting ends of sticks that are used to form the framework of the structure.

BUILDS LOTS OF DAMS

"Dams are usually three to four feet in height and 50 to 200 feet in length," Hunt continues. "In general beavers dam small streams where the current is not too strong. There are often as many as 20 or 30 dams on a stream of 10 miles or so in length.

He explains that all members of the colony, except the small kits (baby beavers), help keep the dam in repair so that a uniform water level is maintained in the pond. This insures that the plunge-hole will be kept under water and so protected from wolves and foxes.

"Back of the dam in the relatively deep water of the impoundment is the lodge — an ancestral home which may be used for many years," Hunt says. "Woody materials along with mud and stones are used to build the mound-shaped lodge, which may be as much as five or six feet in height and 10 feet in diameter."

HE KEEPS BUSY

He explains that during the crisp autumn nights the beaver is also mighty busy laying in the winter's food supply of felled trees the bark of which he requires for sustenance. Each beaver cuts an average of one tree in two days. He cuts the tree into manageable lengths (two, three or four feet), gnaws off the limbs and drags them into the water to be floated to the lodge, Hunt says.

He states that beaver impoundments are valuable for water fowl use — principally for raising of broods. They are also of value to man insofar as they create water reservoirs which can be drawn upon in case of forest fires.

Reverse side of the picture is that beavers have sometimes had to be live-trapped out of an area in order to stop damage due to flooding of highways or farm lands. "Studies, however, indicate that there has been no great damage in Michigan because of beaver activities," Hunt concludes.

Double Deck Shortcake

Celebrate the return of spring with a double-deck delight, Strawberry Cream Cheese Shortcake. This flavorful dessert combines fresh juicy strawberries and cream cheese with oven-fresh packaged shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department to bring you a real taste treat.

Double Deck Shortcake

|---|---|
| 1 pint strawberries | 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel |
| 1-8 oz. package cream cheese | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| ¾ cup sugar | 2 tablespoons heavy cream |

2 packages (8) shortcake dainties

Clean and slice strawberries. Sweeten with ½ cup sugar and chill. Bring cream cheese to room temperature in a bowl. Add remaining sugar, lemon peel, vanilla and cream. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Blend half of the strawberries into half of the cream cheese mixture. Place four shortcake dainties on serving plates, hollow side up. Spread each with ¼ of the cream cheese strawberry mixture. Top each with a second shortcake dainty, hollow side up. Fill with sweetened strawberries. If desired, make a border around edge of dainties with plain cream cheese, using either a spoon or the shell tip of a pastry tube. Serves 4.

58TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Underwood were pleasantly surprised Sunday when their children came to help them celebrate their 58th wedding anniversary which was April 4. Dinner was served and featured a four-tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated with the numbers 58 on it. The couple was presented with two cakes baked by Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Underwood of Sylvania, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rieve and two children of Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Eyler and Patty of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barrett of Macon, Mrs. Betty Knauss and two children of Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Daykin, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Daykin and Mrs. Bertha Swick.

The Baraca Philathea class of the Congregational Christian church met Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson for a potluck supper. Devotions were led by Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt and the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Glenn Gripton. It was decided that April 20 would be clean-up day at the church. The next meeting will be in June at the lake cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Gripton.

---

Eighteen members and one guest were present at the meeting of the Britton Rebekah lodge last week. Noble Grand Betty Maynard was in charge and it was decided to hold a family night at the Oddfellows hall April 26 in observance of the Oddfellow and Rebekah anniversary. The committee for that evening will be Miss Pearl Smith, Mrs. Anne Fairbanks and Mrs. Lucille Cross. Mrs. Marie Weichner reported on the annual district meetnig which was held March 27.

---

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield and three children were guests Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. John Crutchfield of Wayne.

Saturday evening callers on Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and son Greg were Mrs. Joe Loveless of Tecumseh and Mrs. Arlene Middlebrook and children of Lansing.

Guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and son Greg were Mrs. Donald Craig and daughter Darlene of Manchester. In the afternoon, the group went to Detroit to the builders' show.

The Rev. Jack Sorenson of South Lyon has been engaged as pastor of the Britton Bethel Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson and three children will move to Britton soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kanous of Toledo were recent guests of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kanous.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey and family entertained last Wednesday in honor her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kanous' 49th wedding anniversary. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herrick and family of Milan, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kanous of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kanous and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Weichner and Mrs. Bertha Brodock were in Toledo recently to see Elwood Fairbanks in Flower hospital, where he had undergone surgery. He returned home last Thursday.

Mrs. Richard Poling and children of Ypsilanti were guests last Thursday afternoon of her mother and brother, Mrs. Viola Daisher and Harold.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell were their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell of Plymouth and daughter Brenda Jane.

A weekend guest of Mrs. Bertha Brodock and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Weichner was Mrs. Lena Howard of Michigan Center. They accompanied Mrs. Howard home Sunday and on their return stopped in Onsted to visit Mrs. Dora Wimple, who is 89 years old.

"No Hands" Phone Ahead for Kitchens

"Look, kids, no hands!"

This may well be what the mothers of five years hence might declare about the "no hands" telephone. While working in the kitchen, all that mother has to do to answer the phone will be to press a small button in the backsplasher of the sink counter and a tiny amplifier will allow her to talk and listen without further touching the instrument.

Upon her return from the Electrical Women's Round Table meetings in Chicago, Coral Morris, home management specialist at Michigan State University, tells of a report of the kitchen of tomorrow by Bernice Strawn, home equipment editor of a national magazine. In only a few years, she suggested, everyone will have a television phone of some kind. And, in homes of any size, an amplifying system will be considered standard equipment.

A television screen will be part of every kitchen, just as radio is part of the equipment in today's kichen. And speaking of hearing, Miss Morris reports that some of the most elaborate kitchens will have built-in music to provide a pleasant background for family dining.

The lighting of tomorrow's kitchen will be very important. There will be good, glareless work lights, spot lights for special jobs and soft lighting for pleasant, relaxed dining.

Perhaps before 1960 kitchens will be equipped with an area just for small appliances with both the appliances and the backsplashers of the counter so designed that no unwieldly long cords will be necessary. The appliances will be right there—ready and waiting to be used.

Surprise Party Honors Birthday

Mrs. Jay Morse was most completely and pleasantly surprised last Friday evening when she was escorted to the Tecumseh Country Club by her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sisson to find a large party of her relatives waiting to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Brower McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIntyre III and Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre of Mnoroe; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sauer and Mrs. William McIntyre Sr. of Adrian, Alton McIntyre of Detroit, Mrs. David Murphy, Mrs. Hugh Browne and Mrs. Lula McConnell of Tecumseh.

A birthday dinner was climaxed by a decorated cake and the guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Morse had recently returned from a six weeks visit with another niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Newman of San Antonio, Texas. With Mrs. McConnell she made the trip by air and while there they traveled over much of the surrounding country.

Lest We Forget

It's true that the 1955 Federal income tax returns must be filed by April 16, 1956. It is also true that some taxpayers must also file by April 16 a declaration of estimated income tax for the year 1956.

The declaration must be filed:

a. By taxpayers who have income in excess of $100, from sources other than wages subject to withholding, if estimated gross income exceeds $600 times number of exemptions plus $400. For example, for such a taxpayer who has four exemptions, $600 times four equals $2400, plus $400 equals $2800. If this taxpayer has more than $2800 of total income then he must file a declaration of estimated income tax.

b. By a taxpayer who is single, or a married person filing a separate return, if his total income is more than $5000 from wages on which tax has been withheld and other income not exceeding $100.

c. By married individuals filing jointly or a taxpayer claiming head of household, if total income is more than $10,000 from wages on which tax has been withheld and other income not exceeding $100.

Winners of Legion Poster Contest Named

Winners of the American Legion Auxiliary annual poppy poster contest have been announced by Mrs. Robert Lowe, president of Underwood-Orr unit of the Auxiliary, after judging of the posters by a committee of local members.

The posters, drawn by pupils in school art classes, depict the spirit and purpose of the Auxiliary's memorial Poppy Day in tribute to the war dead. The national organization divides the posters into three classes: class one, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades; class two, seventh, eighth, and ninth grades; and class three, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. The local school participated in the first two classes.

Vickie Gooding won first prize, Jane VanValkenburg second and Charles Osborne third prize in class one. Jeanne Hohenstein placed first in class two with Phillip Head winning second place and Karen Brosamer the third place. Awards of $3, $2, and $1 will be presented to the winners.

The judges were Mrs. Jack Smith, Sr., Mrs. Gertrude Schneider and Mrs. Thomas Boyd.

In the fourth grade Sharon Korth received second choice and Stephen Freckelton, third choice. Posters by Janet Mackey and Christine Solarski received honorable mention.

In the fifth grade Daniel Carpenter received second choice and Suzanne Rose third. Posters of Mary Anne Mead, Robert Oswald and Marsha Heberlein received honorable mention.

Susan Owen received second choice and David Brock third in the sixth grade with honorable mention going to Gail Elliott, Eugene Verrier, Sheridan Mangrum, Robert Richards, and Donna Cubberly.

In the seventh grade posters by Jackie Dunn, Dianne Fuller, Barbara Beardsley, Patty Squires, Dorothy Mackey and Bill Ross received honorable mention.

Posters drawn in the contest are on display in the windows at the Palman building this week. The winning posters will be entered in the state contest, from which three winners will be selected to represent the state in the national contest.

Mrs. Ben Gillies Is President of Child Study Club

Mrs. Bert Updike, kindergarten teacher at Patterson school, was the speaker at the April meeting of the Child Study Club, Monday evening. Her subject was "Learning at Home and at School" and from her wide experience she gave her listeners much food for thought.

The club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Edwin Gannaway with Mrs. Wilbur Andrews and Mrs. Harry Richard as co-hostesses. One new member, Mrs. Stanley Cook was welcomed and guests were Mrs. Don Ketteman, Mrs. Jack Curtiss, Mrs. Don Geringer, Mrs. Jack Shutt, Mrs. Herman Koelbel and Mrs. Edward Grigg of Coldwater. The last is a house guest of Mrs. Norman Bailey.

Election of officers was an important item of business and resulted in the choice of Mrs. Ben Gillies as president; Mrs. Norman Bailey, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Kruse, secretary; Mrs. Douglas Murdock, treasurer and Mrs. William P. Snook, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Lee Prettyman, Mrs. Gannaway and Mrs. Bailey were appointed delegates from the Tecumseh club to the state spring program planning meeting which will be held April 21 at Allen Park, Mich.

The next meeting of the club will be the annual dinner meeting, May 14 which will be held at the Country Club.

State Will Get 1,000,000 Doses of Polio Vaccine

Michigan should get about one million more doses of polio vaccine over the next three months.

This estimate was made by the state health department in a summary of vaccine distribution released today.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, said that while the department lacks reliable information for an exact forecast on vaccine which may be allotted to Michigan, the amount should range between 904,681 doses to 1,292,400 doses during the next three months.

GETS FOUR PER CENT

The vaccine is released to states on a population basis by the U. S. Public Health Service. Michigan gets slightly more than four per cent (4.308) of the vaccine allocated.

"A firm prediction on the amount of vaccine which may be released to us cannot be made, since under safety testing requirements, any lot of vaccine which dees not pass the final test cannot be reprocessed, but has to be discarded," Dr. Heustis said.

He reported that so far Michigan has received 1,726,413 doses of vaccine—1,071,849 doses purchased by the Michigan Department of Health, plus 654,564 doses made available earlier by the National Polio Foundation.

PRIORITY IS GIVEN

The vaccine received, he said, represents slightly over 28 per cent of the amount needed to give protection against paralytic polio to the priority groups — youngsters one through 14 years of age and pregnant women.

"While we're in complete sympathy with the complaints from many parents who have not yet been able to get vaccine for their youngsters," Dr. Heustis said, "reports from the four states nearest Michigan — Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin — indicate that their situation is about the same. At no time have they had enough vaccine to satisfy the demand."

In an attempt to make available vaccine cover more youngsters, Dr. Heustis said the health department is urging doctors to use vaccine being released currently for first and second doses only.

He said that parents wondering about the timing of the second and third doses of vaccine should be advised that the first shot does not lose its effect so long as the second dose is given sometime in the following 12 month period.

"Third doses," he said, "can well be delayed until the vaccine is more plentiful. Even when the supply becomes abundant, there should be at least seven months between the second and third doses of vaccine."

The Commissioner added that children five through nine years of age should still be considered the top priority group for vaccine, since polio strikes hardest in that age group.

Indians Had Sweet Tooth

The redskins had a sweet tooth too!

But methods have certainly changed since the Indians gashed the maple trees with blunt axes and caught the sap in gourds, says Frank Murray, University of Michigan forest manager in the School of Natural Resources.

The Indians evaporated the delicious liquid in hollowed out rocks by dropping hot stones into it. "And you can imagine what color it was when they got through with it!" Murray says.

"Today we tap the trees with a hand drill or with a power tapping machine, he continues. "The small hole heals very quickly after sugaring and the tree suffers no real injury.

TIPS ARE GIVEN

Forester Murray offers a few tips on the righ way to tap the trees and gather the sap:

"Be sure to take care in tapping," he advises. "Tap only trees that have reached a diameter of ten or twelve inches. Use one bucket only until the tree is 20 inches in diameter. Up to 24 inches, two buckets may be hung, and from there to 30 inches, three buckets. Large trees with a dense crown may take four or five buckets without harm. One spout to the bucket is recommended."

Murray says the tree is usually tapped on the south side because the action of the sun and the resulting temperature-pump has more effect on that side.

BECOMES SWEET

He explains that the sap flows first from the roots and then as the sap pressure increases, it will also flow downward from the branches. "After it's been up and absorbed some of the sugar that was deposited in the branches durthe summer, it becomes really sweet!" he says.

"Remember not to tap within three inches of an old scar," Murray advises. "If you tap early in the season, you would be wise to prefer the warm side of the tree. If it's late in the season, the side away from the sun will run most sap.

"It is best to use galvanized buckets as the sap will be cooler in them. And be sure to put covers on your buckets, or you'll throw away a third of the sap," he warns.

Murray advises gathering the sap as soon as there are two or three quarts in the bucket. "If you let it stand, it will pick up bacteria," he reports.

Biggest Class Graduated by State Police

Graduation exercises for 114 men, the largest recruit class in Michigan State Police history, were held Friday, April 6, in Fairchild theater on the campus of Michigan State University.

The group represented the first half of the 200 new troopers authorized at the special session of the legislature in Nov. The second half are being trained at a school that opened Monday, April 9, with graduation set for May 18, making all 200 available for summer traffic patrol.

A new feature of the graduation program was the presentation of citations for meritorious service by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs to 11 officers.

The citations, approved by the board of awards of the department for extraordinary and outstanding performance of duty, were received by Det. Lt. Wilbur M. Petermann, Lt. Joseph A. Pearce, Det. Wayne N. Jussila, Det. Clifford J. Demsky and Det. Arthur E. Stock, of East Lansing headquarters, Det. Charles G. Conn, Battle Creek post, Det. Frank Barkman, Detroit, Tpr. William L. Lanphear, Cadillac, Tpr. Donald R. Savalox, Marquette, and Tprs. Wesley R. Bean and Harlen E. Reetz, Jonesville.

In the past citations have been mailed to the recipients.

The graduates were addressed by Governor G. Mennen Williams and the commissioner. They will be recalled in the fall to take four weeks of training in scientific crime investigation and other advanced subjects.

Most of the 200 will be used to provide more concentrated patrols in heavy accident areas. A few are going to posts where there is a shortage in personnel.

Spring Toppers Show Slender Fashion Trend

What's new in topwear fashion this spring?

Cropped jackets and slender coats in colors of navy blue and lively biege seem to be taking the spotlight, declares Florence Rann, clothing specialist at Michigan State University.

Coats, cut easy and straight, are really quite different from the short and finger-tip length coats we've been wearing the past few years. Some have tuxedo fronts with no fastening at all and some are buttoned. Although some coats are full, most are designed with a slim look to be worn over sheath dresses. Interest in the coats may come from the fabric design, a Martingale belt or Empire closing or a large shawl collar or cape.

Some of the summer coats, describes Miss Rann, are practically sleeveless—very light and airy. Fabrics range from silk to rayon to cotton and linen.

Cropped jackets are newest, but jackets range in length from a very brief bolero ending close under the bustline to the hip-bone length. The snug little bolero may cover a sleeveless scoop neckline type of dress or a slim dress with either cap or set-in sleeves. Boxy jackets, according to Miss Rann, like slim or nipped-waiste jackets, are equally popular and easy to wear. Bloused jackets and jacket dresses seem to be part of the spring picture, too.

Navy and biege are the big basic colors this spring, but all variations of these will be good. Miss Rann lists some of them as strawberry soda pink, butterscotch yellow, mint and lime greens, orange sherbet, red and white peppermint candy stripes and frosted coffee.

Ann Arbor May Festival Set for May 3-6

This year's Ann Arbor May Festival, May 3 through 6, will be of special interest from several points of view, although in general it will follow traditional lines.

Six concerts will be given during four days, in all of which the Philadelphia Orchestra will participate, with Eugene Ormandy conducting four performances; and sharing the podium with Thor Johnson, Conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, for two concerts; while Marguerite Hood will present the Festival Youth Chorus in a special group of songs.

The Festival will commemorate the ninetieth birthday of Finland's distinguished composer, Jan Sibelius, by the inclusion of his Symphony No. 7; while the 100th anniversary of the death of Schumann will be recognized by the presentation of a group of songs especially orchestrated for this occasion. The 200th anniversary of the birth of Mozart will be observed by the inclusion of an all-Mozart program on Friday night. The Saturday afternoon program will also include several of his works.

The two choral works offered by the University Choral Union will be of special interest. Mozart's "Davidde penitente," which, so far as can be determined, will have been heard in this country on only two previous occasions — at a church service in New York City, and a recent performance in Cincinnati under Thor Johnson—will be performed on Friday night. This work is based on the composer's "Great Mass in C minor." The other outstanding choral work to be presented will be the "Gurre-Lieder" by Arnold Schonberg at the Sunday afternoon concert. This work has been heard only on rare occasions because of the complex instrumentation.

Although numerous former favorite soloists will participate, several new personalities will also appear. Information on programs, tickets, etc., may be obtained at the offices of the University Musical Society in Burton Memorial Tower, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

V.F.W. Auxiliary Gives $100 to Bleacher Fund

The April meetings of the Underwood-Orr Post of the American Legion and of the Legion Auxiliary were held jointly last Thursday evening at the Legion Hall.

Separate business meetings were followed by initiation of new members into the Legion for which ceremony the auxiliary members were guests. After initiation refreshments were served to the joint assembly by Mrs. Larry Cote, Mrs. Lee Phibbs, Mrs. Lyle Grigg and Mrs. Thelma Henning.

During the Auxiliary business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert Lowe it was voted to give $100 to the bleacher fund and that the membership would endorse Mrs. Donald Woods as a member of the district executive board.

It was announced that Miss Rita Crosby would be the auxiliary's representative at the annual Girls' State this summer. Mrs. Herbert Cleveland then conducted a program with Haiti as the subject.

Hoekstra-Whitamore Vows Spoken Saturday Evening

Hampers of white snapdragons and carnations combined with palms and lighted candelabra to decorate the Baptist church Saturday evening when Wanda I. Whitamore of Adrian became the bride of Bruce J. Hoekstra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoekstra of Tecumseh. Miss Whitamore is the daughter of Mr. Cloid Whitamore of 563 River St., Adrian and the late Mrs. Whitamore.

MRS. BRUCE HOEKSTRA

The Rev. B. O. Bashore performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Herbert Dillon at the organ played traditional music as the guests assembled and accompanied Miss Carole Mitchey who sang "I Love You Truly," "Always" and "Because".

Miss Margaret Lunn of Adrian and Marilyn Babcock of Dundee attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaid while the groom was assisted by Joe Gregory as best man. Bob Hoekstra, brother of the groom and Raymond Campbell were ushers.

The slender bride was very lovely in a gown of bridal satin under net and Chantilly lace made with a low, sculptured neckline and long sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil was held by a pearl embroidered cap and she carried an arm bouquet of calla lillies.

Miss Lunn and Miss Babcock wore similiar waltz length gowns of chrystellete in coral pink and their flowers were cascade bouquets of white carnations with a center of carnations which matched their gowns.

The mother of the bridegroom was in navy blue lace with matching hat and the bride's sister wore a steel blue suit with black accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

Two hundred guests were entertained after the ceremony at the Tecumseh Products Union hall where Janice Campbell and Kathy Lewis served the five-tiered wedding cake. Its decorations included a wedding ring of pink carnations and it was flanked with crystal candelabra and pink taers.

Mrs. Hoekstra attended the high school in Ridgefarm, Ill. and is employed in the accounting department of the Tecumseh Products Co. Mr. Hoekstra, who is also an employee of the Products Co., is a graduate of Tecumseh high school. They will reside on west Chicago Boulevard.

Role of Clergy in Mental Health Outlined

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Miss Gretta Porter for The Michigan Journalist, laboratory newspaper for the department of journalism at The University of Michigan. Miss Porter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Porter of Tecumseh.)

BY GRETTA PORTER

"The clergy plays a definite and important part in the community mental health program."

This was the opening remark which Dr. Seward Hiltner, Professor of Pastoral Theology at the University of Chicago, addressed to the conference on mental health sponsored by the School of Public Health. He siad a mental health program did not have to be entirely centralized.

He emphasized that the clergy can and does do much in mental health on a de-centralized basis.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Dr. Hiltner outlined three "modes of operation" for a religious program of mental health.

(1) Activities of the clergy within their own parishes.

"Work with individuals and families is called pastoral care rather than therapy—pastoral, of course, meaning sheperding. Not that the shepherd is superior, but guidance in timely ways keeps the sheep from getting lost."

(2) "Churches working together as churches."

"Churches have used the principles of group dynamics for years, Dr. Hiltner said. The church has a tremendous resource in that it has made people feel at home in groups. Mental sickness is basically a social illness—a disabling loneliness."

(3) Participation by church and clergy with other agencies.

The clergy, detecting early stages of mental problems, may refer the person to some other agency which is better trained to handle the problem, he explained.

Dr. Hiltner asserted, however, that the clergy must serve as a community conscience about mental health problems. "The clergy sometimes has taken the lead but often helps other people who have the training."

CAN SANCTION PROGRAMS

He explained that when opposition forces arise the clergy can often lend certain sanctions to the program.

All clergy, however, must insist "that depth and perspective be brought to consideration of mental health in the community," he declared.

"If the clergy are eager not to insult anyone in the community then they may bless the very things which work against mental health."

He emphasized that "we must not become bogged down in middle class morality."

Consumers Will Report on Atomic Power Plants

Stockholders of Consumers Power Company in the Jackson area will hear a report on the company's plans and prospects, including a discussion of atomic power developments, at a regional meeting of shareholders Thursday evening (tonight) in the County Building auditorium.

The regional meeting is one of a series of 10 such meetings in Michigan cities following the company's annual meeting April 10 in Maine, the state in which Consumers was originally chartered. Consumers operates only in Michigan, supplying electric or gas service to 1,019,000 individual customers, and more than half of the company's 72,000 shareholders are Michigan residents.

Dan E. Karn, president, will be the principal speaker at the Jackson meeting. Several other officers and directors will be present. Mr. Karn will be introduced by Division Manager H. H. Koelbel, and a brief report on the annual meeting will be given by A. J. Mayotte, secretary of the company.

The program includes the showing of a motion picture "This Is Automation." A scale model of the experimental atomic reactor to be built by Power Reactor Development Company on Lake Erie near Monroe, Michigan, will be exhibited. Power Reactor Development Company was organized by Consumers and other electric and industrial companies to design, build, own and operate the experimental reactor, which will supply steam for an adjoining power plant of conventional type to be built by The Detroit Edison Company.

At the close of the meeting refreshments will be served.

MOTORCYCLE ROUND-UP PLANNED FOR SUNDAY

Motorcyclists from Lenawee and Hillsdale counties will meet Sunday, April 15 at Russ Bradish's motorcycle shop near Adrian for the motorcyclist' "Ready Riders Spring Round-Up," the first of such events to be held in this area.

Registration will be from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. and the cyclists will leave the shop, which is located on US-223, three and one-half miles east of Rock Inn at 2:30. The round-up will be a 100 mile run with the destination to be decided by the riders before leaving Adrian.

Motorcyclists and their guests are invited to the round-up. There are about 600 registered motorcyclists in Lenawee county.

Mrs. Ezra DeVol Will Speak at Friends Church

A women's missionary retreat will be held at the Tecumseh Friends church Tuesday, April 17 beginning at 10 a.m. The theme of the meeting will be "Our Task at Home and Abroad."

Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Lawrence Cox and the opening hymn prayer and scripture will be followed by a talk by Mrs. Ezra DeVol, missionary of the Friends church in India. Mrs. Blackburn of East Goshen, Ohio, will speak on the yearly meetings' outlook of women's auxiliaries. This will be followed by a question box.

There will be a potluck lunch at 12 noon for which it is requested that those attending bring table service, sandwiches and dish to pass.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:15 with pictures of the Friends mission in Formosa shown by Mrs. Herbert Burch and will be followed by a lecture "A Picture of Our India Field" by Max Banker, a missionary to India.

The evening session, which is open to the public will be conducted by Mrs. DeVol and will give a graphic picture of her work and mission in India.

This retreat is being held under the auspices of the Adrian Friends Quarterly Meeting's Missionary Union and Mrs. Edward Escolme is general chariman.

Bonners Mark 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonner held open house for their friends and relatives Sunday afternoon in observance of the silver anniversary of their marriage. One hundred guests visited their Rogers highway home between the hours of one and five.

Flowers, many of which were gifts, were arranged throughout the house and in the decoration of the dining room white and silver predominated. The linen covered refreshment table was looped with garlands of ivy. Double wedding rings in silver combined with white tulips and hyacinths to form the centerpiece and a beautifully decorated wedding cake in white and silver stood at one end. The silver service used was a gift from Mr. Bonner's family, a custom that is a silver wedding tradition.

Mrs. Paul Hadsell and Mrs. Donald Dieck, a niece of Mrs. Bonner's, served the cake while tea and coffee were poured by her sisters, Mrs. Dwight Gilbert of Oscoda and Mrs. Frank Moore of Sturgis and her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Ulysses Dieck and Mrs. Frederick Dieck, both of Lennon, Mich. Mrs. Elmer Bryan and Mrs. Carlos Jones also assisted Mrs. Bonner in entertaining.

Among those who came during the afternoon were guests from Flint, Sturgis, Lennon, Pleasant Ridge, Ferndale, Detroit, Oscoda, Farmington, Adrian and Tecumseh.

The preceding Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bonner were entertained at a family gathering at Bottsford Inn at Farmington when they were presented with the silver service. They also received many beautiful gifts from their guests on Sunday.

Mrs. Ezra DeVol will visit Mrs. Edward Escolme most of next week. A Friends missionary to India, she will be the main speaker at a women's missionary retreat to be held at the church next Tuesday.

Russell Collins, Hamilton Moore of Britton, La Vern Russell, William Davenport, Howard Wilson Sr. and Howard Wilson Jr. spent last Saturday in Columbus, Ohio where they attended the Humboldt Masonic Lodge No. 476. They saw the exemplification of the Master Mason degree in full and ancient form. This is an annual presentation which is witnessed by Masons from all over the country.

Callers of Mrs. Maude Cummins Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Leon English of Royal Oak and Mrs. Lyle Powell and children Kimberly and Russell of Onsted.

The Rev. Edward Escolme will go to Wichita, Kansas, Monday for a week during which he will be the principle speaker before the ministers of the Kansas Yearly Meeting.

The action centers around two Ohio girls who seek fame and fortune in New York City. Ruth is a writer and her sister Eileen is an actress. Their problems are complicated by the apartment that they rent from Mr. Appopolous and by the interview Ruth has with the Brazilian Navy. But, of course, there is the inevitable happy ending after three acts of fast and furious farce, including dynamiting for the new subway.

Solve Theft of Wheels, Tires

A burglar nabbed by State Police in Clinton early last Thursday has confessed that he also robbed Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc., of several wheels and tires.

Arraigned before Justice L. J. Van Deusen of Clinton on breaking and entering, James Jordan, 19, of Willow Run waived examination. He was held on a $1000 bond.

Jordan was nabbed as he was about to break into the Floyd Halladay station in Clinton.

He also admitted taking wheels an dtires from the George Underwood sales at Clinton.

He told officers he sold the and tires from the George Underfriends at the air base near Belleville.

He said he took the tires and wheels from Schneider's March 23 and again April 2. He took them from new cars on the lot west of town.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. John Lott was hostess to the meeting of P.E.O. Tuesday with 16 members attending. The program was in charge of Mrs. John Keeney whose topic was "Religion". Mrs. Keeney traced religion from its first organized form, down through the many centuries to the present period. She pointed out the many similarities between apparently diverse religions and the differences existing between those that seem alike.

May 13 will be the 20th anniversary of the organization of the local chapter so this was a birthday meeting with a decorated birthday cake with 20 candles baked by the hostess.

CONVOCATION HELD AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH

St. Peter's Episcopal church entertained the Southwest Convocation of the Woman's Auxiliary Tuesday in the Parish House. The session began at 10:30 a.m. and was preceded by a communion service with the Rev. E. C. Dickin being assisted by the Rev. Charles White of Henrietta, Mich.

Seventy-five women from the are were present and Mrs. Clifford Hood presided. Mrs. William Tighe of Birmingham was the morning speaker and her topic was "Missionary Work in a Revolutionary World."

Adding to a very interesting and successful meeting was a display or religious books and pamphlets brought by Miss Dorothy Paterson of the Episcipal book shop in Detroit. She was assisted by Mrs. A. Peter Carroll of Adrian, who is chairman of Christian education for the convocation.

Luncheon was served to the ladies by the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Peter's.

MRS. WHELAN SHOWS EUROPEAN PICTURES

Circle I of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. R. F. Helzerman Tuesday evening with 15 members present. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Dwight Hodges after which the group enjoyed pictures shown by Mrs. Hoyt Whelan of the trip she made last summer to Holland and England under the auspices of the May Flower Society.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Chester Beach and Mrs. William Macbeth.

The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sally Pope.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

A project which will attempt to establish Montana grayling trout in certain Michigan waters has been approved by the Conservation Commission.

The project was initiated by a Detroit News offer of $1,000 toward the re-establishment of grayling, which have been extinct in Michigan for more than 20 years.

Conservation Department fish specialists strongly doubt that fishable populations of grayling will ever exist again in state waters, but think a small stock can be maintained for historical purposes.

The State of Montana has agreed to sell grayling eggs to Michigan for the project. Fish division workers will study various northern lakes to determine the most suitable location for grayling plantings.

Michigan's wild turkey restoration program will continue this year with new releases of the big birds planned for this summer.

Some 400 turkey eggs will be shipped from Pennsylvania for hatching at the Conservation Department's game farm at Mason. The birds will be released in wild areas when they are 12 to 14 weeks old. A site for the new releases has not been selected.

The current restoration program was initiated with wild turkey releases in Allegan state forest in 1954 and in Lake and Newaygo counties last year.

A Jan. census of the birds showed 118 turkeys in Allegan county, with 16 individual flocks reported. Best results were recorded in Newaygo county where 35 of the 79 originally released turkeys were counted in Jan. Success in Lake county has been lower, with only 13 of 73 released birds sighted.

The Newaygo birds were in four groups, numbering from two to 19 birds. The largest flock was isolated and wild and was considered to have the best chance for survival.

Five controlled burning projects, designed to improve 968 acres of game habitat, were approved recently by the Conservation Commission's game committee.

The spring schedule of controlled burnings includes two upper peninsula projects covering 770 acres in Dickinson county. In the lower peninsula, burnings are planned on 92 acres in Arenac county, 76 acres in Gladwin county and 30 acres on Harsens Island in St. Clair county.

The Harsens Island burn is to remove a heavy accumulation of dead grasses prior to the treatment of regrowth with Dalapon, a grass killing herbicide. The plot then will be seeded to produce buckwheat and millet for waterfowl feed.

The other burnings are designed to provide food and cover areas for deer and grouse.

Hunting accidents took the lives of 25 persons and wounded 200 others during Michigan's 1955 small game and deer hunting seasons.

By comparison, the 1954 figures were 19 killed and 230 wounded.

Hunters and trappers collected $9660 in bounty payments during the month of Feb., $1145 more than was paid out by the state for the same period last year.

The month's total of bountied animals included 1665 foxes, 70 coyotes and 25 bobcats.

All of the bobcats and 59 of the coyotes were bagged in the upper peninsula while foxes were bountied throughout the state. Bobcats are protected animals in the lower peninsula.

State conservation officials are deeply concerned about dogs har-

Raps Press For Olympic Team Stress

BY GRETTA PORTER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is from The Michigan Journalist, laboratory newspaper of The University of Michigan's department of Journalism. Miss Porter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Porter of Tecumseh.)

"There is no such thing in the Olympics as a team winner," asserted Phillip Diamond, Secretary of the National Association of Track Coaches.

"Olympic victories mean individual or medalist honors, not team glories. The emphasis on team victory is due to the tendency of the American press to play up the national rivalry. Team point scoring as tabulated in the American (and Russian) press is just nonsense."

The United States, Diamond thinks, will find the Olympic competition increasingly tougher. "This is because, first, as economic conditions in a country improve so do athletic performances. The 'backward' countries will send more entries and in time we'll find ourselves up against such competition as the fine African jumpers.

"Secondly, factors of conditioning are involved. The emphasis is now on training with weather conditions similar to those under which the athletes will compete."

The question of training is the basis of another problem. What is an amateur?

"Definitions of amateurism differ from country to country.

"The Russians," Diamond explained, "train the athletes like professions, that is, sports constitute full-time work. We, however, don't do this."

Even within the United States the lack of an aceptable definition or proper distinction between pro and amateur has caused much consternation.

The Amateur Athlete Union has certain set rules which, said Diamond, "may not have kept up with the times."

Some amauters feel that they can't afford to turn pro, he added, because they can earn more in the amateur ranks.

And now Ford's new 225-h.p. engine gives you even hotter performance!

Today's biggest trend in automobiles is to the V-8 engine. That's because today's car buyer demands performance. And latest sales figures show that the Ford V-8 with its power-packin' punch is the largest-selling eight in the world! Official figures for 1955 show that 346,373 more people bought Ford V-8's than bought the two other low-priced eights combined!

But now Ford is setting an even hotter V-8 pace by making available the biggest engine ever offered in the low-price field. It's the Thunderbird Special V-8—and you can order it now in Fairlane and Station Wagon models. This engine has a displacement of 312 cubic inches and delivers 225 horsepower. It whisks you from "whoa" to GO as you've never gone before!

And Ford gives you that wonderfully long, low look of the Thunderbird in all of its '56 models. You get new Lifeguard Design, also, to help protect you in case of accident. Test Drive this great new '56 Ford . . . today!

Clean Up . . . Don't Burn Up

With spring comes housecleaning. As you clean house this year keep these ideas in mind:

Hidden treasures sometimes turn up in attics, basements and closets where odds and ends have piled up over the years.

Whether your home contains such valuables is, of course, a question. But there is no question that every cluttered attic, basement or closet does contain a fire hazard!

Combustible rubbish is an increasingly frequent cause of fires. In addition, it often causes small fires to spread and do greater damage.

Observe Clean-Up Week this year by cleaning out any catch-all spot that may exist in your home. If, in the process, you come across items you can use or dispose of profitably, so much the better. At any rate, you can be sure of winding up with one thing of great value: a home that is safer from fire!

Clean up; don't burn up.

PTA's and Improvements

We long have felt that one of the objectives of belonging to a parent-teacher association is to work for school improvements.

This idea was the central theme of Mrs. Lucille P. Leonard, past president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers who was keynote speaker recently at the Michigan PTA Problems Clinic at Michigan State University. She said:

"The PTA member must be challenged to take the leadership in school projects. It is the responsibility and opportunity of every parent to provide good teachers, modern buildings, up-to-date equipment and the other needs of education today."

During the past year these words of Mrs. Leonard's have been put into practice by Tecumseh PTA's. Far from meeting merely to chat and have refreshments, local PTA members have been instrumental in working with administrators and school board members to seek more improvements for students and for teachers. They are to be commended for their efforts.

Realty Views

A housing expert states: "Lack of understanding of the first steps of home ownership has kept more families from owning a home of their own than any other cause."

So that you may understand the process, let me offer these easy steps:

First, decide you'd like to own your own home. And start now to save for the "down payment."

Second, come in and talk things over with us or your favorite financial institution. Learn about what homes cost, how much money will be required immediately under various loan plans, and the size of the monthly payment thereafter. See if your income will justify this payment.

Third, compare home values and select the specific home you want. Here, again, you'll find our office can be of real service. We can do your leg-work and reduce your homeseeking time. Also point out why the home is worth the money and prove it by comparison with other similar homes. And too, we can act as a neutral intermediary in negotiating with the owner. Finally, after we help you find the right home, we arrange the financing and guide the closing details.

So, you can see, if you have the down payment, the only other necessary step is to visit our office.

We'll roll the Welcome Mat out for YOU!

Letter to Editor

Dear Sir:

After reading to date the very delightful Safari stories by Mr. and Mrs. Touborg. I beleive that they should be enthusiastically congratulated for their extremely interesting writings.

In my opinion, it is this kind of artcile that helps to enable you to make THE TECUMSEH HERALD the great paper that it is.

Perhaps when the Diary of Thomas Wright is concluded, there will be made available to you other diaries which will also relate some of the very interesting historical events of our great little city.

Sincerely,
Vern Manwaring

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

A satisfactory rhinocerous, from a trophy standpoint, is rather difficult to find. We tracked down 15 before we found a worthwhile specimen. Expeditions into rhino country had some hazardous moments. We would sneak up and peak at our expected quarry from behind some bushes. If we found it not worth taking, we very slowly and quietly would retrace our steps; then run as fast as possible to get away before a treacherous wind would carry our scent to the animal.

Rhinos are unpredictable—when they see you, the only thing you can be sure of is that they will run—either away from you, or directly at you. If it happens to be a "he," the right size of body and horn, and he comes at you, good, — you can try to take him; but if he is not the right size, an embarrassing situation will quickly develop where you'll find yourself trampled, or with an unwanted rhino on your hands, which still will count on your license.

BE QUIET

Therefore, when hunting rhino it is best to go about it as quietly and discreetly as possible because the beast often behaves as if something inside his head isn't always clicking.

On one of our trips after rhino we were very close to an area where we had seen signs of rhinos before, but not actually seen the animal itself. The rhino, as you know from Kipling's stories, produces droppings like those of an elephant. Since his agreement with the elephant, he must destroy his leavings, so his toilet ground is scratched up and his manure broken and scattered around. From the appearance you can deduce how long since Kilroy was here.

In heading for this spot, we were very quietly sneaking along a game path, single file, at the edge of an open place in the jungle. First N'Gora, the native tracker, because of his phenominal ability to spot animals, whether still or on the move, then I, and behind me, Andy, carrying his gun on his shoulder like an axe. Suddenly I heard a rustling noise from our left and stopped the column. Where we stood, we were only semi-concealed by a few low bushes. After waiting for a few seconds, the noise became louder, and directly toward us came trotting a great big old buffalo bull, sinister and forbidding. I slowly raised my rifle and kept it pointing right between his shoulder blades in case he should become dangerous. However, he was evidently unaware of our presence and was out on a foraging expedition of his own, away from the herd. He had a magnificent pair of horns with a classical curve and a tremendous boss grown solid across his forehead, something which one rarely sees.

BULL UNDECIDED

I stood, completely fascinated by the animal. That was an experience I would not have traded for anything in the world. The bull stopped now and then for a few moments looking around, but kept on coming closer until he finally stopped about 25 feet from us. There he stood undecided while I admired his magnificent build, the impression of his massiveness unforgettable.

I didn't want to kill him because I already had two buffalos, but did keep the gun up in case he might see us and get ideas. Finally N'Gora, just in front of me, out of deviltry I suppose, picked up an old rotten branch and threw it at him. It landed right in front of the bull. He stiffened up instantaneously, ready for anything. However, when he did not charge or run, N'Gora waved his arms and shouted, and the old monarch turned around and loped off down the valley—the muscles working rhythmically under his hide.

"Oh—," said Andy, "why didn't you shoot? He was fantastic." But I had not wanted to spook the rhino which we hoped to find, and as things turned out later, it was a good thing I didn't shoot.

I'd like to say here that before an animal develops a set of horns big enough for a trophy, he has generally become so old he is either tired of the herd, or has been kicked out. For that reason, taking an old big head when the animal is already on the decline is not hurting propagation of the Of all the animals I shot, I only shot males.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL LION HUNT

In general, it can be said that elephants are becoming fairly scarce in the eastern part of Africa, at least around Kenya; that is, elephants that have a reasonable set of tusks. The real big fellows which carry tusks of a couple of hundred pounds or more in weight are gone and the elephant hunter who is after a reasonable trophy must look at many elephants before he finds one which is worth taking. For this reason we did a great deal of elephant hunting. Usually the hunting was started by driving parallel to the river where the elephants would come to drink and eat of the luscious leaves of the jungle before they would go back into the higher thorn bush country.

One morning when driving parallel to the river, outside the jungle, looking for elephant tracks, we suddenly spied the pug marks of lions in the sand. The pug marks looked very fresh, in fact as if they had been made that very morning. Since I, more than anything else, wanted a lion, we decided to start tracking the beasts to see if we could catch up with them. We felt the lions had been perhaps drinking at the river in the morning and were now on their way up into higher country for the day. At any rate, we were rather excited about it because lions were quite scarce in that part of the country.

We quickly got the guns loaded; Andy never bothered to use anything but his old rusty 470, but we felt that I should use the Weatherby 300 Magnum with soft nose bullets for this particular occasion.

CARRIED OVER SHOULDER

The native tracker, N'Gora, started off with me at his heels; Andy right behind me carrying his gun like a shovel over his shoulder with the muzzle forward. Personally, I have never liked this way of carrying a gun because if you really needed it in a hurry, it seemed to take too many motions to get it into firing position. I generally carried mine over the shoulder in the sling with the muzzle up, except in cases where I expected to use the gun any minute, then I would carry it in both hands like we generally do at home pheasant hunting. With the excitement of being on the lion hunt, perhaps it is unnecessary to say I carried it in both hands all the time.

Peg was left sitting in the Jeep writing letters for home, with a little red fezzed native boy to watch over her safety.

The lion tracks seemed to follow a fairly straight line in a northeasterly direction. There were some relatively small pug marks indicating that we had two cubs in front of us, and some considerably larger ones indicating that Mama lion was along, and some big ones which looked like they belonged to the master himself. It gave me a peculiar sensation to look at the various sizes of cute round pad prints in the sand, and visualize the animals which had just made them. Aside from the general straight line of direction, the tracks would veer off and disappear into low patches of bush of various types, some with perhaps a couple of fallen down tree trunks which had rotted and withered. Encircling such a patch of brush, we would pick up the tracks on the opposite side and see where the group or so-called "pride" at times had been straying away from each other and then closed up again, evidently walking side by side and in some cases, single file.

It was terribly exciting and it was not made less exciting when we, all of a sudden, came upon a spot where a few bones and tufts of white hair lay scattered about, indicating that the lions had killed and eaten a sheep.

TALK IT OVER

After that discovery, N'Gora and Andy got together and held a long whispering conversation in Swahili. Andy beckoned me over and told me that they had decided that the lions were not very far away and that from now on I was not to look at the tracks in the sand, but to keep my head up so that I would be able to spot the lions if they were moving about or perhaps laying in wait. He and N'Gora would follow the tracks and I had better be ready for anything. To this I naturally agreed and we continued on our way.

I never found anything so difficult to do as keeping my head up and looking around the landscape, which consisted of low thorn bushes and sansevieria scattered all over with an admixture of fairly tall grasses, exactly the color of a lion's hide, weaving in the wind.

Nylon satin and tricot knit slips cut on the lengthwise grain will cause less static electricity than those garments cut crosswise or on the bias, point out M.S.U. textiles researchers. They found that the weave of the fabric caused as much static electricity as the fiber content. So electricity may be due to outer clothing and the cut of the slip as well as its being nylon.

Necklines Can Flatter Face Types

What kind of dress necklines does your facial type call for?

Because the neckline on your dress or blouse mirrors your face, you should consider it when buying clothing. Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, suggests that an oblong face can be figuratively shortened with a line of interest. Collared types, high, round necklines, bows and modified "V" will make the face look less long and will soften features.

A round face is a contour which needs length. The deep "V" and other low necklines are good. Narrow "V" necklines slenderize a round face and deep ovals and sweetheart types tend to add length.

Most necklines, except very round ones, claims Miss Kahabka, are becoming to the oval face. If the neck is thin it can be concealed with curved, mounting necklines.

A triangular shaped face usually requires width at the neckline. This can be done with high, square or round types. High, draped necklines broaden the lower part of the face and tend to make it look less triangular.

To soften the square jaw, common to the square face type, use "V" necklines, sweetheart types or the deep oval or horseshoe lines. This, explains Miss Kahabka, will elongnate a square face.

The Diary of Thomas Wright

(The last installment of this record of the Wright family in Tecumseh from 1831 to 1841.)

1841—April 16, News came that the president of the U. S. is dead. Pres. Harrison died after having been in office one month.

This spring we were helped with a revival in which I trust my son, Roswell was led to choose the one thing needful and in April (18th) I had the satisfaction to see two of my children, Augusta and Roswell unite with the church I had adopted and receive from the Bishop the rite of confirmation.

July 5—This was Independence Day (the 4th was Sunday) and it was celebrated by bringing out all the Sunday schools in town on the Common together and then uniting in a procession and thus marched to the Presbyterian church where speeches were made by the ministers of the various denominations, Episcopalian, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist to which they belonged. There were also several schools brought in from the neighboring towns.

1841—July—The first of this month our well fell in. The well had been built in the fall of 1835 and was 36 feet deep, stoned up. But now what to do. To build the same again would endanger the buildings. I concluded to let it go and build, or more properly perhaps, dig a well near the barn, and have a cistern to contain the rain water. We got the barn well dug and bricked up and on the 9th and 10th it was done and soon after rigged for usage.

Aug. 1st at church I was taken with a fit of ague. This was I think the third time I have been taken with ague in church and the second time I have had it come on while in the Sunday school; and in this instance for several days very sick.

Sept. 1st—Again had the fever and went and staid about a week with Dr. Patterson and on the 12th went with Mrs. Wright to Mr. Guion's, who is gone East and stayed with Harriet, Mrs. Wright, a week and myself a fortnight when I again became comfortably well. Soon after I was summoned to go to Detroit as a juror in the Federal Court.

Oct. 12—Went to Detroit with several others from Tecumseh where I continued until the last of the month and came home with poorer health than I want. My health continued poor all winter and I was unable to do any work of consequence and most of the time unable to go to church.

The end.

Editor's note — Mr. Wright's diary ends abruptly on this recurring note of illness. There were many blank pages left in the little brown leather book but he did not continue the account although he lived, evidently in semi-invalidism, until 1853. In a letter written in 1854 to his sisters in the east he told at length of the death of his daughter Augusta (Palmer) and wrote, "I lately had five daughters around me, now I have but one."

The one of whom he spoke was Frances, wife of Dr. M. A. Patterson. The Patterson home had evidently served as a sort of family (and possibly community) hospital. Dr. Patterson for many years struggled almost single-handed with the "fever 'n ague" which afflicted nearly everyone in the area. This enervating malaria, caused by the mosquito infested swamps, had a very detrimental effect on the town's progress as is vividly shown in the story of this one family.

Christian Science Services Listed

The scientific unity of God and man, as taught by Christ Jesus, will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" is the Golden Text from John (3:17): "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage" (18:1-5).

Readings from the Bible will include the following (Luke 1:68): "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel; for he hath visited and redeemed his people."

STATE OF MICHIGAN,

County of Lenawee. ss.

At a session of the probate court for said county, held at the probate office in the city of Adrian, on the 28th day of March, A.D. 1956.

Present, Hon. L. B. Kuney, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of LUCIUS LILLEY, Deceased.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified, of John R. Thompson, trustee of said estate, alleging that he is ready to render his fourteenth annual trusteeship account and praying for the approval and allowance thereof and for such other order and decree as to the court shall seem proper;

It is Ordered, That Monday, the 30th day of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

It Is Further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published in The Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three consecutive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

It is further ordered, that notice be served upon each known party in interest as provided by Act No. 288 P.A. of 1939 as amended by Act No. 253 P.A. of 1951.

L. B. KUNEY, Judge of Probate.

A True Copy.

Prof Tells Why You May Fear Friday the 13th

Unless you are scared of the world you probably are not worried because this Friday is that so-called "unlucky Friday the thirteenth."

According to Wilbert J. McKeachie, associate professor of psychology at The University of Michigan, "A person who is timid and anxious is more likely to be superstitious. It takes a certain amount of emotional stability to be able to tolerate uncertainty.

"It's the unsure person who refuses to blame himself but attributes his misfortune to that unlucky day on the calendar or the black cat that crosses his path first thing in the morning," he states.

CONVICTIONS JUSTIFIED

The psychologist also says another reason superstitions die hard is that our memories and perceptions are highly selective. "We tend to remember those things which confirm our beliefs and disregard what does not bear them out. So if something unpleasant happens to us on Friday the thirteenth we are not surprised to find our convictions justified."

But what's behind the persistent idea that that particular day on the calendar is something to make you shudder?

IDEAS ADVANCED

"According to the teaching of the astrologers of the Middle Ages Friday was unlucky because of the crucifixion of Christ on that day. Others advance the theory that Friday is regarded as an unlucky day because it was on Friday that Adam and Eve partook of the forbidden fruit," Professor McKeachie says.

"As to the number 13," he continues, "acording to some, 13 is an unlucky number and according to others it is lucky, so you can take your choice. The superstitious dislike of being one of 13 at dinner is derived from the Last Supper of Christ with His twelve disciples. So when Friday falls on the thirteenth day of the month it's a case of insult added to injury."

APPOINTMENTS MADE BY EPISCOPAL WOMEN

Mrs. Jack Smith presided at the April 3 meeting of the Daughters of St. Peter in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. H. Brown. Mrs. William Bly was appointed to the committee of Christian Social Relations of the Auxiliary of the church to represent the Daughters.

Other appointments were Mrs. A. C. Hamaker and Mrs. E. C. Dickin as co-chairmen to make arrangements for the tea served after the confirmation service April 8. It was decided that the group would furnish cake and cookies for the refreshments to be served for the April 10 convocation and plans were discussed for the annual bazaar and projects assigned to members. Mrs. Earl Lindsley was hostess for the meeting.

National Home Demonstration Week will be celebrated April 29 to May 5. In Michigan home demonstration work involves more than 40,000 women.

V.F.W. Auxiliary Installs Officers

The men of the Hall-Slater Post of the V.F.W. served the 6:30 dinner which preceded the installation of officers of the Auxiliary Wednesday evening at the Post Home at 19 Mill street.

Table decorations were in blue and yellow with bouquets of daffodils, iris and pussy willows and candles in the predominating colors. The installing officer and the incoming and outgoing presidents were presented with corsages.

Officers installed were as follows: president, Mrs. Lloyd Stites; senior vice president, Mrs. Earl Kruger; junior vice president, Mrs. Harlan Boyes; treasurer, Mrs. Richard Butler; chaplain, Mrs. Harold Warren; conductress, Mrs. Warren Filter; assistant conductress, Mrs. George Downard; guard, Mrs. James Filter; trustees, three years, Mrs. Frank Daehne, two years, Mrs. Carl Kempf, one year, Mrs. Waldo Mohr. The patriotic instructor is Mrs. Charles Schiver; historian, Mrs. George Bishop; musician, Mrs. Hazel Coller; assistant musician, Mrs. Gaza Kish; color bearers, Mrs. Carson House, Mrs. Gaza Kish, Mrs. John Sisson and Mrs. Harold Meade; flag bearer, Mrs. Richard Johnson and banner bearer, Mrs. Robert Starkey.

Mrs. Wyman Campbell of Milan, sixth district chief of staff, was the installing officer and Mrs. Boyes and Mrs. Filter were installing conductresses. The outgoing officers presented gifts to the retiring president and Mrs. Filter in turn gave remembrances to each of her officers and presented Mrs. Thelma Braden, who had been secretary for three years, with a ring for her service and Mrs. Carson House with a uniform for a similar period as treasurer.

In addition to Mrs. Campbell, guests were Mrs. Mary Bowden and Mrs. Margaret McCray of Milan. An invitation from the Milan Auxiliary to a dinner meeting April 16 was accepted. The Tecumseh group will do the floor for the Milian Auxiliary installation at that time.

Officers of the Hall-Slater Post will be installed April 11 when the Auxiliary will serve the dinner.

MR. PAUL MARTIN is Editor and Publisher of the 100-year-old State Journal, and past President of the Michigan State Associated Press Association.

"Here at THE STATE JOURNAL... we are greatly pleased with BLUE CROSS · BLUE SHIELD"

... says Paul Martin, Editor and Publisher, The State Journal, Lansing, Michigan

"And I am sure our employees are just as pleased with the way Blue Cross · Blue Shield protects them.

"Years ago it was something of a task to sell the hospital insurance program to an employee. The idea was new, and in many cases the restrictions were such that it was only natural for the individual to hesitate.

"That is all changed now, and the idea of hospital-medical coverage is generally accepted by folks in this organization. They want it, and are happy in it being made available at so moderate a cost.

"The protection given them and their dependents by Blue Cross · Blue Shield has afforded a feeling of security which they didn't have before. Such a feeling is conducive to happiness, thus greatly benefiting the relationship between them and management.

"One never knows when sickness or accident may strike. Blue Cross · Blue Shield recognizes just that, giving our employees that solid feeling of security for themselves and their families in an area about which they would otherwise feel quite insecure."

"88" HOLIDAY COUPÉ

Here's why the engine that started the high-compression era still tops the field today!

THE ROCKET BROUGHT HIGH-COMPRESSION performance to motoring . . . set the standards . . . broke the records.

Today it's the same. With a high in compression of 9.25 to 1 and a displacement of 324 cubic inches, the Rocket packs a potent new wallop.

THERE'S AN EFFORTLESS SMOOTHNESS that tells you this one is a masterpiece of balance and precision. What's more, this power plant's big-bore, short-stroke design means shorter piston travel for less friction, wear and longer life.

You'll rarely use the full 230† horsepower under the hood. But you'll go for the Rocket's high torque—the force that makes the wheels go 'round. Even at medium speeds, your toe can call a hefty 340 pound-feet of torque into play —to move you away from a light or pass by any emergency. Add Jetaway Hydra-Matic* and you meet Rocket action at its smoothest.

assing winter-weakened deer, but agree that only public help can save many whitetails from gruesome death.

In the late stages of winter deer gather in swamps and low places to avoid storms. By late March, they are at their physical worst, after four months of snow, scrubby food supplies and low temperatures. They are slow and easily caught and ham-strung by dogs.

Any officer, acting within his jurisdiction, is permitted to "kill any dog pursuing, killing or following upon the track of a deer." Such dogs are considered under the law as public nuisances.

In short, the northern dog owner that allows his favorite canine its freedom in late winter is taking a long chance on the dog's life.

Weather conditions eased somewhat last week and deer in many areas were able to move out of yards in search of food, but reports of dogs killing deer increased.

Mild, thawing weather was reported in the upper and lower peninsulas and snow settled considerably. Maximum snow depths in the U.P. were 1½ to two feet.

One to 1½ foot maximum snow depths were reported in all districts in the northern lower peninsula, but ground was exposed in parts of the Baldwin and Gladwin districts.

Only 14 conservation law convictions were repoted during the last week, but the violators were assessed $519.30 in fines and court costs—an average penalty of more than $37 for each offense.

A Port Huron man, convicted of removing state-owned forest products, was ordered to pay $14.80 in fines and costs in a Marysville Justice court.

Six of the convictions were for illegal killing or possession of game species, four were fishing law violations, two were trapping law violations and one was possession of a loaded firearm in an automobile.

Money from all conservation law fines is placed in the state library fund.

Violations of state fishing regulations resulted in financial penalties for 23 persons in Conservation law convictions reported last week.

The convictions report listed a total 36 violators who were assessed $821 in fines and court costs.

Included in the violations list were 11 persons convicted of illegal killing or possession of game species. Two others violated firearm transport laws.

Group camp use at Michigan parks and recreation areas totaled 227,542 camper-days in 1955.

During the year, more than 42,000 persons made use of group camp facilities. Schools, religious groups, scout organizations and adult clubs were the leading camp-users.

Attendance records for group camps in 1955 show that Chief Noonday camp at Yankee Springs recreation area was the most heavily-used, with 3330 campers.

Seasonal and short term campers accounted for 27,217 of the year's total attendance. Another 11,968 persons used day-camping facilities, including 3937 at Proud Lake recreation area, the most popular day camp site.

Some 2170 persons used trailside cabins and 624 persons made use of family tents at Brighton recreation area.

Conservationists and other citizens are endeavoring to make a word obsolete in our language.

The word, "litterbug," is now to be included in the new edition of Funk and Wagnalls dictionaries, and other dictionaries are following suit, according to an announcement from the "Keep America Beautiful" organization.

Officials of "Keep America Beautiful" are urging all citizens to cooperate in a nationwide project to keep woods, fields and other outdoor areas free of refuse.

Grade School News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

"April Showers bring May Flowers." This familiar saying is on the bulletin boards in Mrs. Thomas' third grade room. The children here were treated at the Tastee Freeze by Linda Sinky for her ninth birthday.

Peggy Bartenslager sent her kindergarten friends cards of interesting places while she was on a trip to Texas. Mrs. Mackey and Mrs. Mitchell have been recent visitors. We like to have mothers stop in to see us work.

In Mrs. Neitling's room we find that Ronald Braden brought one of his baby chicks to school Tuesday. For some of us, this was the first time we had seen a baby chicken.

Gale Murdock will not be back to school this year. She is home from the hospital and Mrs. Clark, the home bound teacher, will help her.

Mrs. VanWinkle's second grade showed us their lovely Easter bonnets and bow ties before Easter. Mrs. Preston's kindergarten showed us their bunny ear head bands when they visited us. In all of our rooms, we were delighted to see and feel the lovely white rabbit that Mr. Atkinson and Dick brought last week.

Two first graders in Mrs. Munger's room had birthday parties thsi week. Deborah Cheever treated us to beautiful Easter cup cakes. Larry Beckey treated us to birthday cakes and fancy balloons.

Robert Ehman has moved to Valparaiso, Indiana. We miss him.

We were very happy to have five mothers visit us. They were Mrs. Rentschler, Mrs. Cheever, Mrs. Becker, Mrs. Lemerand, and Mrs. Belcher.

Mrs. VanWinkle's group reports that Louise Ehman has left, also, for Indiana. We were sorry to lose him but, we were made happy again when Michael Zorn entered our room. Michael came from Bay City.

April seems to be birthday month in Mrs. Puffer's room. Janice Fletcher, James Foreman, Gary Klingensmith, Shirley Kotts, and the twins Jean and Jeanette Starkey all will be lighting birthday candles.

John Moody brought two little black and white bunnies to school one recent afternoon. The children all hope he will bring them again some day.

Randall Dotson found the golden egg and won the rabbit in the Easter egg roll. "We're glad he's in our room," say the children in Mrs. Callihan's second grade. In fact, we have a lot to be glad about. We have lovely reading chairs. We're told they are the first of this kind in the school. And we thank the P.T.A. for the prize for having the most parents at the March meeting. We have bought a bingo game with part of the money and will save the rest for a treat.

In the third grade room of Mrs. Schwartz we learn that they went to the Public Library to choose books. They are writing book reviews for language class.

Mark Gabler left to go to California. Gordon Wagner and Evangelina Torres have gone to other schools too.

Again there are many April birthdays. Mrs. Whiting's fourth grade has Michael Wilson, Jim Cubberly and Mary Ann Johnson with recent ones.

The teacher has finished reading the Laura Ingall Wilder books to us and is now reading "Black Beauty."

We were proud to have Sharon Korth receive second place in the fourth grade for her poppy poster and Christine Solarski received honorable mention.

Mrs. Miller's room is proud, too, of Vicki Gooding whose poppy poster received first place in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade contest in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Lemerand visited this fourth grade room this week.

Another visitor was Mrs. Grigg, Donna's mother, in Mrs. Baily's room. She was here almost all one forenoon and we were pleased to have her. We wish more of our mothers would come to see us working in our classes.

In Social Studies we have been studying the beginning and growth of some of our large cities. Now we are learning about some of the men who helped our country grow.

Mrs. Uckele's room has a new pupil. He is Richard Shea from California. Let us hope he brought warm weather with him so we can say "Spring is here again!"

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children are very busy planning a May program for their mothers. They have made up a new story telling all the things they will do to entertain their mothers and friends.

We have a new girl in our first grade. Her name is Brenda Smith. She has been going to school in Detroit.

Those who have celebrated their seventh birthdays recently are Nancy Coffey, Debby Purkey, and David Kennel.

Douglas Skinner is out of school with the measles. We hope he will soon be back in school.

In second grade, we are glad that Merle Miller is back in school after having the measles. Mimi Savage expects to be back soon. She, too, has had them.

We are now doing cursive writing and we love it!

Karole Davis and Jeff Noe had birthdays in third grade. We enjoyed the treats.

We are learning about soil and how things grow and are doing some experiments with seeds for science. Some of us have planted peas and some peanuts to watch them grow. We have to take care of our own plants.

Karole Davis brought two baby chicks to show us. The Easter bunny brought them to her.

In gym class the fifth grade is busy getting ready for our spring demonstration. We have an avocado plant that grows one-half inch a day. It is four inches tall now. We also have tomatoes and peanuts growing. Our bean seeds are sprouted. The flower seeds haven't started yet.

The display case reflects the feelings of the sixth graders. They felt "springy" rather than studious this time.

We also enjoyed a treat of birthday cake and chocolate milk which Mary Wing's mother brought to school.

BY HENRY G. RITTER, 3rd
President, Thomas A. Edison, Inc., West Orange, N. J.

Heavenly Father, endow Thy people with sound minds, strong bodies and deep spiritual understanding so that we may model our lives more closely after Thy Holy Word. Create in each of us the unbending will to use what we have been given for the fulfillment of Godly pursuits and the enrichment of the world. Open our minds to the message of brotherhood and permit us insight into true Christian character. This we ask from Him to Whom all we have we owe.

Nurses' Refresher Course Offered

Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids is offering, completely free, a refresher course for nurses. Especially geared to the needs of the nurse who has not been active in nursing in recent years, the course will be offered two evenings a week for six weeks starting Monday, April 16. Meetings will be held in the hospital main auditorium, and will begin at 7 p.m. Teaching will be done by members of the Butterworth nursing and medical staffs.

Course content will include recent developments in drugs and solutions, latest nursing concepts, and related information. Registration may be by telephone in advance (ask for Miss Marcia Aitkens, Director of Nursing Service) or in person on Monday evening, April 16. Upon completion of this program, nurses shall be able to take their places in all local health organizations.

Church Circles Hold Meetings

Circle 6 of the Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening, April 4 at the home of Mrs. Ed Heilman. Mrs. Lynn Harris presided at the business meeting at which 22 members and guests were present. The president announced that the spring Presbyterial meeting is to be held in Adrian April 26.

Mrs. George Rinehart led the devotional service and Mrs. John Saling was the program leader. She was assisted in reviewing the book "Indian American" by Mrs. Charles O'Neill, Mrs. Howard Truesdale, Mrs. John Lott, Mrs. Harold Naser and Mrs. Russell Southwell.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Heilman and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Fred Weseloh, Mrs. A. L. VanWinkle and Mrs. Mahlon Sebring served refreshments from a lace covered table centered with an arrangement of spring flowers.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Naser with Mrs. J. K. Touborg, Mrs. Victor Lawson and Mrs. Byron Goodman as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Carleton Cook was hostess to Circle 7 with Mrs. Donald Ketteman and Mrs. Ted Pihl assisting. Mrs. Margaret Leighton conducted devotions and in cooperation with Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, Mrs. Herbert Maynard, Mrs. John Quigley and Mrs. Walter Morden developed the subject of the "American Indian."

Refreshments, served by the hostesses and a social hour closed the meeting. Mrs. E. J. Aebersold, assisted by Mrs. Al Bagshaw and Mrs. Eleanor Eddy will entertain the group May 1.

Services Held for Mrs. Jess Denney

Luretta Bell Denney, widow of Jess Denney, died at her home at 405 N. Maumee street Sunday morning. She was born at Zannesville, Ind., April 30, 1883, the daughter of Emmett and Nancy Scott Nickelson and had lived in Tecumseh for the past 37 years.

Mrs. Denney is survived by seven of her nine children and by 25 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren. Her five surviving daughters are Mrs. Mary Dresselhouse, Mrs. May Semark and Mrs. Thelma Anderson, all of Clinton; Mrs. Annabel Perry of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Ruth Rossington of Fort Wayne, Ind. Her two sons are Walter Denney of Clinton and Robert of Dundee. A sister, Mrs. Estella Johnson of Haines City, Florida also survives.

She was preceded in death by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Roger Wilson and Eleanor Denney and one brother.

Funeral services for Mrs. Denney were conducted by the Rev. O. F. Priest Wednesday morning at the Collins Funeral Home in Tecumseh and Wednesday afternoon at the Union Town church at Ossian, Ind. Burial was in Union Town cemetery.

P.T.A. MEETS

A musical program was the entertainment at the meeting of the Holloway P.T.A. last Thursday evening. Members of the Tecumseh high school chorus, Jackie Rucker, Kathy Shirley and Alice Neuman sang "Tell Me Why" and "We Thank Thee Lord" accompanied by Mary Wojtowicz.

The beginners class through the third grade sang two novelty songs accompanied by Marilyn Mumaw and directed by Miss Wagner, their teacher, and this was followed by piano and accordion solos and duets, tap dances and guitar playing by the students of the Holloway school.

INFANTS BAPTIZED

The following infants were recently baptized in the Holloway Presbyterian church by the Rev. Paul Hessert: Thomas Richard Stautz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stautz; Barton G. Shull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shull; Rosanne Kay Gritzmaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gritzmaker; Carl Dean Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mitchell; Sally Ann Vintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vintz; Robert O. Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell; Karen Lowery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lowry Jr. and Beverly Ann Kehoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Kehoe.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given Saturday evening for Mrs. James Bennington in the Holloway Presbyterian church parlor. Games were played and Mrs. Bennington received many beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served to the 50 relatives and friends present.

Mrs. Bertine Comfort returned Friday from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Langley and family of Cleveland.

Dinner guests last Monday evening of Mrs. Wilson Sawyer were her niece, Mrs. Mary Ann Brenard and sons Kris, John and Craig of Milwaukee, Wisc., Mrs. Helen Case and son Douglas of Blissfield and Mrs. Stella Case of Adrian. Mrs. Sawyer left Tuesday for Milwaukee accompanied by Mrs. Theresa Higgins and son Ralph of Toledo, to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Gennrich and daughters.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Harold Fisher were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones and family of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Abbott.

Kenneth Mapes of Toledo was a guest in the Neuman home during his Easter vacation.

The Holloway school will have a skating party at the skate arena in Adrian Thursday, April 12 at 7:30 p.m.

The 79th birthday of Mrs. Anna Tiede was celebrated last Sunday with a family dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tiede and son Max, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller, Max Burnor, Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tiede and family of Berkey, Ohio.

New members of the Holloway Presbyterian church are Max Minnich, Virgil Lowery Jr., Robert Betz, Larry Green, Elwyn Green, Mrs. Sarah Lowery, Joanne Frost, Joyce Calhoun, Kay Dickard, Mrs. William German, Joan Mumaw and Mrs. Ida Grandstaff. Allen Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William German was baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kopke entertained their children Easter Sunday at dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kopke and sons of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kopke and family of Sand Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glenn and children of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Green and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lunn entertained over the weekend Mr. and Mrs. Eyrl Rainey and daughter Barbara of Detroit.

Matt Lunn attended a Michigan Education Association meeting at East Lansing last Thursday.

The Winners Class of the Holloway Presbyterian church met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Sarah Lowery.

Mrs. Sarah Lowery and son Darrell entertained at Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lowery Jr. and family of Palmyra, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lowery of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Betz and family of Holloway.

Mrs. Albert Creger Buried Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Blissfield for Minnie Marie Creger, widow of Albert Creger of 2703 Sisson road, Britton. Her death occurred Saturday afternoon at Herrick Memorial hospital where she had been a patient for only three days. She had been in poor health the past six months.

Mrs. Creger, whose maiden name was Schadewald, was born in Germany, Oct. 5, 1877, and she had lived in the Britton area for 62 years. She was married to Mr. Creger in St. Paul's Lutheran church.

She is survived by three sons, Oscar Creger of Deerfield; John of Blissfield and Frank of Tecumseh; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Orewiler and Miss Anna Creger, both of whom lived at home; two brothers, Paul Schadewald of Adrian and William of Deerfield and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Piotter of Blissfield and Mrs. Josephine Gamboe of Sylvania, Ohio.

Her husband and parents preceded her in death as did one brother, Frank.

The Rev. A. J. Lucht conducted the services and burial was in the Deerfield cemetery.

Altar Society Met Wednesday

Thirty-one members of St. Elizabeth's Altar Society were present for the monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the assembly hall of the school. The society decided to serve dinner for the 15 or 20 priests taking part in the 40 Hour Devotions which will end at 7:30 Tuesday evening. Mrs. William Miller will be chairman of the dinner committee.

It was announced that members of the dish committee have been collecting samples and prices for the society's choice and that these will be on display at the next meeting. It is hoped there will be a large membership present at that time.

It was voted to buy 12 vigil-light holders and linen for altar cloths for the church and Mrs. Paul Breitenwischer, Mrs. Edward Golat, Mrs. T. J. Wagner and Mrs. Wallace Whiting were appointed the altar committee for this month.

Announcement was made of a bake sale to be held at the church next Sunday after the 8:30 and 11 o'clock masses.

The evening's entertainment was a white elephant sale which was in charge of Mrs. Morgan Ford, Mrs. Ruth Hansen and their committee. The same group served refreshments after the sale.

Myles Runk Accepts Position in Holland

After 10 years of teaching in Tecumseh high school, Myles Runk has resigned to accept a position in the Holland, Mich., high school. Next Sept. he will become Holland's coordinator of trade and industry.

Two years of his experience here were spent as industrial arts teacher and head coach. His teams won two LCAA league football titles and one each in basketball and baseball. He was industrial arts teacher for eight years and coordinator of trades and industry.

He also served as a referee for college and high school football and basketball in this area.

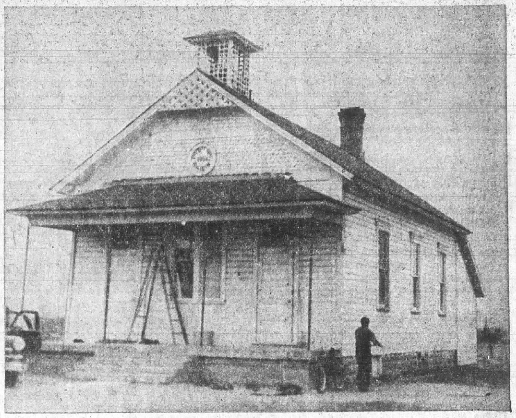
A native of Grand Haven, Mr. Runk, before coming to Tecumseh, taught at Gobles, Comstock Park and Flushing. He served two and one-half years in the U. S. Navy.

He graduated from Western Michigan College of Education in 1939 and he received his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1951.

Mr. Runk was a member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Runk and their two daughters Pamela and Gloria will move at the close of this school year.

MYLES RUNK



LANNING SCHOOL—Technically known as Raisin One Fractional, this is one of the 14 rural schools that have annexed to Tecumseh this spring. Located on Dinius road, the school had 28 students last year. It had a school census of 45. Its local valuation was $207,025 and its state equalized valuation was $398,722. The sign on the school says 1886. This is the first in a series of picture stories on rural schools that have annexed to the Tecumseh Public Schools.

Sisters-in-law Die Six Hours Apart

Two sisters-in-law died just six hours apart Tuesday. Mrs. Fred Scutt (Amey) died at 9 a.m. and Mrs. Lee Scutt (Anna) died at 3 p.m.

Amey E. Scutt, widow of Fred Scutt and a life long resident of Tecumseh died Tuesday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital. Failing in health for some time she had been a patient at the hospital for only two weeks.

Mrs. Scutt was born in Ontario, Canada, June 20, 1868, the daughter of James and Ellen McKinney Kingan. Her home was at No. 8 Burt street where she had lived for many years. She was a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church, a life member of Tecumseh Order of Eastern Star and a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1890. For 15 years, until 1948 she was treasurer of Tecumseh township and was very well known in the community.

Survivors are two nieces, Miss Marjory McQueen who until recently had made her home with her aunt and Mrs. Beatrice Grates of Detroit and one cousin, Mrs. Mary Miller of Coldwater.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. George Walworth at the Green Funeral Home Thursday at 1:30 p.m. and burial will be in Brookside.

Anna Jane Scutt, widow of Lee Scutt died Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sarvey on Macon road where she had been living for the past six months. She had been in failing health for several years.

Born in Ireland, Oct. 22, 1877, she was the daughter of David and Esther Murphy McKendry. She had lived in Tecumseh for many years, her home being at 212 east Pottawatamie street. She was a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Scutt is survived by one sister, Mrs. Don Cleveland and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. George Walworth officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

DEL CRISP, TEACHER in the Tecumseh high school for the past 13 years thinks Indian students are a swell bunch of kids. Del, who is leaving to become part owner and secretary and treasurer of the Stautzenberger Secretarial School in Toledo, Ohio, said: "Students here were just wonderful every year and I'm going to miss them."

ASKED WHAT HE would give a person for a wedding anniversary gift, Ernie, our apprentice printer, immediately replied: "My sympathy."

ATTENTION IS CALLED to three unusual letters to the editor this week. They were written by Mrs. Truman Rentschler, John McColl and Leon Rosacrans.

ROGER L. WARING, who graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1908, recently had five poems published in periodicals in Massachusetts, Michigan, New York and Ohio. Living in Marion, Ohio, and now supervising architect in charge of the construction of new buildings at the Marion Correctional Institution, his poem "Patience, Patients" appeared in the Cleveland Plain Dealer; "Obstetrics of a Building" in the University of Michigan "Quarterly Review;" "Seeds" in the Boston Post; "This Is the Season" in the New York Herald Tribune, and "Throughh This He Came" in the Columbus Dispatch.

His sonnet "Architect" has just been accepted by the Michigan "Quarterly Review," and "God Is at Work" for publication by "New Horizons" of Saint Paul, Minn. "Brick Mason," reprinted from the New York Herald Tribune, is being included in "The American Literature Textbook" now in process of publication.

And this poem "An Angler Ruminates," just to give you a sample of his work, appeared in the Cleveland Plain Dealer's "Breakfast Commentates" column:

Fish swim in a school. Fish go to a college.
What else in the world would account for a knowledge
That pinpoints such timing; that stirs an indulgence
In such cycle dittoes of synchro-effulgence.
At four A.M, P.M., from labor to leisure.
They lay themselves open to ultimate seizure.
When thus they repair to refreshment from labor,
I bear them choice tid-bits like any good neighbor.
At eight, A.M., P.M., the boss blows a whistle
When, pronto, they leave their dessert and their grizzle
And go back, to work for their loved ones a bit.
When they go from refreshment to labor, I quit.

A BEAUTIFUL, GOLD-CHESTED Meadowlark was in the back yard at home Tuesday morning. The boy with the beautiful song paid little attention to our watching. He just strutted about like he owned the place.

THE OLDTIMER ASKS: "How did the fool and his money ever get together in the first place?"

TALKING WITH A SHIRT-TAIL cousin in rolling Hillsdale County Sunday, we were told that 50 years ago Tecumseh folks could see smoke from Detroit 60 miles away on a clear day. The cousin worked on the railroad here in 1906. He thought he was telling us something when he mentioned that the railroad went right through the main part of town. And was he ever surprised when we told him that it still does.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—To have doubted ones own first principles, is the mark of a civilized man.

—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes

Hit by Car, Girl Injured

Shirley Armstrong, 5, of 305 east Chicago boulevard was seriously injured Thursday about 5:15 p.m. when she darted out into the street from between two parked cars and was struck by a car driven by Clayton Young of Tecumseh.

Taken to Herrick Memorial hospital, she has head bruises, a slight fracture of the skull and a broken pelvis.

Mr. Young had just turned off the boulevard on to north Ottawa when the girl darted into the street. Tecumseh police said the accident was unavoidable.

All-County Band Festival Set for Next Mon. Night

The Lenawee County band festival will be held in Adrian College gym next Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m.

Each participating band will play one selection of its choice. And the all-county band will play two numbers which will be conducted by guest conductor Robert Lint of Hillsdale. The program wlil close with all of the bands playing a march together.

The Tecumseh high school band, directed by Don Johnson, will take part.

Tecumseh musicians Lee Vescelius on the trombone, Don Greene on the tenor saxaphone, Walt Bailey on the bass and Nancy Day on the cornet will play with the all-county band.

A free will offering will be taken. The public is invited to attend.

Annexation Aids in Reduction

Action of the board of education of the Tecumseh Public Schools will mean a reduction in school taxes to many taxpayers in the Tecumseh District.

Meeting last week in regular session, the board voted to submit a budget to the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors that will mean savings of about 10 per cent to persons whose property was properly assessed prior to the re-appraisal of city property and whose valuatons for 1956 have been raised about 50 per cent.

Supt James McDowell explains that this reduction is due to the increased state equalized valuation of the total school district by annexation. Fourteen rural school districts have joined the Tecumseh District whose valuation is now more than $30,000,000.

VALUATION GROWS

Supt. McDowell further explained: "School and county taxes since last July have been levied on state equalized valuations. When the 1952 school bond issue was voted, the total state equalized valuation of the school district was less than half the present valuation; therefore, even though operational costs have increased, the individual property owner's share in this bond debt has decreased and a tax reduction is possible at this time."

The new proposed budget, published elsewhere, totals $600,199.

The basis for levying taxes for school purposes is the state equalized valuation of the district and since the board of education has been assured that state equalized valuations will increase very little this year even though the city has gone through a complete re-appraisal a total of 12 mills on state equalized will enable the board to meet the proposed budget.

MILLAGE BROKEN DOWN

This is the millage breakdown:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Operation | 7 | Mills |
| Bond Debt | 4.6 | |
| Public Library | .4 | |
| TOTAL | 12 | Mills |

Last year the schools received 5.9 mills for operaton, 6 mills for bond debt and .4 mills for the public library or a total of 12.3 mills.

But translating this state equalized millage for 1955 to local equalized, property owners in the City of Tecumseh paid $27.90/1000 of local assessed valuation last year whereas next year (1956) they will pay $16.78/1000 of local assessed valuation.

This is a reduction of 40.2 per cent in the tax rate over the 1955 rate.

The city has agreed to reduce its required millage from 15 for 1955 to 10 for 1956 or a reduction of 33⅓ per cent.

However, this does not tell the whole story since assessed valuations in Tecumseh were raised from about $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 or an approximate 50 per cent increase over the entire city.

New School Budget

The new proposed school budget of $600,199 is broken down as follows:

| ESTIMATED RECEIPTS | | |
|---|---|---|
| State Aid Fund | $315,300 | |
| Primary Fund | 58,960 | |
| Vocational State and Federal Aid | 5,059 | |
| Delinquent Tax and Interest | 1,250 | |
| Library Penal Fines | 350 | |
| Textbook Rentals | 8,000 | |
| Trailer Money | 600 | |
| Tuition | 680 | |
| Local Tax | 210,000 | $ 600,199 |
| ESTIMATED EXPENDITURES | | |
| Administration | 25,380 | |
| Instruction | 448,780 | |
| Operation of School Plants | 73,400 | |
| Maintenance of School Plants | 7,000 | |
| Fixed Charges (Insurance) | 6,000 | |
| Auxiliary Expense | 25,289 | |
| Capital Outlay | 14,350 | 600,199 |
| Balance | | $ 000,000 |
| 1953 Bond Debt Fund | $138,000 | |

$500 FOR BLEACHERS—Merlyn Downing, president of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, presents a check for $500 to Mrs. Naomi Sallows, secretary-treasurer of the Tecumseh Recreation Board as Ed Nelson, city manager, and recreation board member looks on. The check was the first payment of the Jaycees' $1000 pledge toward permanent bleachers for the athletic field. The club has started plans for a homecoming which will be held here July 10 through July 14. Proceeds from the homecoming also will go toward the bleacher fund.

C of C Schedules Turkey Shoot

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce is going to hold a "live turkey" shoot Saturday, May 26. This will be for bow and arrow hunters only. There will be prizes for different things throughout the day.

Hunting permits will be sold, no limit of birds to purchasers of permits. The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce will guarantee to plant one live turkey for each four permits sold. These permits must be purchased no later than May 16.

They can be obtained by sending $2 with the name and address of each applicant to the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. The permit wlil be sent back by return mail.

The Tecumseh Exchange Club is planning a Bar-B-Que Chicken dinner that day to feed the hunters and families.

All Archery Clubs are being contacted. Hunting hours will be 9 a.m. until dark on May 26 the last day of Michigan Week.

The first permit was received April 16 by Harold Doan and Robert Doan of Rt. 3, Adrian.

DOG RUNS LOOSE

Earl Ruttofky, 29, of Tecumseh, pleaded guilty before Justice John K. Lowe Saturday to letting his dog run loose. He was ordered to pay a $15 fine and $8.60 costs and was placed on probation for 30 days. The complaint was made by county dog warden Rellie Baughey, Jr.

---

ARREST FATHER

Mariano Montalvo of Adrian was picked up by Tecumseh police Tuesday and turned over to Adrian police who wanted him on a non-support charge. He is in the county jail waiting arraignment.

DRINK COSTS $23.60

William R. Coleman, 27, of 515 south Pearl street was arraigned before Justice Robert French Monday on the charge of drinking on a public highway.

Arrested by Tecumseh police early Sunday morning, he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and assessed costs of $8.60.

CHANGE BANQUET DATE

Ladies of the Baptist church have found it necessary to change the announced date of their Mother-Daughter banquet from May 11 to May 9 because of the Girl Scout Court of Awards May 11.

Samples Show How To Figure New School Taxes

In order that taxpayers living in the City of Tecumseh may know and be able to figure their own approximate increases or decreases in taxes for 1956-57 the following samples are presented by Supt. James McDowell.

Keep in mind the following:

1955 city government tax rate $15/1000.

1956 city government tax rate $10/1000.

1955 school and library tax rate $27.90/1000.

1956 school and library tax rate $16.78/1000.

Basis of your 1956-57 tax—Your new assessed valuation as sent out last month by the city. Remember these rates apply only to property owners within the city. State equalized and local tax rates may not bear the same relationship in the rest of the township or in other townships.

Sample 1

1955 assessed valuation $5000 increased 50 per cent so that new 1956 assessed valuation is $7500. City tax 1955—$5000 at 15 equals $75—1956—$7500 at $10 equals $75. No reduction—no increase.

School and library tax $5000 at $27.90 equals $139.50. 1956 $7500 at $16.78 equals $125.85; reduction of $13.65 or 9.7 per cent even though 1956 assessed valuation was raised 50 per cent.

Sample 2

1955 assessed valuation $3200 increased 50 per cent so that new 1956 assessed valuation is $4800. City tax 1955 $3200 at $15 equals $48.; 1956 $4800 at $10 equals $48. No reduction—no increase.

School and library tax $3200 at $27.94 equals $89.28; 1956 $4800 at $16.78 equals $80.54. Reduction of $8.74 or 9.7 per cent.

1955 assessed valuation $3500 increased 100 per cent so that new 1956 assessed valuation is $7000. City tax 1955 $3500 at $15 equals $52.50; 1956 $7000 at $10 equals $70 or an increase of $17.50 or 33 per cent on doubled valuation.

School and library 1955 $3500 at $27.90 equals $97.65; 1956 $7000 at $16.78 equals $117.78 or an increase of $19.81 or 20 per cent increase on doubled valuation.

1955 assessed valuation $6000 decreased to $5600 for 1956. City tax 1955 $6000 at $15 equals $90; 1956 $5600 at $10 equals $56, a decrease of $34 or 38 per cent.

School and library 1955 $6000 at $27.90 equals $167.40; 1956 $5600 at $16.78 equals $93.96, a decrease of $73.40 or 44 per cent.

These samples will enable you to figure your own approximate taxes for next year so that you can know where you stand.

Girl Scouts, Brownies Have All-Day Outing

One hundred twenty-nine Girl Scouts with their leaders, assistant leaders and committee members enjoyed an all day outing at the Saline Valley Farms last Saturday. The girls provided their own entertainment such as baseball, circle games, hiking, exploring, skits, and singing while the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association provided their luncheon and admission fee.

Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mrs. Victor Lawson and Mrs. Victor Peterson were in charge of the arrangements, assisted by Girl Scouts.

On the preceding Saturday 140 Brownies with their leaders, assistant leaders, and committee members spent the day at the same place; but due to inclement weather they had to stay indoors. However, they reported a delightful time. They, too, were guests of the Association. Mrs. Howard Morris, Mrs. Robert Warren and Mrs. Wm. Snook were in charge of the arrangements and were assisted by the other adults.

The next major activity of the association will be the court of awards which is scheduled for May with Mrs. Jack Nichols in charge and assisted by Mrs. Glenn Kohler and Mrs. Robert Smith.

"Bird Watching" Is Theme of Cub Scout Pack Meets

"Bird Watching" was the theme of the April meeting of Cub Scouts held Monday evening in the Baptist Youth House. The meeting was opened with an impressive flag raising ceremony after which Cubmaster R. E. Dustin and assistant Cubmaster Ernest Oliver inducted Hal Warren and presented him with his bobcat pin.

Awards were then presented. Larry Merx received a wolf badge and gold and silver arrows; Edward Roe, wolf badge; Bobbie Smith, wolf badge; Robert Morcy, bear badge; Paul Gomez, silver arrow under wolf; Richard Johnson, gold arrow under wolf; Gary McKenzie silver arrow under bear; Terry Beland, silver arrow under bear; Jimmie Wallace, gold arrow under bear; Tracy Oliver, gold arrow under bear; Tommy Velandra, gold arrow under bear; Brian Packard, silver arrow under lion.

One year service stars went to Keith Kilbourn, Joel Rutherford and Paul Gomez; Lion badges, graduation certificates and three year service star to Michael Deaner.

Several bird houses and bird feeders were shown and described by cubs from each den and one boy from each den drew a bird for the audience to identify. Bird charades were also presented by each den.

Michael Sharpe won the knot tying contest, again retaining the pennant for the month. Next month's contest will consist of four knots.

Dens 6 and 4 tied for Tin Can Cubby for having the largest percentage of attendance. Announcement was made of a marble tournament to be held in May under the direction of Carl Hale.

There will be a special committee meeting April 30 at 8 p.m. in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. Dustin to practice for the round table program which will be presented by Pack 4 leaders at Adrian May 3.

---

Cubmaster Erwin Richardson called the meeting of Pack 73 to order Monday evening at the Products Union Hall. The opening flag ceremony was conducted by members of Den 8, Murray Richardson, James Newell and Michael and Thomas Wilson, all of whom are working on their Lion requirements.

The April theme being "Bird Watching" each den had a display table which included stuffed birds, bird nests, bird houses and bird feeders. Parents and cubs joined in singing two bird songs, "Red, Red Robin" and the "Woody Woodpecker Song".

Awards were then presented to the following boys: Den 1—Robert Titley, bobcat pin. Den 2—Carson House, 3rd, service star and gold and silver arrows; John Oberlin, silver arrow; James Oberlin, wolf badge and gold arrow; Dayal Hannibal, wolf badge and service star; Steve Lasky, bear badge and service star; Randy Fergus, wolf badge and service star and Michael Montgomery, service star.

Den 3—Ronald Jones, gold arrow and service star; Larry Chase, wolf badge and service star; Ronald Clark, gold arrow and service star; and David Loar, service star. Den 6—Fred Kachur, bobcat pin. Den 8—Thomas Wilson, silver arrow and service star; Michael Wilson, Murray Richardson, Dennis Richardson, James Brown and Thomas Matteson all service stars and Richard Hadsell and Richard Milosh, both bear badges.

Den 10—Kirk Lucas, Timmy Heflin and Robert Seitz all wolf badges and gold arrows; Tommy Elliott, wolf badge and gold and silver arrows; Robert Glenn, bear badge and gold arrow, Robert Van Vleet, service star and James Osburn, service star. In the Webelos Den, Barry Hall was given his Webelo badge and service star and graduated to Troop 73.

In an impressive graduating ceremony conducted by Howard Wilson Jr. and Robert King, leaders of the Webelos den, Barry Hall was presented with his Boy Scout neckerchief and slide.

John Saling presented two Woody Woodpecker cartoon films which were much enjoyed by the cubs and their parents.

It was announced that there would be a marble tournament for pack 73 at the recreation field April 29 at 1 p.m. when den champions and pack champions will be selected and prizes will be awarded. Announcement was also made of a cubber's training program to be held at Madison school on the dates of April 19 and 26 and May 10. Den mothers and committee members then presented a skit on conservation.

The attendance award of Cubby was presented to Den 10 whose den mothers are Mrs. Charles Squires and Mrs. James Freckelton. Refreshments were served by the assistant den mothers.

Indian Nine Edged, 5-4

The Monroe Catholic Central Falcons edged the Tecumseh Indians in a Southeastern League baseball game Monday, 5 to 4.

The Falcons had five hits off the slants of Ray Larned and Bill Hansen who received some weird support. The Indians bobbled five times. The Falcons messed up six plays.

The two pitchers whiffed 14 Falcons; and Vic Vigliotti, Falcon hurler, struck out 13.

Ray Larned poled out a homer with Larry Yoakum aboard.

Piano Recital Will Be Saturday

Saturday evening, April 21 at 7:30 p.m., 19 students of Mrs. William Hayden will be presented in a piano recital at the Baptist Youth House.

Those taking part are Evelyn Beland, Kathryn Carter, Barbara Colgrove, Jane Colgrove, Mary Colgrove, Fran Cooper, Michael Deaner, Sue Fuller, Camilla Grigg, John Hayden, Toni Herrick, Jane Hodges, Bettie Kiser, Leland Selders, Linda Selders, Alice Titley, Mary Wing, Carol Ann Wolf and Suzanne Wolf.

Guest artist will be Nolan Huizenga from Ann Arbor. Mr. Huizenga received his bachelor's degree from Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill. He then obtained his master of music degree from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. While in the army he was chaplain assistant and director of the male chorus at Fort Knox, Ky. for two years. At present he is working for his doctorate in piano at the University of Michigan. The public is invited to attend this evening of music.

TURKEY SHOOT

Letter to the Editor

I should consider myself remiss in the duties of a conscientious citizen were I to refrain from comment upon a recent news story concerning our own Tecumseh. That item refers to the plans of our Chamber of Commerce to sponsor a "live turkey shoot" for archery enthusiasts. In this so-called "sport" a number of live, domestic turkeys are "planted" in the field, one for every four brave nimrods to hunt and slaughter with bow and arrow.

It seems to me that there are two valid reasons, at least, why such a "sport" is reprehensible, shameful and depraving. The first, of course, is the humane one. These birds get the dirty end of the stick. They are not naturally feral, instinctively aware of the danger they face when in contact with "civilized" man in his sportive mood. They are domesticated fowl, bred to have little fear and suspicion of the human kind. Why not add to the fun by turning loose a few cows, sheep and pet cats likewise earmarked as fair "game"? I don't think it would be "sporting" to hunt these birds even with a club! Somewhat like shooting fish in a barrel!

But the second objection to the fostering of such a "sport" is the far more important one. And that is the effect that such a pursuit has upon the character of the participants. Don't misunderstand me, I have no quarrel with hunting per se. It was honorably practiced by our ancestors in the past, and is so done today by other primitives. It is a perfectly justifiable manifestation of nature's first instinct, that of self preservation. The battle is to the strong. The big fish eat the little fish. Life lives upon life. Even the vegetarians must sacrifice life, plant life, to sustain their own. But the truly civilized man does not ENJOY killing. He tolerates the necessity of taking life to sustain life, but he finds no PLEASURE in bringing suffering and death to his fellow creatures. If he desires to exercise his atavistic urge toward the stalking art he does so with camera instead of lethal weapons, and he leaves the killing to the abbatoirs.

Doubtless most devotees of the killing sports consider themselves good moral Christians. But do they not negate the cardinal virtue of their faith? The precept given to them by their teacher to "love ye one another". That injunction, by pure unselfish extension must include not only our fellow humans but our furred and feathered brethren as well. Let us remember, with Coleridge's enlightened and repentant Ancient Mariner that "he prayeth best who loveth best all things, both great and small, for the good God who loveth us, he made and loveth all."

The sensitive and imaginative soul too, will cultivate the desire in his heart to "do unto others as he would have them do unto him". He will foster and increase his ability to put himself in the other being's place. If he achieve such a realization he cannot but view a joy in killing with horror and shame.

Card Party Nets $200 for Auxiliary

Friday the thirteenth was a fortunate date for members of the Hospital Auxiliary who were in charge of the benefit card party at the Legion Home. It was attended by nearly 150 and the auxiliary realized more than $200 for their efforts.

More than 20 prizes were awarded during the evening and refreshments were served. Mrs. Hazel Coller at the organ provided background music for the guests and much pleasure was given by the St. Elizabeth chorus of 25 voices who sang several numbers and responded to an encore. Mrs. Ben Hammack was their accompanist.

Mrs. Earl Wood was general chairman of the event and she was assisted by nearly every member of the auxiliary. The funds realized will be applied to the purchase of a dish washer for the hospital which is a project of the group.

Wild Life Lines

Michigan beaver and otter seasons start in late March and continue into April and an estimated 4,000 trappers will try their luck on ponds and streams throughout the state. Under Conservation Department control in recent years, the catch of these animals has been high. Season lengths are better regulated and bag limits cut or increased to give trappers chance to harvest the annual surplus without loss to disease, predation and other causes.

ELM DISEASE

Letter to the Editor

For the last fifty years Tecumseh has been known as "The Biggest Little Town on Earth" and there isn't a town on earth that can beat it when it comes to its beautiful shade trees, hard Maple and Elm, both bordering our streets, belonging to our city and hundreds owned on private property.

Early last fall the writer was eating at a restaurant just west of our city limits and directly 500' to the south was a 50 to 75 year-old Elm dead from that dreaded Elm disease.

The writer reported this find to the city office. The dead tree is still standing.

The dead Elm mentioned above is out side our city limits and on private property.

Detroit is doing something about it and will spray all Elms in the metropolitan area belonging to the city and to the owners of elm trees on their private property at a very nominal charge, around $5 or less depending on the size.

If a tree is found on private property affected by the disease the owner must see that it is cut down and burned at once, costing this owner from $50 to $100.

What is the city of Tecumseh going to do to save these beautiful trees? We believe our city council should follow along the same procedure as Detroit and get this spraying done as early this year as possible and should cover the township as well.

Plans Completed for Kitchen Tour

Members of St. Peter's Women's Auxiliary are busy planning for their one big project of the year, their annual kitchen tour. It will be held May 17 from 2 to 5 p.m. and tickets which will entitle the holder to visit six kitchens are now on sale.

Mrs. C. O. Butler and Mrs. L. W. Larsen are co-chairmen of the event.

Starting on the west side of town with the ranch type home of Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw and the Greek revival house of Mrs. E. C. Boss, the tour includes the new homes of Mrs. R. W. Herrick and Mrs. R. H. Moore, both on the Red Pond and continues on to the home of Mrs. C. M. Brown on Hendershot road and to Mrs. Jack Brown's home on Milwaukee road.

Following the tour, tea will be served in the spacious new Episcopal Parish House by Mrs. M. W. Wilson and her committee.

There will be no definite starting point this year so the "tourist" may start at any home and continue on as she wishes. This will eliminate crowding and will also give everyone a better opportunity to secure her share of the baked goods which will be offered for sale in each kitchen.

Tickets may be had by calling Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, ticket chairman or from any member of the Auixliary. Maps showing all six houses and listing addresses and the food available in each have been drawn by James Smith. A map will be given with each ticket.

Mrs. Karl Schneider, Mrs. Russell Havens and Mrs. Earl Lindsley will act as assisting chairmen and each will have two kitchens to supervise. A complete list of committees will be published next week.

An Old-Fashioned Dessert

Because of the nourishment in good bread, old-fashioned bread pudding is an especially good family dessert. It was a favorite dessert at grandmother's and was varied with spices or apples—usually dried apples.

In fact, bread pudding goes far back in cooking history. In one of my old cookbooks, published about 100 years ago, is the following simple recipe: "A well-baked loaf of stale bread may be tied in a linen cloth, and boiled or steamed, which, with a good sauce answers well for a plain pudding."

Our housewife today starts with grandmother's basically good recipe, but she has the advantage of modern processed food—from peanut brittle to frozen or canned peaches—for providing variation.

I use the following basic bread pudding recipe: Break 5 slices of day-old white bread in small pieces into 1½ quart size casserole. Scald together 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup sugar and ⅛ teaspoon salt. When scalded mix with 2 slightly beaten eggs. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Pour over bread pieces. Bake at 325° for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Serve hot or cold. Will serve 4 to 6.

This pudding can be very good served with a simple sauce such as a lemon sauce. Children love it with jelly or jelly melted in the sauce pan and poured over it hot. I make my lemon sauce as follows:

Lemon Sauce

|---|---|
| ½ cup sugar | 2 tablespoons butter |
| 2 tablespoons cornstarch | 4 tablespoons lemon juice |
| ⅛ teaspoon salt | grated rind |
| 1¼ cups boiling water | of 1 lemon |

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add boiling water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. (About 5 minutes). Remove from heat, add butter, lemon juice and rind. Serve hot or cold.

—o—

A soft loaf of bread is not necessarily a fresh loaf. The old "squeeze test" is not a good measure of freshness today. Some types of bread are by nature compact and just do not become soft.. Other breads remain soft for days due to the ingredients and softeners used in their manufacture, declare M.S.U. consumer information specialists.

GRANGE PLANS CANCER FUND BENEFIT DANCE

Tecumseh Grange met Thursday evening in joint session with the Deerfield Grange in the latter's hall. After each grange had carried on its regudar order of business the Tecumseh third and fourth degree team exemplified the work of their degrees on candidates from Morenci, Deerfield and Tecumseh. Later a cooperative lunch was served in the dining room.

The next regular meeting of the grange will be Thursday, April 26.

Saturday, April 21 there will be a cancer fund benefit dance at the Grange Hall. All proceeds of this affair will go for this cause and the committee hopes everyone will turn out and make it a worthwhile community project.

Monday Club Spring Luncheon Attended by 71

The dining room of the Episcopal Parish House made an attractive setting for the annual spring luncheon of the Tecumseh Monday Club this week. Snapdragons and sweetpeas formed the centerpiece arrangements and the tables were further decorated by individual favors of small paper fans and corsages. The ladies of the church served the luncheon to the 71 members and guests attending.

The retiring president, Mrs. Herbert Murphy conducted a short business meeting making announcement of the County Federation meeting in Addison, April 26, and introducing the new officers of the club for the coming year. She presented a gift to each of her out-going officers and was in turn presented with an orchid corsage by them.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. E. H. McConnell and was musical in character. Mrs. W. G. Waldron and her daughter, Mrs. John Hamilton played a piano duet, Mrs. Murray Day sang "Mother's Old Red Shawl" and "A Prayer for the Mothers of Men" accompanied by Mrs. McConnell and Judy Truesdale played a flute solo with her mohter, Mrs. Howard Truesdale at the piano. Jackie Rucker, who recently won the county scholarship to the Interlochen summer camp under the sponsorship of the Monday Club, then sang "Velvet Slippers" in a manner which gave much pleasure to her listeners. The program closed with a piano solo played by Alice Titley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Titley.

The club then adjourned to meet in Sept. with Mrs. Robert Bonner as the new president.

ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES IN LANSING

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Colgrove and Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Touborg were in Lansing Monday where they attended the funeral services for A. R. Shigley, step-father of Mrs. Touborg and Mrs. Colgrove.

Mr. Shigley died very suddenly last week at Sarasota, Florida, where he was spending the winter with Mrs. Shigley.

In addition to his widow he leaves a daughter, a son and his step daughters, who were also his nieces.

Mrs. Touborg joined her mother last Wednesday in Sarasota and accompanied her to her home in Fremont after the Monday services.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons which need no repentance.—(St. Luke 15,7.)

Sometimes those of us who glory in our strength and righteousness find ourselves intolerant of one who seeks, at long last, to find forgiveness and salvation at the foot of the Cross. The words of the Master surely should make us rejoice to help a weaker brother.

GRAY LADY — Mrs. Ted Golat was the only Tecumseh member of a class of 19 Gray Ladies who received their caps at an impressive ceremony held in Madison Agricultural School near Adrian the evening of April 11. This is the first Gray Lady class of the American Red Cross to be organized in Lenawee County.

Sixteen hours of training is required before the candidate may be capped. Mrs. Golat has put in 43 hours at Maple Lane Manor in Adrian and is now going to take two hours of orientation work at each of Herrick Memorial hospital and the Parrett Nursing Home. She will then be able to assist the nurses in rehabilitation care.

Plans are being made by Mrs. Golat in cooperation with the Lenawee chapter of the American Red Cross to start a class of Gray Ladies in Tecumseh.

New Holsum Bread Is on Sale

Today housewives will find a new brand of white enriched bread, supplemented with Vitamin D on grocers' bread shelves.

Holsum Bread fortified with Vitamin D and packaged in a bright, orange-red, plastic-coated wrapper, goes on sale today throughout area stores. Holsum bread is produced by Way Baking Company whose Kleen-Maid bread has been familiar to local housewives for 69 years.

In announcing the introduction of Holsum Bread with Vitamin D to shoppers, John Way, President of Way Baking Co., says the Holsum brand was originally developed many years ago because the name emphasized the good tasting and health-giving qualities of bread, the basic food of most families all over the world.

Mr. Way points out that the addition of Vitamin D provides extra nutritional values to the consumer. "Vitamin D," he says, "helps the body get the most good out of the calcium and phosphorus in bread and other foods. It helps build stronger teeth and bones. Without Vitamin D, the body fails to utilize much of the calcium and phosphorus present in the normal diet."

The introduction of the Holsum brand does not affect the independent status of Way Baking Co., according to John Way's announcement. "Although other bakers in many parts of the United States and Canada are using the Holsum brand, and producing the same high quality loaf of bread, the Way Baking Co. is still purely a home industry, and its independence is not affected," Mr. Way says.

Christian Science Lecture Scheduled

A lecture "Christian Science, Its Effect on Health, Character and Human Progress" will be presented tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist church in Adrian. The church is located at 130 north Broad St.

The lecture is under the auspices of First Church of Christ Scientist, Adrian.

Lecturer will be George Nay, C. S., of Chicago, Ill. He is a member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The lecture is free.

Higgins Comments on Turnpike

The following statement was made at the meeting of the Michigan Turnpike Authority last Monday by Chairman George N. Higgins on the Authority's plans.

"The Turnpike Authority has adopted a route location for the Rockwood-Saginaw Turnpike from the north end of the project near Saginaw south to the Eight Mile Road.

"We have yet to approve a location from that point south to Rockwood.

"Before we approve a location in Detroit, Dearborn, Allen Park and Riverview, I intend to confer personally with officials of these communities in a FINAL attempt to get their approval.

"North of the Eight Mile Road we adjusted our line somewhat to meet legitimate objections which could be overcome without undue cost or change of alignment east of Flint near the Kearsley School in Pontiac City to bypass a 340 home development.

"In Dearborn we have met with Ford Motor Company and are ready to adopt a new location which they have suggested which will take the route away from two churches and a school site. I think we can get Dearborn City approval soon. Over 100 meetings have been held by us to negotiate these local route problems. The remaining municipal problems on location we want to resolve are in Detroit, Allen Park and Riverview.

"The Authority has been advised by bond counsel that the existing Supreme Court decision is sufficient to authorize the Authority to determine location without local consent. I hope we won't have to exercise that authority, but unreasonable objections may have to be overcome in that matter.

"The recent action of the Legislature, gentlemen, is an expression of confidence in this Authority to build toll roads. In spite of certain attempts to undermine the program, I am confident the job can and will be done.

"I am serving notice that the location matter can no longer delay us. The matter will be brought to a head and then our traffic and cost estimaees on Rockwood-Saginaw brought up to date so we can get a final answer on the sale of bonds."

DeSoto Describes "Winning Ride" Public Contest

An adventurous free trip anywhere in the world on transportation of the winner's choosing, plus a brand new De Soto, are the top prizes in a new public contest announced today by De Soto Motor Corporation.

The first consumer contest in the history of the division, the "Winning Ride" event runs through May 19. It offers a fabulous list of prizes, topped by the all-expense-paid global month-long family junket, and a new, completely equipped and powered throughout Fireflite four-door sedan in any color.

There will be 230 other prizes, ranging in value from brand new Fireflites, to each of three second-place winners, and $1,000 U. S. Saving Bonds to eight third place winners.

Participants are required only to visit dealer showrooms and take a demonstration ride in a new De Soto, without any obligation. After that they will complete the last line of a limerick on a short entry form, and then answer five simple questions relating to the car and the ride they have had. Showroom personnel assist on the latter.

Additional prizes will be: 20 fourth place prizes ($100 bonds), 40 fifth place ($50 bonds) and 160 sixth place prize winners of $25 bonds.

Incentive awards will be made to salesmen in the traffic-stimulating contest. Those with the most winning ride "demos" in three of the four national zones receive $250 savings bonds. Salesman who demonstrates to top national winner gets a $750 bond.

Salesmen prizes also go to those whose "demos" produced one of the top 12 consumer prizes. Contest will be backed by an intensive merchandising and promotion campaign nationally and locally in all media.

Deming Honored as Driver in U.S. Army

Specialist Third Class John V. Deming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Deming of Tipton, has been selected as driver of the month twice in succession for the 298th Signal Co. in France.

He was selected for "his exceptional performance of duty as a military vehicle driver; his outstanding accomplishment in vehicle maintenance; his aptitude towards duty and excellent appearance and conduct as a soldier." His citation read "His safe and efficient operation of a military vehicle in the face of adverse road and traffic conditions peculiar to the area is most commendable."

He is stationed in the same area in France that his father fought in in World War I. His father was wounded in 1917.

Father and son enlisted when they were 19. His father was discharged when he was 21 and John will receive his discharge this Aug., also when he is 21.

John graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1953.

Topical Fluoride Treatments Set

The Tecumseh Public Schools and St. Elizabeth's will take part in the topical fluoride treatments for children's teeth, again this year.

Children in the kindergarten, second, fifth and eighth grades were given cards for parents' authorization this week.

The treatments will cost $3 per child. The cards and money must be returned to the child's school by Friday, April 27.

The treaments by a dental technician from the University of Michigan will take place in early June. Mrs. Robert Anderson is local chairman for the public schools and Mrs. Joseph Dziacan is chairman for the parochial school.

I WONDER

Letter to the Editor

I wonder how you can teach boys and girls to refrain from being litter-bugs when adults dropped election literature on the recreation field and surrounding territory from planes immediately following the Easter egg hunt. The kids didn't think it was very smart, in fact, they resented the procedure.

I wonder if the families who do not clean up their lawns and gardens in the fall realize how many extra hours their neighbors have to spend on theirs in the spring.

I wonder if property owners who do not clean their walks in the winter time as well as the summertime realize how much then endanger the lives of pedestrians.

I wonder, also, if property owners whose sidewalks need repair realize how dangerous they are. Many pedestrians have fallen and needed a doctor's care as a result.

I wonder if people ever look at their window shades from the outside.

I wonder why people, especially men, hide their ladders, garden, and lawn equipment, broken tree limbs, etc. on the side of the garage which is out of their sight but in full sight of the neighbors.

I wonder why our city doesn't prune the trees along the public sidewalks like big umbrellas.

I wonder how much a person living in a neighborhood of barking dogs has to endure to be considered a good neighbor.

I wonder why people will gripe and do nothing constructive about the matter.

I wonder why I wrote this. I WONDER.

The Wonderer

CITY OF TECUMSEH
COUNCIL MEETING
April 16, 1956

Present: Mayor Hanna; Councilmen Brazee, Hamilton, Kelso, Powell, Schwartz.

Absent: Councilman Purkey.

Meeting opened with the invocation by Councilman Hamilton.

Minutes of the meeting held April 9th, 1956 were read and approved.

Robert Sage representing the C.A.P. Cadets, asked for permission to have a rifle shoot on property south and west of well house. This matter was referred to the city attorney for legal work.

Motion Kelso and seconded by Schwartz the bills amounting to $9,999.14 be allowed and orders drawn up for same. Motion carried unanimously.

Communication from the Junior Chamber of Commerce was read. Motion Schwartz and seconded Powell the place selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for a Homecoming and Free Fair be approved by the council providing adequate sanitation facilities be provided. Motion carried unanimously.

The following petitions for curb and gutter were read and referred to the city manager for scheduling.

West Shawnee Street between north Union and North Maiden Lane.

Park Street between W. Chicago Blvd. and W. Pottawatamie streets.

400 block of Outer Drive in Herrick Park.

The following ordinance was read for the third reading.

ORDINANCE

WHEREAS this Council recently enacted an Ordinance prohibiting parking between curbline and sidewalk within the city limits, the same being an addition to Section 3.520 of the Codified Ordinances of the city of Tecumseh; and

WHEREAS investigation discloses that there are a number of areas in which such parking would not be a threat to the safety of the citizens nor to the orderly arrangement of city streets.

NOW THEREFORE THE CITY OF TECUMSEH ORDAINS:

1. Effective 1 May 1956, paragraph g. of Section 3.520 of the Codified Ordinances of the city of Tecumseh, shall have the following addition: "PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that this clause shall not apply to those areas, the owners of which have secured inspection and approval by the City Police Department of the particular area wherein parking between curbline and sidewalk is desired."

ORDINANCE DECLARED ADOPTED:

Attest

Motion Schwartz and seconded Brazee the foregoing ordinance be adopted. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Hamilton and seconded Schwartz the City Manager's report be accepted and placed on file in the city office. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Kelso and seconded Brazee the resolution regarding curb and gutter installation for the coming year be accepted.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS it is the desire of this body that a continuing improvement be made in supplying the city with adequate curb-and-gutter installations; and

WHEREAS NUMEROUS RESIDENTS HAVE PETITIONED THE COUNCIL, praying for such installations adjacent to their property.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That the installation of curb-and-gutter shall be undertaken as soon as practicable on both sides of the following described streets:

a. South Union between Kilbuck and Cummins streets.

b. Park street between Pottawatamie to Parkway streets.

c. Shawnee street between N. Union to Maiden Lane streets.

d. North Oneida street between Chicago Blvd. and east Shawnee streets.

Children Face Many Hazards

Upwards of 300 Michigan children die every year in home accidents and ten times that many are crippled for the rest of their lives because of inadequate safety precautions, says Dr. Harry A. Towsley, professor of pediatrics at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

Young infants are especially apt to become victims of an accident, he warns, unless thorough safeguards are taken by parents. One of the most common sources of severe injury is a short fall from a bed or bassinet where a baby has been placed too close to the edge and rolls off, striking his head on the floor.

WATCH THE CHEWING

Babies who like to chew — and most of them do — can get lead poisoning from the paint on their crib or receive a bad burn from munching an electrical cord, the doctor states.

Many infants who supposedly died from suffocation actually may have had severe pneumonia, according to Dr. Towsley. He suggests that any bed-time difficulty in breathing by babies be checked frequently by parents.

Loose razor blades can also cause a bad injury when a two- or three-year-old tries to mimic his dad's shaving habits. Keeping all sharp, heavy, or poisonous objects in a secure place out of a youngster's reach becomes increasingly important when he begins to move about the house, Dr. Towsley continues.

EXPLAIN HIS HURT

When a minor accident does occur, parents should be sure to teach the baby why it has happened, saying that an object was "hot" or "burns" and using the simplest possible explanation for the child. "Kissing his hurt away," the doctor concludes, "may only be an invitation to major disaster."

Dr. Towsley's remarks were tape recorded by the University's radio station, WUOM, for distribution throughout the state as part of a continuing educational program endorsed by the Michigan Medical Society.

Postmaster Jack Metcalf appeals to residents to place the complete name and address on letters and packages that are mailed locally and out of town.

"Most folks do this for out of town mail, but mail they send in Tecumseh too often is just marked 'City,' he said. This was all right years ago when Tecumseh was smaller but today the city is too large to have our carriers know everybody and their streets and numbers.

"The problem will be made more acute," he continued, "with vacations coming soon and substitute carriers taking city routes."

The postmaster said complete names and addresses on city mail will make for faster and more efficient deliveries.

ANOTHER IRON CURTAIN?

Watch Where You Place Your Pump

If you're a suburban or country home owner, make sure that the water pump is located at least 50 feet to one side or the other of the septic tank, the Michigan Department of Health urged today.

In a series of Spring tips for homeowners and builders, the health department emphasized that, "The separation of water supply from sewage disposal isn't just an arbitrary recommendation, but is based on long years of experience. Unless there is clear-cut separation of water from sewage, there is danger that you will end up drinking contaminated water."

Willard F. Shephard, department engineering division chief, added that the distance between the water and sewage, not the depth of the well, is the chief protection against water-carried infections. Shephard said that while most water-carried diseases are under control in Michigan, they are not eliminated.

"Michigan has had six cases of typhoid fever already this year," he said, "which tells us that all we have to do is drop our guard and typhoid and othed water-carried diseases may take the advantage to strike out at some member of the family."

The health department said new plumbing installed in any home should be treated with a chlorine solution to clean out any contaminating materials in the pipes.

It was also recommended that most septic tanks should be cleaned at three-year intervals, and that homeowners should hire only those septic tank cleaners who are licensed by the Michigan Department of Health.

The department said that city homeowners who have trouble with drains plugged by tree roots may find that copper sulphate will help prevent roots from enterting the drain, and clean out roots which have already made entry. Shephard added that both state and local health departments have instruction sheets on the use of copper sulphate to help keep drains running free.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

DESPITE THEIR unimpressive performances in spring training, the Detroit Tigers nonetheless remain a serious contender in the American League pennant race, a team to be reckoned with and one respected by every team in the league.

Paradoxical? Perhaps. But on the basis of what this observer has seen during many weeks at Lakeland, the Tigers' annual spring training base, Detroit is a much stronger team than its record indicates.

With the opening of another season—and the boys "playing for keeps"—we anticipate a complete reversal of form.

The reasons will be outlined in a moment, but the foregoing paragraphs we hope will serve as something of an introduction to two newcomers on the Tiger scene — this column and this writer.

Broadcast Tiger Games

As some already know, we will be working with Van Patrick on the Tiger telecasts and broadcasts this season. Although the writer's playing experience was confined to the National League, we broadcast several Detroit games last year on Mutual's Game-of-the-Day and so know more than a little about the Tigers.

Moreover, our experiences with Manager Bucky Harris' crew this spring have given us a further insight into this promising, young ball club.

By combining our working-day relationships among the Tigers with our experience as an outfielder with the New York Giants for 22 years, and later as a major league manager, we expect to provide a clear-cut picture of the on- and off-the-field activities of this exciting Detroit baseball team.

The writer is just as pleased at the privilege of turning out this weekly column on baseball and our newly-adopted team, the Tigers, as we are proud of our National League record of 511 home runs.

Regulars Used Sparingly

But rather than pop off about our own achievements, let's examine the background of the Tigers to see why they stand a good chance of finishing in the first division, despite their unhappy pre-season showing.

First, rarely did the Tigers employ all their regulars in any practice game. Harris knows what they can do. He was more concerned with finding out what help he could expect, if any, from his rookies, particularly in the "trouble spots," second base, left field and, to a lesser degree, relief pitching.

Best Nine in Line-Up

In addition, some of the veterans like Ray Boone took longer to round into shape and achieve playing efficiency than the younger players. And assorted injuries, such as the sore shoulder that benched Al Kaline, reduced team performance.

But all that is past now. Boone's in shape, Kaline's better, and the best nine men will be on the field every day. The bats of Boone, Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Frank House should be speaking authoritatively. The defensive skills and speed of players like Bill Tuttle and Earl Torgeson will help.

Better yet, with a pitching staff of Bill Hoeft, Frank Lary, Ned Garver, Steve Gromek, Virgil Trucks, Duke Maas and perhaps coming hurlers like Bob Miller, Paul Foytack and Dick Marlowe, either Chicago, Boston or Cleveland will have to move over for the Tigers.

Or maybe more than one of them will.

Adrian College Announces Two Staff Additions

Bob J. Gillis, at present a member of the Adrian high school coaching staff was today named head football coach and instructor of physical education at Adrian College.

A 1949 graduate of the college and a former grid star on the "Bulldogs" 1946-1949 squads he will return to the campus and assume his duties with the opening of the 1956 football camp. Making the jump from high school to college teaching and coaching, he was selected by the President, John H. Dawson and the Athletic Board of the College because of his proven abliity as a good instructor and successful coach. He was offered a coaching assignment at the college a year ago but had already committed himself to the high school. In his first statement to the press he stated, "This is a great challenge and I am eager to organize my teaching and coaching assignments as soon as possible. I plan to use a multiple offense; its a hard but effective offense to organize and a rough one to set up a good defense against."

Ray C. Pellett, professor of education and acting athletic director at Adrian College, has been named athletic director at the college, it was announced today by College President John H. Dawson.

An outstanding administrator in the education field and an experienced leader in personnel, the director in his new capacity will head the physical education, varsity, and intra-mural programs of the college working in accordance with the policies established by the new College Athletic Control Board.

Because of his outstanding record as an administrator and the fine job he did as the acting director, the president with the concurrence of the athletic board invited him to continue as head of the department. As director he will work with his coaching staff and physical education instructors in building a college athletic program which will appeal to athletically inclined men and women who are academically prepared to do college work while participating in college athletics. His job will be be that of administrator and all coaching assignments will be carried out by his staff members.

Coming to Adrian in Sept., 1955, as professor of education, he brought to the campus a background of 30 years of experience as dean of men at Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo, Mich. Before his Kalamazoo appointment he served as superintendent of schools at Garrett, Indiana and Aleda, Illinois.

Professor Pellett holds the bachelor of arts and master's degree from both Huntington College and the University of Michigan. In 1950 Huntington College conferred upon him an honorary doctorate degree.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Rainbow trout or "steelhead" fishing opened last Saturday on certain lakes and streams throughout the state.

Thousands took advantage of the early trout angling as Michigan geared itself for a busy spring and summer fishing season.

Each year, as the dreary dirges of winter echo their last, rainbow trout begin spawning runs upstream from winter homes in inland and Great Lakes waters.

These fish far outnumber the total needed to spawn the next year's crop of fish and the species is thus ripe at this time of year for the fisherman's harvest.

The steelhead season comes two full weeks in advance of the regular trout season, slated to open April 28 this year. Thus anglers cooped up all winter, can both enjoy the spring sport and get in practice for the coming general season.

"Steelhead" is a popular name for rainbow trout that live in the Great Lakes or other large bodies of water and then migrate up inland streams to spawn.

Lists of waters open to this fishing may be obtained from Conservation Department headquarters throughout the state, from the Department's fish division in Lansing, or from local conservation officers.

---

The first smelt run of the year was reported in Cold Creek, Benzie county, near Beulah late last week.

The same creek produced Michigan's first sizeable smelt run 38 years ago, a run that heralded the growth of the present popular sport of dipnetting.

The little silvery fish regularly spawn up Great Lakes streams throughout the state on chilly nights in the spring.

Fishermen dip up the fish with hand dipnets and fill tubs, pails, bushelbaskets and deep freeze lockers with the tasty spawners.

The season is late this year. Usually, Grass Creek in Antrim county reports a run in mid or late March. This is the "kickoff," and a sign that both smelt and fishermen will soon be on the move throughout the state.

But heavy snows and a late winter have pushed this year's season well into April.

It is expected the runs will continue from now until about the third week of April.

---

Paris state fish hatchery is trying to get back to normal after a sudden spring flood last week that flooded out a pond area and caused as yet undetermined loss of fish.

Conservation Department officials at the hatchery will sort out the remains of 20,000 sublegal brook and brown trout that had been confined in a pond area west of highway US-131 at the hatchery.

The area was flooded and many fish washed into nearby creeks and the Muskegon River. A footbridge was washed away at the nearby tourist park.

The flash flood was worst in the memory of hatchery workers. A sudden heavy rain, aidded by melting snows and generally high water levels caused the trouble.

Golfers Win from Ann Arbor

The Tecumseh high school golf team defeated Ann Arbor last week, taking four points.

Val Spangler was low for the nine holes with a 40. He was followed by Lamkin with a 42; Baker with a 43; and by Gurtzweiler with a 45.

Ann Arbor golfers had scores of 48, 49, 69 and 73.

Harriers Lose to Airport Jets

Tecumseh lost a Southeastern League track meet to Airport last week 74½ to 34½.

Price of Airport with firsts in the shot put and half mile and a second in the 180-yard low hurdlers was high point Jet man with 13.

First place winners for the Indians were Dickinson in the 440 and Hal Weakly in the 220. Chub Bailey, Walt Bailey and J. C. Heflin tied for first place in the pole vault with Rice, Beck and Belanger of Airport.

Other Tecumseh point winners were Torres, Hanna, Purcell and McDowell who won the medley relay; Stewart with a second in the 100-yard dash; Bill Browne with a second in the mile; Ray Miller with a second in the 880; Gary Marsh with a third in the shot put; Baker with a third in the 120 high hurdles; Roe with a third in the mile; Williams with a third in the 440; Bryan with a third in the broad jump; Hoffman with a third in the half mile and Ray Miller with a third in the high jump.

NOT FOR THE RIDE!

Next time you see a truck on the road, remember—it's not there just for the ride. It's loaded with cargo bound for some important destination — and ultimately that destination is you.

Yes, the economy of Michigan — and of every other state, in fact — is geared to motor transport.

Trucks are the key to our great achievements in production. They have made possible new products and new marketing methods. They've enabled us to go out into the rural and surburban areas and build homes and business projects.

It's no wonder that trucks have increased in number in Michigan from 150,190 in 1941 to 351,337 in 1954. Their popularity has grown because they've done such a magnificent job — for manufacturers, farmers, retailers, the public — everyone!

What do these famous products have to do with Tecumseh

. . . besides give you quick, tasty dishes!

"One of the advantages of working at Quaker Oats is the opportunity to participate in their fine Retirement Plan. The plan will pay me an assured income during my leisure years," says Orville Dewey, one of the "Quakers" in Tecumseh.

Folks here in town not only take pleasure in eating Quaker and Aunt Jemima Corn Meal—a good many take pride in making them!

They're the people who work for The Quaker Oats Company located in this community. And this feeling of pride in what they help produce includes all the famous products made in Company plants throughout the country. It's a feeling that comes when a person gives his best to get the best: which explains why such products as Quaker and Aunt Jemima Corn Meal have been American favorites all these years.

The "fresh corn flavor" of this new-day Corn Meal comes through the minute you open the package. Then, notice how easily it mixes! How quickly it cooks! (The texture is so moist and non-crumbly!) Treat your family to piping hot corn bread, hearty meat pies or tasty coffee cakes made with Quaker and Aunt Jemima Corn Meal.

Take It Out of Politics

Michigan voters in Nov. may have a chance to take the education of their children out of politics.

The petitions being circulated this week and for the next six weeks ask for a constitutional amendment to take the office of the state superintendent of public instruction out of partisan politics by making the office appointive by an eight-member, non-partisan state board of education.

This would make the selection of the state superintendent and election of the state board of education comparable to that of the local superintendent and board.

In initiating this reform in the state's educational scene, the 44,000 member Michigan Education Association has the support of nearly all major organizations in Michigan. One of them, the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, is cooperating even to the extent of circulating petitions.

Support is indicated by the Michigan Farm Bureau, the Education Policies Commission, the Michigan Federation of Labor, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Michigan Association of School Boards and the American Association of University Women.

The M.E.A. has set May 19 as the deadline for getting 300,000 signatures on petitions, the approximated number required to get the proposal on the Nov. 6, 1956 ballot.

According to Dr. A. J. Phillips, Executive Secretary, Michigan Education Association, there are 10 good reasons why Michigan voters should be in favor of the proposed amendment.

1. There has been no change in our constitutional pattern for education since 1908.
2. Every superintendent of public instruction through the last three decades has decried the necessity of playing party politics to gain offices.
3. A state board of education elected at large by the people is in keeping with methods of electing U.S. senators and local boards of education.
4. At present, 18 states elect a state board of education which appoints the state superintendent.
5. An eight-member state board will allow for greater lay representation in all sections of the state.
6. Education should not be a part of the general partisan political government of the state.
7. An appointed superintendent of public instruction will be able to devote full time to the needs and problems of education.
8. An enlarged board will give greater certainty that educational issues will be resolved on their merits rather than on political consideration.
9. An enlarged state board would eliminate competition for funds among state educational institutions as all budgetary requests would come under one body.
10. School-related activities, such as retirement, certification, and tenure, would come under the supervision of the state board, whose primary interest is education.

The petition campaign is headed in each of the 130 M.E.A. Districts by a campaign manager selected by the M.E.A. District president.

Persons interested in assisting in this important campaign should contact the local superintendent of schools or the county superintendent of schools.

Realty Views

A silver-haired lady, Mrs. Portland, opened the office door. "I'm looking for a small home of my own. Do you have any reasonably closein?"

"Yes," I replied. "How many bedrooms will you need?"

"Just one or two," she said. "You see I'm a widow, moving here to be near my children. The kids say 'rent an apartment, Mom.' But, I've tried it before in Ohio. It just doesn't seem like home after you've been used to your own place."

A little later, we showed her a couple of small homes. She brought "the kids" with her the next day and took a second look.

Finally she said of one cute little house. "This is it. I can enjoy living here. I'll have my own house, flower garden, and lawn. Let's go back to your office. I'll pay you cash for it."

And she did!

Regardless of the size of home you desire, let us help you locate it. We understand the importance of "home" in all of its rich meanings.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

When deer hunting, I have often fancied a familiar shape in a couple of twigs, combined, perhaps with a little patch of grass in the distance. Also here my imagination played me many a trick. The combination of the color of the grass and part of a fallen *down log forming a certain out*line all of a sudden made me think I saw a half hidden lion's head looking at me, but always such things would turn out to be just what they were, a product of my imagination.

Now, which way did they go?

The temptation to look at the pug marks at my feet was irresistible and I repeatedly had to call myself back to reality and try to remember my instructions. Andy, who had hunted lions so many times before undoubtedly knew far better than I what was the best thing to do. This stealthy sneaking, looking and straining the ears for the least sound continued for hours.

WISHED FOR CHARGE

I have no idea how many miles we trecked across the sandy, bushy stretches and the tension was becoming almost unbearable. Many a time I actually wished the lions would charge us, so we could have it over with.

Finally we saw a flock of vultures circling not very far from where we were and I sensed that now there was no chance of seeing lions close by, but that they would be right under the spot where the vultures were. Sure enough, N'Gora and Andy started in a beeline for the spot where the vultures were circling.

As we approached the spot, we slowed down and stole closer, in the hope that we would find the lions busy on some animal they might have killed. However, there were no lions, but only the remnants of a donkey. The head, a couple of knuckles, a few shreds of hide and a little pool of blood were left. The rest had vanished.

The vultures were now circling over another spot and we approached this new center of attraction. It turned out to be the backyards of a Somali negro' homestead. A woman was loading a donkey, preparing for a trip to the river for water, and a boy about 10 or 12 was helping her. We asked them if they had seen any lions about and the woman nodded "Yes." The lions had killed a donkey for them that morning. Where was it? "Oh, over there" and she pointed a little farther on in the direction we had been going.

DONKEY KILLED

It was a macabre sight—another donkey had been killed, blood on the ground all over. A few shreds of hide and the head were left. Vultures were sitting on the ground and on the low bushes all around. A most disconsolate picture. This was Africa — a side of her that was not too pleasant.

Some Danish proverb ran through my mind — "One's death; another's bread." Frankly, I was anxious to get away from there.

The boy said that that was all the lions had done, so we asked him to come with us a few steps back along the trail and showed him the remnants of the first donkey we had found. The boy uttered, just like any American boy from Tecumseh would, under similar circumstances, "Oh! Oh!"

TRAIL PICKED UP

Without further ado, we again picked up the lion's tracks and continued to follow them. We now knew that they had two donkeys under their belt and, therefore, would not be so sprightly as they might have been earlier in the morning.

One of them was now carrying what looked like a hind leg of the last donkey because we could see the drag marks in the sand. We also noticed a little blood now and then on the bushes we passed through. It was interesting to note that they still kept going in a relatively straight line, but this time back towards the river and at a slight angle with the line we had followed coming up. We continued our search, hoping that eventually the animals would stop to finish up the leg they were carrying, but they never did. We stayed with the tracks all the way down into the jungle where we finally lost them in the tall grass.

We were now in the early part of the afternoon, hungry, tired, and thirsty from the terrific heat of the day. The sun right on the equator was pretty strong, especially at 700 ft. altitude, and I must admit that is was not unwilling steps that led us back the last mile or so to the jeep, so we could get back to camp. Camp where 90 degree water nicely flavored with gasoline awaited us; also a delightful helping of African grown pineapple, the most delicious thing I believe I ever tasted, to say nothing of a cup of really good hot coffee (Kahawa Moto).

LION—NOT ELEPHANT

Elephants being very much on ou rminds, we extended our trips from camp farther and farther along the river, hoping that we would be successful in finding a respectable pair of tusks.

On the day the incident took place about which I am going to tell, we drove three or four miles farther out the road toward Garissa than we previously had done. We backed the jeep under a shady tree and started off in our usual procession, N'Gora first, then Yours Truly and Andy closing up the rear.

PUTS GUN IN BACK

I don't know whether Andy had in mind to remind me that he was behind me, protecting my back, or whether he was impatient at times with me. Once in a while, when we were sneaking through the bushes looking right and left, on the tracks of some animal or other, especially when it was a rhino we were after, N'Gora would get a few steps ahead or I would be lagging a little behind. With my clumsy feet I could not move quite fast enough and still be absolutely quiet. Andy would then poke me in the back with the gun barrel and I would laugh and chuckle to myself, thinking that this was one fine position I had got myself into, sneaking through the African jungle and not being able to go fast enough, with wild animals around us; a black, inscrutable fellow in front of me, and a double barrel 470 in the back.

Perhaps I was too cautious and trying to be too quiet, however, I had already seen rhinos start up at the least little sound, charging off in various directions and I did not want to be the one about whom it would be said afterwards — 'if only he had been more careful and not broken that twig, then we would have had a chance.' At any rate, Andy was always there.

In all the cases where situations developed involving dangerous animals, and shooting was called for, Andy would be standing by. Due to excitement I might not realize that he was there, but invariably he was and had I missed a shot and created a bad situation, I am sure he would have been equal to the task. Indeed he was on one occasion, but more about that later.

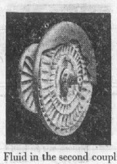
the motion!

(. . . and America votes it
The Gear of the Year)

IT'S AN ECONOMY CHAMPION, TOO!
Jetaway-equipped Oldsmobiles rocketed to double victory in 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run!



HERE'S A CANDIDATE for the most talked-about "secret" of all time! It's the secret of the smoothness—the revolutionary second coupling—in Oldsmobile's new Jetaway Hydra-Matic!*

Oldsmobile first used a fluid coupling to cushion automatic gear transitions in the original Hydra-Matic Drive. And it was this famous transmission that opened the door to the whole era of automatic driving.

Now, in Oldsmobile's new Jetaway, not one, but two fluid couplings harness the go-power of the mighty Rocket Engine—soften the surge of Rocket action!

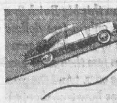
Fluid in the second coupling fills and spills with jetlike speed—cushions gear transitions so they're almost imperceptible! In other words, Jetaway seconds the motion—gives you all the flow of fluid, yet retains all the solid, thrilling go of gears!

NEW DUAL DOWNSHIFTING FOR EXTRA SAFETY!

What's more, Jetaway features new dual downshift action—at traffic and cruising speeds—to split-second the motion, too. Just wait till you try it, teamed with Oldsmobile's new Rocket Engine—240 horsepower strong, charged with a 9.25-to-1 compression ratio—delivering a breath-taking 350 lb.-ft. of torque!

JETAWAY SMOOTHNESS . . . BEAUTY TO MATCH!



You'll go for the glamor of Oldsmobile, too! There's massive magnificence and solid assurance in the advance-design "Intagrille Bumper." It's two front bumpers in one for protection high and low—an Oldsmobile first, an Oldsmobile exclusive—more unmistakable evidence of Oldsmobile's styling leadership! And it's all underscored by Oldsmobile's ruggedly-built, quality-built chassis featuring sturdy Six-Point Suspension to increase riding comfort and roadability.

Sum it all up—performance, power and appearance—you've got to go some to equal it! Yet Oldsmobile prices start right down with many models in the low-price field—and value is right up with the highest at resale time! Stop at our showroom for a demonstration, now!

*Standard on Series Ninety-Eight; optional at extra cost on all other series.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children are enjoying watching some polliwogs. Kit Burns brought them to us and we are sure that they are growing every day. Out work books are getting smaller each week as we are working so hard on them. We like to take each page home, when it is finished.

In the first grade we are enjoying our work on a Dutch unit. We now have a scene the full width of our room showing how the people in Holland live. It has been fun to make many kinds of windmills. We like those best that really turn fast when we put them out in a breeze. We, also, have made some nice large Dutch dolls. We do not know if our boys or girls look the nicest in their Dutch clothes. Best of all we like to make the pretty flowers that grow in Holland. Our favorite story is the one about the little boy who found a leak in a dyke and how he put his fist in the hole until help came.

The third grade is learning to carry in multiplication. We are also starting our division. It is fun to do. We planted peas for science and most of them are growing real well. Some of us forgot to water our soil and we found that seeds need the water.

Miss Baker brought her tape recorder to school. We recorded stories we made up for language. Our stories were good, but we thoguht our voices sounded funny.

The fourth grade girls and boys are enjoying some new reading books which we received last week. We have found many interesting stories of animals and birds in them. Next week we are going to try to find stories of famous people. We are very happy to have the new books.

We have also been writing business letters, which we sent to several companies asking for booklets or free material. We are hoping to have answers to all our letters.

Nancy Nixon has been absent from fifth grade the past week following an operation for the removal of adenoids.

Last Wednesday we went to the high school gym to practice for our gym program.

Barry Hall treated us with cupcakes last Monday as it was his birthday.

James Gabler, who left us to go to California, wrote the sixth grade an interesting letter about her trip across the country.

Our most difficult subject now is language. Adverbs and adjectives are so easily confused. We are beginning to understand that these words, used correctly, make reading and writing more interesting.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

The first graders in Mrs. Munger's room are very happy to take home another reading book which they have just finished reading. This book is "At Play."

Mr. Francouer's room lent an aquarium to the boys and girls in Mrs. Puffer's second grade. Fred Kachur brought several interesting tropical fish and some snails to put in it.

In Mrs. Callihan's second grade room a geranium has a salmon-colored blossom. The plant belongs to Steven Butler.

The third graders have been playing baseball during recess time. Mrs. Thomas' and Mrs. Schwartz' boys are planning to play a three-inning game.

Each person in Mrs. Baily's fourth grade room is making a picture poster to decorate their room. Some of the things they have chosen are cars, animals, airplanes, sceneries, birds, houses, food, clothes, etc.

They have two birthdays this month—Carolyn Fletcher and Janet Mackey.

Mrs. Whiting's fourth grade room has had two birthdays also. They were Karen Heberlein and Beatrice Derr. They are on the last story in their reading books and will start reading "Singing Wheels" next week. They are working on a mural for their room showing the lives of different children they have read about in their geography books this year.

One day last week Mrs. Miller's fourth graders and Mr. Kelty's fifth graders picked up the waste paper that was on the school lawn.

Mrs. Miller's fourth graders are learning to write business letters. They find it quite different from writing friendly letters.

Mr. Francoeur's sixth grade has been having fine reports given in class the last two weeks. Brenda Hannah gave presentations on the Arab Religion, The 200 Inch Hale Telescope, and Mahatma Gandhi. In addition to this Gail Elliott gave a long and difficult talk on Alexander the Great.

Of the reports written in class Mary Alice Stutesman wrote on the Greek Religion. The class is planning on comparing this religion with the types found in India and China.

Last week a dancing party was given by instructor Mary Lou Gall for her ballroom dancing class. Those present from Mr. Francoeur's class were as follows: David Irelan, Wayne Davis, David Crosby, Brenda Hannah, Larry Flowers, Gail Elliott and Bob Bonner. A dancing recital has been planned for April 27. Hope to see you there!

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

BY J. ADDINGTON WAGNER
National Commander, The American Legion

Our Heavenly Father: Make us truly grateful for the Thy holy might. Keep us ever mindful of the sacrifices whereby we enjoy the greatest freedom on earth. Watch over our national leaders and our people. Protect us by goodly heritage Thou has bestowed upon this Nation, made for us by our fallen comrades. Make us worthy of Thy loving kindness.

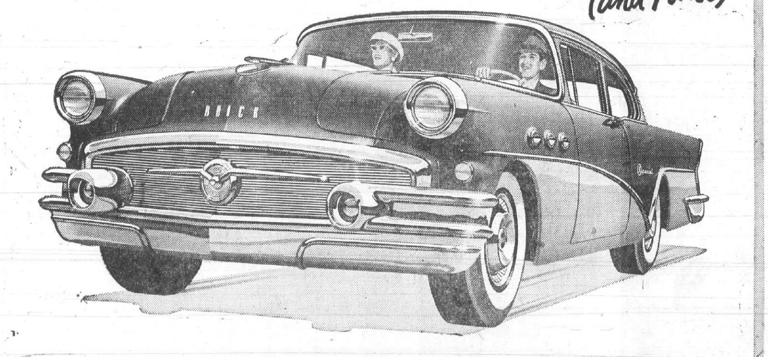
TODAY'S BIG SPECIAL
at a price that will open your eyes
(and Purse)



If you're in the market for a real buy, take a good look at this one.

It's a 1956 Buick Special—which means, of course, it's a big car.

But look again at the price news it carries.

It tells you this big Buick Special can be yours for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars —for even less than some models of those very same cars. (And the price we'll show you proves how true that is.)

The gospel truth is—this brawny new beauty is the biggest bundle of high style and hot performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

Even that, though, doesn't completely explain why Buick outsells every car in America except the two well-known smaller ones.

To understand the big reason, you've got to know something about how much more pure automobile you get for your money in a 1956 Buick—

The extra satisfaction of commanding Buick's walloping new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine—

The extra joy and comfort of Buick's new buoyant ride, Buick's matchless new handling ease, Buick's extra solidity of structure—

The extra thrill that comes from the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off—and the extra gas-saving mileage—of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.†

Those are some of the things we'd like you to know, firsthand, about the 1956 Buick. And we'll let the car itself—and that low price tag—do the talking. Will you come in—real soon—this week maybe?

Student Nurses Are Guests of Hospital Auxiliary

Five young ladies from foreign lands, who are students at the School of Nursing of Wayne University were guests of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary last weekend.

Miss Dora Ibaraburu is a native of Uruguay, Miss Wang Hsehtzu comes from Formosa and the other three, Estelade De Sanjur, Delfina de Jacome and Mercedes Chang are from Panama. They are in training for public health nursing in their native countries and this visit to Tecumseh was intended to help acquaint them with life in a small American city.

The visit was under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Cecile Smith, who was assisted by Mrs. Robert Anderson as co-chairman. The group was met in Clinton by Mrs. Hugh H. Hanna, who took them to the homes of their hostesses, Mrs. Hoyt Whelan, Mrs. Ned Baldwin and Mrs. Ray Sluyter. At one o'clock they were guests at a luncheon at the Tecumseh Country Club with Mrs. F. C. Dickinson acting as hostess and then were driven to the city sewage disposal plant, which was explained to them by Supt. Groton and City Manager Nelson.

A visit to Herrick Memorial hospital followed with Supt. Gilbert and Mrs. Miller, superintendent of nurses as escorts and the afternoon was ended with a drive by Mrs. Whelan through Hidden Lake Gardens.

In the evening the group and others associated with the hospital were entertained at a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gilman where the reception committee was headed by Mrs. A. J. Geisenhaver. Sunday morning the young ladies attended the churches of their choice accompanied by their hostesses and in the afternoon left by bus for Detroit.

Officers Installed by V.F.W. Post

New officers of Hall-Slater Post 4187, Veterans of Foreign Wars were installed Wednesday evening at the regular meeting at the post home. Installation was by department chief of staff, Wyman Campbell of Milan.

Those installed were Warren Filter, commander; Clifford Curran, senior vice commander; Carl Kempf, junior vice commander; James Felton, quartermaster; Gaza Kish, chaplain; Harold Warren, post advocate and Carson House, three year trustee.

The installing officer presented the retiring commander, Harold Warren with his past commander's ring. Announcement was made by the commander that Hall-Slater Post now has a paid membership of 213 members which means it has 159 per cent paid up membership over the quarter.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary served dinner to the post before the installation.

'TAKING THE AIR' on his front steps is "Mr. X," a manikin dressed in a poison gas and bacteria-protective suit and wearing an extra-capacity protective mask, all developed by the Army Chemical Corps in cooperation with the Federal Civil Defense Administration. FCDA now has 32,000 of these masks in production. Except for the lack of boots, he would be perfectly safe even if sprayed with nerve or mustard gas or poisonous germs. An FCDA secretary emerges from the air lock of a gas and germ-proof shelter built with wood frames and a new fiber "diffusion board" similar to other wallboard. This material allows air and carbon dioxide to pass in and out while filtering out poison gases and germs. The secretary is wearing a new type $2 civilian protective mask. (FCDA Photo)

Carolyn Elaine Comfort, who had spent her Easter vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Msr. Ralph Comfort returned to her work at Wheaton College, Ill., Sunday evening. She accompanied her fiance, Douglas Weeldreyer, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weeldreyer and their daughter Marjorie, who had been Sunday dinner guests in the Comfort home. Her marriage to Mr. Weeldreyer will be an event of June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow spent the weekend in White Cloud, Mich., where they were guests of Mr. Bigelow's sister, Mrs. Lora Faulkerson. While there they were entertained at a dinner party for 18 friends at the home of Miss Ora Martin in honor of both their birthday anniversaries. They also called on friends in Grand Rapids and drove through the tornado devasted areas near that city.

Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown spent the weekend and the first of the week in Detroit where they attended the centennial meeting of the Michigan State Dental Society. Mrs. Elizabeth Wing was also in Detroit for the meeting of the state dental assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson and sons Tom and Tim were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Lang and sons of Monroe. The families celebrated the birthday anniversaries of Fred Dickinson and his grandson, John Lang.

Last Tuesday was a red letter day for the Edward Leighton family. It was the 49th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton, Mrs. Leighton's birthday and that of their great grandson, little Gregg Iffland. Accompanied by their daughters, Mrs. Dwight Hodges and Mrs. Carl Iffland, their granddaughters, Mrs. William Nicholson and Mrs. Harold Iffland and their great grandchildren, Loraine Nicholson and Gregg Iffland, they spent the day in Marshall as guests of another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Townsend. Returning home Mr. and Mrs. Leighton were evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hodges.

Mrs. Ida Reed, who recently returned home after several weeks in Herrick Memorial hospital is again a patient there after being found unconscious in her home Tuesday.

HARD TIMES DANCE

A "Gingham and Dungaree" hard times dance is being planned for the evening of Saturday, April 28 under the sponsorship of the Hall-Slater Post of the V.F.W. It will be held at the United Products Workers Union Hall and will feature both round and square dancing.

COUPLE HONORED SATURDAY EVENING

Mrs. Fred Everhart and Mrs. Henry Strand entertained about 25 young people Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pask. The group were friends of Miss Billie Shepherd and Calvin Pask, whose marriage will take place Saturday morning, April 21 in Adrian and the event was a miscellaneous shower in honor of the young couple.

Games occupied the evening with the prizes won being presented to the bride. Decorations were in the theme of April showers and the many lovely gifts were given as part of that theme. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the evening.

Guests from out-of-town included Miss Martha Welch, Mrs. Don Baughey and Leonard Farnsworth of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Everhart and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moon of Sand Lake.

chickens to eagles last fall, but did not complain until her cat was nearly swiped.

Conservation officers investigated the disturbance.

This year, hundreds of persons will lose valuable items in Michigan's 58 state parks.

Most will [illegible] recovered and a large portion turned in to parks offices.

There, these items may as well rot.

For some reason, park patrons fail to check at park offices to see if anybody found their lost tent or their misplaced eye-glasses or their valuable ring.

Sometimes false teeth are found. Shoes are a common item in summer, when man wants to wiggle his toes in sand and conveniently forget he is citified. Bicycles and tricycles and even automobiles are left. Some never are claimed.

Where park officials have any indication of the owner's name and address, an attempt is made to restore the item to its proper pocket.

But more often than not, no name is attached. The billfolds and books and clothing and vehicles are held at the park for about a year and finally turned over to the state board of escheats in Lansing for disposal.

State park officials would rather have proper owners receive the items. Mostly, however, this is a prbolem only the loser can solve. He must learn to use park lost and found offices.

OUTDOOR FACTS: The "song" of the tiny cricket, an insect which is less than an inch long, can sometimes be heard as far as a mile. Mister Cricket is the only one who "sings a song." Mrs. Cricket makes no sound at all.

Old Bibles Are Discussed by D.A.R. Chapter

"Old Bibles" was the program topic discussed by Mrs. Francis Stone at the April meeting of the Abi Evans Chapter of D.A.R., Friday afternoon. Miss Edith Ingersoll was hostess.

A number of very old family Bibles were brought by members and Mrs. Stone displayed many family records which she had copied from other Bibles. These records are sent to the national library in Washington, the state library in Lansing and the Burton Memorial Library in Detroit where they are on file to assist individuals who desire to trace family history.

The Regent, Mrs. Neil Pearson reported on the recent state convention held in Jackson which she had attended in its entirity. The chapter voted to invite the D.A.R. chapter of Monroe to the June picnic meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Branigin.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program by Miss Ingersoll and the assistant hostesses, Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. Burtsell Claus, Mrs. Edith Cotton Smith, Mrs. Paul Keyser and Mrs. Clarence Fisher.

The May 11 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman and will be a one o'clock luncheon with a program on the American Indian led by Mrs. Arthur Brown.

Beat Crabgrass

If you want to get in a good telling blow against lawn crabgrass this spring, spray it with 2, 4-D about the time forsythia blooms.

That's a new recommendation from a Michigan State University weed researcher after extensive tests. B. H. Grigsby said the 2, 4-D spray should be considerably stronger than that recommended for control of dandelions and other broadleaf weeds.

He suggests four teaspoons of the ester form of 2, 4-D per 800 square feet of lawn area.

Remember, though, he cautions, to keep the spray away from shrubs that are about to leaf out and don't let it drift toward your tulips or daffodils.

The lawn can be sprayed for early crabgrass control between now and mid-May. And at the same time this will take care of your dandelion problem.

You may need to spray the lawn in July with chlordane and kerosene to get the later crabgrass, Grigsby indicates, but a 2, 4-D spray now will help the bluegrass keep the edge on the crabgrass.

Another commercial preparation called SES, or Crag Herbicide, can take the place of 2, 4-D, the weed researcher adds.

Auxiliary Hears of Instruction at Palmyra School

The April meeting of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was opened with the reading of "Meditations by Bliss Carman" and prayer by Mrs. Carlos Jones and was followed by a business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Robert Fuller. Mrs. Robert D. Moore is acting as temporary corresponding secretary.

Announcement was made of the plans made for the benefit card party to be given April 13 at the Legion Hall. Mrs. Earl Wood was general chairman of this event and told of the plans for entertainment during the evening. The hospital cart committee reported the installation of a new case for supplies in the hospital.

Four new members were introduced, Mrs. Dudley Hain, Mrs. David Faling, Mrs. Stuart Costigan and Miss Catherine Monnigan.

Mrs. Hoyt Whelan, Mrs. Ned Baldwin and Mrs. Clarence Gilman were appointed as hostess committee for the entertainment of five student nurses from Wayne University School of Nursing who were to visit Tecumseh the following weekend. Their entertainment included a luncheon at the Country Club Saturday at 12:30, a tour of the hospital and disposal plant and an open house at 8 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. Gilman.

Mrs. Fuller announced her plans to attend the Tri-State convention to be held in Chicago May 1 and 2 and special emphasis was laid on the program for the May meeting of the auxiliary when Dr. Bernard Steinberg of Toledo will speak on "The Role of the Pathologist in Crime Detection." Dr. Steinberg was described as a very interesting speaker and this meeting is to be open to the public.

Guest speaker of the evening was Miss Kathleen Richmond, who is occupational therapist at the Palmyra Unit for Cerebral Palsy. In addition to a most interesting account of her own work there she also told of the speech correction instruction being done by Miss Covington, who was not able to be present. Miss Richmond illustrated her account of the work done at the unit by a film showing the children, their surroundings and the methods of treatment and teaching. She also mentioned the fact that Mrs. D. F. Wright of Tecumseh is donating one day a week to teaching there.

Refreshments after the meeting were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. Clarence Beach, Mrs. Earl Wickwire, Miss Ann Carson, Miss Marjorie Wickwire and Mrs. Earl Greene.

Lost, But Not Found

John Reagan, manager of Pontiac Lake state park, uses a magnifying glass to try to identify the owner of a billfold that was found in his park area last summer. All other items in the picture also were found in the park, from a Bible to a baseball bat. Visitors to Michigan's 58 state parks annually lose hundreds of items, then fail to place claims at park offices.

Christian Science Services Listed

How spiritual understanding of God, infinite Life, brings growth and progress to man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation after Death" will include the following passages from the Bible (Ezekiel 18:31, 32): "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (485:18-19): 'Not death, but the understanding of Life, makes man immortal."

In looks, too, Ford's out front—with styling that only the Thunderbird could inspire

Ford goes First!

In Performance
At NASCAR's Speed and Safety Event at Daytona, Ford won the Manufacturer's Trophy for best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8, in one day, smashed 30 world speed records at Kingman, Arizona. No wonder Ford is the world's largest-selling eight.

MOTOR TREND AWARD

In Safety
When the editors of "Motor Trend" unanimously voted Ford's safety program "the top car advance" of 1956, they had in mind Ford's Lifeguard Design . . . a whole family of safety features, including a deep-center steering wheel and double-grip door latches, to help protect you in case of accident.

In Economy
In this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Customline V-8 with Fordomatic won over all cars in its class. The sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitive car..."sixes" as well as "eights"! Ford proved itself a regular gas miser.

The way a Ford performs, the way it saves, the way it protects you, go hand-in-hand with the way it looks and lasts. Ford's look was inspired by America's most exciting car, the Thunderbird. Its rugged K-bar frame and carefully-built body give it the endurance and reliability traditional with Ford. These are the facts behind Ford's reputation as the car that's worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too! Come in and let us show you!

The Funeral Is Not A Government Function . . .

In many lands on this earth, the government takes over when death occurs. Not only the estate and personal property, but the conduct of the burial becomes subject to their dictates.

In our country, the funeral is a highly personal procedure. It has been developed exactly as the families have wished. It is dignified and beautiful, a comfort to the bereaved. Let us keep it this way.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

They Travel "In Class"

Our high school correspondent says that Economics and Geography students are going in for "grass roots" studying.

They're going to charter buses and take off on Operation See-For-Yourself—have a ten-day look at some of the things they've been studying about.

As I remember, it was hard to keep your mind on schoolbooks at this time of year. Today's kids can give in to that old urge to bust out of the classroom—with a clear conscience. Wish they'd take me along.

From where I sit, it doesn't hurt us adults, either, to get out and see how the rest of the country lives. We find the "typical American" doing everything from herding cattle to flying planes ... with everything from steak to chowder for his favorite dish ... everything from beer to buttermilk for his favorite beverage. And the more we study our differences the more we learn how alike everyone is underneath.

PAST MATRONS HONOR BIRTHDAY

The Past Matrons Club of the local Order of Eastern Star met April 11 in the home of Mrs. Charles Driffill of Tipton for the usual potluck dinner and social evening. There were 17 present.

The occasion was made a special celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Allan Montgomery with a decorated cake and gifts.

The next meeting will be May 23 in the home of Mrs. John Lott.

SCOUT TROOP GIVES PROGRAM FOR BAPTISTS

There were 52 members of the Woman's Association of the Baptist church present at the April meeting Monday evening. The program was given by Girl Scout Troop 16, which has been sponsored by the association. This group is led by Mrs. Donald Smith and Mrs. Charles Beland and the committee woman for the troup is Mrs. Gerald Dunn.

Mrs. Earl Wood presided over the business meeting in place of Mrs. Clifford Curran, president. Mrs. George VanCamp Jr. was hostess committee chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Lee Prettyman, Mrs. Jesse Gray, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. R. H. Moore, Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mrs. Priscilla Brown and Mrs. Norman McConnell.

Cottons Can Be Drip-Dried

The wringer of your washing machine may be a time-saving boon, but don't let it help you with "no-iron" cottons.

Care for these materials with a resin finish includes washing by hand and hanging them dripping wet to dry. If they must be washed by machine, avoid the wringing-out step or remove them from an automatic before they are spun dry. Again hang them dripping wet.

These suggestions come from Jeanne Gannon, textile researcher at Michigan State University. She explains that these "no-iron" or "wash and wear" cottons are crease resistant, soil resistant, wash easily and dry quickly. However, most blouses and dresses mdae from them require some ironing. A gathered skirt may need little or no ironing, and children's play clothes may need none at all.

Miss Gannon goes on to explain that if improper washing has caused wrinkles, wet the material thoroughly and hang it dripping wet to dry. If this does not remove wrinkles, use a plastic starch to restore the original stiffness.

Do not bleach these materials; they will turn yellow. If this has happened to a white garment, Miss Gannon suggests removing the yellow with sodium hydrosulfite (available at drug stores). Or ask a dry cleaner to use a stripping agent on it. If colored cottons have turned yellow after being put in chlorine bleach, nothing can be done to rid the yellow color.

Miss Gannon believes the "no-iron" cottons will have a fresh unwrinkled look if washed properly, but will not have a smooth sheen without a slight press. They definitely can be worn without ironing several times, she adds, but after several washings they require more ironing.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

ONE HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR — NUMBER 30 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1956 TEN CENTS A COPY

Ridgeway To Vote On Annexation

Qualified electors of Ridgeway School District No. 12 will vote Saturday, April 28, on the proposition "Shall this district become annexed to Tecumseh Public Schools?"

Voting hours will be from 1 to 8 p.m. at the school house.

Every person voting on this proposition must be a citizen of the United States, 21 years or older and must have resided in the school district 30 days preceding the election.

There will be three ballots and all persons who qualify as outlined above are eligible to vote on the first and second proposals.

But only property owners may vote on the third proposal which concerns bonded debt.

At one time Ridgeway was a 10-grade school. It now has a modern, four-room building and a large well-equipped playground. Students recently purchased a merry-go-around with money from their citizenship fund to make the playground more attractive.

Classes begin with kindergarten and go through the eighth grade. Teachers there are Mrs. Russell Schultz, Mrs. Clarence Schroeder and Miss Thelma Younglove.

The district has a state equalized valuation of more than $750,000.

During the past 10 years the number of students in the elementary and high school grades has averaged more than 100 each year. More than 20 of this number attended Tecumseh Public Schools each year.

Last March 27 the district's voters held a straw vote to ask the state's permission to hold an election concerning the possible annexation to the Tecumseh Public Schools. The straw vote passed 70 to 19.

Fine Free

The Tecumseh Public Library is offering a real bargain.

Next Tuesday, May 1, overdue books may be returned to the library without the payment of fines.

Persons with overdue books do not have to take the books inside to the desk.

Books that are overdue may be left in the box in front of the door.

Firemen Answer Three Alarms

Tecumseh firemen answered three minor alarms during the past week.

Thursday they were called to the Harlan Dick home at 4460 Macon Rd. A grass fire resulted in no damages.

Friday they were called to the Tecumseh Products Company when a gas line broke. There were no damages.

Saturday they were called to the Herb Daisher farm on M-50 for another grass fire. They kept the flames from spreading to near-by buildings and there were no damages.

Enroll New KG Students May 8

Next year's kindergarten students will be enrolled in the Tecumseh Public Schools the week of May 8.

Earl Greene, elementary principal, states that kindergarten students must be five years old on or before Dec. 1 and parents must present their children's birth certificates at the time of enrollment.

HELP DISPATCH MAIL

Postmaster Jack Metcalf appeals to the mailing public to help his staff in providing better service in dispatching outgoing mail.

He said mail that is to be dispatched in the morning must be in the post office by 8:30 a.m.

And mail that is to be dispatched in the afternoon must be in the post office by 4:30 p.m. to make the last dispatch.

The Silver Lining

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

TOM TIPTON, DIRECTOR of the Presbyterian choir is a marvelous singer and he is quite a jokester. He asked the senior Fred Dickinson what comes after 75 and Fred, right on his toes, said 76. Tom commented: "That's the spirit."

OUR THREE-YEAR-OLD is quite a secretary. Calling home Saturday, I was surprised when he answered in guttural voice "Hello". After recovering, I asked him: "Are you the secretary?" And running it all together, he said: "No, I'm ChristopherAllen-WhiteWarren."

MISS BETH SATTERTHWAITE brought in a wonderful article from the New York Times that describes in great detail the significance of the weekly newspaper. The whole article will be reprinted next week. This paragraph taken from its context will give you the flavor: "Weeklies outnumber dailies by five to one . . . The weekly's print shop and presses may not always turn out pages with metropolitan polish, but as long as people have names there will be, we hope — the weekly newspaper."

COMING HOME FROM Columbus, Ohio, last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll encountered a burning farm house near Delaware, Ohio. Glenn joined other motorists in helping to carry furnishings from the burning building before firemen arrived.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "When the time comes for your work to speak for itself — don't interrupt it!"

CITY WATER HAS GONE to the dogs. At least part of it went to one dog. A Setter (he was a real one — not just a curbstone setter) was seen Monday p.m. drinking from the fountain on the four corners.

RALPH SAGER WAS surprised one early morning last week when he rushed to the fire barns for a fire and after he arrived he discovered there was no fire. His wife thought she heard a fire siren and awakened him about 2 a.m. It is reported Ralph said: "Oh, shucks."

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: A stale article, if you dip it in a good, warm sunny smile, will go off better than a fresh one that you've scowled upon.

Future Teachers Meet Tonight

A Future Teachers' Club will be organized in Tecumseh high school (tonight) Thursday evening, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Boys and girls of the present tenth and eleventh grades who are interested in teaching as a career are urged to attend this meeting. Parents are also invited.

Purposes of the club are to interest students in the history, ethics, and program of the organized teaching profession; to give future teachers some background in training and experience for their future careers; and to help its members to appraise their raptitudes for teaching and plan to meet the requirements in their chosen fields. It is hoped that boys as well as girls will be interested in this new club.

Officers will be elected and an interesting program has been planned. The committee appointed by the Tecumseh Teachers' Club for the purpose of planning and launching a students' organization were: Mrs. Anabel Cadmus, chairman, and Douglas Murdock, Mrs. Helen Sisson, Mrs. Elsie Neitling, and Mrs. Helen Thomas. Mrs. Marcelle Smith also has assisted by arranging a Future Teachers' song for the opening program.

Furnishes Liquor to a Minor Costs

Morris Higgins, 24, of Route 2, Tecumseh, was arrested Monday for furnishing liquor to a minor.

Arrested by Tecumseh police, he pleaded guilty before Justice Robert French Monday and was fined $15 and assessed costs of $8.60.

Harold G. Clark, 17, of Tecumseh was arrested by local police Monday for having beer in his possession. He also appeared before Justice French Monday and was fined $15 and assessed $8.60 in costs.

MAN ARRESTED FOR PASSING SCHOOL BUS

Walter Shea, 36, of Tecumseh was arrested by city police Friday for passing a school bus which had stopped to unload students.

He pleaded not guilty before Justice Robert French Saturday and a bond of $50 was set.

His trial will be held May 2.

Anderson Girls Die on Ives Rd.

Two young girls died early Tuesday morning when a fire destroyed their small, two-story frame home on Ives Rd. three miles south and west of Tecumseh.

Dead are Ruth Ann, 2, and Deborah Sue, 4, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Anderson.

In Herrick Memorial hospital with first, second and third degree burns on his face, arms and chest is their father Leon. Their brother Larry, 10, was also hospitalized with burns but he was discharged Tuesday.

When Tecumseh firemen arrived soon after 2 a.m. the house was enveloped in flames and studding was falling. In about 10 minutes it was razed.

A neighbor Mrs. Ellis Sparks called firemen.

Patrolmen James Vallie and Gene Skir[illegible] a prisoner to Adrian, saw the blaze. They at first thought it was a grass fire. But when they turned off Occidental Rd. onto Ives Rd. they saw the house burning.

Mr. Anderson was standing in the yard when the police arrived.

The patrolmen radioed for help and Wilbur Vogel, sheriff's deputy, sped to the scene.

There are many conflicting reports but it was determined that all members of the family were sleeping down stairs when the fire started.

The Andersons had 11 children, but only five were in the house at the time of the fire. In addition to Deborah, Ruth and Larry, Karen, 15, Claudia, 13, and Carol, 9, were sleeping.

Two of their sons are in the armed forces and three of their daughters are married.

Claudia and Karen awakened to find their room full of smoke.

Mr. Anderson helped the older children out of the house while Mrs. Anderson went to the neighbors to call firemen. But he could not re-enter because of the flames. It could not be determined how he and Larry were burned.

Tecumseh fireman Charlie Manley said safety valves on two gas tanks blew while firemen pumped water on the burning ruins. And six oil tanks that fed the space heater were blazing.

Cause of the fire is undetermined. Mrs. Anderson said she smelled gas earlier in the evening. But firemen believe that the gas would have exploded. They believe that the fire might have been caused from a faulty space heater.

The gas stove was in the kitchen. Claudia said she first saw the flames in the kitchen.

Firemen searched the burned ruins for two hours before they were able to find the charred remains of the girls. They could not tell which rooms the girls were in. The first body was found at 3:30 a.m. and the second one at 4 a.m. Both bodies were on bed springs.

They at first thought they were searching for only one girl because Mrs. Anderson kept calling "Deborah Ruth Ann." She ran the names in so firemen thought she was calling only one child.

Fireman Manley said: "We were certainly thankful that we had our portable lights. I don't know what we would have done without them."

The house was owned by Harold Hassenzahl. The Anderson family had been renting the house for four years. Mr. Anderson is employed by Consumers Power Co.

Mrs. Anderson and the three girls spent the remainder of the night Monday with the Sparks.

Double funeral services for the children will be held from the Braun Funeral Home in Adrian Friday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Lenawee Hills Memorial Park.

CITY WILL PICK UP

Ctiy trucks will pick up rubbish placed at the curb for the next three weeks.

Rubbish will be picked up twice a week.

MAN ARRESTED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Jay Campbell, 108 Hiawatha, was arrested by Tecumseh police Monday on a disorderly conduct charge.

He is in the county jail awaiting sentence.

Family Will Receive Help from Fund

The Leon Anderson family will receive aid from the emergency fund of the Tecumseh Community Fund.

It has not been determined yet just what type of help this will be because an investigation of the needs has not been completed. Some household goods already have been collected.

But fund officials do not know where the Andersons will be living. As soon as they are in a home again adequate provisions for them will be made.

Another kind of help might be forthcoming from a plan devised by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees will collect money for the family. No solicitation will be made but those who wish to make contributions to the family may call Butler Motor Sales at 289, the HERALD at 476 or John's Gulf Service at 56-J and the funds will be collected and turned over to the Andersons.

New Track Was Used Wednesday

The new track around the recreation field, constructed through the joint efforts of the city and the board of education was used for the first time Wednesday when Monroe Catholic Central and Tecumseh met in a Southeastern League track meet.

The HERALD went to press too early to report the results of the meet.

SHARON CLAXTON SANG WITH NATIONAL CHORUS

Miss Sharon Claxton, Tecumseh high school senior, was one of 12 students from Michigan who attended the National Music Educators' Golden Anniversary Conference in St. Louis, Mo. last week.

She sang with the National High School Chorus which was directed by Dr. Maynard Klein of the University of Michigan.

Only three students in Michigan sang in this chorus. The other state students represented were in band and orchestra.

Mrs. Moore's Music Library Completed

This week the filing and cataloging of the musical library of the late Mrs. R. S. Moore which has been presented to the Tecumseh Public Library by her husband was completed.

The latest addition to Mr. Moore's gift is a commodious new bookcase in golden birch to hold all the books pertaining to music including those which were part of her collection.

Mr. Moore already had given a metal filing case to hold the sheet music she had gathered during her musical career and had furnished the supplies used by the Music Club in preparing it for use by the public.

Mr. Moore feels that this is exactly the kind of a project which Mrs. Moore would have approved. Music was a large part of the life of Grace Heck Moore. She studied under many teachers, the most important of whom was Professor Gill of Ann Arbor who had spent much time in musical circles in Europe.

Some of the books to be placed in the new case were given to her by Mr. Gill and include typical music of practically every European country.

Mrs. Moore was tireless in her interest in promoting music in Tecumseh. For more than 20 years she directed an elaborate Christmas pageant each holiday season in the Baptist church, collecting costumes for the various Biblical characters and making the affair so successful that it became necessary to give two performances each year.

She also directed the all-church Easter Cantata of around 75 voices which was held in the Presbyterian church for many years and there are those who still remember with pleasure the musical garden parties she gave.

During the war years she toured the county with other musicians and speakers to raise funds for Red Cross and to sell War Bonds.

The gift to Tecumseh musicians just completed by her husband is a fitting memorial to Mrs. Moore.

Silver Solder Stolen at Products

Silver solder valued at about $2100 was stolen from the Tecumseh Products Company by a thief or thieves early Monday morning.

Used to fuse the ends of copper tubing, the solder costs $7 a pound. The 12 rolls taken from a stock room at the plant and the four rolls taken off the assembly line totalled about 300 pounds.

A maintenance man saw the material being carried from the stock room but by the time he alerted one of the plant guards the thief had gone.

Tecumseh and state police surmise that the material was taken from the building and carried to a fence where it was either slid underneath or transported over with the use of a wire.

GOP Names Delegates to State Convention

One hundred county Republicans attended the annual convention of the Republican party in Adrian Wednesday night, April 18.

J. C. Beardsley, chairman, presided and later William W. Reid of Adrian was named permanent chairman and Mrs. Patricia Reed of Britton was named secretary.

Mrs. Florence Howe of Tecumseh reported for the committee on permanent organizations.

The resolutions committee passed a resolution commending the work of Rep. Rollo G. Conlin of Tipton, Sen. Elmer Porter of Blissfield and Congressman George Meader of Ann Arbor. The group went on record offering its support to the three men for any office which they might seek.

Tecumseh area delegates named to the state Republican Convention which will be held in Detroit May 5 were H. H. Hanna and Mrs. Florence Howe, delegates; and Mrs. J. C. Beardsley and T. J. Wagner, alternates.

Also named were: Ridgeway, Deerfield, Ogden and Riga townships—J. V. Ferman and John Fatchett, delegates; Mrs. Patricia Reed and Fred E. King, alternates.

Franklin, Macon and Clinton townships—Mrs. Faun Platt and William Schnierla, delegates; Howard Evans and Grover Schwartz, alternates.

BOB WILLIAMSON

Bob Williamson Elected Veep of Michigan Jaycees

Bob Williamson, a charter member of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been elected a state vice-president of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He was elected at the third district meeting in Saline Wednesday, April 18. Two hundred Jaycees from Tecumseh, Adrian, Hudson, Monroe, Milan, Carleton, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Chelsea, Manchester, Blissfield, Clinton and Saline attended the meeting. All of the clubs will be under Bob's jurisdiction.

Jaycees from Tecumseh attending were Journey Stoner, Doug Murdock, Bob Laidlaw, Bob Murray, Lewis Greenman, Joe Conway, Preston Caswell, Don Brazee, Merlyn Downing, Dick Kahle, Pete Dermeyer, Bob Hamilton, Don Withrow, Bob Wallace, Ray Shelton, Dave Faling and Bill Pace.

At present Bob is public relations chairman for the Michigan Jaycees and he is vice-chairman on the national convention committee.

Mr. Appopolous (John Naser) sells Ruth (Ruth Meads) a bill of goods on the wonderful studio "apartment" he wants to rent.

Juniors Score in Three-Act Comedy

"My Sister Eileen," a sophisticated comedy, was expertly presented by the Tecumseh high school junior class to capacity audiences last Friday and Saturday nights.

Directed by Miss Jacqueline Egan, the play starred Ruth Meads and Cathy Cornell in the top roles. Every member of the large cast performed capably but John Naser as Mr. Appopolous, the scheming landlord who fancied himself quite an artist, and Pat Fero as the Wreck stole most of the scenes.

Even the bit parts were done with finesse. Outstanding in their "fat" parts were Don Greene and Fred Deaner as a pair of drunks; Jack Purcell as Chick; Rita Crosby as Violet and Don Greene, Nick Touborg, Eugene Damon, Charles Foreman, Neil O'Hara and Charles Hand as admirals.

The rollicking conga dance of Ruth and Eileen with the admirals was one of the most frothy and fun-provoked ever seen on an amateur stage.

Romantic and rustic roles were taken by Scott Harvey and Bill Lopshire.

The production was strikingly faithful to the original stage play and the scenery and special effects (especially the dynamiting) added a lot to the effectiveness of the play's atmosphere and merriment.

Pask–Shepherd Vows Exchanged Saturday Morning

Billie Jane Shepherd of Adrian and Calvin Raymond Pask, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond Pask of Tecumseh were united in marriage in a 10 a.m. ceremony last Saturday in St. Elizabeth Catholic church in Tecumseh.

MRS. CALVIN PASK

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd of Rt. 1, Adrian was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Sexton of Palmyra. The Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with vases of white carnations.

The bridal couple was attended by Mrs. Betty Strand, sister of the groom and Fay Greene as best man. The ushers were Lewis Nagy Jr. and Delbert Reiniche.

Music before and during the ceremony was supplied by Mrs. Ben Hammack at the organ and the soloist was Mrs. Don Blesing.

Miss Shepherd wore a tailored suit in lieutenant blue. Her hat, shoes and gloves were white as was her corsage and she carried a white prayer book and rosary. Mrs. Strand's suit was medium blue with matching accessories and her corsage was of rose colored carnations.

Mrs. Shepherd wore a navy blue dress for her daughter's wedding with white accessories and the groom's mother was in light blue and gold. Her accessories also were white and both had carnation corsages in rose pink.

At 1:30 p.m. 75 guests attended the wedding reception given in the auditorium of St. Elizabeth church when a five-tiered wedding cake was served. Its decorations were rose buds and birds with the traditional miniature bride and groom.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a trip to northern Michigan and the Pask cottage at South Branch.

The bride attended Madison Agricultural high school while the groom is a graduate of Catholic Central in Adrian and is employed as a time checker at Stubnitz Greene Corp. They will live at Sand Lake.

Women Attend County Federation

A large group from Tecumseh representing the members of the Monday and Business and Professional Woman's Clubs went to Addison Thursday for the 51st meeting of the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Three women from Tecumseh had a part in the day's proceedings: Mrs. E. H. McConnell as chairman of the Federation music committee arranged the musical numbers of the program; Mrs. W. G. Waldron was also a member of that committee and played for the assembly singing and Mrs. Herbert Murphy, who had just retired as president of the Tecumseh Monday Club was elected treasurer of the Federation for the coming year.

Mrs. Murphy also gave the report of the year's activities of the Monday Club and Mrs. James Artman reported for the Business and Professional Club.

The meeting was held in the Addison Community church and was presided over by Mrs. Eugene Ryan of Addison, Federation president. Luncheon was served in the Masonic Hall by the ladies of the O.E.S.

The main speaker of the afternoon was Dr. E. Robert Chable of Hillsdale College whose topic was, "Your Philosophy of Life." Miss Jacqueline Rucker of Tecumseh, music scholarship winner sang "Velvet Shoes" as part of the musical program. She was accompanied by Miss Betty Day.

New Federation officers elected are: president, Mrs. J. Cleon Mason of Blissfield; first vice president, Mrs. Harold Theilan of Adrian; second vice president, Mrs. W. P. Rogers of Palmyra; recording secretary, Mrs. Lear VanValkenburg of Jasper and treasurer, Mrs. Murphy of Tecumseh. Mrs. Verle Hall of Blissfield was appointed corresponding secretary and Mrs. John Keller of Jasper, parliamentarian.

Those attending from Tecumseh included Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Herbert Murphy, Mrs. T. Rentschler, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, Mrs. Edward Harper, Miss Edith Ingersoll, Mrs. Jeanie Satterlee, Mrs. James Artman, Mrs. E. H. McConnell, Mrs. Mertie Luce, Mrs. Carlos Jones, Mrs. Paul Hadsell, Miss Lillian Cannon, Mrs. Edna Codling, Mrs. George Green Sr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan.

BIGELOWS HONORED AT RECEPTION SUNDAY

The recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow was the occasion for a reception given in their honor by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow and Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs Barber Sunday afternoon. One hundred and twenty-five friends and relatives came to the Fellowship Center of the Presbyterian church between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. to offer their congratulations.

A color scheme of orchid and white was carried out in the decorations, the refreshment table being covered with an heirloom cloth of Mrs. Bigelow's family. It was centered with a bouquet of white flowers arranged in an epergne which had been a wedding present of her mother. White flowers also decorated the small serving tables.

Mrs. Percy Heidenreich, Mrs. Earl Wonderly and Mrs. Robert Stoll of Ann Arbor presided at the tea and coffee services and friends of the two hostesses assisted in serving. Mrs. Bigelow had received a white orchid for the occasion.

Guests attended from Saline, Ann Arbor, Chelsea and Palmyra as well as Tecumseh and its environs.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
Executive Office □ Lansing

PROCLAMATION

CIVIL AIR PATROL WEEK

American national security and general safety have been substantially benefited by the efforts of the Civil Air Patrol. This year marks the Fifteenth Anniversary of this exemplary volunteer organization.

During the war, the Civil Air Patrol patrolled our shores, and even though their planes were unarmed, their vigilance resulted in the destruction of enemy shipping. In peace time, they have guarded the borders of the United States and performed many errands of mercy.

In recognition of their services during World War II, the United States Government has awarded eight hundred twenty-four air medals to members of the Civil Air Patrol.

It is more than fitting that the citizens of Michigan pay tribute to the work of this dedicated group, which, in addition to its public service, is continuing to foster an educational program for youth in aviation.

THEREFORE, I, G. Mennen Williams, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the week of April 22 to 28, 1956, as in Michigan, and urge all our citizens to recognize the great contributions to our nation's welfare that is being made by the Civil Air Patrol, and join in honoring this organization.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Michigan, this twenty-sixth day of March, in the Year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred Fifty-six, and of the Commonwealth the One Hundred Twentieth.

Mennen Williams

Driscolls Attend Insurance Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll, 7 West Brown St. were in Columbus, Ohio, last Friday and Saturday, attending the twenty-seventh annual Agents' Convention of the Motorists Mutual Insurance Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Driscoll said that there were over 750 agents, employees, and their wives attending from Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

The Friday program was primarily one of fellowship, and following the evening banquet, the Motorists Mutual Chorus of 35 Home Office employees entertained with a musical program.

Saturday, Byron W. Snyder, vice-president, sales division, presided over the business session and announced that the company was introducing two new policies, one insuring dwelling and contents, and the other a farmer's family liability policy.

Howard Arnsbarger, vice-president of the fire insurance, said the new dwelling and contents policy is to be called "home protection" insurance, and is designed to provide liability and theft protection, as well as the coverages normally found in dwelling and contents fire and wind policies.

MEET THE NEW BOSS
in the Performance Department!

Come in and Drive the Surprise Car of the Year!

The word's getting around fast—the big, handsome husky you see here is the big surprise that caught the industry a year or so off balance!

But it didn't come as any surprise to Pontiac engineers that they had the year's performance sensation.

They knew all along that it would be, because they started from scratch and designed the most modern and efficient high-compression. high-torque V-8 engine in America!

Then they tailored an all-new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* especially for Pontiac's high-stepping Strato-Streak power plant—and for nothing else! The blazing action of 227 horses is yours in a flash with the positive, no-lag action of gears—plus an amazing liquid coupling for a smooth, uninterrupted flow of power to the wheels.

Bring yourself up to date—come in and pilot the surprise car of the year—you'll soon see what the talk's all about!

And don't be afraid to ask about price, for that's another pleasant surprise—the one that will let you boss the best on the road for a great deal less than you probably think! *An extra-cost option

The car says GO and the price won't stop you!

REASONS WHY ... CARS ARE SWITCH... PLYMOUTH

An insurance program used at Wilson Motor Sales, Inc., has come in handy to a number of persons who have become ill after they bought used or new cars.

In Bill Walker's case the insurance sa[illegible] the loss of two cars. Soon after Bill bought the cars at Wilson's he was struck down with tuberculosis and placed in the san at Howell, Mich.

To date nine payments have been made on the cars. The insurance company has made the payments.

Walker said: "I don't know what would have happened if I had not had this insurance. It certainly has been a boon to me and now, when I get out of the san, I'll still have my cars. Words can't tell how much this insurance meant to me."

A number of other car buyers also would have lost their cars had it not been for the insurance. In one month the insurance company paid 21 claims. The company made from one to five payments on each claim.

Cost of the program ranges from 90 cents to $1.80 per monthly premium.

Further information about the program can be had by calling Wilson Motor Sales, Inc. at Tecumseh 288. (Adv.)

CANCER DRIVE PLANS MADE

The Ridgeway township Cancer Society board met recently to make final plans for their annual drive for funds. A house to house canvas will be made throughout the township and the villages of Britton and Ridgeway will take part in a porchlight drive the evening of April 30. Campfire Girls will assist in this drive. Members of the committee are Mrs. Edwin Spohr, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Forrest Barrett.

LIBRARIAN REPORTS

Anne Fairbanks, new librarian at the Britton branch of the Lenawee County library reports that a total of 1100 books are now available in the Britton library. There are 350 persons using cards to receive books from the library. The library is located in the fire hall and is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS

The Britton Women's Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt with Mrs. Ford Exelby as co-hostess. The music committee of the club presented a program announced by Mrs. Jay Ferman which included a piano solo by Sharon Smith, vocal duet by Marilyn Mallock and Darlene Purple accompanied on the piano by Dora Schobert and a piano solo by Irene Bryon. Mrs. Exelby read the history of the Interlochen music camp and showed pictures of the camp.

Mrs. Rudolph Koczman, Mrs. Jennings Frayer, Mrs. Elwood Fairbanks, Mrs. Kenneth Knudson, Mrs. Harold Ousterhout, Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield, Mrs. Joe O'Neil, Mrs. Joe DeVillo, Mrs. Walter Prill and Mrs. William Cundiff attended the Campfire and Blue Bird tea held for leaders, sponsors and mothers in Adrian last week.

Mr. and Mrs. DeVane Sponsler of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palmer were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Palmer.

Kenneth Bortel was in Chicago for four days recently, sent there by the local F.F.A.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff, Mrs. Ida Miller, Mrs. Anna McCarbery and Miss Pearl Smith attended a visitation of Rebekah lodges of district 10 last Thursday evening in Ann Arbor.

Lois Neidlinger, Charlene Prielipp, Margaret Prill, Charlynn Fairbanks, Janet Beal, Donna Ivan, Carolyn Scott, Nina Crutchfield, Mary Lou Fairbanks and Judy Hoag, all Co-He-Wo Campfire Girls accompanied by their leaders Mrs. Rudolph Koczman and Mrs. Virginia Crutchfield were guests at an international tea at the University of Michigan last Thursday. Seventy-two different countries were represented at the tea.

Several members of the Britton Rebekah lodge attended a meeting of the Tecumseh lodge Friday evening when William Smith of Britton was initiated into the lodge.

The children and grandchildren of Harry Tucker pleasantly surprised him last Wednesday evening when they came to help him celebrate his 65th birthday. The occasion also honored the birthday of his daughter, Mrs. Helen Flint. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Tucker of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Tucker and sons of Macon, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Tucker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Flint and sons of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ries and daughter of Ridgeway and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Tucker and family.

Mrs. Ray Sluyter Again Heads Business Women

The Rev. Vaughn Whited was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's Club Monday evening. His subject was the situation in the Near East, and as he had visited the area rather recently his comments carried added weight. He described the political and geographical circumstances and gave his listeners a new perspective of the usual news releases.

Mrs. W. G. Waldron was program chairman and she was assisted by Mrs. Frank Lasky, Mrs. Clayton Greenwald and Mrs. Hardcastle. The hostess committee was Mrs. Edgar Buttolph, Mrs. Kenton Hunt, Mrs. Harry Creger and Miss Margaret Lowry.

The program was opened with a piano duet played by Mrs. Waldron and her daughter, Mrs. John Hamilton, a march by Wagner. A report of the County Federation of Women's Clubs was given by Mrs. James Artman, who had represented the club at the meeting last week.

The sale of the new Tecumseh city directory was discussed during the business meeting and members received allotments to sell. It was voted that the club would cooperate with the other service clubs of the city in sponsoring the mayors' dinner during Michigan Week. As this date will fall on the evening of the regular May meeting, members are to attend the dinner instead and there will be no business meeting for that month.

Mrs. Ray Sluyter, club president and Mrs. Charles O'Neill are to be interviewed on radio station WABJ May 10. The time of the broadcast was announced as 11:30 a.m.

A report of the nominating committee was accepted and resulted in the election of the same officers who have served this last year. They are: president, Mrs. Sluyter; vice president, Mrs. R. W. Dixon; second vice president, Miss Lucile Hawley; recording secretary, Mrs. Cecile Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Drake and treasurer, Miss Ann Carson.

The evening was ended by a white elephant sale with Mrs. George French as auctioneer, which resulted in a profit to the club of $19.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Glenn VanDenbergh will observe the golden anniversary of their marriage Sunday, May 6. They will be at home to their many friends from 3 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, the reception being given by their children.

May Louise Reed and Glenn VanDenbergh were married May 2, 1906, in the home of the groom's parents in Howard City, Mich., by the Rev. H. W. Lawson. The first seven years of their married life were spent in Howard City after which they lived in both Cadillac and Battle Creek, coming to Tecumseh 23 years ago. Mr. VanDenbergh has been engaged in banking all his adult life.

They are the parents of four daughters, Catherine, who is Mrs. William Hancock of Grand Rapids; Elizabeth, Mrs. Robert Lowry of Winchester, Mass.; Helen, Mrs. Walter W. Sauer of Sturgis and Margaret, who is Mrs. Lawrence VanDyke of Grand Rapids.

They also have four grandsons and four granddaughters. All the family will be present for the Sunday reception. Mr. and Mrs. VanDenbergh request that gifts be omitted. (Photo by Dixon's Studio)

Smith Attends Service School

Albert Smith, serviceman of Tecumseh Farm Equipment, local International Harvester farm equipment dealer, recently attended a two-day service school on baler inspection and overhaul at the International Harvester district office, Toledo, Ohio.

This school was held as part of a national blue ribbon service training program for International Harvester dealers' servicemen throughout the United States.

Mr. Smith attended an earlier training school on engine overhaul and now also holds a certificate of qualification in that field.

While the service training is a refresher course in ordinary shop procedure, it is intended primarily to familiarize the service man with the very newest changes in machines and service equipment.

According to Al Merz, owner of Tecumseh Farm Equipment, International Harvester Company's service training programs such as this make it possible for his firm to offer users of Harvester equipment the highest quality service by men with the very latest know-how in the farm machinery field.

Committees Are Named for Kitchen Tour

S. Newell Wisner Died Monday

S. Newell Wisner, who for nearly all of his 80 years had lived on the family homestead in Franklin township, died Monday morning in Herrick Memorial hospital. He had been failing in health for several years and had been a patient at the hospital since Friday.

Mr. Wisner was born in Seward, Neb., the son of S. Newell and Augusta Blanche Wisner on Jan. 12, 1876, and came to Michigan with his parents when he was a year old. The family settled then on the farm on Wisner highway. June, 1905 he married Julie E. Daniels of Pentecost who died in 1944. He was a member of the Tipton Grange and the Farm Bureau.

Survivors are one son, Edward L. Wisner of Tecumseh; three daughters, Irene E. of Milford, Mrs. Ralph Ruesink of Tipton and Mrs. Clayton L. Greenwald of Tecumseh. Two brothers, Clarence of Tipton and Carl of Chicago preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Wisner were held Wednesday afternoon at the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Gordon Blossom of Albion in charge. Burial was in the Tipton cemetery.

OWN A BEAUTIFUL HOME

Here is a brand new listing for an older three bedroom property of a kind we have had many requests for. This house has six rooms, garage, screened porch and old shade. It is two blocks from school and two blocks from down town. The full price is only $7,500.

We have a very nice income property in Britton. This property has two lots. There are four rooms and bath up, and six rooms and bath down. The annual tax is $108. 30 days possession. Pictures at office.

Four family income property on East Chicago Blvd. Total potential income of $265. Corner lot. Property in good repair.

Two family income property on South Pearl Street.

Two bedroom ranch style home one mile out. Attached garage, black top drive, aluminum storms and screens, gas heat, beautifully landscaped yard. Only $9,500.

Charming three bedroom home on East Pottawatamie Street. Excellent condition. Automatic oil heat, water softener, large screened porch. Can be purchased on contract. Shown by appointment.

New three bedroom ranch style in Indian Acres. Lot completely improved with paved street, curb and gutter, public sidewalks and drive sidewalks. Home has full basement with gas heat, gas hot water heater, copper tube plumbing. Living room dining area is 13' x 24'-6". Ceramic tiled bath with tub and shower. Oak floors and birch flush doors. This home can be purchased on G.I. loan with $1,000 cash down, of FHA loan with $2,100 cash down.

YOUR HOME IS WAITING

at McCoy's

JUST LISTED. Ted Glauser's home in Herrick Park. This is a beautiful, 3-bedroom house with full basement. Priced to sell.

199 ACRE DAIRY FARM. House modern except for furnace. Twenty-one stanchions, grade A dairy, 65 acres work ground, rest is pasture. Could be a sportsman's paradise. Borders small spring-fed lake. Only $100 per acre. Ten miles from Tecumseh.

We have an extra nice Brick located in Herrick Park. This Home is priced to sell and has the many features all women want.

In the Park also we have a 3 bedroom ranch type bath and a half, many builtins. Large lot possession about June 1.

Out on Murray Drive We have Myles Runk's home for sale. This is an extra nice 4 bedroom home. You have to go through this to like it.

Over on Bidwell St. at 214 we have a house that is worth the money. The owner is willing to help a good party and carry a contract on this home.

Wayne Selders has 2 custom homes on Ternes rd. we are offering for sale. These are not run of the mill homes. They have the extras you want for comfort.

Right down town next to Jack's Market there is a 3 bedroom home we're going to sell within the next 30 days. This will be sold on a contract to the highest offer. Better get down here and make one.

If you are a bit of a gambler there is a place on US-112 with 5½ acres of land 100 ft. of which is on Cleveland lake. There is money to be made on this.

We have a nice 10 acres of land over north of Clinton. It's got some fruit trees, a good chicken coop, and real nice home. You should look at this.

If there is any one in the city of Tecumseh that wants a good business or if they know of any one they want to spread the word on this. WE HAVE JUST LISTED EDDIE CLARK'S STORE. The whole thing is for sale. Right across from the Dairy Queen.

Elmer Wilt wants to sell his 157 acres. You people who know land will want to see this. It's close to town and worth every penny Elmer wants for it.

Harry Farley will sell his Farm. It's got a good 1000 peach trees plus land for truck farming. A real nice home on it. Better think this over.

This is another view of the rubble caused from the fire at the Leon Anderson house on Ives Rd. Tuesday morning. Note the one oil drum at the left, the crumpled television set in the center and the bed at the right. Harold Warren and Harold Easton look over the results. The fire was so hot that it ignited a large stump and trees near where the house stood.

Local Topics

Mrs. Minnie Lamkin, who has been ill for some time at the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hall entered Parrett Nursing Home this week.

Information received through Mrs. Ronald Wells of Louisville, Ky., indicates that the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carlson is now much more encouraging. Mr. Carlson has been moved to Norton Memorial hospital where Mrs. Carlson is a patient. His room is 426 South Building, while hers is 525 in the same building. The hospital is located at the corner of 3rd and Oak streets. Both sustained broken ribs in addition to other injuries, she had five and Mr. Carlson nine. Their three children are all in Louisville for the time being.

GRANGE WILL MEET

Howard Heath, who is farm reporter for radio station WPAG Ann Arbor will speak at the Thursday evening meeting of the Tecumseh Grange. His topic will be "The Economic Outlook in Farming Today and in the Future." A potluck supper at 7 p.m. will precede the regular meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Escott and Mr. and Mrs. Don Escott at the head of the supper committee.

High Styles Reflect The Roaring '20's

History is repeating itself in milady's fashions. The straightline styles of the "roaring twenties" are very much back in the picture today.

Fashion magazines are sporting the straight dress line with almost no waist which is loosely fitting and the hip length boxy jackets. Also reminiscent of the twenties, points out Mrs. Margaret Hearn, professor of textiles and clothing at Michigan State University, is the idea of the ensemble such as a dress with a coat or jacket.

The trend is also making popular the wrap-around coat which in the 1920's was often fastened with one large hoop at the hip level. Along with the straight slim style are the short hair cuts and the posture referred to in the twenties as the debutante slouch. This posture is today seen largely only in the high fashion magazines.

Helmet-looking hat and cloches which were also popular thirty years ago have been good style for the past couple years, says Mrs. Hearn.

One difference in the two eras is the type of materials used. Today we are very conscious of textures and the vast veriety of new fabrics; in the twenties, dresses were mostly silk and wool crepe, chiffon, georgette and broadcloth.

Why this trend back to the styles of 30 years ago? Mrs. Hearn explains that this trend is really quite unusual. Most fashions have gone in cycles, she points out! that is, until the late 1930's. Then, fashions were dictated by the war. But, it is not time for styles to go back to the twenties. She tells that designers have been trying for about 10 years to get this straight line back in fashion. But why it has caught on so universally right now really cannot be explained.

The first complete laboratory for studying what goes on in a railroad car as it cannonballs across the country has been set up by the Fisher Body Division of General Motors.

Edward K. Tazzia, research and development engineer, Fisher Body Material Handling Section, flies jet fighters on week-ends as a Captain in the USAFR and pilots the world's shortest railroad on week-days.

Material handling is one of the most important phases of the automobile industry. The technique of loading and transporting the component parts of an automobile from fabricating plant to assembly plant requires the same allegiance to minute detail, care and skill, as does the technique of die and toolmaking.

In order to understand what happens to roofs, quarter-panels, deck-lids and other components in transit and to better prepare them for the rigors of such journeys, the Fisher Body Material Handling and Traffic Section has built the world's shortest railroad. Known as the T.A.B.W. (for There's Always A Better Way) this railroad, consisting of an exact duplicate of a freight car, goes absolutely nowhere but in one hour's time duplicates all the shake, rattle and roll experienced by a rail car in 1,000 miles of travel across country. Delicate instruments, electronically controlled, record every vibration, upward, downward and sideways.

Using the knowledge gained in this laboratory of torture, Fisher Body material handling engineers design and build loading and packaging aids that assure safer arrival of glass, metal and other components at the assembly plant.

Fisher Body requires the use of thousands of railroad cars to keep the supply lines filled to its network of 35 plants in 22 cities in 11 states. In addition, it must provide body parts to seven other General Motors assembly plants in this country and 22 foreign plants.

Thanks to the T.A.B.W. Railroad, engineers can, without leaving Fisher Body's Plant No. 40 in Detroit, study every bounce, sway and jolt one of these cars may receive on any roadbed coast to coast.

A STORY IN a national publication tells of an electronic "brain" which, when fed certain information pertaining to the abilities of major league baseball teams over the past three years, picked the Tigers to win the American League pennant.

The highly intricate machine picked Brooklyn in the National League, a more natural selection, but when doubters thought the machine had blown its fuse on the American League choice and fed it information again and again, the nod was always to the Tigers.

Curiously, the "brain" was 100 per cent correct on all four major college bowl selections last Jan. 2, even calling the scores within a few points of the final figures.

No one in the Tiger organization, however, is putting that much stock in the "mechanical marvel" and predicting a pennant.

Human Factors Count

The Yankees, Indians, White Sox and Red Sox, the four teams that finished ahead of the Tigers last season, merely smile and point to more human factors than statistics, like power hitters, fast ball pitchers and strong reserves, all of which contribute mightily to winning ball games. They think they've lots more of them than the Tigers.

The experts, in fact, see Detroit doing no better than last year. They have some support for their appraisal in the team's dismal showing in spring training.

But where Manager Bucky Harris and his aides won't predict a pennant for the Tigers, neither do they expect to finish in the second division again this year. This is an honest conviction.

As one insider put it, "What do they expect us to do, lay down and play only as well as last year just because they expect it from us?"

The Tigers are confident that as the season wears on, their anticipated improvement in hitting and pitching will begin to tell and become a potent factor in the race. About their defensive abilities there is little question.

Mound Corps Strengthened

This writer, for one, is convinced that the Tigers are vastly improved in pitching. The trade that brought back Virgil Trucks and the increased skill of Frank Lary, Bill Hoeft, Duke Maas and the rest, plus the prowess of such established veterans as Ned Garver and Steve Gromek, should help the team win many of the close ones that they had a habit of losing last year.

Coach Joe Gordon, who should know, feels that the team will have more punch at the plate and remain strong defensively. He looks for young Reno Bertoia to bat around .270 and hit 15 home runs if he plays at second base every day.

This would be a vast improvement over last season's results at the same position and could be the keynote for progress in the standings.

The Tigers' biggest problem is bench strength. If any of the regulars get hurt, look out.

Golfers Beat Hornets and Make History

Tecumseh high school golfers made history Monday when they defeated Hillsdale in a match 12 to 4.

It marked the first time in the four years of golf at Tecumseh that the Indians were able to win over the Hornets.

Caoch Doug Murdock's linksmen had a total of 339.

Val Spangler led the foursome with an 80. He was followed by Dave Lamkin with 84; Ron Gurtzweiler with 87; and Dick Baker with 88.

Coach Murdock said: "This was a wonderful team victory and it served as a moral victory, too. The Indians' are now high and I believe they have an excellent chance in the regional this year."

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Lake and stream improvements totaling $378,833 for the 1956-57 fiscal year were approved by the Conservation Commission.

Significant in the over-all program is a greater emphasis on projects designed to improve warm-water fishing. Heretofore almost all of the Conservation Department's lake and stream work was geared to demands for improvement of stream fishing. Next year's program calls for an expenditure of $50,000 in lake development.

The Conservation Commission approved the setting aside of several parcels of land in the Houghton Lake State Forest for management of prairie chickens in an attempt to reverse the downward trend among these game birds.

The parcels would vary from 40 to 120 acres and would be located in eastern Missaukee county. Total acreage probably would not exceed 500.

At its April meeting, the Commission also approved expenditure of $750 for development of a wildlife flooding project in the Haymarsh state game area, Mecosta county.

The first severe fire losses of Michigan's critical spring forest fire season were reported last week as 60 fires damaged 928 acres of public and private forests and grasslands.

Prior to last week's fires, only 127 acres had been burned this year.

Hardest hit during the last week was district 12, which includes the extreme southeastern part of Michigan and the thumb area. Eleven fires in the district damaged 458 acres.

Fires damaged 592 acres in the southern half of the lower peninsula, 191 acres in the northern lower peninsula and 145 acres in the upper peninsula.

Michigan sportsmen turned out in force April 15 for their annual inspection of deer conditions in northern parts of the state.

Some 450 persons, including sportsmen, outdoor writers, photographers and other interested persons, took part in inspection tours out of Grayling, Mio, Baldwin and Manistee.

The inspection tours, requested by sportsmen, offered a first hand look at the effects of winter on the state's deer herd. Conservation Department workers pointed out and explained the effect and extent of deer browsing.

Dead deer were autopsied and sportsmen were shown how starvation losses are identified.

Most persons on the tours expressed concern over range conditions in the more critical areas where over-browsing and deer starvations were noted.

Conservation Department photographers were on hand to film tours for the Department's weekly television show and private photographers also took pictures for

Civil Defense and Tornadoes

The devasting tornadoes in western Michigan April 2 once again prove the need for a trained civil defense disaster force.

Within minutes after the tornadoes struck, alerted Civil Defense personnel were on the scene. Their swift action and cooperation was outstanding.

These are but a few of the highlights of actions which contributed to relief of Michigan's tornado victims of three weeks ago:

Kent County Director Tom Walsh heard of approaching danger at 3 p.m. in a flash from the weather bureau. Walsh immediately began notifying his Kent County Civil Defense organization and local law enforcement officers. He called civil defense deputies in charge of emergncy food, ambulances, housing, rescue and communications. A call to the Civil Defense Medical Director provided 50 stand-by blood volunteers. By 4 p.m. every key man in the civil defense system had been put on the alert.

The actual tornado was sighted about 7 p.m. by a volunteer ground observer corps crew located 10 miles south of Grand Rapids. "They tracked that tornado as if it were a squadron of enemy planes," said Walsh.

With the tornado approaching, more disaster forces were put on stand-by, including 1,000 national guardsmen, 200 auxiliary policemen, the State Police, 300 Grand Rapids and Kent County trucks, and other heavy equipment volunteered by private industry.

Within minutes after the tornado struck, 20 civil defense workers arrived in heavily hit Standale. The whole first echelon of civil defense was on the move. They were soon followed by the Salvation Army and Red Cross. Civil defense auxiliary police joined sheriffs, deputies and State Police in clearing roads and routing traffic. Bulldozers provided by private industry arrived on the scene to clear debris.

Four of the Michigan Office of Civil Defense's ten rescue trucks, dispatched earlier, arrived soon after the tornadoes hit.

At the request of local officials, staff members of the MOCD arrived on the scene. MOCD Chief of the Division of Local Services, Lawrence Dark, helped staff the control center of the Kent County Office of Civil Defense.

Field Representative, Russ Martin, advised and worked closely with Kurt Lock, of the Kent County Civil Defense, on the mass feeding program. In the first 72 hours after the disaster, the mass feeding teams fed up to 2,000 people per day.

The action of the Civil Defense units in this Michigan disaster was a fine example of what can be accomplished when it strikes.

The New Schools

A lot of things could be said about the 14 rural schools that have annexed to the Tecumseh Public Schools. But two aspects of the total annexation stand out:

The 14 districts have a combined valuation in excess of $7,000,000 which will help to spread the building bond debt around over a larger number of home owners.

Secondly, for the most part the school buildings annexed are in a remarkable state of repair. Those school boards in the rural areas really kept up their schools. Most of the buildings will be a decided credit to the Tecumseh District.

JETS for Young Engineers

Secretary of State Dulles and Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Strauss have said the long-range security of the country may be seriously affected by the continued shortage of scientists, engineers and other specialists.

Russia is producing about 60,000 trained engineers annually while colleges and universities in this country are graduating only 22,500.

What can be and is being done to bring more qualified American students into engineering? An answer is found in an approach, originated by Michigan State University, called JETS — Junior Engineering Training for Schools. JETS brings the facts of engineering to young people in high school at a time when they are deciding on their future careers.

Since the first JETS club was organized in 1950, the program has grown to include 75 clubs in 18 states with an active membership of more than 2,000 boys and girls.

The hard facts of engineering—that mathematics and other "non-glamorous" subjects are musts—are stressed. This approach both emphasizes the realities of an engineering career and helps to steer students, who have misconceptions about engineering and whose talents fall in other areas, away from the profession.

Supported by enthusiasm from teachers and students alike, the JETS program offers a real solution to a critical problem.

Officers Installed By VFW Auxiliary

New officers of the V.F.W. Auxiliary were in charge of the regular meeting, April 18 at the Post Home with Mrs. Lloyd Stites, new president in the chair. The new junior vice president is Mrs. Thelma Braden and the new secretary, Mrs. Harlan Boyes.

Two new members, Mrs. Grace Shea and Mrs. William Stout Jr. of Clinton were initiated.

The president announced her standing chairmen for the year as follows: Americanism, legislative and A.M.I., Mrs. Charles Schriver; youth activities and essay contest, Mrs. Carson House; national home, Mrs. Waldo Mohr; hospital, Mrs. Hazel Coller; rehabilitation and service, Mrs. Ted Golat; community service and cancer, Mrs. Earl Kruger; civil defense, Mrs. Warren Filter; publicity, Mrs. Harlan Boyes and poppy sales, Mrs. Lloyd Stites.

Mrs. Filter reported on the recent work shop on civil defense and home protection held in Adrian which she attended in the company of Mrs. Stites and Mrs. Boyes, and an invitation was accepted from Wolverine Buckeye Post in Morenci to attend the installation and dinner of their auxiliary on April 26.

It was announced that 25 post and auxiliary members went to Milan April 16 for the joint installation of their post and auxiliary.

The members voted to assist the men of the post in serving a public dinner at the post home on Memorial Day following the parade and exercises.

"What kind of a real estate loan can you make on by home?" asked a man who introduced himself as Charles Gorton. "We don't make such loans, but might be able to help you if we knew more about it," I said.

Mr. Gorton explained the nature of his property. It sounded good. But when he elaborated on his personal finances, I knew a loan was hopeless. He was deeply involved and about to lose the home.

"I'm sorry, but I'm convinced a loan won't work," I said. "Your best bet is to sell or to exchange for another property. The sooner, the better."

Mr. Gorton sighed. "That doesn't surprise me. I was afraid I'd have to sell it. I appreciate your frankness. What price do you suggest?"

Before long, we agree on the price and terms. Within a few weeks a satisfactory sale was made.

"I'm sure glad I inquired at your office fora loan," Mr. Gorton remarked. "The advice on selling and your good results prevented us from losing everything."

If you have a real estate problem, drop in and talk things over. We may be able to produce the right answer for you.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

In and out of patches of brush we maneuvered as quietly as we could, always with the direction of the wind in mind. Innumerable times N'Gora or Andy would pick up a little chunk of dry soil and crush it between the fingers and let it fall to see in what direction the dust would move. We would then take bearings again and maybe sidle around another large patch of jungle before going in the desired direction, always up against the wind. When hunting elephants, this was extremely important, otherwise we might have found ourselves facing the handicap of having been discovered by elephants before we discovered them.

At times we would spot a couple of elephants in the distance, standing absolutely still under the trees. I think they did that now and then in order to hear what might be going on about them. Ordinarily when they were feeding, they were very noisy. They were huge animals in themselves and when they would reach up with their trunks as high as they could to break a branch off a tree, we would get an idea of how far a person would have to climb to escape them in case of danger. The branches they broke off were often as large as a man's thigh and the crashing, cracking sounds they made could be heard for long distances. During such a time, of course, it was very easy to sneak up on them.

TREES WERE UPROOTED

It was amazing to see the path of destruction they left behind. Whole trees were uprooted in their playful flexing of the muscles, and branches of all sizes were pulled down so they could get at the tender leaves and tip ends. Some kinds of wood seemed to be more palatable than others because often they would eat not only the leaves and twigs, but also the branches themselves up to a point where they were thicker than a man's wrist. Branches with chewed ends were strewn all over the place.

Sometimes they would discover us. Even though we had been careful in approaching them, they would have seen us move. In such cases they would generally turn and face us. When they raised their big trunks straight up in the air, squealing and flapping their great big ears, it was time to make our exit as fast and discreetly as possible; running down wind, zigzagging from tree to tree, and shortly they would give up their pursuit.

In one of these retreats from a curious or offended elephant I happened to stop, without knowing it, on top of one of the black bands of Safari ants which were streaking the forest floor. It didn't take very long after that before I started scratching my legs, my back, my midriff, and arms, and Andy ordered me to take off my clothes. There I stood with my coat and shirt off, my pants around my ankles and was picked by N'Gora and Andy for ants that stuck to my body as though they had been pasted on with glue. Safari ants know how to hang on and you cannot crush them through the clothes with your fingers, no matter how much you think you have hold of them and are rolling them around in the fold of the cloth. There is only one thing to do — disrobe.

I disrobed completely three times in succession before we finally got the last ant. Someone should have been around to take a picture then.

ANTS GOT A MEAL

When the ants bit me, they took a little hunk of skin out each time, but of course, it was my fault, I shouldn't have stepped on them.

Where there was moisture during the dry season, the jungle grew thick and prolific. In some of the places where we had to get through, it was impossible to force our way straight through the jungle. Of necessity we had to follow game paths that the buffalo or the rhino had made on their daily meanderings around the place to get down and back from drinking. I must admit that it gave me a rather uncozy feeling to be walking down through some of these game corridors where we could not see a foot past the green wall of foliage, not knowing what was waiting for us and perhaps ready to charge us as intruders. These winding trails and paths were so narrow that I just hoped that no unexpected four footed createre would come charging down one of them with me in his way.

Sometimes I thought — what in Heavens name made you go all the way down here to put yourself in such an idiotic position for? and then again I thought that my fate probably wouldn't be any worse than that of N'Gora or Andy's, so we kept on going, but I had to admit I could not recommend it as a rest cure.

FLIES ALSO ARE PRESENT

Eventually we emerged into a little open spot in the jungle where it appeared that elephants or several beasts at one time or other had been waltzing around so that an open spot resulted. Here we stood, wiping the perspiration off, trying to catch our breath. The flies ever present, ever biting, ever tickling, trying to get up our nostrils, always settling on our eyelids. It was rather disconcerting, to say the least, especially when a breathing spell came. Then my mind would not be diverted by imagining a rhinocerous horn coming out through the jungle wall, or an elephant trunk wrapping itself around my neck.

The British had concocted a preparation that looked like cold cream which we were supposed to smear on our skin as a protection against flies and other insects. It had a rather unpleasant odor and was so caustic that if we put more than the tiniest little bit on our skin at a time, it would bite and smart so that we, by far, preferred the flies to the burn.

I finally found a better method of keeping the pesky flies away and for that I could thank good old U.S.A. The preparation known as 6-12 was a Godsend but not when used in the ordinary manner accepted at home. Instead, I doused a handkerchief until it was saturated with it and kept it in my breast pocket. The fact that it smeared the shirt and made an ugly blotch, did not matter. Arab Sohi would have a clean shirt for me in the evening when we returned to camp. When the perspiration and flies bothered too much, I would pull out the handerchief and wipe my face and neck. That would take care of the perspiration and also leave a thin film of 6-12 all over my skin. This was something the flies respected, so now all I had to do was wipe my face and everything was taken care of in one operation. The operation had to be repeated quite often because the heat and effort were so great that the perspiration would drip, drip, drip off my face all the time.

WE CAN'T BLUNDER

While standing in an open spot of the jungle sizing up the situation, we suddenly heard a rustle in some of the high branches and a crack of a tree in front of us. Soon the same sounds came from both right and left and the first thought, naturally, was that we were surrounded by elephants. That was not a good position to be in and we had to make sure. We backed out the way we had come and sneaked around another game path to get to another spot where we could find out what was making the noise. This had happened before and sometimes had turned out to be Rhesus monkeys in the tree top hunting for wild grapes, but where the jungle was so dense that it was impossible to see through it, we had to be sure. We could not afford to blunder right into a herd of elephants which might stampede all at once.

Considerable time was spent back tracking, sneaking to the left, back-tracking again farther to the left, trying to get around the open spot without disturbing the animals whatever they were.

After a lot of maneuvering, we were standing looking at the tree tops across a little opening, when out of them came the head and neck of a giraffe. He looked at us with curious eyes. We evidently were in the middle of a herd of giraffes feeding on the tree tops. What a relief. I would never think of calling the giraffe a beautiful animal the way I have seen him in the Zoo, but seeing that long neck stick out of the jungle foliage, a neck that looked like it had been put together from the most beautiful tan and brown colored tile was really something to behold. I wanted to touch it and pet it.

LIKES THE GIRAFFE

During our Safari I acquired a great affection for the giraffe and I could never make myself want to shoot one of them. They were so beautiful, had such pretty hide, and were so odd looking with that funny tasseled tail which looked as if it had been barbered like a French Poodle.

After having watched the giraffes for a while, we made a great retreat in order not to disturb them and continued on our way, still going up wind and eventually ending up in a large open grassy area in the jungle.

IT'S TORQUE THAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO 'ROUND!
"88" HOLIDAY SEDAN
. . . And the High-Torque Output of Oldsmobile's Famous Rocket Engine Is Instantly Translated into Outstanding Performance at the Rear Wheels!
LET'S TALK TORQUE! In plain language, torque is "twist" – like turning a door knob. It's the force that makes the wheels go 'round.
So it follows . . . the more torque your engine has, the more go power your car has . . . the more getaway at the light . . . the more action on the open road!
That's why, when it comes to power, there's nothing like Oldsmobile's Rocket T-350 Engine – because the Rocket is torque TNT! Figures prove it: 350 pound-feet at 2800 rpm (340 pound-feet at 2400 rpm in "88" models).
OLDS CHASSIS IS ENGINEERED TO HANDLE HIGHER TORQUE!
Oldsmobile has the chassis to take Rocket torque . . . a skillfully engineered Oldsmobile chassis with an extra-sturdy, dynamically balanced drive shaft, and an extra-rigid frame that resists twisting and weaving.
What's more, the Rocket's got horsepower – *to spare! And with Oldsmobile, it's high, usable horsepower . . . a by-product of engine design aimed straight at the wheels – design that translates horsepower into terrific torque at normal engine rpm's.
TOP TORQUE MEANS TIP-TOP PERFORMANCE!
The result is higher torque – silken, responsive Rocket action. Touch the accelerator, ever so gently, you "go" . . . and we do mean "GO!" You thrill to smoother, swifter bursts of power in medium speed ranges – tip-top performance for everyday use – spectacular performance when you need it . . . when you want it.
Any way you look at it, you can't top the Rocket for thrills for the money – or for top return when it's time to trade. Stop by soon. Rocket 'round the block . . . or around the town if you like!
OLDSMOBILE'S ROCKET – a double winner in 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run. Get the feel of top horsepower, top torque in the engine that's an economy champion, too!

Mushrooms Abound – But Be Sure They're Edible!

Want to collect some succulent mushrooms to decorate a sizzling steak?

Chances are you can locate just what you want since Michigan can boast over a thousand different kinds of mushrooms growing wild in the woods, fields and bogs, says Alexander H. Smith, University of Michigan professor of botany.

"A word of warning. Always learn to know the species before you eat any of it. Never—but never—rely on any rule of thumb such as whether the cap peels or whether the gills are pink," the botanist warns. "All such rules are dangerous."

LEARN TO RECOGNIZE

"You should learn to recognize both the edible and poisonous kinds," Professor Smith says. "Best way to do this is to obtain a book or pamphlet on the subject and acquaint yourself thoroughly with the general characters of the plants, and the terms used to describe them. Then apply this information to the specimens you collect."

"Try particularly," he adds, "to locate those which are highly recommended in your pamphlet and also those marked poisonous. After you have learned to recognize an edible species beyond any shadow of doubt, you can begin to think about eating it."

THERE ARE A DOZEN

The University mycologist explains that mushrooms are seasonable in their fruiting habits. "By learning to recognize about a dozen edible species, you can collect wild mushrooms from about the middle of May almost to cold weather in the fall.

"In this region (southeastern Michigan) your best chances of finding morels are from about the 15th of May to June 25. From around the 10th of July to about August 5 the common milk-fungi are abundant. From the middle of September on into October or November slippery jacks and other fleshy pore fungi are common under pines and gill fungi are abundant around old stumps.

"These periods all vary somewhat depending on the weather. If we have a wet summer, collecting may be good from just after the fourth of July on into September," the botanist adds.

Extension Club Has Meeting

The Tri-Town Extension Club met Monday, April 16, at the home of Mrs. David Ousterhout with Mrs. Larry Hart presiding.

Two new members—Mrs. Dennis Goller and Mrs. John Robinson—were admitted to membership.

The club voted to limit the membership to 15. Thirteen members were present.

Mrs. Jack Gibson and Mrs. Richard Whelan gave the lesson on new trends in home furnishings.

Members decided to attend achievement day in Adrian at the First Baptist church. Those wanting to go may call Mrs. Larry Hart.

The next meeting of the club will be May 14 at the home of Mrs. Jack Gibson in Clinton.

Attorney, New York City, New York

In Thy image, O Lord, Thou has created man to build, and not to destroy.

We have transgressed; we have split the atom for confusion and conflagration.

Help us to get back in Thy path; guide us to use Thy wonders to heal, and not to kill; to soothe, and not to scar; and make our countenances to reflect, not hate, but love for our fellow man.

Buick CENTURY
6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera, Model 63D

Makes Friends with the Meanest Roads
(Have you tried Buick's great new ride?)

THE SWEET WAY a '56 Buick rides on all sorts of roads is something you find nowhere else on wheels.

Capricious roads that twist and turn – unruly roads that rock and roll – tired roads, battered and beaten – they all seem to wear company manners the moment a Buick approaches.

Why? Simply because Buick comes with what it takes to put any road on its best behavior – the completely ride-engineered combination of chassis, engine and automatic drive that is obtainable in no other car.

And that's gospel truth whether you drive a new SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

No other car matches the firm, true tracking of Buick's own ride foundation – buttressed by brawny X-braced frame and torque-tube drive – cushioned on coil springs and deep-oil shock absorbers.

No other has such width of tread and length of wheelbase within dimensions so trim and tidy that Buicks turn, park and garage more easily than smaller cars.

No other duplicates the assurance of steering, brakes and rear axle so precisely geared and gaited for the nimble handling that's a safety "must" in modern cars.

And certainly no other name plate promises the soaring sweep of power that wells from the big 322-cubic-inch V8 beneath every new Buick bonnet.

Nor does any other automatic drive put power to its car's rear wheels with the swift, unruffled pace of Variable Pitch Dynaflow* – and that goes double every time you "switch pitch" for whip-quick, safer passing.

But why stop to count reasons – when results are what you're after? Wouldn't you rather really feel Buick's new "sense of direction" on straightaway, curves and corners?

Wouldn't you rather relax in supreme comfort while tooling this powerful performer over roads you always hated to travel?

Well, sir, we cordially invite you to drop in on us and do just that.

Make it this week, won't you? Sample the ride that has charms to win any old road – and get first-hand figures on prices that make Buick owning a more positive pleasure.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Kenneth H. Johnson, M.D., of Lansing, representing the Michigan State Medical Society, looks on as Gov. G. Mennen Williams proclaims April 22-28 as Medical Education Week. The number of doctors now being graduated by the medical schools at University of Michigan and Wayne University is 68 per cent greater than in 1950, the Governor pointed out. He urged the citizens of Michigan to heed the State Medical Society's invitation to take wider interest in "the continuing needs for expanded and even better medical education facilities in our state" so that "the advantages of modern health care can be translated into everyday benefits for all."

87 Take Part in Dress Revue

The highlight of the annual county 4-H Achievement days is the dress revue; 87 young women who have had from four to 10 years in 4-H club work participated this year.

The revue took the audience "window shopping;" with many of the latest fashion trends. Jumpers were seen in many materials both dressy and casual. The dropped waistline, the coat and dress ensemble, the empire line, slim and full skirts, interpreted in wool, cotton, rayon, linen and blended fabrics were on parade before a set designed by Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Mrs. Edward Cole and Mrs. W. P. Rogers. Mrs Harrison Wilt was commentator for this years' event with Mrs Chester Corbett providing background music.

Fourteen of the girls comprised the dress revue honor group. They were chosen by four judging committees of two local leaders each. These girls were chosen as outstanding examples of the work completed in each clothing project. Representing fourth year work were Joan Bergland, Do and Learn; Mary Ries, Ridgeway Sunny Rays; and Louise Pennington, Ridgeway Sunny Rays who modeled jumpers, Barbara Harris who wore a wool skirt and blouse and Nancy Stubbins of the Snappy Snippers with a cotton dress.

The complete costume project involving accessorizing an outfit of their own making may be elected during the fifth year and after. Linda Peebles of Do and Learn exhibited a suit-dress and shortie coat; Jo Frost of Holloway Homemakers, a print dress and coordinating duster; Shirley Pooley, Holloway Homemakers, a dress and matching jacket; Kathleen Meyer, Birdsall Boosters, modeled a dressy jumper and blouse.2 Boxy suits were worn by Wilma Fisher, Holloway Homemakers; Sharon Koester, Riga Jr. Homemakers; and Ann Wellnitz of Holloway Homemakers. Nancy Stevens of Deerfield Dandies modeled a dress while her club-mate, Joan Diver, appeared in a shorty formal.

Christian Science Services Listed

The unfailing, supreme justice of God, which brings freedom and peace in the measure that it is understood and adhered to, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment."

Scriptural passages will include the following from Proverbs (3:11, 12): "My son, despite not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction: For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (542:19-21): "Let Truth uncover and destroy error in God's own way, and let human justice pattern the divine."

The Golden Text is from Proverbs (13:21): "Evil pursueth sinners: but to the righteous good shall be repayed."

Concerto Is Topic of Music Club

The "Concerto" was the topic of the April meeting of the Music Club Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McColl. It was developed by the program leader, Mrs. William Hayden in its four forms, the baroque, classical, romantic and modern. She outlined the history of each phase, listing the important composers. A recording, illustrating a typical point was then played on Mr. McColl's "Hy-Fy" player after the host had given a short description of each composition.

One recording of special interest had been made by Mrs. Hayden herself in a piano duet with Nolan Huizenga. It was Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor."

There were 13 members attending with four guests, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, Mrs. Harold Hammel, Mrs. Truman Rentschler and Mrs. John Hamilton. During the routine business meeting, Mrs. W. G. Waldron and Mrs. Hayden were appointed delegates to the state convention of music clubs which was held in Flint April 25.

The hostess with the assistance of Miss Marie Wintersteen and Mrs. Ted Glauser served refreshments from a decorated table with Mrs.. George Wittrup and Mrs. John Wintersteen presiding at the tea and coffee services.

Mrs. W. G. Waldron will entertain the club for the May 15 meeting when the topic will be "Piano Music."

SINGS IN CHOIR

Among the 50 members of the Albion college a cappella choir which will travel to Minneapolis in late April to appear on invitation at the World Conference of the Methodist church meeting in that city will be Miss E. Diane Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Woodward of 126 north Ottawa, soprano.

On this year's spring tour the Albion choir will cover 1500 miles by bus. While the trip has been centered about the choir's appearance on April 30 and May 1 at the World Conference meeting, the concert schedule of the Albion choir also includes 11 additional performances in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota under the direction of conductor David Strickler, professor of music at the college.

The choir is presenting a colorful four-part program composed of church and secular music of many periods.

Miss Woodward is a freshman at Albion.

DAUGHTERS MEET

Instead of their scheduled location, the Daughters of St. Peter's were entertained Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. M. L. Dannells in Clinton. The assisting hostess was Mrs. William Bly and after a short routine business meeting the evening was spent socially. An "open evening" is listed for the May 1 meeting with plans to be announced later.

Wiser Credit Buying Urged

Few families know how much buying on credit costs them, according to California home economist Jessie V. Coles who spoke recently at a University of Michigan Consumer Credit Conference. She recommended that consumers be educated on the amount of interest they must pay for easy credit.

"Families reduce their effective purchasing power by the amount of the cost of their credit; too few realize it's a service you must pay for," she stated.

Pointing out that the amount of interest a family pays for credit on a new automobile could buy them a TV set for cash, Mrs. Coles urged that the cost of credit be explained to the consumer in terms of the annual rate of interest he must pay on it.

SHOULD BE EDUCATED

"I'm also disturbed by the responsibility placed on families for the wise use of credit," she declared, adding that "It's up to the credit companies to set reasonable rates for credit and educate the consumer on the costs of credit."

Sellers of credit fail to quote their interest rates so the consumer can't compare costs, and few sellers encourage consumers to find out what they're paying for credit, she noted.

"Many families have overextended themselves on credit purchases," Mrs. Coles said, "and they'll be caught in a credit trap if there is even a slight business cycle adjustment downward."

In addition, she observed, many families would be unable to meet a family emergency because they don't have the necessary cash or other liquid assets.

ITEMS MAY SUFFER

"If a family tries to tighten its belt in a credit squeeze and continue to pay off its interest, then things like food and medical care suffer," she said.

Her views were supported by Amherst College Professor Colston E. Warne, president of the Consumer's Union, who declared, "High pressure selling has reached an explosive level and there is mounting irresponsibility on the part of fringe credit operators."

Consumers should be educated on the costs of credit, he said, but it is also up to them to use some self-discipline in their installment buying, he emphasized.

Another speaker at the U-M conference, Margaret Hutchins of Cornell University, stated that schools, consumer organizations and the family are responsible for educating the young people on the use of credit.

The Conference was sponsored by the U-M School of Business Administration.

Farm Ponds for Conservation Farmers

BY DON MITCHELL

Soil Conservation Service

A farm pond may serve a useful purpose in a complete soil and water conservation plan. It may supply water for livestock, fire protection, orchard and crop spray, fish production, recreation, water fowl anw wildlife. In some cases a pond may be constructed in such a way as to store extra water, during periods of high rainfall and runoff, aid floor control, and recharge ground water supplies. Irrigation from a small farm pond is susually not practical bepond is usually not practical begreatest when water supply is lowest.

Many farms in Lenawee do not have a suitable site for a pond. Sub-soil texture and water supply are essential factors in determining the possibility of a pond. Location and natural topography of the land are also important considerations for the sake of convenience and economy in construction.

KEEP WATER IN

If water is to be impounded at a higher level than natural water table the soil texture must be impervious enough to contain it, under pressure. Clay, clay loam, silt loam, or a well mixed sandy clay loam, is necessary to be an assured depth well below the proposed pond bottom. There must be no sand pockets, sand veins or seep layers which may let water drain out of pond.

In an area where the natural water table remains very near the ground surface, an artificial pond may be secured by excavating entirely into the natural water table. This may require "over digging" to assure the desired depth of water during dry periods when water table may be lower. Wherever possible it is desirable to have a spring, flowing well, or large tile to supplement water from other sources. If surface runoff is the only source of water, ten to twenty acres of well protected watershed should supply a pond about one-third acre in size. Annual evaporation from the pond surface may equal annual rainfall.

SHOULD BE 10 FEET

About one-third of the pond should be 10 feet deep for satisfactory fish propagation. This also reduces stagnation and weed problem. All bank side slopes should be at least two to one, for adequate stabilization, and seeded to grass. The pond side of an earth dam should have a bank slope of three to one.

Suitable ponds of adequate size and depth may be stocked with bass and bluegills. Fish stock may be secured from the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service for qualified ponds.

The Soil Conservation Service technicians may advise on feasibility and practicability of farm pond sites on Soil Conservation District Cooperator farms. Where a farm pond would serve a more important primary purpose than recreation in a complete soil and water conservation plan, the technicians may assist in the design.

The Funeral Is Not A Government Function . . .

In many lands on this earth, the government takes over when death occurs. Not only the estate and personal property, but the conduct of the burial becomes subject to their dictates.

In our country, the funeral is a highly personal procedure. It has been developed exactly as the families have wished. It is dignified and beautiful, a comfort to the bereaved. Let us keep it this way.

own Chevrolets than any other car!

*Of course we haven't actually counted all the Joneses. But it seems a safe guess. Because this year—as they have year after year—more people are buying Chevrolets. And 2 million more people drive Chevrolets than any other car. Maybe you ought to come in and see why this is so.

Five summer playground clinics are scheduled for community recreation leaders during April and May.

The clinics are designed to show techniques in playground operation, waterfront safety and use of equipment, acording to Ernest V. Blohm, executive secretary of the Michigan Inter-Agency Council for Recreation.

Recreation leaders may attend clinics at Michigan State Normal College, April 27; Michigan State University, April 28; Western Michigan College, May 5; or Northern Michigan College, May 7.

A curious shift in purchases of fishing licenses during 1955 has Conservation Department officials wondering if more and more anglers will turn to trout fishing in the next few years.

State officials are comparing the following sets of figures:

In 1954, a total of 1,186,000 resident and nonresident fishing licenses were sold. In 1955, the total slipped to 1,145,000, a decrease of about 3½ per cent.

In 1954, the state sold 212,500 trout stamps and last year, about 225,000, an increase of about six per cent.

"Past trends would indicate if our sales of fishing licenses slumped, then trout stamp sales would fall off, too," said A. L. McNeil, in charge of Department license sales.

"The drop in licenses and the rise in trout stamps is interesting. We'll watch what happens this year."

About the only thing spectacular about this year's beaver season is the price of fur. In the memory of veteran buyers it is one of the lowest ever.

Trappers are getting $17 apiece for blankets — big, round, sleek pelts — which ten years ago brought $65. There are a number of theories on why prices are down, but experts hasten to explain that quality of the fur is not one of them. Michigan beaver is today, as it has been for centuries, finest in the world.

Low prices and difficult trapping conditions in the Upper Peninsula are contributing to what will be a relatively low take for the state this year. When final figures are in, Conservation Department biologists will be surprised, they say, if the total of beaver trapped exceeds 10,000; far short of the 16.704 taken a year ago.

Closing date for the beaver season in most of the Upper Peninsula is April 19 and is April 13 for that part of the peninsula south of highway M-28. In the Lower Peninsula the season is already closed.

About 5,000,000 young trees are still available from Conservation Department nurseries for reforestation plantings.

Red pine seedlings and transplants, two to eight inches in height, are available for large and small reforestation plantings. Full information and order blanks may be obtained by writing the Department's forestry division at Lansing, 26.

Smelt have reached Singing Bridge. To dipnetters all over Michigan this means that for the next two weeks the tasty little fish will be jam packed nightly in creeks, streams and rivers along the shores of Lakes Huron and Michigan.

Singing Bridge, on US-23, spans the Whitney Drain, a man-made branch of the Au Gres River in Arenac county. Annually, arrival of the first at this outlet to Saginaw Bay marks the first big scale opening of the smelt dipping season.

Light runs were reported over the past weekend in streams flowing into Lake Michigan, in the northwestern part of the Lower Peninsula, and in the Alpena area along the Lake Huron shore. It wasn't until Tuesday night, however, that they began their spawning runs in the Whitney Drain.

It is expected the runs will continue until about the third week of April in the Lower Peninsula and until the first week of May in the Upper Peninsula. Generally, largest concentrations are in streams flowing into Green Bay and the Bays de Noc in the Upper Peninsula.

Seventeen persons were convicted of conservation law violations during the week ending April 7. They paid $156.15 in fines and $103.15 in costs. Three Midland men were each sentenced to 20 days in jail for possesison of loaded firearms in their automobiles in deer areas.

Skiing activity nearly doubled in Porcupine Mountains state park during the past winter.

A total of 6048 skiers used the ski tow at the park, an increase of 70 per cent from the previous winter.

Knox Jamison, park manager, said heavy and frequent snows make skiing enjoyable during the season.

Garden Club Has 4 New Members

Four new members were voted into the Tecumseh Garden Club Friday afternoon. Mrs. Theodore Rundell, Mrs. W. W. Ring, Mrs. Carlos Jones and Mrs. Hugh Walters were welcomed when the group held their April meeting in the home of Mrs Earl Wickwire. There were 19 members present and Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson and Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw were guests.

The club voted to send its president, Miss Ann Carson to the annual state convention of Garden Clubs to be held in Grand Rapids, May 24 and 25.

Mrs. Hal Kelso was leader of the program which was in two parts, spring planting by Mrs. O'Hara and fertilizers by Mrs. L. W. Larsen. Mrs. O'Hara outlined the things which may be planted in the spring, including all annuals and many perennials and bulbs. Mrs. Larsen introduced Leo Bishop, who discussed the subject of fertilizers, their ingredients and uses. He covered the subject of flowers, shrubs and lawns and their needs, giving his audience many items of information which might improve their plantings.

Mrs. Clarence Beach and Mrs. Paul Maves assisted the hostess in serving refreshments from a table decorated with a beautifully arranged centerpiece of spring flowers. Mrs. Larsen and Miss Mary McWilliams poured.

Mrs. Neil Pearson will entertain the club in May.

Services Held for Mrs. S. M. Barrett

Mrs. Samuel M. Barrett, the former Phoebe Vodicy Spangler, who for the past year had lived at Jeffery Lake north of Tipton, died last Thursday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital where she had been a patient one day.

She was born Feb. 17, 1880, in Fulton county, Ohio, the daughter of Silas H. and Fanny Gephart Spangler and had formerly lived in Winameg, Ohio. She was a member of the United Brethren church of that town.

Mrs. Barrett is survived by her husband; seven daughters, Mrs. Thomas Carpenter of Harbor View, Ohio; Mrs. Merle Ellis of Clinton, Ind.; Mrs. Howard Raker of Independence; Mrs. Stanley Andrews, Whittemore; Mrs. Virgil Trigg, Delta, Ohio; Mrs. Gertrude Auiler and Mrs. Michael Maniscalso of Tipton; 26 grandchildren; 15 great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. M. E. Warner of Perrysburg, Ohio and one brother, William Spangler of Ann Arbor. She was preceded in death by two sons and a brother.

Funeral services for Mrs. Barrett were held Sunday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. Blair Bashore officiating. Burial was in the Beulah cemetery at Winameg. The bearers were Edmond Desnoyer of Ypsilanti, Norman Spangler of South Lyon, Earl Spangler of Northville, Jack Raker of Temperance, John Ellis of Parker, Ind., and Dean Carpenter of Toledo.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT THE MILK STRIKE!

The ill-advised milk strike, in which organized labor endeavored to "take over" the dairy farmers of the Detroit milk shed, proved one thing: That labor union practices and the business of independent farmers don't mix.

It became evident from the start that the instigators were not striking the dairies for a higher price. They had, in fact, agreed with dairies they would take the prevailing market price for farmers' milk!

Instead, they directed their attack against the dairy farmers' own organization, the Michigan Milk Producers Association, which they aimed to control or destroy. In this attempt, forces within organized labor sought to capitalize on the economic plight of the farmer and exploited a minority group of farmers to their own ends.

There should be no misunderstanding the fact that MMPA is a dairy farmers' cooperative, operated by the farmers, for the farmers, to cooperatively market their milk and protect their economic interests. It was the propaganda line of the strike leaders to mislead the farmers and the public in this respect.

The obviously false claim of strike leaders that they won a price increase was a part of this propaganda technique. Actually, nothing good for the dairy farmer resulted from the strike. Rather, only harm was accomplished, the seeds of dissension were sown, and the real issues and facts were wilfully misrepresented.

What Caused the Strike?

The strike stemmed from the ambition of a few within organized labor to control the Detroit milk market and to collect union dues from dairy farmers who ship milk to that market. To accomplish this, the strike organizers turned farmer against farmer in their drive to destroy his cooperative organization.

Who Were the Strike Leaders?

Major leadership and direction came from organized labor. Joined with these professionals were a former union organizer and a small group of dairy farmers who have consistently opposed the methods and policies of MMPA and sought this means of imposing their will on the MMPA membership.

What Were the Real Issues?

This was not a strike for a higher price for milk nor did it accomplish any economic advantage for farmers. The real issue was recognition of the so-called Fair Share group, organized labor's "front", for the purpose of dues collection and check-off. By this action, the strike directors sought to gain control of the assets and functions of MMPA.

Who Won the Price Increase?

The bargaining power of MMPA, carried out in an ultimatum voted at the March 28 delegates' meeting, was alone responsible for the price increase gained on April 1. The Class I price of $5 would have been achieved sooner and without ultimatum if obstructionist tactics of strike leaders and others had not blocked price negotiations carried on by the MMPA Detroit sales committee.

What Are the Economic Facts?

The increased price of $5 per cwt. applies only to that portion of the milk used for bottling and fluid purposes. It is not a net price to the farmer, who must pay marketing and shipping costs. Only part of the milk can be sold at this price, the rest must be used for manufactured products at the prevailing market price.

Outside Milk a Problem

Another factor not to be overlooked is the deluge of milk which results in any market where a higher than average price prevails. Competition from outside the milk shed can cause havoc for regular producers, even to the extent of losing their market.

No one realizes more fully the serious problems of the dairy farmer than does the MMPA, whose affairs are directed by these self same farmers. The present farmer price squeeze is the nation's Number One problem. It cannot be solved by mob action nor by looking for help from agitators outside the ranks of agriculture. They have their own axe to grind.

Grade School News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

"She'll be comin' round the mountain when she comes." Music floated from the high school gym last Wednesday night as loyal P.T.A. members viewed a demonstration presented by the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade gym classes of Central and Patterson elementary schools. Parents, children and teachers alike were delighted with the costumes, dances, games, relays, and lastly tumbling. Congratulations on a fine job go to Mrs. Hardcastle, Mr. Hale and the children.

Looking for Spring? So are Mrs. Preston's kindergarten children in dictated stories and illustrations of which they are very proud.

Deborah Cheever brought a pretty daffodil to school and Karen Baker a new plant to beautify Mrs. Munger's first grade room. They also enjoyed a birthday treat to honor Brenda Marine's birthday. Nothing is nicer than cup cakes and ice cream to sweeten a school day.

All the second graders were entertained last Tuesday afternoon with stories by the Rev. Brazee of Iron Creek and a former Tecumseh junior high teacher. The Rev. Brazee is Eddie Brazee's grandfather. It was such fun to have him visit Eddie in Mrs. VanWinkle's room.

Carol Woodby is sick with rheumatic fever and had to leave school. We are so sorry and miss you very much, Carol. Mrs. VanWinkle's second grade hopes for a speedy recovery.

Bobcat pins were received by Hal Warren and Fred Kachur, new Cub Scouts from Mrs. Puffer's room at a recent pack meeting.

The subtraction and addition facts through 10 have been "mastered" by Mrs. Callihan's second grade.

"Someday Soon" is all read and we are looking forward to a new book.

Mrs. Thomas' room has been booming with birthdays. Larry Chase, Bob Smith, Carolyn Rentschler and LaVern Lewis all celebrated their ninth birthday recently. Happy birthday to you all!!

In science we have completed our unit on land and water. We also finished studying about the new school that was built in our Centerville book. We decided that building a new school required a lot of work and careful planning.

From the fourth grades we hear news of Chris Rodabough bringing her collection of stones for her classmates in Mrs. Whiting's room to see. One of them was a shell fossil. Sharon Korth also brought two fossils.

Mrs. Miller's fourth grade group is finished with their unit on cities. It is interesting how cities grow.

Team I came out ahead in our ivory inspection contest and is looking forward to a surprise from teams two and three.

Attendance has been almost perfect in Mrs. Baily's room lately. Everyone is working nicely together trying to do better work these last few weeks so they will be able to make good fifth graders.

Bruce King of Mrs. Uckele's room built the fifth grade a machine to show how wheels and axles help us.

Sharon Bartenslager has just returned from an auto trip through Louisiana, Texas and into Mexico. She has showed us some Mexican money and told us many interesting things. David Blanden also told us about his summer trip to Yellowstone Park.

Everyone received report cards last Friday. The next time the boys and girls get them, they will be able to keep them. Good luck on the last stretch and then summer vacation.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

This week the kindergarten is making scrap books. Many of the children have made beautiful covers that look like spring.

Last Monday Jeanette Mannino celebrated her seventh birthday. We all enjoyed the treats and favors she brought for us.

In second grade Sheldon Pease celebrated his birthday last week and we all enjoyed the birthday treat which he brought to us.

We have been learning about trucks and how they are useful to us. We brought some of our toy trucks to school to display.

Michigan Week is coming soon and we have been learning about our state and the lakes which surround it. We especially enjoyed the book "Paddle-to-the-Sea" which Mrs. Garlick read to us.

Mimi Savage is back in school after having the measles. We think that probably everyone will be in school from now until the end of the semester.

Peggy Easton and Stephen Derby had birthdays in third grade. We enjoyed the treats they brought for us.

The peas we planted are growing very fast. Some of them were rather slow starting and are just coming through the soil.

We are reading about many zoo animals. Some of the animals we modeled out of clay. We saw slides and movies showing the habits of different animals.

The Rev. Alvin Brazee came to visit the fourth grade one afternoon and told us about some of his experiences in teaching in the West when he was a young man. He also told us several other interesting stories. We all enjoyed it very much and hope he will come again.

Bob Morey had a birthday last week and brought a treat for the class.

Friday, a man from the Safety Patrol Division of the AAA came and showed the fifth grade a movie about safety patrols and also gave us a very interesting talk. This was followed by a discussion about some problems we have on our patrol corners.

We all enjoyed our parts in the gym demonstration last Wednesday night, especially the dancing.

For sixth graders it is especially clear that school is drawing to a close. Mr. Hart, principal of the high school, talked to us about the courses for next year. He also stressed the fact that the work will be more difficult. We realize that each grade is a step up and more is expected of us. Everybody agrees it's going to be fun—the new teachers, the new schedules—and the 3-p.m. closing bell!!

HART—JONES

Tuesday evening the Holloway Presbyterian church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Alma Jones, daughter of Vernon Jones of Adrian and David Hart Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hart Sr. of Morenci. The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Hessert before a palm banked altar. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Donalla Hart, sister of the groom was maid of honor and his brother, Earl, a member of the air force at Madison, Wis. acted as best man.

Miss Jones chose a medium gray suit for her wedding. It was trimmed in red and with it she wore a red hat with a red, white-dotted veil and red accessories. She carried white carnations. Miss Hart also wore a gray suit but her pillbox hat and accessories were white.

Mrs. Jones wore a dress of lavender taffeta with black accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations while the mother of the groom wore red accented with white and corsage of white and yellow carnations.

Mrs. Harold Fisher, aunt of the bride, entertained 75 guests after the ceremony. She was assisted by Norma and Shirley Jones, cousins of the bride, Mrs. Hazel Bear of Adrian, the groom's sister and Mrs. Florence Whilhelm of Detroit, a friend of Miss Jones. The three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink rosebuds was first cut by the bridal couple and then served by Mrs. Wihlhelm, who also served the ice cream. The couple received many lovely gifts.

Guests attended from Detroit, Dearborn, Cement City, Morenci and Adrian.

The bride attended Adrian schools and graduated from the Onsted high school in 1955. The groom graduated from Morenci high in 1953 and is engaged in the trucking business with his father. They will reside with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Eccles entertained Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Vedder of Adrian, Sunday.

The North Blissfield Lutheran church will hold its spring convention at the Ford Rd. Lutheran church in Dearborn, May 1. Delegates are Mrs. Leslie Marks, Mrs. Franklin Retter and Mrs. Rudy Ehlert. Reservations for the convention may be made with Mrs. Dale Gilson by April 22.

Mrs. Carrie Whitmirch of Adrian spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter German.

Thelma Anderson and Alice Neuman were among the pupils of Miss Myrla Fox who presented a recital in Adrian last Tuesday evening.

Henry Cavill of Livonia, formerly of Holloway was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer entertained Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Grandy of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. John Gritzmaker at dinner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bennington visited his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ashby of Adrian Saturday evening. A wedding shower was given in honor of their daughter-in-law, Darlene Bennington.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wellnitz were sponsors for the baptism of their nephew, Thomas Ralph Beaverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beaverson, which took place in St. John's Lutheran church in Defiance, Ohio, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Riggs of Toledo visited Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wellnitz, Saturday.

Mrs Alton Wellnitz is the Raisin township chairman of the cancer drive. Anyone wishing to make a donaton may contact Mrs. Kenneth Kopke, service chairman.

Thelma Anderson will attend the youth conference at Cleveland Bible College this weekend.

Is That So!

IN DEFENSE OF READING

"The nice and subtle happiness of reading." It was Logan Pearsall Smith who said that in a book he called "Trivia." He wrote back in the early 1900s when the artistic and literary worlds were still under the influence of the Burne-Jones era, but to the dyed-in-the-wool, "nose in a book" reader his words still strike a singing chord. To quote Mr. Pearsall Smith further—

"The other day, depressed on the Under-ground, I tried to cheer myself by thinking over the joys of our human lot. But there wasn't one of them for which I seemed to care a button — not Wine nor Friendship, nor Eating, nor Making Love, nor the Consciousness of Virtue. Was it worth while going up in a lift into a world that had nothing less trite to offer?"

"And then I thought of reading—the nice and subtle happiness of reading. This was enough, this joy not dulled by Age, this polite and unpunished vice; this selfish, serene, life-long intoxication."

Somehow I am sure that Mr. Pearsall Smith, as a child, had not had his reading "directed" or "supervised," that he, too, had read everything that came to hand and found it all grist for the mill of his mind. To be sure he also had been fortunate enough to be protected by the period of his growing up from the flood of cheap, vicious "comics" of today.

Perhaps he too had experienced that unforgettable moment when reading suddenly became something more than, "I see a cat" and had brought the realization that the whole wide world of books was there for your taking. Taking with both hands; "Helen's Babies" one day and "Jane Eyre" the next, always learning to paddle a little farther in water that was over your head. The small library at the Colvin School was then made up mainly of the books children were supposed to read but some one had included a copy of "Thaddeus of Warsaw" and as a result Poland to this day is more than just one of those fringe countries.

The next big moment in the world of books was when a rental card granted admittance to the big thrillingly gloomy cave on the second floor of the Sage building which was then the Tecumseh Library. Acres of books and all yours—if you could persuade the guardian of the desk that "Elsie Dinsmore" was not for you. "Open stacks" were unknown then but somehow you managed to get most of Captain King's delightful stories of western army camps over the horrified protests of Mrs. Huey.

Then all those growing-up years, sketching the canals of Venice and the roads of Brittany with F. Hopkinson Smith's paint brush, paddling with Stevenson on his "Inland Voyage," following Muir and Burroughs over mountain trails and absorbing glamorized history and throbbing romance from the current novels. Heroes were heroes then, not whipping boys for a social conscience.

Perhaps they do it better now, perhaps Mr. Pearsall Smith would not find them quite so "nice and subtle" but books are still there to provide material for "this selfish, serene, life-long intoxication."

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

The car that speaks as well of you as you will speak of it

Of the many pleasures of owning Lincoln, none is more satisfying than what this totally new car says about you.

For here is the fine car that says you have a feeling for trend-setting style — that you admire the sweep of clean-flowing lines . . . the scant five feet of lowness . . . the sleek new length that is so unmistakably Lincoln. And, as so many others now turn to this Lincoln — making it the most sought-after of all time — this superb new car says that your judgment is of the kind others follow.

This Lincoln says that your heart lifts to spirited performance — the kind that comes from teaming 285 high-torque horsepower with Lincoln's incomparably smooth Turbo-Drive. And yet it also says that you expect such great power to be beautifully balanced—with comfort to soothe you, stability to ease your mind, and a feel of the wheel to put you completely in control.

There's so much more that Lincoln says — and so much you will say. But why not let this new fine car speak for itself?

Stop in tomorrow — or today if you can — and slip into the driver's seat. Make your own appraisal of this Lincoln that's so long — and so longed-for!

Explains School Tax Rates Outside City

Supt. James McDowell, in the following article, explains school tax rates outside Tecumseh.

Since the board of supervisors has released the statistics concerning the ratio of local equalized valuations to state equalized valuations for the various townships which are now a part of the Tecumseh Public School System, approximate school tax rates based on local equalized valuations can now be released.

The Tecumseh Board of Education requested $210,000 for operation, $138,000 for bond debt and $12,000 for the public library. When these amounts are translated to millage on state equalized valuations the board will have requested approximately 7 mills operation, 4.6 mills bond debt, and .4 mills for public library.

All taxpayers having land in the Tecumseh School District, regardless of the township in which the land is located, will pay the same millage, approximately 12, on their state equalized valuation and will pay the same amount towards schools according to the state equalized value of their land, namely $12/1000.

RATE IS TRANSPOSED

Taxpayers do not receive their state equalized valuations but receive notice of their local equalized valuations only. Therefore, the $12/1000 tax on state equalized valuations must be transposed to local equalized valuations for purposes of tax collection.

Due to wide ranges in the manner in which local assessors value property, all townships differ in local valuations and only the state valuations are fairly equal over the entire state. Therefore, each township has a different local rate and those which are assessed close to state equalized valuations have low rates on local assessed valuations and those that have low local assessed valuations have high rates on local assessed valuations. However, each taxpayer pays the same amount of money for schools according to the approximate real value of his property regardless of location.

LIST ADJUSTED RATES

The adjusted rates for the various townships which are a part of the Tecumseh Public School System are shown in the chart.

| Township | % State Equalized | Tax on State Equalized | Tax on Local Equalized |
|---|---|---|---|
| Clinton | 67.84% | $12/1000 | $17.69/1000 |
| Franklin | 50.53% | 12/1000 | 23.75/1000 |
| Ridgeway | 59.26% | 12/1000 | 20.25/1000 |
| Macon | 62.17% | 12/1000 | 19.30/1000 |
| Raisin | 56.35% | 12/1000 | 21.30/1000 |
| Tecumseh | 89.87% | 12/1000 | 13.35/1000 |
| Tecumseh City | 71.33% | 12/1000 | 16.82/1000 |

Perhaps an example of the meaning of these statistics would assist in understanding the tax situation for schools and county taxes since both are levied in the same manner, on state equalized valuations. Let's assume that a property owner, Mr. A owns a farm near Tipton which has been assessed by the Franklin township assessor at $5000. Since the state considers that property in Franklin township as compared with similar property all over the state is only assessed locally at 50.53 per cent of its value, its state equalized value would be approximately $9895. Therefore, since the school tax is $12/1000 on state equalized valuations Mr. A would pay $118.74. However, the Franklin township supervisor will levy approximately $23.75/1000 on the local equalized valuation of $5000 which gives $118.75 or approximately the same amount.

ANOTHER CASE CITED

Now let's assume that a property owner, Mr. B owns a farm near Macon which has been assessed by the Macon Township assessor at $6152. Since the state considers that property in Macon township as compared with similar property all over the state is only 62.17 per cent of its value, its state equalized value would be approximately $9895. Therefore, since Mr. B is in the Tecumseh Public School District, the school tax is $12/1000 on state equalized valuations. Mr. B would pay $118.74. However, the Macon township supervisor will levy approximately $19.30/1000 on the local equalized valuation of $6162 which gives $118.73 or approximately the same amount. Therefore, Mr. A and Mr. B with different local valuations, but equal state valuations or similar valuations as far as average property assessments all over the state, pay the same amount of school tax.

This method has been used so that taxpayers, regardless of their geographic location in a district, pay approximately the same tax on property of similar nature and value.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

OLDTIMERS LIVING ALONG the bank of Evans Creek said they have never seen the creek as high as it was Sunday when it roared like the mighty Mo. Glenn Kohler took this shot when the flood was at its highest.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "Worry doesn't empty the day of its troubles, but only of its strength."

THREE INTREPID canoists were up a tree without a paddle Sunday when their canoe swamped in swollen Evans Creek. And Perry Satterthwaite, Karl Schneider and Jim Beardsley had become slightly damp but their spirits were not dampened. The three mighty men of the creek started out near Matthews highway and already had been dunked when they arrived behind Warren Peck's house (on the creek, of course). The canoe swamped and the three explorers hung on to trees until they could be rescued by a ladder, a rope and the aid of Warren Peck , Aden Mead and Patrolman Christensen. All of them could fill in the details if their teeth have stopped chattering.

MRS. CARSON BAYLESS, Occidental Highway, wishes to express her appreciation of the kindness and friendly atmosphere of the Tecumseh community. She is a comparative newcomer to the area and her family has had many kind things done for it since they have made their home here. It was the outburst of generosity toward the Anderson family that prompted her expression. She feels it is better to express gratitude and say kind things rather than waiting to find something to criticize.

She says those who have helped her will know without her mention of so many names but she especially feels her heartfelt thanks should be recorded for the Rev. Escolme and his church members.

MEMBERS OF THE Leon Anderson family express their thanks for all of the kindness and generosity shown them by folks of the Tecumseh area. They said this aid given at the time of and after their fire cannot be expressed in mere words. Members of the family now are living with married children in Tecumseh and in Adrian. Mr. Anderson is still hospitalized but it is expected he will be out in a week. His son S/Sgt. Richard E. Anderson, Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo, Texas, who is home on an emergency leave, expressed his gratitude to the American Red Cross for its part in getting him home so quickly.

THE HERALD RECENTLY traveled up and down the Mediterranean Ocean. Pictures of Jim Hite, one of the proudest sailors on the U.S.S. Intrepid, appeared in the HERALD and the paper is now on the bulletin board of the ship.

BRER POSSUM was seen Sunday taking a walk along the north bank of Evans Creek.

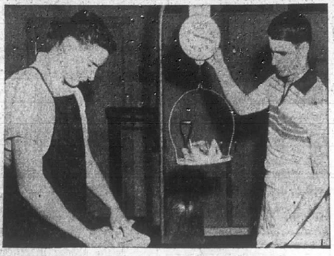
Tecumseh FFA Boys Learn by Doing with Broilers

Norb Marsh, Ray Aylesworth and Larry Reichenbaugh are members of the cutting up team.



Ed Lewis and Bill Spreeman make with the scales.

BY PAUL BURNS
AGRICULTURE INSTRUCTOR

Our broiler project was set up to stimulate interest in broiler raising and also to instruct students in the proper methods of raising and dressing farm poultry for home and commercial use.

The project is managed by the Tecumseh FFA boys as a group, they decide to whose farm the brooder house will be moved for the raising of the chicks and what practices will be used by the students having the responsibility of raising the birds. The boy raising the birds uses his own judgment as to temperature control and ventilation and other decisions. All problems of the boy are brought before the group if he cannot arrive at a practical solution.

Tecumseh is located about 75 miles from Detroit, where about 85 per cent of poultry is brought from out of state, and also 40 miles from Jackson, and Toledo, Ohio, which also offers good markets for local poultry. With these opportunities so close a broiler project seemed to be a good one.

Through this Future Farmer group project the students have learned how to carry out the complete cycle of broiler raising from building the house to dressing and selling the broilers.

AIDS INSTRUCTION

This broiler project has helped me, as an instructor, to teach broiler raising through classroom and individual instruction, and to fit instruction in farm mechanics into this enterprise.

Classroom instruction in the form of blue-print reading, carpentry, arc and gas welding took place in the process of building our brooder house and picking machine, and again when we were in the process of going through the different stages of raising the birds. Selecting chicks from an approved hatchery, housing problems in relation to litter, ventilation, light, space requirements, and feeding and management problems in broiler production were also discussed in the class-room. All of the class members took part in building the 10' x 12', gambrel-roof type brooder house. The roof and sides were built in sections of 2" x 2" framing and put together much the same as a prefabricated house. The house cost $140 to build. A bottle gas brooder is used for heat.

AID MORE

To give as many students as possible experience in raising broilers, the house is moved to a different boy's farm after each batch. Local implement dealers move the house for the boys.

Individual instruction is given to the three boys who raise the three batches or 450 birds per year. Complete records for each batch are kept by the student caring for the birds. Approved up-to-date feeding and management practices are taught the student. It must be noted here the the parents sometime disagree with our methods. The built-up litter system which we use causes the most discussion. So far it has proved satisfactory for a house such as ours. The last batch of 150 birds, raised by Norbert Marsh has a zero per cent mortality.

ADDS TO INSTRUCTION

We dressed our first birds at the farm of Herman Dick and Sons. Mr. Dick helped in teaching the boys to dress broilers, and this also gave the boys a chance to see a commercial plant in operation. The second batch of broilers was dressed in the school shop, and at present the boys are using the new agricultural laboratory in the high school. A picking machine for the project was made by the boys taking farm mechanics. The birds are cut up and placed on meat trays ready to eat. The birds are then sold to the boys' parents.

Prior to dressing the birds methods of marketing poultry for market are discussed in the class room. Costs and efficiency methods are summarized by classes at the end of each batch. We found out that our heating expense during the winter months was 12c as compared to 4c which is achieved by Mr. Dick in his big operation.

FITS INTO OTHER ACTIVITIES

The FFA point system is employed on all labor connected with the project. This includes points for the students raising the birds and for those dressing and selling them.

We dress about 50 of our broilers for the annual parent and son banquet. Local businessmen who help us throughout the year are invited to attend.

Our learning does not end here, since the profits are used for such educational trips as to the Livestock International, which is held in Chicago, a leadership training camp which is held for the officers, and for buying machinery for our 20 acres of crop projects. The boys now have $2,000 invested in farm machinery.

Juniors Attend Mock Political Convention at HC

Thirty-nine Tecumseh high school juniors will attend a mock Democrat presidential nominating convention at Hillsdale College Saturday. These students will go as delegates from Texas, Illinois and Louisiana. The following will represent Texas at the convention: Beverly Champanois, Neil O'Hara, Nick Touborg, Ann Rebottaro, Judy Whiting, Flora Nixon, Carol Finnegan, Harry Teets, Bill Lopshire, Scott Harvey, Lynne VanWinkle, Gordon LaLonde, and Susie Hite.

This state's presidential candidate is Lyndon Johnson.

Illinois representatives are Bill Newell, Ken Miller, Val Spangler, Mable McCarley, Marshall Boike, Lois Baker, Margretta Kempf, Dean Andrews, John Naser, Kay McClure, John Purcell, Ron Mikesell, Ed Covell, Ray Larned and Pat Rupp. Val Spangler will give the nominating speech for Adlai Stevenson, this state's presidential nominee.

Louisiana delegates are Barry Packard, Pat Fero, Jerry Hirsch, Lee Vescelius and Gary Cameron. Alternates who also will be attending are Marlene Ashenfelter, Charles Hand, Dean Andrews, Lonnie Penrod and Leo Lohrman.

With the aid of Douglas Murdoch and Donald Brazee, an agricultural platform has been set up.

This mock convention will give students an opportunity to learn the national parties' convention procedures.

Representatives from at least five other schools also will be present.

Teachers Will Circulate Petitions

A group of high school teachers will circulate petitions here calling for a Constitutional amendment to enlarge the State Board of Education which in turn would appoint the State Superintendent of Instruction.

Such an amendment, the Michigan Education Association claims, will take the position out of politics.

Doug Murdoch, chairman here, says his group hopes to get 500 local signatures.

Petition signers must be registered electors in the city or township in which they live.

Ridgeway Joins Tecumseh Schools

By a margin of almost four to one, Ridgeway School District voters Saturday approved the annexation of their district to the Tecumseh Public Schools. The count was 96 to 23.

Ridgeway is the 15th rural district that has joined the larger Tecumseh District this spring.

Ridgeway property owners will continue to pay their district's bonded indebtedness until the district's present bonds are paid up. This is estimated at three years.

The Ridgeway District will not pay on Tecumseh's bond debt until its own is paid off. Tecumseh will not assume the Ridgeway District's debt.

FESTIVAL

New car dealers in Tecumseh next week will take part in the Spring Automobile Fashion Festival sponsored by the National Automobile Dealers' Association. The special week covers Monday through Saturday, May 7 to 12.

The week will end with an outdoor auto show Friday and Saturday if weather permits. And a parade, led by the high school band, will feature the Friday program.

Bob Breniff Named Head of JCC Homecoming

Bob Breniff has been named chairman of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce Homecoming and Free Fair which will be held on the northeast corner of Brown and Mill streets from July 10 to 14.

Don Withrow is vice-chairman. Committee chairmen are Journey Stoner, advertising; Bob Mohr, rides and tickets; Dick Beemer, arrangements and clean-up; Del King, merchants' tent; Bill Hayden, Jaycees' booth; Bob Wallace, special events and promotion.

Proceeds from the five-day show will go toward paying the second half of the Jaycees' $1000 pledge for recreation field bleachers.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Jay P. Campbell, 47 years old, of Tecumseh appeared before Justice Robert L. French Thursday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Campbell, who was arrested by Tecumseh police Monday, April 23, was remanded to the county jail under $25 bond and a trial was set for May 16.

Hospital Plans Open House for Sunday, May 13

Herrick Memorial hospital Auxiliary invites members and friends to its monthly meeting Tuesday, May 10, in the Fellowship Center of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Bernard Steinberg of the Toledo Hospital Institute of Medical Research will speak on "The Pathologist's Role in the Detection of Crime."

The meeting is part of national hospital week. At the conclusion of the special week devoted to hospitals, Auxiliary members will be hostesses for an open house and tea at Herrick Memorial Sunday, May 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Dale Bowen and Mrs. William Macbeth of the Auxiliary will give a 10-minute radio program over WABJ at 8:40 a.m. Thursday, May 10.

The Future Nurses' Club will have a display in the high school trophy case.

Mrs. Joseph Rohweder is serving as publicity chairman for the special week.

---

ATTENDS MEETING

C. O. Butler was in Lansing last Thursday to attend a meeting of the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Association. Mr. Butler is acting president of the group.

Knights Templar Will Observe Ascension Sunday

Adrian Commandery No. 4 of the Knights Templar will observe Ascension Sunday here May 6.

The host is the southeast battalion of the Knights Temple. Battalion Commander is Eminent Marvin Frye of Ypsilanti Commandery No. 54.

Knights will attend services at 11 a.m. in the First Methodist church here; then they will parade to Brookside Cemetery for a memorial service at the graves of deceased Knights. The parade will march west on Chicago to north Union. It will be led by the Znenobia Shrine Band of Toledo.

At 1:30 p.m. a dinner will be held in the high school.

The Eminent Commander of the Adrian Commandery No. 4 is Kenton Hunt of Tecumseh. George McCombs is Junior Warden; Wayne Smith is Senior Warden and Fred Hadley is Warden.

The Commandery has 25 members.

GRENVAL SPANGLER NAMED DELEGATE

Grenval Spangler of Tecumseh, who again will be a candidate for state senator on the Democratic ticket, has been named as one of eight delegates to the Democrat State Convention.

He was named at the county convention held in Adrian last Thursday night.

Among the resolutions passed was the endorsement and commendation of Gov. Williams.

Mr. Spangler spoke at the convention on the need for registering voters.

WAIVES HEARING ON LARCENY CHARGE

Eugene Champion, 27, of Tecumseh waived examination Wednesday, April 25, when he appeared before Justice L. J. Van Deusen on an attempted larceny count. He was bound over to circuit court on a $3000 bond.

He was charged with attempting to steal 300 pounds of silver solder from the Tecumseh Products Company. He was seen by a plant guard as he wheeled the solder out. He wheeled the solder up to a fence, but he left it when the guard saw him.

Tecumseh and State police said he admitted that he had planned to steal the metal which is valued at about $2100.

High School Alumni Lay Reunion Plans

Richard Boyd, president of the Tecumseh High School Alumni Association called the officers together Sunday to draft plans for this year's reunion. They set the time for Saturday June 2, and the place the high school gymnasium.

Unlike other years, however, there will be a parting of the ways after the banquet and business meeting. Those who wish will dance in the gymnasium. The rest will adjourn to another room for a program and recalling school days. Rep. Wade Van Valkenburg has promised to be there and he will speak, "briefly" and Leon Rosacrans' cherished film of "Old Tecumseh" will be featured. This may be the last time these pictures will be shown, due to the fragile condition of the film.

It is planned to send out the invitations very soon with a letter of explanation and a large attendance is anticipated.

Officers announce that there will be a taxi service for older alumni who do not drive. In addition to President Boyd the officers are, Bob Williamson, vice-president; Clyde Mitchell, treasurer; Lois Cheever, recording secretary with Geraldine Handy Eaton as her assistant and Doris Tressler, corresponding secretary.

Gray Ladies Begin Training

A Gray Ladies' training class is being organized in Tecumseh. Mrs. Ted Golat, who recently completed her own training in the work, is in charge under the auspices of the American Red Cross. Mrs. Golat announces that this volunteer work is also open to men who wish to be of service to others.

Applications are now being taken by Mrs. Golat for both men and women for the first class which will be held May 16 in her home at 221 E. Brown street. Her phone numbers are 264-W or 471 and applications should be in before May 16.

RAIN

A torrent of rain flooded basements in homes, roads and fields in the Tecumseh area Friday and Saturday.

Evans Creek and the River Raisin overflowed their banks. Oldtimers reported that they had never seen the creek and river as high.

But no wonder. Normally April has 2.81 inches of rain. Friday and Saturday almost three inches fell in two days.

Blacks Out, Damages House

Robert Hoffman, 30, of Fairfield "blacked out" while driving south on Adrian road Saturday about 1 p.m. and his car crashed into the house of the Dalton Walpers, 110 south Adrian road, causing extensive damages to the house, lawn and car.

The car stopped after hitting the house.

Mr. Hoffman was taken to Herrick Memorial hospital for an examination and later released.

Mrs. Walper was looking out the window when the car shot across her lawn and crashed into the house.

Scouts Plan for Court of Awards

All troops of Brownies and Girl Scouts are busy completing their work in preparation for the Court of Awards to be held in the Products Union Hall Friday, May 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Jack Nichols is chairman of the committee on arrangements and is assisted by Mrs. Glenn Kohler and Mrs. Robert Smith. One rehearsal is being scheduled for next week.

Leaders Attend Workshop Meeting

Sixteen women from Tecumseh attended the all-county Girl Scout leaders' workshop meeting at the Scout Cabin in Hudson last Friday under the direction of Mrs. Frank Ames, a volunteer leader trainer. This concluded the 16 hour training course for several.

After discussion and instruction on outdoor life, the members were divided into patrols and practiced wood-gathering, building fires, cooking one-pot meals, besides safe and proper camp clean-up.

Following a hike, the women attended sessions on Brownie and Girl Scout work including troop camping. Mrs. Howard Morris and Mrs. Robert Warren assisted with the Brownie training. Others who attended were Mrs. Charles Beland, Mrs. Russell Cooper, Mrs. Don Creger, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. G. W. Griewahn, Mrs. Ernest Hammack, Mrs Edwin Bunge, Mrs. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Melvin Purple, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, Mrs. Frank Robinett, Mrs. Leroy Titley, Mrs. Howard Truesdale and Mrs. Julius Vincz.

DRUNK ARRESTED

Donald R. Edgar, 44, of Napoleon, Ohio, was arrested by Tecumseh police Monday night on a drunk and disorderly charge. He also beat his wife.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

Crossing the open spot in order to enter the jungle on the opposite side, I noticed a broken down dead tree standing on the edge of the woods—a fallen down tree looking like a picture of the Japanese trees on the slopes of Fujiyama. Here is where I got the biggest surprise of my life. When we were 15 or 20 yards from the tree—out jumped four lions from the foot of it.

Contrary to local custom of the white client having a gun bearer or two to carry the guns, I had always insisted on carrying my own and in this particular case I was carrying the double barreled 470 in both hands like I do when bird shooting.

One lion with an ugly looking face and ominous snarl sneaked off to the right along a fallen log and I looked at it as I have never looked at an animal before. This was the first time I had seen a live lion out in the wilds. The animal had no mane so I figured it must be a female, but what an ugly looking brute. She was big, sway-backed, and her hip bones were sticking out through the skin. She was just about as unpleasant a creature as I have ever looked at.

PAPA KNOCKED OVER

Out of the corner of my eye I saw two smaller ones sneaking off to the left. The papa had evidently made up his mind not to choose to run and looked me straight in the eye. Some thought like 'This is it!' came to my mind and I automatically raised the gun and fired right at the center of his head. When the bullet knocked him backwards head over heels, I wanted to walk right over to see what kind of a fellow I had shot but Andy, right in back of me, said "Don't. Don't reload your gun. The female may charge, so keep the gun to your shoulder because if she does, you won't have time to lift it." So we waited and waited until my arms ached holding the heavy gun to my shoulder.

Finally Andy said that it was all right; she was evidently not going to charge; and we went over to look at papa. Well, papa was done for all right. He must have had his mouth open as there was not a hole in him. The bullet had entered the mouth, knocked out an eye tooth, some molars, and gone down lengthwise through all the neck vertebrae. I was excited all right when we found the bullet between the shoulder blades right under the skin. "Good job, old boy" Andy said, "but you are going to have a hard time explaining this one. There is not a hole in him."

Well, this was the time for picture taking. We had to have the cameras so we sent N'Gora and Sangora up to the area where we had left the jeep several miles away to bring Peg and the cameras down. They were to drive the jeep as far as they could towards us and then go on foot the rest of the way. It took a long time but finally Peg came with cameras and all. It was evidently then I made the pardonable mistake of not loading the cameras properly.

I ALMOST SMOKED

If anyone, after he has shot his first lion in the African jungle tells you he is not excited—well, I was. I had met my male lion face to face and had nailed him and was so excited and elated I didn't know which foot to stand on. I was so elated I almost broke down and smoked a cigarette—something I had sworn never to do again.

Brother, what a moment! We looked at the lion from all angles. I twisted his tail in honor of Frank Smith, as I had promised to do before I left, if ever I had the chance. Then, with great effort, we got him hauled up on a big log, trying to make it look as if he was standing off the ground. The beast weighed 400 pounds, Andy said.

Finally we had him arranged. It was a sad looking position for a male lion to be in with all four feet encircling the log, but we got him stacked up with a piece of wood under the chin and I took pictures and more pictures with Andy and N'Gora behind the lion; myself behind the lion; the gun placed in all positions — against and behind the lion's head or shoulders; Peg smiling benignly, and when we got home to the United States and received our films back from Eastman Kodak Company. the whole strip was a blank—not a picture turned out because I, in my excitement, had not tucked the end of the film properly into the spool. So the next 50 pictures I thought I took, I really didn't take as the film never moved.

I have no pictures to show of my lion. It made me sick, but I have the skin and the head and I have three teeth; the one from the upper jaw which was not hurt, and the two lower ones. One of these days I am going to prance around displaying them as part of a tie pin and cuff links.

In thorn bush country the male lions do not appear with the kind of mane that we are used to seeing in the Zoo. The reason for this is that the lions traveling through the thorn bushes get their manes caught in the thorns and the hair pulled out or worn off. It is nice to see a male lion with a great flowing mane, but in order to find them, it is evidently necessary to go into Tanganyika, where the thorn bushes do not exist in certain areas and where the lions, therefore, do not wear off their manes.

HAD WONDERFUL HIDE

After the pitcure taking, we proceeded to skin the beast. I have never relaized before what a wonderful hide a lion has, so smooth and velvety. Of course, I have not been going around making it a habit petting lions all my life. I didn't do too much petting here either because, as every country, like Edmund Abou says, has its specialty; so it seems, every animal in Eastern Africa has its specialty in the way of insects. The rhino has large ticks in bright colors about the size of a dime, and the lion has flies, strangely enough called lion flies, and they mean business.

Mohamed, who came with Peg from the jeep, was given the job of skinning the lion which he did very deftly and soon we had the coat pulled off the King of the jungle. I must say I had to marvel at the anatomy of the beast. No wonder he can hand out punishment. His front legs looked like an oversize prize fighter's arms, all knotty muscles. No wonder he could break the neck of a zebra by pulling his head around. I was glad he did not have a chance to try out his tricks on me.

HE WASN'T FAT

Like all of the natives, Mohamed was very proud of animal fat and after the hide was off, he proceeded to open up the animal, trying to get at the fat which generally is attached to the intestines. Unfortunately this chap had evidently been on a lean diet and there wasn't must fat in him. I still think he was one of the four lions that we had previously tracked and which a couple of days earlier had had his part of a sheep and two donkeys. How he could have digested all of that in that length of time is beyond my understanding, but at any rate the donkey had not left any fat on him. There was just a meager yellow string of fat adhering to the intestines which Mohamed was trying to get hold of to cut off, but Andy was impatient. He wanted us to be on our way so we could get something more out of the day and told Mohamed rather briskly to cut out the nonsense. Mohamed was very unwilling because lion fat is better by far than any other kind of fat. It has strange powers that other fats do not possess and he had a dark look in his eyes at the prospect of having to give it up. To smooth things over, I promised him a pound of butter instead. Mohamed smiled, wiped off his knife and hid it, I do not know where, and we were off.

Christian Science Services Listed

Man's true selfhood as the perfect child of God — possessing God-given dominion over sin, discord, and failure, — will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health wtih Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man."

From the Bible will be read this passage from II Timothy (3:16,17): "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

Included in selections to be read from Science and Health is the following (304:14): "The perfect man — governed by God, his perfect Principle — is sinless and eternal."

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE
BY NICHOLAS PARKER
President, Henri Bendel, Inc., New York City

Father of All Men: In ages past, Thy sages have taught us that we are brothers in Thy sight. In this age of the atom, Thy command has become an imperative for survival.

Strengthen us, we pray Thee, to remove from our midst prejudice and hatred.

As Thou hast borne with our frailties, teach us to tolerate our own imperfections and those of others.

Imbue us with a yearning for righteousness and peace that will at last make of all mankind, a company of friends, a band of brothers.

Grade School News

PATTERSON SCHOOL

Many of the kindergarten children wrote a little story, in manuscript writing. We have them all on display for our friends to see. We are looking forward to being first grade children.

The first grade enjoyed the Ford Circus in the big high school gym last Thusrday morning. Many of us were brave enough to touch the snake that weighed 85 pounds.

Linda Spooner brought a visitor in the form of a lizard for the third grade to watch. We decided it was all right to look, but not get our fingers too close. Karol Davis boxed her chickens up that she received for Easter so we could see how they have grown. They still have some of the rose and lavender coloring.

All the children at Patterson enjoyed the animal program at the high school gym. We learned quite a bit about wild animals.

The school has purchased pictures which will be rotated to all buildings for everyone to enjoy. They are very nice.

Last Tuesday the fifth grade went on a bus trip to Battle Creek. We visited Kellogg's and Post's Cereal Companies. After our tour in each company we were treated to ice cream with cereal. We arrived home at 5 p.m. tired, but happy.

The study of China and Japan has been very interesting to the sixth graders. We are going to see some slides of Japan when we finish the unit.

In music we are taking notes about some modern composers. We recognized the music easily enough, but not the writer's name. Mrs. Smith also included interesting facts about their career.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

This week has been spring house cleaning week at Central. The boys and girls did a nice job of helping clean up the playground.

Central has acquired new books for its library. Last week was spent getting the library ready for these books.

All the classes one through six enjoyed an assembly program last Thursday in the high school gym. Jack Brothers put on the program. He had a dog which is used for hunting in Africa. He also had monkeys, a baboon, a leopard, and a South American ant bear. The children also enjoyed touching a baby python. The program was very entertaining and enjoyed by all!

The next meeting of the Central P.T.A. will be Thursday, May 17. A marriage counselor from the Detroit Council of Churches will be the speaker.

Mrs. Weitenhagen's room has been making posters on fire safety. They talked about what to do in case a person's clothing caught on fire.

Mrs. Whiting's room is continuing work on geography murals. At the present time they are working on Egypt and India.

Mrs. Uckele's room enjoyed the colored slides that David Blanden showed of their trip through the western states. It was very interesting to see so many of the things the class has been studying about.

Mary Ford's mother and Terry Haughn's mother were school visitors last week.

Make The Mealtime "Family Time"

Make the most of family mealtime; often it's the only time a family is all together.

Supper is an ideal time to develop a feeling of family unity, declares Mrs. Lennah Backus, family life specialist at Michigan State University.

According to some recent research done by Mrs. Alice Thorpe, home management researcher at M.S.U., many families have only mealtime to share in family conversation and in the feeling of "togetherness."

Table conversation can do a lot for this family unity. Let children talk and feel free to express their opinions and ideas. Mrs. Backus points out that the old adage, "a child should be seen and not heard," doesn't apply here. This is a time, she asserts, when children can use their family as a sounding board. What better place could they learn the fine art of conversation.

Mrs. Backus also believes that the table talk should allow all members of the family to tell what they have done that day. Or, perhaps a joke or two might put the family in a jovial mood. Not only will this do wonders for the enjoyment of the meal, but will relax the family members so they digest their food much better.

Most important is to try to keep the conversation of interest and of concern to all: Mother, Father, Sis and Brother. As a rule, keep it light and jovial. And, she adds, don't try to solve the heaviest, most worrisome family problems at mealtime. There might be a more appropriate time to settle differences.

MSU Building To House Student Service Groups

Construction of a new $2.5 million student services building at Michigan State University is scheduled to begin in June.

Upon completion — planned for fall term, 1957—the building will prvoide a central headquarters for activities affecting every student on the M.S.U. campus.

All departments of the dean of students office except the health center will move into the new building. Students will go there to get a room, to interview for a job or to apply for a scholarship. Student government and all student publications people will work there.

It will be home also for offices of alumni relations, M.S.U. fund, counseling center, foreign students, high school cooperation and both men's and women's divisions of the dean of students.

The student services building was approved by the Legislature recently as a self-liquidating project. It will be financed from student fees.

The building's three stories and full basement will afford about 96,000 square feet of space, served by two elevators. The site borders the M.S.U. horticulture gardens between home management house and the natural science building.

MARK ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary April 24 by entertaining at dinner the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Priest of Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pocklington of Adrian. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Howell.

PLAN DRIVE

The Ridgeway township cancer society board met recently to make final plans for their annual drive for funds. The township will be solicited by volunteer workers in each section and the villages of Britton and Ridgeway will take part in the porch light drive with local groups of Campfire Girls calling at each home. Organizations or individuals may make special contributions by contacting Mrs. Edwin Spohr, Mrs. William Miller or Mrs. Forest Barrett.

---

Recent weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell and Mrs. Molly Tracy of Plymouth.

Mrs. Ida Miller and Mrs. Clay Croll accompanied Mr. and Mrs. James Dennison and George Dennison of Cone to Ashley last week for the funeral of Lyle Daggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Daggett.

Mrs. Helen Croll Linn of Detroit entered Herrick Memorial hospital for observation and treatment last week.

Mrs. Viola Daisher was a recent weekend guest of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Poley of Ypsilanti.

Walter Dunbar of Eau Claire, Wis., was a recent visitor of his brother, Wayne Dunbar, Mrs. Dunbar and Gregg Walter. He was enroute to Puerto Rico. Other visitors in the same home were Mrs. Donald Craig and Darlene of Manchester and Mrs. Joe Loveless of Tecumseh.

The Britton Oddfellow and Rebekah lodges observed their 48th and 44th anniversaries of Oddfellowship Thursday evening in the hall. Ninety members and their families were present and a potluck supper was served at 7 p.m. followed by group singing and histories of the lodges given by Byron Covell and Mrs. William Cundiff.

Bobby Bade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bade recently spent a weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Fletcher of Hudson.

The Ridgeway Cemetery board will meet Thursday, May 3 at 2 p.m. in the town hall.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff were in Ypsilanti Saturday evening, where Mr. Cundiff attended an Oddfellows meeting.

Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Leonard Ramage, Mrs. Walter Prill, Mrs. Vern Neidlinger and Mrs. Martin Ivan Jr. attended a meeting of the National P.T.A. convention held in Detroit last week.

Keith and Kirk Crutchfield, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield celebrated their seventh birthdays last week.

Mrs. William Niblack and daughter Penny, Mrs. Raymond Liester and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Niblack of Ypsilanti were in Hillsdale Sunday as guests of Mrs. J. H. Miner and Mrs. Herschel Miner. The occasion honored the birthday of Mrs. William Niblack.

JUST LISTED. Ted Glauser's home in Herrick Park. This is a beautiful, 3-bedroom house with full basement. Priced to sell.

199 ACRE DAIRY FARM. House modern except for furnace. Twenty-one stanchions, grade A dairy, 65 acres work ground, rest is pasture. Could be a sportsman's paradise. Borders small spring-fed lake. Only $100 per acre. Ten miles from Tecumseh.

We have an extra nice Brick located in Herrick Park. This Home is priced to sell and has the many features all women want.

In the Park also we have a 3 bedroom ranch type bath and a half, many builtins. Large lot possession about June 1.

JUST LISTED 4 bedroom house at 506 W. Kilbuck. Full basement. Double lot. Priced to sell to reliable buyer on a land contract.

Over on Bidwell St. at 214 we have a house that is worth the money. The owner is willing to help a good party and carry a contract on this home.

Wayne Selders has 2 custom homes on Ternes rd. we are offering for sale. These are not run of the mill homes. They have the extras you want for comfort.

Right down town next to Jack's Market there is a 3 bedroom home we're going to sell within the next 30 days. This will be sold on a contract to the highest offer. Better get down here and make one.

If you are a bit of a gambler there is a place on US-112 with 5½ acres of land 100 ft. of which is on Cleveland lake. There is money to be made on this.

We have a nice 10 acres of land over north of Clinton. It's got some fruit trees, a good chicken coop, and real nice home. You should look at this.

If there is any one in the city of Tecumseh that wants a good business or if they know of any one they want to spread the word on this. WE HAVE JUST LISTED EDDIE CLARK'S STORE. The whole thing is for sale. Right across from the Dairy Queen.

Elmer Wilt wants to sell his 157 acres. You people who know land will want to see this. It's close to town and worth every penny Elmer wants for it.

Harry Farley will sell his Farm. It's got a good 1000 peach trees plus land for truck farming. A real nice home on it. Better think this over.

CLEANING AND PAINTING THE METAL SURFACE ON STATE HIGHWAY BRIDGE ON US 223 ONE MILE SOUTH OF ADRIAN IN LENAWEE COUNTY.

PROJECT: Mm X2 of 46-11-16, C3.

Net classification required for this project is 1 S Painting.

Sealed proposals for the construction of this project located in Madison Township, Lenawee County will be received from contractors having 1956 Michigan State Highway Department prequalifications, in Room 701, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan until 10:30 A.M., Eastern Standard Time on Tuesday, May 8, 1956 and will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals may be mailed to the Contract-Estimate Office, 715 Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Michigan.

The work will consist of Cleaning and Painting the entire Metal Surface.

Completion date for entire project July 15, 1956.

The Department's Standard Specifications (1950 Edition), its current Soil Manual, the plans for this project, the special provisions governing subletting and assigning the contract and the employment and use of labor, and the proposal blanks (all of which are essential parts of the contract) may be examined at the district office of the Department at Redford, Michigan and at the Michigan Road Builders Association, Lansing, Michigan, but may be obtained only at the office of the Contract-Estimate Engineer, 715 Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Michigan, up to 5:00 P.M. of the day preceding the opening of bids. A fee of three dollars will be charged for furnishing plans or proposal blanks, which will not be refunded.

Full cooperation in carrying out the special provisions will be required. Minimum wage paid to labor employed on this contract shall be as outlined in the proposal.

A Certified or Cashier's Check, Bank Money Order, or Certificate of Deposit, properly endorsed, on an open, solvent bank, in the sum of $500.00 payable to Charles M. Ziegler, State Highway Commissioner, must accompany each proposal. All such checks will be returned promptly after the bidding, except that of the lowest bidder will not be returned until execution and delivery of the contract to the State Highway Department.

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

ATTENDED CONVENTION

Mrs. William Hayden and Mrs. W. G. Waldron represented the Tecumseh Music Club at the state convention in Flint last Wednesday. It was held in the Durant Hotel and the morning session was a work shop of music therapy. There was a celebrity luncheon at one o'clock with Dr. Maurice Bumesnil, a writer for the "Etude," as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Hayden were so fortunate as to be seated at a table with Dr. Madey, of Interlochen fame. The featured artist of the afternoon was Eugene List, the pianist.

Store Windows Feature Library, Extension Display

"Getting your calories worth" is the caption of a graphic exhibit in the window of Palman's store. This week is National Home Demonstration Week and the display illustrates the work of the extension groups of this department. It shows two breakfasts of equal caloric value but of sharply contrasted worth from a health standpoint.

Three other exhibits, "Buying a Dress", "Modern Trends in Home Furnishing," which feature materials furnished by local merchants, and favors made for hospital trays also illustrate club projects. The whole is sponsored by four local study groups, the Raisin Green Bees, the Tecumseh Inquirers, the Tri-Town Extension and the Comfort Club.

Another window of the store has been loaned by the Palman Co. for the use of the Tecumseh Public Library where Mrs. Conrad Foshender, librarian has an exhibit of timely interest. Aimed at stimulating interest in the books of the library, this display is changed each week thus acquainting the patrons with those available. This week's books feature home building and decorating.

FELLOWSHIP CLUB MEETS

Immanuel Fellowship Club met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schroeder. The Rev. V. H. Schwartz led the group in an interesting discussion on "Reincarnation." During the business meeting, it was decided to sponsor a showing of the "Martin Luther" movie in the church May 13. A lunch will be served after the movie. The group also enjoyed sevreal games after which lunch was served.

The Ladies Aid Society of Immanuel Lutheran church met Thursday evening, April 26 in the home of Mrs. Walter Miller with 20 ladies present. The Rev. V. H. Schwartz presented the topic entitled "Women in the Church." The ladies voted to send two delegates to the Michigan district convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League which will be held in St. Joseph in June. They also voted to give a scholarship to Lutheran Service Volunteer School to some Walther League member. Mrs. Miller served a delicious luncheon.

BIRTHDAY HONORED

Marking the sixth birthday of his son Johnnny, John Hamilton took some of his small friends to Detroit, Sunday afternoon where they saw the first of the double-header games between the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians.

The guests were Ronnie Sniffen, Jamie McWilliams, Martin Campbell and Mark Hamilton. Raymond Morley assisted in entertaining the group who were more than thrilled over the victory giving home run in the ninth inning.

On their return home, they were joined by Lynn Cavin and Mrs. Hamilton had a birthday supper ready complete with birthday cake. The birthday meant many gifts for Johnny.

Howard Heath Is Grange Speaker

Tecumseh Grange met last Thursday evening in its regular form. Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Stout, the master of Pomona Grange and his wife were present.

The committee in charge of the dance given April 27 for the benefit of the Polio Fund reported that $97 was realized for that cause. The grange voted also to make donations to the Crippled Children's Society and to the bleacher fund for the Tecumseh Recreation Field. The members welcomed back three families who had recently returned from Florida.

Howard Heath, farm editor and reporter for radio station WPAG in Ann Arbor was guest speaker. He gave members a wide view of the future of farming including many informative statistics. A question and answer period followed his talk.

The next meeting of the grange will be an open one.

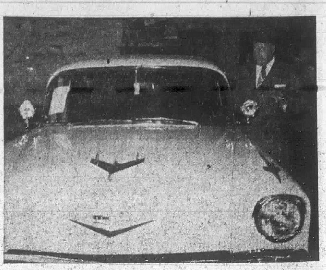
Schneider Bros. Buick-Chevrolet Is Oldest Here

A Buick dealer since 1918 and a Chevrolet dealer since 1931, Louis S. Schneider is owner of the oldest automobile agency in Tecumseh.

Fresh out of the army where he served in the corps of engineers in Europe and Russia during World War I, Louis Schneider and his brother Karl established the Buick agency when they got their first Buick in 1918.

After two years Louis bought Karl out and was sole owner but the name Schneider Brothers' Garage has been retained through the years. Today it is located at 130 West Chicago Blvd.

Born Jan. 16, 1895, in Adrian, Louis attended Tecumseh Public Schools, graduating from the high school "gosh I don't remember when." He attended Michigan State College taking an engineering course. This was a natural bent since he had worked for his family's Tecumseh Electric Company as an electrician. The company served Tecumseh, Britton, Deerfield and Petersburg before it was sold to Michigan Eastern and in turn became part of the Consumers Power Co. Louis was 15 when he began working for the family electric company.



LOUIS SCHNEIDER AND A CHEVROLET

He later entered MSC only to leave to enter the army in World War I. He lied his age to get into the corps of engineers. When he came out in 1918 he held a master sergeant rating. You had to be older to be an engineer.

His long association with Tecumseh car buyers made him a natural for the Automobile Oldtimers' Club and his overseas hitch in the great war also made him a natural for the American Legion. He has served in almost every capacity in the local American Legion Post and today he holds a life membership which was granted to him last spring.

For more years than he cares to mention he was active in the Legion's Memorial Day parade as marshal. And he always led the parade riding a fine horse which was for years his best loved hobby.

Louis Schneider also is a member of the VFW, the Masons, the Adrian Elks, the 40 et 8, the Tecumseh Country Club, Tecumseh Club, Michigan Automotive Trade Ordinance Association.

He is a charter member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club.

Soon after he started the Buick dealership here he married the former Alice Lowe. They live at 115 south Union and they attend St. Peter's Episcopal Church. They have one son Louis, 34, known by many Tecumseh folks as young Louie. He is vice-president and general manager of the agency today and his dad gives a lot of the credit for the agency's success to his son's drive and management.

For years an active member of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce "Old" Louie used to head up the special promotion when Tecumseh merchants of an earlier era held Wednesday specials. Folks jammed Tecumseh from miles around to see the special vaudeville talent Louis signed up to put on acts on the mobile stage.

Louis can't single out his biggest thrill since he started his agency here. "I've had a lot of them," he says.

One of his biggest is a continuing one. This is the fact that he is still selling Buicks to folks who bought cars from him soon after he started his agency. He also is still selling Chevrolets to buyers who bought some of the first Chevrolets ever sold in Tecumseh. "This is the best sales talk we can have," he said, "and we are grateful to these folks."

"Today there is a difference in the service department. When I first got my start, I could fix any car we serviced. All I needed was wrench and the part. But today you have to really know your stuff to work on these modern cars. Our servicemen are constantly going to school to learn how to do the job better and there is a lot to learn. We keep pace with all improvements."

Louis said his agency carries a normal inventory of $28,000 in Buick and Chevrolet parts. "In 99 cases out of 100 we can service the missing or broken part right from our own stock," he said.

A Necessity -- Not a Luxury

RIGHT here in our community — and all over the country — automobiles are an essential part of our daily life.

The horse and buggy days have been displaced by an age when 70 per cent of all families own at least one automobile.

The change in the American way of life during the last half century owes more to the automobile than any other single factor. There has been what amounts to a revolution in our economic life, in our social life and in our cultural life.

One of every seven workers in this country is connected in some way with making, selling or servicing automobiles. That's almost 10,000,000 persons — a sizeable chunk of the working population. More than 725,000 work in new car franchised dealerships. Just imagine what would happen to our economy without these payrolls — which add up to $2.5 billion a year.

There's no doubt that the average family would be lost without its car. Half of all car use is for getting to work or is in line of work. Shopping takes a quarter of all car use. More than half a million children get to school in private autos and eight per cent of all car driving is for churchgoing.

In this decade we are witnessing the expansion of great metropolitan centers in the growth of Suburbia. This growth —a post-World War II phenomenon — could not have taken place without the automobile. In fact, it can be argued that the automobile has caused Suburbia.

The growth of Suburbia has been responsible for the increase in the number of two-car families. More than 16½ million families have two or more cars. This has become necessary as families move farther and farther away from the city in which pop gets his paycheck. Mom can't drive him to work anymore. So she needs another car to shop and drive the kids around when he takes the car to work.

School and church, shopping, dentist visits, getting to work, going to the movies, the Saturday night fling in the city, Sunday pleasure drives, vacation trips to America's wonderlands — all these benefit or result from the ever-improving engineering and design of American automobiles.

The automobile has made family travel easier and cheaper. As the American standard of living rises, as leisure time increases, as more families move from congested cities to suburban areas, we can expect automobiles to become increasingly more necessary, more useful and more widely-owned.

Visit Your Hospital

The week of May 6 to 12 will be observed as national hospital week and in connection with this special week Herrick Memorial hospital will hold an open house.

When you visit your hospital during this special week keep these things in mind:

The X-ray department has the finest equipment that can be used.

The hospital had 23 per cent more patients in 1955 than it had in 1954. Patients in 1955 numbered 2356. In addition there were 576 babies born there last year.

Cash charges jumped from $274,000 in 1954 to $362,000 in 1955.

Figures are interesting; but let's look behind them.

Orrie L. Gilbert is going a workmanlike job in coordinating the various departments of the hospital in his position as superintendent. We have heard only words of praise for Mr. Gilbert during his first year here.

As you visit Herrick Memorial hospital during its open house this year, consider these facts and rediscover how fortunate all of us are for having such a fine community asset as our hospital.

Sales Director Named by A & P

Thomas J. Fitzgerald has been appointed director of sales for the Central Western Division of A&P Food Stores with headquarters in Detroit, President John M. Toolin announced today.

Fitzgerald will direct sales for division stories in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee. The former assistant director of sales was named to succeed Byron Jay, who was appointed vice president of the division's Grand Rapids Unit.

Fitzgerald has been with A&P 33 years, including 15 years as sales manager of the Detroit Unit and service with the company's coffee and food processing subsidiaries.

OFFICIALS WILL ATTEND MEETING

Some 60 Michigan municipal officials will meet in Chelsea, Thursday, May 3, to discuss their mutual problems and hear a talk on services available to municipalities through state agencies.

Ed Nelson, city manager; H. H. Hanna, mayor; and councilmen Hal Kelso and Don Brazee will attend this dinner meeting.

Realty Views

"I'm a World War II veteran," said Tim Rhymer, "and I've wondered how much more time I have to buy a house under the G.I. home loan program?"

"The time is running out," I replied. "If Congress doesn't extend it, G.I. loans to World War II veterans will cease as of July 25, 1957. That's only a little more than a year away."

Tim looked shocked, "No kidding?"

"That's right," I answered. "But actually, because it takes a couple of months or so to process a new loan, you really don't have until July 1957. The loan has to be closed by then."

"Whew," said Tim. "I'd better get busy looking for a home. I know the interest rate and down payment are more favorable under the G.I. loan program. I'll tell my wife and we'll phone you for an appointment."

"Fine," I said. "We'll be glad to serve you anytime."

If you, like Tim, are a veteran of World War II and have not used your G.I. home loan rights in full, you should investigate the house market NOW!

Of course, after the law expires you still have a chance to buy under F.H.A. or conventional financing.

But your most favorable home loan plan is available NOW. Why not call us or stop by the office to see our best home values.

M.S.U. Glee Club Offers Fine Music

Music from the pens of Richard Rodgers, George Handel, Albert H. Malotte, Hoagy Carmichael and others will be offered by the Michigan State University Men's Glee Club at Addison high school at 8:15 p.m., Saturday, May 5. The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring this public concert. The club sang in Tecumseh last winter.

The Glee Club, which is giving many concerts across the state again this year, has a large repertoire ready for presentation. The program will offer a fine balance of songs of long ago, songs of worship, music of today, spiritual songs, folk music, operatic selections, and popular favorites.

Edward Richmond, director of 60-voice glee club, reports that the songs of long ago will include an English madrigal and 16th century folk songs from Germany and England. The religious renditions, will include Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer," and Handel's "Thanks Be to Thee."

The singers have found that audiences greatly enjoy such spirituals as "Dry Bones" and "Rock-a My Soul" and such popular favorites as Carmichaels's "Up a Lazy River" and Rodger's "You'll Never Walk Alone." Among the folk songs will be "Li'l Liza Jane."

One of the highlights of the operatic numbers will be "Michigan Morn" from the M.S.U. folk opera "Michigan Dream" written by Professor Owen Reed. The music of today portion of the concert will include Noble Cain's "Come to Me in My Dreams."

Butler's Ford Reputation Rides on Every Sale

"We always have tried to live up to our slogan 'honest—friendly' and we have staked our reputation on every sale," says C. O. Butler, owner of Butler Motor Sales, the Tecumseh Ford agency at 135 West Chicago Blvd.

That the company owned by "Chuck" Butler has succeeded can be attested to by the thousands of satisfied customers who have dealt with the Hoss trader during the 26 years he has been a dealer here.

CHUCK BUTLER AND A FORD SUNLINER

The Ford Motor Company also has recognized Chuck's record as a dealer. If a Ford dealer can earn the company's "Four Letter Dealer Award" once he can consider himself a very fine dealer. But Chuck has earned the merit award twice.

Chuck Butler, for 36 years a Ford dealer in Michigan, was born March 13, 1894, in Battle Creek, but his family later moved to Bellvue and Olivet where Chuck was educated.

He went on to attend Olivet College, then he transferred to Michigan State College. At the East Lansing school he played a lot of football and he was a member of the team of Spartans that clipped the University of Michigan 24-0 in 1915. Chuck still is active in the MSC Alumni Association, having served as president in 1947. He also is a member of the Spartan Club.

In World War I he served in the army as a second lieutenant. After the war he worked in the Dodge and Ford plants in Detroit, and later, returning nearer to where he was raised, he joined the Cushman Auto Sales in Battle Creek as a salesman for 10 years and he served as sales manager for five years.

On March 1, 1930, he opened his Ford agency in Tecumseh and began his "honest and friendly" relations that have become part of his working slogan.

Chuck and Mrs. Butler live at 210 south Union. They are members of St. Peter's Episcopal Church where he has been a vestryman and warden for eight years.

Very active in community activities, Chuck has been a member of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce 26 years. He has been a director six terms and has had the president's job three times.

A member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club 25 years, he also is a past president.

Other activities included his serving as general chairman of the Tecumseh Echoes pageant.

He has been a member of the Lenawee Country Club 21 years and a director and past president of the Tecumseh Country Club. Chuck also has been a member of the Tecumseh Club 26 years and president three times.

His activities also have included:

Director Michigan Auto Dealers Association; president of Lenawee Automobile Dealers Association; membership in the American Legion for 32 years; and membership in the National Automobile Dealers' Association. He is now serving Lenawee and Monroe Counties as MADA director and he has been serving as acting president of the state group.

An outdoor man, Chuck also is a member of the Tecumseh Gun Club, the Lost Lake Woods Club of Michigan and the Pine Creek Club of New York and the Michigan Seniors Golf Association.

His hobbies are golf and hunting.

Mayor Proclaims City Hospital Week

Mayor Hanna today proclaimed May 6 - 12 as Tecumseh hospital week. Communities throughout the United States are joining in the observance of national hospital week during this period.

In his proclamation the Mayor said, "Your Hospital . . . For You and Your Community" is the theme of national hospital week which this year emphasizes hospitals' many services to their communities and especially their role in community disaster planning. The week commemorates the humanitarian service of hospitals throughout the world and celebrates the birthday of the famous nurse Florence Nightingale May 12.

Mayor Hanna said:

"It is fitting that we take the opportunity presented by this observance to become better acquainted with our excellent hospitals. I urge all of you to visit your hospital and see the efficiency and competence which means protection for you and yours in time of need. Rediscover the great community asset which is our hospitals."

The proclamation read:

"Whereas our hospitals have dedicated themselves to providing this important care, and

"Whereas the hospitals have demonstrated their continued interest in community welfare through their sustained programs of planning how to meet community disasters, and

"Whereas the continued high standard of hospital care is possible only through the community's understanding, appreciation, and support of its hospitals,

"Now therefore I, by virtue of the authority vested in me as mayor, do hereby proclaim the week of May 6 through May 12, 1956, as hospital week, and

"I urge that all citizens join with me and people throughout the United States in observing national hospital week and show their appreciation to our hospitals whose services are so necessary and important to all of us."

PRAYER BOOK HISTORY TOLD TO GUILD

The history of the prayer book was the program topic discussed by Mrs. John Keeney last Thursday at the meeting of the St Peter's Guild held at the Parish House.

Mrs. E. C. Dickin conducted the meeting and devotions were in charge of Mrs. Glenn Driscoll. Mrs. L. W. Larsen reported on the plans made for the Kitchen Tour to be given May 17. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Driscoll and Mrs. Harry Crosby.

The May 10 meeting will have Mrs. H. H. Hammel and Mrs. Lavern Russell as hostesses.

Local Car Dealers Do Annual Business of $2,941,700

The new car and truck dealer in Tecumseh performs one of the most vital functions of any independent businessman. It is his job to sell essential and dependable transportation to the people here and to provide the service know-how to keep the vehicles in tip-top operating condition.

His service department, manned by experts and equipped with modern scientific tools and machinery, guarantees the precise workmanship to keep the town rolling smoothly on wheels.

The new car dealer has a big investment in the community—an investment in buildings, in parts and accessories, and in service department equipment. He also has an investment in terms of community goodwill built up through the years. Six dealers here have been in business a total of 77 years.

New car retailers in Tecumseh contribute to the local welfare in a variety of other ways. All told, they employ 55 persons and have a total annual payroll of $202,060. They pay their share of local taxes on a total capital investment of $391,080.

They also pay state and federal taxes on a combined gross business of $2,941,700.

And above all, they are community leaders, active in civic clubs and giving to community service organizations such as the Community Fund and Red Cross.

Any way you figure it...

Ford Trucks Cost Less!

The pay-off is in the payload! New Ford T-800 tandem-axle model lets you carry up to 3,000 lbs. more payload than most other 6-wheelers. GCW 65,000 lbs.

More loadspace than any other ½-ton pickup—up to 19 cu. ft. more! New Ford F-100, GVW 5,000 lbs., now offers full 8-ft. box. 6½-ft. box is standard.

Ford costs start low— Ford costs stay low...

Certified studies show Ford Trucks last longer than any of the other four leading makes

Compare Ford model for model with any other truck line and you'll find that, based on factory-suggested list prices, Ford has more models priced under competition than any other line.

But low initial cost is only one of the reasons why Fords cost less. Take resale value—it stays high, thanks to the demand for used Ford Trucks. Take operating costs—no other trucks give you the dependability of Ford's rugged chassis design with the gas and oil economy of a modern Short Stroke engine. Only Ford gives you a Short Stroke engine, V-8 or Six, in every truck—and at no extra cost.

Ford Trucks cost less to maintain because they last longer. This is a fact certified by independent life insurance experts. There are plenty of reasons why. Ford Pickups, for example, have the highest combined front and rear axle capacity in the half-ton field. Ford Heavy Duty engines have sodium-cooled valves that last up to five times longer because they run up to 225 degrees cooler.

When you take everything into consideration, you'll agree it costs less to own a FORD Truck. Before you buy any truck, see your Ford Dealer.

FORD TRUCKS LAST LONGER

Certified by independent insurance actuaries for the ninth consecutive year! Studies of over 10,068,600 current license registrations show that Ford Trucks last up to 9.9% longer than any of the other 4 leading truck makes!

G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc. Has Been Agency 7 Years

Gale H. Fisher has owned the Pontiac new car agency that bears his name for almost seven years. G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc., at 402 east Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh, was started July 1, 1949.

GALE FISHER AND A PONTIAC STAR CHIEF CONVERTIBLE

A resident of Tecumseh for seven years, Mr. Fisher was born in Ridgeway, Ohio, 69 years ago.

Educated in Ohio Northern University and Adrian College, he has a bachelor of commercial science degree from the Ohio school and a bachelor of philosophy degree from Adrian. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

For five years he worked in the Ford Motor Co. general purchasing department at Highland Park, Mich., before he moved over to General Motors Corp. in the same capacity, remaining with GMC for 24 years at Detroit.

Jan. 20, 1914, Mr. Fisher married the former Ima L. Britton in Adrian. They now live at 416 W. Chicago, Tecumseh. They have one child, Mrs. Jane E. Ernst of Tecumseh.

Their son-in-law Ray Ernst works for the agency.

The Fishers are members of the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh.

Mr. Fisher is a member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club and Tecumseh Lodge No. 69, F. & A.M., and the Tecumseh Country Club.

When he can get away from his busy agency, he likes to shoot a little golf. He hits in the low nineties. He also likes to fish. He has no preference over casting and still fishing.

Mr. Fisher says Pontiac has the finest car on the road today. "You can't beat it for quality, beauty, design and value," he adds.

G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc., services all makes of cars, using the most modern equipment. The service department has factory-trained mechanics.

The Pontiac agency also is headquarters in Tecumseh for Goodyear and Kelly tires and Delco and Sunoco batteries.

Mr. Fisher said:

"In our service department we have factory trained mechanics and the most modern equipment with which to analyze and do repair work. Our main equipment consists of Sun electric motor tester; Sun electric distributor tester; Sun electric battery charger, both six and 12 volt; John Bean wheel aligning equipment; Hunter wheel balancer; Hopkins head lamp focusing equipment; Alemite lubricating equipment.

"In our tire department we have Henderson tire changer, and mount and repair both tube and tubeless tires.

"We maintain a car washing department and pick-up and deliver cars, both for washing and mechanical service.

"Our Pontiac parts department is complete. We also carry a complete line of service station supplies."

"Breathes there a man" — who does not now and then feel the urge to explore some out of the way place, but, not carrying a gun or a golf club does not put his legs to the test? But the small boy in every man some time takes over. That is what happened recently to Clarence Damon — and his legs had to follow.

Clarence works at the Clinton Machine Co. and is a friend of Lawrence Cameron of that company who is also the owner of "The Island" in Evans Lake. Discussion of the lake and the creek which flows from it led to a discussion of the man for whom they were named, Musgrove Evans, one of Tecumseh's founding fathers. Here two submerged small boys came up with the idea it would be a real adventure to follow in Evan's footsteps along the banks of the creek from the lake to its junction with the Raisin river.

The result was a hike of an estimated 26 miles which began in the outskirts of Tecumseh at 6 a.m. and ended on the shore of the lake at 2:30 in the afternoon.

This was the main adventure. It had been prefaced the week before by a preliminary trip down the original bed of the creek, at the lower end, where it once emptied into the Raisin. This was familiar territory to Clarence who had played Indian there as a youngster but he had not then known and is sure not many, even native Tecumsehites, know now that the creek did not end where it flows into the Globe pond. Instead the original channel was the mill race of the old Globe Mill and a sluggish trickle still marks its course across the flats past the sewage disposal plant and on south to the old railroad trestle where it now empties into the river. And even this was once not the end. A well defined channel, which had been deflected by the railroad construction leads almost to Blood's bridge and this, in the belief of our explorer was the spot reached by Evans and his original party when they had "followed the creek to its junction with the river" as stated in the early account.

This first walk led through rough and swampy terrain but it was only a breather for the longer trail the following week, which led them north and west through woods and undergrowth, skirting swamps and lakes and climbing surprisingly tall hills. They found that as far as Wisner highway, the creek followed an erratic westerly course, then turned sharply north, later looping south again to enter its parent lake at the southern end.

It surprised them many times. Near the Pink school the creek was joined by another stream so near it in size that there was a question which was the main channel. At the upper reaches, which came unexpectedly close to US-112, it was fed by two large lakes which compelled them to make long detours and throughout its length there were many secondary channels where the course of the stream had been changed either by man or nature.

But they were most surprised by the natural wildness of the creek basin. After they left the lower reaches, which were fairly familiar to Clarence from boyhood excursions, they passed through much heavy timber and but little tilled land. Pausing in the lee of a high bluff to eat a noon snack their rest was rudely disturbed by two blue racers, one of whom they estimated to be six feet long — and have a picture to prove it. Twice they were given a very "warm" reception by dogs who did not understand that their intrusion was strictly exploratory and on one occasion they took to the road rather than trespass near a home.

On what they later learned was the Whelan farm they found traces of an old mill dam built in 1834 to furnish power for a saw mill and further up where the creek is crossed by the Tipton road they tried to locate the remains of a saw and grist mill built there by a Mr. Davenport at about that same date.

There were only three or four houses on the creek banks after leaving Tecumseh. Most of its course it was given over to the blue herons and the squirrels. Many of the trees might have been there in Musgrove's day, especially the beautiful towering beech trees in the northwestern section. There were indications that once more water had come down the creek before the dam had been built at the lake outlet but otherwise it flows as merrily along as in 1824.

The "Cameron-Damon Expedition" may never be as famous as say the "Lewis and Clark" but the partners did discover something of considerable interest to themselves a bit of recovered boyhood and — some muscles they did not know they had.

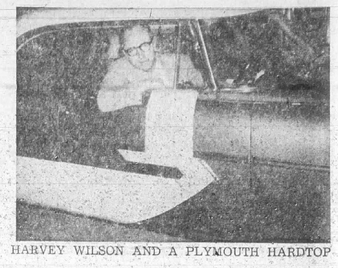
Wilson Motor Sales Stresses Service in Selling Plymouth-DeSoto

Harvey Joseph Wilson of Wilson Motor Sales at 123 south Ottawa street, better known to his host of friends as Harv, is sold on the two Chrysler Corp. products he sells, the Plymouth and the DeSoto. "Models this year," he says, "are particularly outstanding in every way."



HARVEY WILSON AND A PLYMOUTH HARDTOP

Wilson Motor Sales, an agency since Oct. 15, 1953, has the by-word "service." Whether applied to a new car, a used car or to the service department where skilled mechanics work on cars brought in, the agency stresses service rendered to its customers as its strongest selling and re-selling point. "A satisfied customer," Harv says, "will come back again."

Born in Ashville, North Carolina, Aug. 24, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, he later moved with his family to Detroit where he attended St. Mary's High School.

An outstanding athlete in the two major sports of baseball and football, Harv received the biggest thrill of his life when he pitched a no-hit baseball game in Class "B" Sandlot League in Detroit when he was only 16. But what might have been an outstanding baseball career was cut short when Harv broke his back, arm, and leg while playing football. He still has a lump in his arm from one of the football injuries.

Harv married the former Juanita K. Jenkins in Johnson City, Tenn., June 27, 1942. They have two children.

The family attends St. Elizabeth's Church. They live at 617 Outer Drive, Tecumseh.

Harv has been a resident of Tecumseh nine years. Before coming to Tecumseh as manager of the Kroger store here, he worked for the Kroger Co. in Toledo and Monroe as a manager and trainer.

And for four and one-helf years he was a salesman for the Butler Motor Sales.

Active in community affairs, Harv is a member of the board of directors of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and he has helped on community fund drives.

Old football injuries kept him out of the service but he has served in the Michigan National Guard.

Bowling and golf are his hobbies. He carries a 161 average in bowling and he shoots golf in the low 90's.

He is a member of the Tecumseh Exchange Club and the Adrian Elks.

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

THIS YEAR, MAY 13th has been set aside as Mother's Day. In 1865 William Ross Wallace wrote, "The hand that rocks the cradle, is the hand that rules the world." Abraham Lincoln said, "All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."

IN OUR PHARMACY we owe a great deal to Mother, because without her good will and patronage, we would have little opportunity to be successful.

TO HELP MOTHER is one of our most important duties. We supply the medicines and health-aids that are so necessary to keep her and her loved ones healthy and happy. We try our best to serve Mother courteously and honestly, and welcome the opportunity, to whenever possible, explain how best to use the many important products we carry.

EVERY DAY IS MOTHER'S DAY in our pharmacy because so many Mothers visit us regularly, and we value Mother's friendship.

what is a NEW CAR dealer?

He's one of us, our neighbor and friend. He's the man who makes our modern transportation in our community possible — to and from work, shopping, school, vacation — when we need it. That's why he's a vital factor in our community's economic life. Without this independent businessman's service — and that includes maintenance as well as new cars — our community would be poorer in everything we take for granted today.

Bater-McCarbery Vows Exchanged in Britton

In a beautiful and impressive ceremony Saturday afternoon, Joyce Lucille McCarbery became the bride of LeRoy M. Bater. The marriage took place in the Christian Congregational church in Britton at 2 p.m. with the Rev. O. E. Priest performing the double ring ceremony.

MRS. LEROY BATER

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarbery of Britton and she was given in marriage by her father. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Montie Bater of Jonesville were unable to be present and were represented by his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daehne.

Hampers of white snapdragons and carnations were grouped with palms and cathedral candelabra to bank the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews. Organ music was played by Mrs. Doris Exelby before the ceremony and she accompanied Bill Exelby as he sang "Because" and then "The Lord's Prayer" as the bridal pair knelt at the close of their vows.

Bridal attendants were Miss Jo Ann Burke as maid of honor, Mrs. Joyce Bater and Miss Phylis Meyers as bridesmaids; Charles Bater, nephew of the groom as his best man and Dale McCarbery, brother of the bride and Donald Maves of Tecumseh as ushers. Michael Morse, nephew of the bride was ring bearer, carrying the rings on a white satin pillow and her niece, Brenda Tubbs was flower girl. Dressed as a miniture bride in a dress that was a replica of the bride's, she carried a tiny crescent shaped bouquet of white pompoms.

Nylon lace over tulle and satin formed the bride's gown, made with full, hooped skirt in floor length. The fitted, lace bodice was designed with long sleeves and a deep yoke of illusion outlined with the scalloped lace. It and the lace mandarin collar were traced with seed pearls and sequins as was the crown which held the fingertip length, double veil. Her crescent shaped bouquet was of Eucharist lilies.

Her three attendants all wore strapless gowns of embroidered crystalette in identical design with brief jackets. The full, ballerina length skirts had panel insets of net over taffeta and matching headpieces and shoes completed their costumes. Miss Burke wore orchid with a crescent bouquet of cream pompoms while Mrs. Bater and Miss Meyers were in mint green with yellow pom crescents. All wore pearl earrings and white gloves which were gifts of the bride.

Mrs. McCarbery wore navy blue crepe for her daughter's wedding with accessories of navy and pink and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Daehne, sister of the groom was in light blue lace with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception for 250 guests followed the ceremony in the basement of the church. The four-tiered, pedestaled wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom was cut by Mrs. Doris Spoke, a sister of the bride. Mrs. Ardith Frayer served the coffee and Mrs. Alice Exelby the punch while the guest book was in charge of Mrs. Rena Vanderpool.

When the bridal couple left for a week's honeymoon, Mrs. Bater was wearing a navy blue crepe dress with accessories in navy and white. She graduated from Britton high school in 1947 and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. The groom, also an employee of the Products graduated in 1948 from the high school in Jonesville. They will reside at 1652 Robbins road.

Guests attended the wedding from Whitmore Lake, Lansing, Jonesville, Mosherville, Jackson, Milan, Monroe, Ida, Saginaw, Cadillac and Hillsdale.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Daehne of Tecumseh entertained the wedding party at a buffet luncheon party following the rehearsal.

Keith Bailey Bought Olds Agency 2 Years Ago

As a commanding officer of amphibs LCTs and LSMs in the South Pacific during World War II, Keith D. Bailey, Tecumseh Oldsmobile dealer had many thrills, but none of them compares to the thrill he received when he bought the Oldsmobile agency at 3024 E. Monroe road May 1, 1954.

KEITH BAILEY AND AN OLDS

Born Sept. 25, 1921, in Blissfield, Mich., he is the "baby" of the five dealers from the standpoint of years in service here.

But Keith has had an enviable record in Tecumseh. His sales of the sleek cars made in Lansing, Mich., continue to mount because as he puts it: "We see that people get their money's worth. When they buy Olds they take a big jump in getting cash value received."

Keith believes a satisfied customer is his best means of promoting further sales. His slogan is "Ask any Keith Bailey Olds owner." He believes that this slogan must have a lot behind it or Oldsmobile owners that buy from him would not offer the fine unsolicited testimonials they do.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Bailey of Adrian, Keith graduated from Adrian High School and Adrian College. He also attended Northwestern University for advanced work. While at Adrian College he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Michigan Alpha Chapter.

He once was an office employee of the Bohn Aluminum for two years and he also spent some time in the office of Bridgeport Brass in Adrian before starting his Oldsmobile agency here.

During the war he spent 39 months in the U. S. Naval Reserve, spending 26 of these months in New Guinea, the Philippines and China. As a lieutenant (j.g.) he commanded amphibs. He "enjoyed" the Navy.

After the war—Oct. 9, 1949, to be exact—he married the former Jane Hart in the Episcopal Church of Adrian. They have four children.

Keith lists one of his hobbies as music and he lends a rich baritone voice to the Adrian Episcopal Church where he directs the Choir Sunday mornings. He used to sing more but he no longer has the time to devote to it.

Other hobbies are golf (he shoots between 80 and 85) and woodworking.

Keith is a member of Lodge No. 39, F. & A. M. of Adrian, William Stark Post the American Legion of Adrian and the Tecumseh Country Club.

Indians Use New Track and Beat Monroe CC

Tecumseh high school used its new track for the first time Wednesday, April 25, and celebrated the occasion with a 77 to 32 win over Monroe Catholic Central in a dual Southeastern League track meet.

Hal Weakly was a double winner for the Indians, copping two first places. He took the 100-yard dash and the 220.

Other first place winners for Tecumseh were Ray Larned in the shot, Ray Miller in the high jump, Mike Walters in the broad jump, Dick Baker in the 120 high hurdles, Al Dickinson in the 440, Gary Marsh in the 180 yard low hurdles, Ken Miller in the half mile and the Tecumseh medley and 880 relay teams.

The medley team was made up of Torres, Hanna, Purcell and McDowell. And the 880 team was made up of Andrews, Hanna, Purcell and Torres.

Other point winners for the local thinclads were Marsh, Roe, Dick, Hoffman, Fletcher and Long.

Indians Win Two in Golf

Last week the Tecumseh high school Indian golfers picked up two wins.

The team won 167 to 208 at Brighton. Val Spangler and Dave Lamkin led with 81's.

Against Adrian the Indians won 14½ to 1½.

Val Spangler had a low of 83. He was followed by Dick Baker with an 86, and by Max Smith and Ron Gurtzweiler with 88's.

Jackson Car Races Begin Saturday

Jackson Motor Speedway opens its 1956 stock car racing season Saturday night, May 5. A hot field of over 40 entries ie expected for the opener that will feature eight races on the banked 3/8 mile speedway. Time trials will start at 7 and the first race at 8:30.

Attendance at Jackson last season topped all 26 speedways in southern Michigan except Detroit. The purses, which averaged over $1,000 and went as high at $2,000, attracted outstanding fields that included drivers from as far away as Ohio and Indiana.

TEAM BATTING is going to determine how well the Tigers do this year. The pitching is better than last season, but whether the hitting has improved remains to be seen.

Players like Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Ray Boone possess tremendous natural batting ability—good eyes, good coordination, fast hands. They also have a lot of confidence in themselves.

I think some of the Tigers would do better at the plate if they had greater faith in their abilities. The mental outlook of a ball player is as important as his physical attributes.

Great hitters like Ted Williams not only have natural ability and complete self-confidence, but they work constantly at improving themselves.

Studied Hitters

Williams had movies taken while he was at bat and ran them over and over to find how he could do better. He studied other hitters. He applied himself to the task.

Hank Greenberg worked like a demon to improve himself and made a little natural ability go a long, long way. His impressive batting feats were the result of a lot of effort.

Among the more common faults of many batters are over-striding, looking up instead of keeping the head steady and having a hitch in the swing.

Stance and position have little to do with hitting prowess. The batter should take a position most natural to him.

Defied Belief

Rogers Hornsby stood as far in the corner of the batter's box as he could, striding directly to the plate as the pitch came in.

Al Simmons defied the assertion that you can't hit well with "one foot in the bucket." He stood with his right foot as close to the plate as possible, striding back when he swung.

But what Simmons did in common with Hornsby was make that bat cover the entire plate. All good hitters do it and, no matter how they stand, all the good ones end their swing the same way.

To hit what is known as the long ball, the batter gets his power off the rear foot, pushing off it and pulling the ball with strong hands and wrists.

Natural Hitters

Boone, Kaline, Williams and Mickey Mantle hit naturally this way and many of their line drives thus clear the fence.

Kuenn, however, does not pull the ball but hits it where it is pitched. His drives thus go to all fields but do not clear the fences as frequently.

During all my years with the Giants, I tried to swing level with the ball. I never tried for home runs, just to meet the ball. But when I met it cleanly and pulled it well, the ball would go into the stands.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

"Michigan Conservation," the Conservation Department's 15-minute weekly television show, received a national "First Award" for excellence early this week for service to the people of Michigan and neighboring states.

The award came from the 20th American Exhibition of Educational Radio and Television Programs, a competition that judged TV and radio programs from throughout North America.

The citation was made "For directly serving the people of a wide geographical area with a dynamic program of specific use to viewers; for graphically presenting this program with obvious authenticity; for imagination in conception and presentation; for remembering that pigs-is-pigs, woods-are-woods, and for presenting them as they are—without sponsorship or sequins."

"Michigan Conservation" first went on the air in Jan., 1954, and has since been produced and telecast weekly over the MSU station at East Lansing.

The program makes liberal use of film strips of wildlife and conservation activities throughout the state. Department and non-Department specialists in conservation take part in the shows.

Charles Floyd is Department producer and Pat Callihan of WKAR-TV is director.

Besides the weekly WKAR-TV telecast, the program is shown on 11 other stations. These are located at Cadillac, Saginaw, two in Lansing, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Bay City, Traverse City, Sault Ste. Mraie in Ontario, Green Bay, Wisconsin and Toledo, Ohio.

More than 200,000 trout fishermen, began the opening of Michigan's 1956 regular trout season April 28. They are hoping for warmer weather to make its appearance.

Trout streams are reported generally clear and low, but water temperatures are below normal, limiting fish activity.

Successes during the special rainbow trout season which opened April 14 have been spotty because of low water temperatures. Rainfall, which would warm the streams, has been insignificant and rainbow runs have been light.

Fish workers point out that trout activity picks up when stream temperatures are above 40 degrees. At present, water temperatures are ranging in the middle 30's.

Cold water also has limited smelt spawning runs in many Michigan rivers and streams. Millions of smelt are still concentrated in the Great Lakes near stream openings, waiting for the warm water signal which will set off spawning runs upstream.

Meanwhile, many trout fishermen are checking up on general and local fishing regulations while they wait for the season opening. A complete sumary of fishing laws is included in the 1956 Fish Laws Digest, available from license dealers or the Conservation Department.

Conservation Department fish workers say the hundreds of dead fish showing up on the shorelines of several Michigan lakes were victims of winterkill — oxygen depletion in ice and snow covered lakes.

A. B. Cook, of the Department's fish division, said the winterkill toll was not as general as expected, but many shallow lakes were seriously affected. Dead fish are showing up on beaches as ice disappears.

Under winterkill conditions, fish suffocate because the snow and ice cover on the lake kills oxygen-producing vegetation in the lake.

Winterkill lakes are opened to unlimited fishing during the winter by special order of the director of the Conservation Department so that fish will not be wasted.

Permitting dogs to molest deer brought conservation law convictions to three persons last week.

In a Cadillac Justice court, two Manton residents each were assessed $12.80 in fines and court costs because their dogs molested deer. A Buckley man received a suspended fine and paid $7.80 in court costs for a similar conviction.

In 42 conservation law convictions reported last week, violators were assessed a total of $527.40 in fines and $320.95 in court costs. Money from fines goes to the state library fund.

The fish lift at Newaygo dam on the Muskegon River was completed early this week with the transfer of 10,000 wall-eyed pike over the dam.

The annual netting and transfer operation allowh fish to continue upstream for spawning.

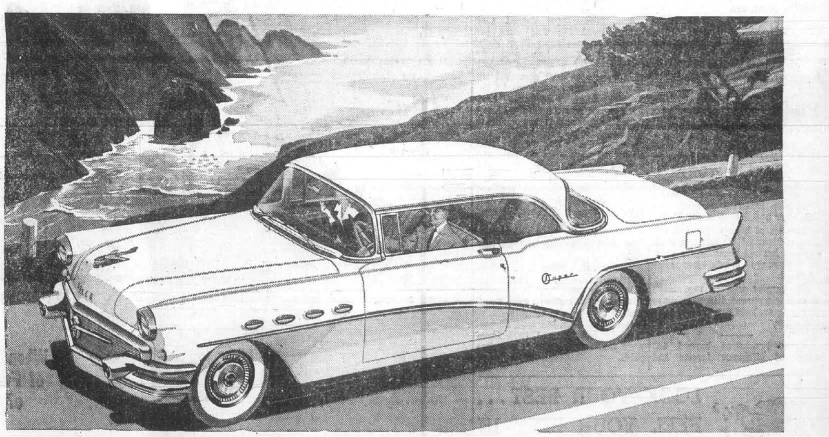
Sure starts a lot of Torque—



Buick SUPER 6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera, Model 56R

even before you Switch the Pitch

TORQUE is for take-off—and there's plenty of it here.

You just apply a puny bit of pressure on the pedal—and you're off and away. Never has such quick acceleration been so smooth.

It's the newest step-up in Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—and it gives a double-barreled thrill.

First, it delivers a record amount of torque to turn those rear wheels—even before you switch the pitch. You splurge on pickup while saving on gas.

The second is for real zoom service. Just put your foot down—and there you have it. You switch the pitch and Dynaflow serves up a dazzling burst of extra power to cut seconds off your passing—and add new safety to it.

But there's a lot more than torque to talk about.

There's Buick styling. Its flair and sweep alone have started many a conversation. On lines that are daring, but not reckless. On colors and interiors that are gay and stunning, but never garish.

And there's the Buick ride. Unlike any other. Softer, yet steadier. Cradling you in rubber-bubble comfort—leveling with you on every twist and turn.

A whole group of unseen marvels screen you from the harsh realities of the road. Including a new front-end geometry—new deep-oil-cushioned shock absorbers—new deep-coil springs on all four wheels. And there are new stabilizers and a new torque tube, to snub out any swing or sway.

In short, there's so much excitement from stem to stern—in any Buick you can buy—that Buick owners have a whale of a lot to talk about.

So why not take a Buick out on the road yourself, so you'll know what all the talk's about? Don't say you can't afford it until you hear us talk price. We're ready whenever you are.

ing 13,369 beaver, during recent spring seasons, third largest take in the last 10 years.

Also, 670 otter were reported, a record high for the last 10 years. The take indicates a continuing low otter population in the state.

A series of brief seasons in various sections of the state provide the size harvest necessary to proper long-range beaver-otter management.

The largest take in the state's history was recorded in 1954, when trappers took 17,517 beaver and 533 otter.

Seventy-two fires burned 443 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week as the latest but worst spring fire season in several years rolled forward.

Spring is always a difficult fire season, but winds this year have often made it tought to fight fast-moving blazes.

Conservation Department officials were warning fishermen and other woodland users to be particularly careful with fire this year.

Hardest hit during the week was Baldwin district, where 14 fires damaged 131 acres. Five acres burned 121 acres in Jackson district. Other damage was scattered generally throughout the state.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service wants help in a mourning dove banding program now under way.

State and federal biologists want to know more about the general life and habits of the dove. The program is designed to collect this information from throughout the U.S.

Auduboners and other conservationists who wish to take part can obtain bird-banding permits from the Patauent Research Refuge at Laurel, Maryland.

Information about the Michigan portion of the plan may be obtained from Steve Creech, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 318 Federal Building, Bay City.

Three Michigan residents recently received awards from the National Federation for conservation work.

Oscar W. Johnson Jr., East Lansing, was given a $500 undergraduate scholarship for wildlife management study at Michigan State University.

Two youngsters, Kathleen Myron of Marne and Vicki Wesslund of Rockford, received $10 honorable mention awards in the Federation's annual Conservation Essay Contest.

"Terrific smelt fishing" was reported in the Silver River, between Baraga and Skanee, in the upper peninsula early this week.

Smelt were running both day and night and heavy fishing activity was under way, Conservation Department officials reported.

State police recently stopped a speeding car in the vicinity of Big Rapids and found that the two male occupants had illegal, preseason possession of 18 brown trout.

The case was turned over to Conservation Department officials and a study of the fish indicated they were taken from a pond at Paris hatchery.

The lawbreakers denied the charge until the fish were cut open, then confessed their guilt.

Reason? The fish stomachs showed evidence of food pellets of a type now used commonly in hatchery rearing programs.

State hatchery officials have been happy over the results of new pellet foods; pellets are economical and produce big, healthy fish in a hurry. But this was the first time they were used to rescue the species from violators.

Hunters and trappers received $9805 in bounty payments for coyotes, foxes and bobcats during March.

Bounties were paid on 78 coyotes, 1638 red foxes and 54 bobcats.

Two coyotes were bountied in Charlevoix county, six in Cheboygan county and five in Presque Isle county. All others were bountied in the upper peninsula.

In March, 1955, one wolf, 62 coyotes, 44 bobcats and 1306 foxes were taken and $7870 in bounties paid.

Expanded Recreation Program Planned

The city recreation department, under the guidance of coach Bob Breniff, plans to stage a big summer program this summer. It will begin June 11 and continue through Aug. 24.

The program will be divided into four main divisions: midget, junior, senior and adult.

The midget will make up boys and girls under 10. They will have a program, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. A full time play director will be at each playground. The playgrounds are located at Herrick Park, Tecumseh Acres and Central school.

The midget program will include organized games, handicrafts, story hours and a trip to the Toledo zoo.

In the junior division will be boys and girls from 11 to 14. Play time will run from 1 to 5 p.m. A director will be at each playground.

This division will be divided into two parts: one for the girls and one for the boys. Each program will be divided into highly organized league games with competition from other playgrounds in all sports.

EXPLAIN SENIOR GROUP

The senior division will include boys and girls between 15 and 18. This program also will be divided into two parts: one for the girls and one for the boys. Major play time will be from 6 to 8 p.m. A full time director will be in charge.

The adult program will be divided into two main parts: playground and league activities. The league will consist of a merchants' softball league and a church softball league. And a tennis tournament also will be scheduled for adults and those in the senior division.

Each playground will be fully equipped. Each will have a regulation softball diamond. And bleachers will be set up at each diamond.

MEETINGS SCHEDULED

All persons interested in entering a team in the city church softball league may contact Mr. Breniff (phone 757-R). Details will be given at a meeting Monday night May 14, at 8 p.m. in the high school.

And those interested in entering a team in the city merchants' softball league may call Mr. Breniff. Details will be given at a meeting Tuesday night, May 15, at 8 p.m. in the high school.

Those interested in playing tennis may contact Mr. Breniff who will check out a net.

Open House

The Herrick Memorial hospital auxiliary invites the public to an open house and tea at the hospital Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

The open house and tea are part of the national observance of hospital week.

A hospital display also is in the Palman window and the Future Nurses' Club has a display at the high school.

Three Injured in Three-Car Crash

A three-car crash on Occidental Rd. near Ives Rd. early Wednesday morning sent three persons to hospitals with injuries.

Mrs. June Wagner was backing out of a neighbor's driveway when her car was hit by a car driven by Russell Johnston of Route 2, Adrian.

Coming north, Johnston's car veered into a car driven south by Otto George of Tecumseh.

The injured, Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. George, were rushed to Herrick Memorial hospital. Mr. Johnston was transferred to St. Joseph Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. He has internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. George have chest, leg and head injuries.

Mrs. Wagner suffered shock but no injuries.

Sheriff deputies who investigated have not been able to take statements from the injured but they said witnesses stated Johnston was traveling at a high rate of speed.

DRUNK FINED

Carl Ferris, 40, of Adrian, appeared before Justice Robert L. French Saturday and pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Ferris, who was arrested by Tecumseh police at 5 a.m. Saturday, was ordered to pay a $25 fine and $8.60 costs or spend 15 days in jail.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

IF THERE IS SUCH a thing as a lucky accident, Jim Barton, local oil dealer, thinks he had it. After years of driving his heavy oil truck over hundreds of miles of all sorts of roads, the front axle broke just as he drove into his own yard, Monday evening.

WE HAVE HAD ALL kinds of beautiful and melodious birds in the yard this spring. Last Wednesday a Wilson's Thrush was doing a show.

Fire Destroys Bee Buildings

Tecumseh firemen were called to the Leland Hubbard apiaries at Springville Tuesday about 10 p.m. They joined firemen from Onsted, Wamplers Lake, Brooklyn, Clinton, Palmyra and Adrian Rural.

The buildings were burned to the ground but some supply material can be salvaged.

Mr. Hubbard Wednsday morning said the loss would total "several thousands of dollars." Insurance covered the losses.

The buildings housed the storage and manufacture of bee supplies.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Two Men Get Prison Sentences

In circuit court Wednesday, May 2, Clarence Logsdon, 20, of Tecumseh, was sentenced to a term of two to five years in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson for unlawfully driving away an automobile.

His accomplice, James L. Walker, 17, of Tecumseh, was sentenced to one to five years in prison on a similar charge.

Both had pleaded guilty to taking a car owned by Robert Sawdey of North Adams March 22. They took the car from the Tecumseh Products Co., parking lot.

Canon Matthews Will Speak at St. Peter's

The Rev. Canon Gordon Matthews will conduct services at St. Peter's Episcopal church next Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

Canon Matthews, with 44 years in the ministry, is Executive Secretary of the Diocese of Michigan, with headquarters in Detroit. Before his election to this office in 1943, he was Rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Detroit. In 1948 he was appointed Honorary Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, the Cathedral of the Michigan Diocese.

As Executive Secretary, Canon Matthews administers the details of a vast diocese reaching from Detroit to Hillsdale and from the Ohio line to Cheboygan. He maintains control of the diocesan budget, acts as secretary to all diocesan departments, and travels about the diocese familiarizing the people of the church with their diocesan program.

Canon Matthews was born in Cambridge, England, and came to the United States by way of Canada, where he had done missionary work in Saskatchewan and Alberta. In 1952, as a token of their appreciation, the people of the Diocese presented Canon and Mrs. Matthews with a trip to the British Isles upon the completion of his 10 years of service to the Diocese.

Adopt City Budget; Set 10-Mill Tax Rate

Councilmen Monday night adopted a new city budget totalling $312,388 in anticipated expenditures and at the same time they passed a 10-mill tax rate for the new fiscal year.

This is a breakdown of the new budget:

| | Anticipated Income 1956-1957 | Anticipated Expenditures 1956-1957 |
|---|---|---|
| General City | $ 123,300 | $ 78,385 |
| Fire Department | | 11,815 |
| Police Department | | 33,100 |
| Highway Department | 95,020 | 95,020 |
| Sewer Department | 11,650 | 11,470 |
| Cemetery Department | 12,950 | 10,170 |
| Water Department | 46,250 | 41,715 |
| Sewage Disposal | 20,100 | 10,000 |
| Sewage Disposal Sinking Fund | 20,900 | 19,446 |
| Hospital Sinking Fund | 2,610 | 1,267 |
| | $ 324,780 | $ 312,388 |

The 10 mills of tax will go in these city departments: general, 4 2/3, sewer, 2/3, cemetery 2/3, highways, 2 1/2, disposal bond, 1 1/3, hospital 1/6.

St. Elizabeth Lists Honor Students

The report cards for March and April were given out at St. Elizabeth School by the Reverend T. J. Collins last Friday. The following students merited honorable mention for scholastic achievement:

Grade eight — Gary Schmitz, Iva Wilkins.

Grade seven — Jon Aho, Eugene Brion, Margaret Horvath, Anna Kay McCann, Linda Refner and Barbara Velandra.

Grade six — Sandra Bishop, Virginia Friday, Virginia Ann Hodges, Eileen Reid, Michael Rohrer, Barbara Sherman, Suzette Velandra and JoAnn Westfall.

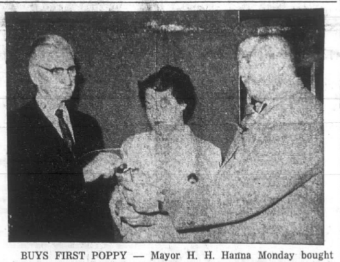
Grade five — Diana Duffin, Daniel Greene, Elizabeth Kish, Terrie McEnroe and Diane Malinowski.

Grade four — Robert Aumann, John Dixon, David Dziachan, Shirley Horn, Candace McEnroe, Mary Martiny, Eileen O'Connor, Richard Stearns and Patricia Warner.

Grade three — Richard Johnson, David Mueller, Gregg McEnroe, Ronald Norton and Michael O'Donnell.

Grade two — Roger Aumann, Kenneth Bagby, Joanne Brion, Marjorie DeLisle, Christine Dziachan, Diane Lauer, David Lips, Mary McDermott, Julia Mudgett, William Prochaska, Kathleen Refner, Sara Reid, Jean Stearns, Michael Velandra, Marilyn Willis, Mary Ann Woodward and Diane Young.

Grade one — Marcia Boudrie, Richard Duffin, Theresa Komon, Barbara Lips, Melissa Mattis, Francis Moras, Mary Mudgett, Mary O'Donnell, Sharie Osburn, Patrick Ried and Melissa Sage.



BUYS FIRST POPPY — Mayor H. H. Hanna Monday bought the first Buddy Poppy from Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stites, co-chairmen of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post and auxiliary 1956 Buddy Poppy campaign.

Accepting the poppy, Mayor Hanna said: "It is truly a great pleasure to be the first person in Tecumseh to receive this significant red flower. Over the years the Buddy Poppy has become the symbol of all the men who fought so valiantly during our nation's hour of need.

"When Buddy Poppies go on sale in Tecumseh May 18 and 19 I hope that every citizen will pay homage to our needy and disabled veterans by buying a Buddy Poppy.

"This will aid the V.F.W. to carry on the great job it is doing."

Brownie and Girl Scout Court of Awards Is Friday

The annual Court of Awards for the Brownie and Girl Scouts in Tecumseh will be held in the Tecumseh Products Union Hall Friday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. The leaders and assistant leaders will present wings, pins, badges and curved bars to 250 registered girls during this ceremony representing 20 troops.

Parents, relatives and friends are cordially invited to be present and it is hoped that members of the sponsoring organizations will attend.

The awards are provided by the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association at no cost to the girls. The president, Mrs. Howard Truesdale, will welcome the guests.

Troops will continue to meet weekly until the end of the school year. One hundred adults have volunteered their services to this program during the past year as leaders, assistant leaders, committee members and officers. Twenty organizations have acted as sponsors. No one locally receives a salary.

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association thanks the churches, sponsoring organizations, all interested adults and the Tecumseh Products Union for all courtesies extended.

Mrs. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Glenn Kohler, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Charles Beland are in charge of arrangements for the Court of Awards, while the programs were prepared by Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. Truman Rentschler and Troop 11 of Senior Scouts.

Kiwanis Club Organizes Here

An organizational meeting of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club was held at a dinner in the American Legion Wednesday night.

Among those present were Roger Enger of Battle Creek, representative for Kiwanis of the Michigan District; Dr. L. K. Cox of Adrian, Lt. Gov. of District No. 7; Lester Ewing, chairman of the Adrian Kiwanis Club's committee on new building; John Hathaway, chairman of the Adrian club's inter-club relations; Loren Clemes, president of the Adrian club; Dwight Horn, first vice-president of the Adrian club; and Wade Willett, Victor Kronk, Larry Mitchell, William Saunders, Cleo Snedeker, William Flannigan, all members of the Adrian Kiwanis Club.

Auto Show Set for Friday, Saturday

Through the joint efforts of Tecumseh new car dealers, the public Friday and Saturday will see an outdoor automobile show as part of the automobile fashion festival sponsored by the National Automobile Dealers' Association.

Automobile
FASHION
Festival

The show will be held on south Pearl St. between the boulevard and Pottawatamie St. A parade, at 2 p.m. Friday, led by the Tecumseh high school band, under the direction of Donald Johnson, will precede the show.

Dealers are having open house this week and they have their places all dolled up for the auto festival. Special displays of new cars and their exciting features will be held.

Dealers last Saturday drew for position in the parade which will be led by G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc. Pontiac will be followed by Butler Motor Sales (Ford), Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc. (Buick and Chevrolet), Keith Bailey Motors (Oldsmobile) and Wilson's Motor Sales, Inc. (DeSoto and Plymouth).

Dealers will award more than $150 in prizes at the outdoor show. There's nothing to buy. Just visit the show and register at each dealer's display. The prizes will be awarded Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Turkey Shoot Is Cancelled

The live turkey shoot which was to have been a project of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce for archers in a tri-state region May 26 has been cancelled.

Jack Osburn, president of the chamber, reports that his office received too many complaints from archery clubs. These complaints, he said, suggested that a live turkey shoot would be inhumane.

In a letter to members of the chamber, he said the chamber hopes to hold a big game shoot of some sort at some future date.

Baptist Church Will Remodel the Sanctuary

At the annual meeting of the Tecumseh Baptist church last Wednesday evening, it was voted to remodel the church sanctuary according to plans submitted by A. E. Bates, an architect from Kalamazoo.

This includes changing the main entrance to the rear of the west side of the building, closing what is now the front entrance and making that the front of the auditorium. The alterations are planned to reduce traffic hazards and street noise.

New church officers chosen at the meeting are: H. Lee Prettyman, George Miller and Charles Beland, deacons for three years; John Hewlett for two years and Stanley Cook for one year; Mrs. Warren Puffer and Mrs. Edwin Gannaway, deaconesses for three years; Mrs. Garland Gove for two years and Mrs. Harold Davidson for one year; Kenneth Rutherford, Arthur George, George VanCamp Jr., JoAnn Wing, Mary Lou McConnell and Judith Mangrum, junior deacons and deaconesses; R. H. Moore, Mills Swick and Floyd Barrett, trustees for three years; Harold Easton for two years and Hugh Walters for one year; Mrs. Clifford Curran, clerk; Mrs. Prettyman, church school superintendent; Mrs. C. O. Baily, financial secretary; Mr. Baily treasurer; Mrs. J. D. Cook, benevolence treasurer; Mrs. Carl Fosbender, building fund treasurer.

Joint P.-T.A. Meeting Set

A joint meeting of all the Parent-Teacher Associations of Tecumseh is being planned at Patterson school for May 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Opportunity will be given for election of officers of each group that has not already done so after which all will merge for a social evening.

This will take the form of a reception honoring Miss Bertha LaPointe who will retire from teaching at the close of the year after 40 years of service to children of the community.

Students From 22 Nations Visit Grange

A group of 66 foreign students from the University of Michigan will visit Tecumseh Grange Thursday evening. They are studying in the 85th session of the intensive course in English Language Institute.

Part of these people are already working in their professions. They are here to learn English so they can do special study and research in hospitals, colleges and business organizations in this country.

The remainder of the group are students who have come to this country to do their college or university work or to study English. The majority are of the undergraduate age. About half are here at their own expense, others are studying at the expense of their governments or on fellowships such as the Rockefeller Foundation. The expenses of others are paid by their business organizations.

PRACTICE ENGLISH

This course provides the student with four hours of classes five days a week, one hour being special laboratory work with records or tape. They have most of their meals together with at least one teacher for each five students so they have an opportunity to practice their English together. In addition, the students meet with some of the teachers several evenings a week for sessions in the study of songs, movies and to carry on other activities in English. Once a week they plan a program with which they entertain themselves and the public. Usually this is on Friday evening.

In addition to the above activities the institute tries to help the students to become familiar with American life and culture. They have picnics, visit the Ford factory and others, have invitations to family dinners and sometimes visit other institutions and meetings such as the one at Tecumseh Grange this week.

More than 5,000 students have attended the institute since its organization in 1941 and there have been representatives from almost every country in the world.

REPRESENT 22 COUNTRIES

This group of visiting students, undergraduates and advanced, come from 22 countries, namely Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Turkey, Egypt, Lebanon, Greece, Iraq, Afghanistan, Formosa, Japan, Thailand and Korea.

Some of the subjects they are studying are hydraulic, civil, electrical and mechanical engineering, farming, medicine, secretarial work, law, business management, agronomy, chemistry, theology, salesmanship and the priesthood.

Anyone is welcome to attend this open meeting who is interested in meeting the members of the group. The meeting should start about 8:30 p.m. when the grange will present a short Mother's Day program for the pleasure of the visitors. It will be entitled "Life's Journey with Music."

For the 7 p.m. potluck supper, the grange will furnish meat, potatoes and rolls. Those attending are to bring a dish to pass.

FISH, CHIPS DINNER

The American Legion will hold a fish and chips dinner at the home Saturday May 19, at 6:30 p.m. A free dance will follow. Legionnaires and Auxiliary members have tickets.

HELP

Fifty families in the Colvin school district donated articles at a shower Wednesday, May 2, at the school for members of the Leon Anderson family who lost their house in a fire April 24.

Articles given included bedding, canned goods, kitchen utensils, wash towels, dish towels and luncheon cloths.

Members of the committee in charge were Mrs. August Hoffmeister, Mrs. Edward Osborn, Mrs. Raynor Sweet, Mrs. Warren Staup and Mrs. George Halberstadt.

Larry Anderson, who received burns in the fire, is a fourth grader at Colvin. His sister Carol is a third grader.

Two of the children — Ruth Ann and Deborah Sue — lost their lives in the fire.

Rohrer Heads Legion Post

Jim Rohrer is the new commander of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 of the American Legion. He succeeds Vern Manwaring.

Other new officers are Don Maves, first vice-commander; Almond Curtis, second vice-commander; Dick Beasley, sergeant-at-arms; Bob Noe, chaplain; Dick Colson, historian; and George Green, Jr., finance officer.

In other action at their last meeting, Legionnaires discussed the sponsorship of a Boy Scout troop. And they voted $5 for the Korean orphans' fund and $10 to the tornado relief fund of western Michigan.

Do You Really Know How To Drive?

THE CAR you drive today is safer, more reliable and easier to handle than the cars on the roads 25 years ago.

Auto engineers will never be able to protect us completely from human error. But they are making it easier to be a good driver.

Power brakes and power steering, high horsepower, fast acceleration, wide-vision windshields, sealed beam headlights and blowout-proof tubeless tires are significant improvements in auto engineering.

But you — or any driver — will be heading for trouble if you don't follow some simple safety precautions.

Look ahead — and keep your eyes moving from side to side. This means you should anticipate what lies ahead on the highway. It also means you know what is going on behind your car and on both sides.

Don't forget that many accidents happen because your mind gets bored just looking straight ahead. So keep your eyes moving — and your mind alert.

Don't get trapped — or depend on some unknown driver's good intentions. If you are being forced into a traffic pocket where you won't be able to steer out of sudden danger, hang back until you have a safe space around you.

Before you pass other cars, make sure the other drivers know what you are doing. Don't try to guess what the other fellow is going to do — and don't make him guess what you are going to do. Flick your lights, honk your horn or catch his eye. The safest driver assumes all other drivers are reckless fools.

At a speed of 30 miles an hour you need about 220 feet to allow time to decide and stop smoothly. Don't forget you also need a space about eight feet wide as you are stopping.

Women tend to keep their eyes on the danger they are trying to avoid — rather than on how to get out of the danger. The answer to this, of course, is look only at the way out of danger — and keep your car headed that way.

Speedy or slow driving is relative to the traffic flow. Don't break a traffic pattern with sudden changes. You should make your speed conform to that of the rest of the cars on the road.

And last, make sure you know your machine — know how to handle it and how it reacts under all conditions. If there's anything you don't understand, ask the dealer who sold it to you.

Local auto dealers are putting on the SPRING AUTOMOBILE FASHION FESTIVAL from May 7 to May 12. Here's your opportunity to talk to the dealers and see the safety devices in the new 1956 automobiles.

Win one month adventure trip
ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD

Paris in the Spring strike your fancy? Or maybe you'd like to play it big on the Riviera? Don't limit yourself, the grand prize in De Soto's exciting new "Winning Ride" contest is a one month, all-expense-paid adventure trip for you and your immediate family *anywhere in the world, plus a beautiful 1956 De Soto Fireflite 4-door Sedan. 1. Statistics show that high school students who have not taken driver education training in their schools are involved in more fatal accidents than those students who have received driver training. How many more fatal accidents would you say these untrained drivers have compared to those students who have taken a driver training course?
   1) Twice as many
   2) Five times as many
   3) Only a few more accidents
2. If you are driving along a street and an ambulance approaches you from the opposite direction with its siren turned on, you should:
   1) Slow down until it has gone by
   2) Turn the nearest corner to get out of the way
   3) Pull over to your side of the road quickly and stop
3. Occasionally drivers come to an intersection which has a red light blinking on and off. This blinking red light means the same thing as a:
   1) Stop sign
   2) Caution sign
   3) Slow sign
4. The most important over-all quality a good driver must have is:
   1) Driving skill
   2) A proper attitude
   3) Sound health
5. Truck drivers usually are reliable. If you are driving down a highway behind a truck and the truck driver motions for you to go around him, should you:
   1) Take his word that it's safe to pass him
   2) Wait until you personally can see that the road is clear for passing
   3) Wait until the truck is moving very slowly, as on a hill
6. If your car should start to slip on wet or icy pavement, should you:
   1) Keep the brake pedal down
   2) Pump the brake pedal
   3) Not touch the brake pedal
7. Which kind of insurance is the most important to have?
   1) Fire and theft
   2) Liability
   3) Property damage
8. If you are stopped by a policeman for a traffic violation, you should:
   1) Do your best to explain what happened
   2) Tell him that actually you are a good driver
   3) Appeal to his sentimental side
9. If you are getting out of your car on the street side and a car comes along and clips your door, causing considerable damage:
   1) It's his fault
   2) It's your fault
   3) The blame lies equally on each driver
10. You are driving along a highway with a soft shoulder when your car's right front wheel goes off the road onto the shoulder. You should:
    1) Twist the wheel sharply to the left to get back on the highway
    2) Let the car coast along until going slowly, then cut back on the highway rather sharply
    3) Pull clear off highway
11. When driving in reverse in a standard shift car, you should:
    1) Let the clutch up just enough to grab so that you can control the speed
    2) Let the clutch up all the way to save wear and tear on the clutch
    3) Let the clutch out sharply, push it back in quickly so you can coast for a while on the momentum
12. If your brakes failed while you were going down a hill at fifteen miles per hour, should you:
    1) Steer quickly into the curb
    2) Apply the hand brake
    3) Put the car in second gear and blow your horn in warning
13. Winding roads often have maximum safe speed limits posted for specific curves. Should you follow these advised speeds:
    1) At all times
    2) Only under good weather conditions
    3) Only when you don't know the road well
14. Assume that two cars reach an intersection coming from right angles. There are four stop signs. Which car should be the first to go ahead?
    1) The one on the right
    2) The one on the left
    3) Whichever can get away first
15. If you are caught at the edge of an intersection by the yellow caution light as the light is turning to red, should you:
    1) Slam on the brakes, holding your hand out as you do so
    2) Continue on at an even speed
    3) Immediately step up your speed to clear the intersection
16. Sometimes drivers forget to turn on their headlights when dusk sets in. To warn such drivers that their lights aren't on should you:
    1) Turn your own lights on and off
    2) Press the dim switch several times to brighten and dim your own lights, thus calling attention to the situation
    3) Do nothing
17. You are the driver of a car which is in a nasty accident with another car. The first thing you should do is to:
    1) Get the name, address and license number of the other party
    2) Flag down other motorists
    3) Check for injuries
18. You are driving at the maximum speed allowed on an open highway. One of your tires blows out. Should you:
    1) Turn off the highway immediately to avoid a possible head-on collision
    2) Put on the brakes to slow the car down
    3) Keep your feet off both the accelerator and brake pedals, slowing down gradually
19. You want to pass another car on a four-lane highway. There is a broken white line separating the lanes of traffic going your way. The broken lines mean:
    1) It's all right to pass
    2) You are not to pass
20. A diamond-shaped traffic sign means:
    1) Stop
    2) Danger
    3) School zone
21. There should be adequate space between moving automobiles. This space, roughly, should be one car length for every:
    1) Five miles-per hour
    2) 10 miles-per-hour
    3) 15 miles-per-hour

Outline Safest Spots in Tornadoes

Although there's no absolute protection against tornadoes except property built storm shelters, chances are you'll survive the blast if you have worked out your safety measures in advance.

That's the word from Richard G. Pfister, farm safety specialist at Michigan State University. He bases these recommendations on the experience of the U. S. Weather Bureau in many tornado-hit areas:

On warm, humid days with southerly winds and threatening sky, keep the radio tuned in for tornado warnings. If the alert is sounded, be ready to take cover when the electricity fails, if you see hail or hear unusual sounds like a train or roar of airplanes.

People usually can't see a tornado in time to outrun it.

OPEN WINDOWS

If you have time, shut off the electricity and fuel heating lines to prevent fire. Open the windows on the north and east side of the house to reduce damage from differences in air pressure on the inside and outside.

People generally, aserts Pfister, will be safer in the southwest corner of their basement than in any other place in the house — if they protect themselves from falling debris.

That applies to brick and stone homes as well as frame houses. This is contrary to some other recommendations that advise taking cover on the first floor of brick homes, admits the engineer. But he reasons this way: In order to be safe on the first floor, the floor has to stay in place.

GET UNDER SOMETHING

But, he insists, when you seek cover in the basement, be sure to get under a stout workbench, table or door to protect yourself from debris. Otherwise the basement might be a death trap.

If your home doesn't have a basement, crouch under a sturdy object in the southwest corner of the first floor. Make sure you're away from windows. That will offer some protection if your home isn't completely destroyed.

If you have time to lie flat in a six-foot-deep ditch, in a well pump pit, in a large culvert or some other depression, you'll be safer than in the house.

In all cases, concludes Pfister, the best general safety rule for tornado conditions is to follow the fireman's standard procedure: Keep calm, alert, and know your safety measures so you can act the right way at a moment's notice.

Driver Training

Do you know that it is now a Michigan law that all young people in high school take driver training lessons before they receive drivers' licenses?

They do.

The course in Tecumseh high school is taught by David Dick.

The driver training car has been furnished by Butler Motor Sales for nine years.

Local Topics

Miss Ivah Boyd, whose home is on Russell road, fell last week in her kitchen and broke her left arm. She is now a patient in the home of Mrs. Carson Bayless on Occidental road.

Mrs. Margaret Kidman will enter Bixby hospital Monday morning, May 14 for eye surgery.

Sort Clothes for Best Wash Results

You may be in a rush to get those soiled clothes into the washing machine, but don't overlook sorting them.

When sorting, place those articles together which call for the same kind of washing, the same temperature of water and have the same amount of soil, reminds Lucile Ketchum, home management specialist at Michigan State University.

If articles are colored, be sure the color is fast before placing them with white or pastel colored clothes. Wash white orlon, nylon and dacron alone since they easily take up color.

Soil may be just plain dirt, like soot, sand and mud, or it may be food, such as milk, eggs, gravy, fruit or vegetables. Miss Ketchum explains that the former calls for hot water, a good detergent and vigorous action. The soil from foods often calls for special treatment before washing.

The longer food stays on clothing, the harder it is to get out. Stains may result which call for special care and also may cause the fabric to deteriorate. Check and remove stains, cautions Miss Ketchum. Hot water and detergent set some stains so they never can be removed.

In most cases a six-pound load will wash better than a heavier load. Do not wash a larger load than recommended for your particular machine. A sample six-pound load might include: 1 sheet, 4 bath towels, 2 pillowcases, 1 wash cloth, 1 shirt, 1 pair pajamas, 1 slip, 1 laundry bag, 1 potholder and 2 handkerchiefs.

Another typical six-pound load might be: 2 sheets, 4 bath towels, 2 shirts and 2 pairs pajamas. Or, 3 sheets and 4 bath towels make up a six-pound load.

Short of Breath? You May Actually Be Overbreathing

If you feel short of breath you may actually be overbreathing, says a University of Michigan doctor.

Shortness of breath — a symptom commonly linked with heart disease — may often result from breathing more rapidly or deeply than necessary, says Dr. Franklin D. Johnston, professor of internal medicine and director of the heart station at the University of Michigan Medical School.

While it is true that patients with heart disease often suffer from shortness of breath, it is also common for chronic overbreathers to develop symptoms similar to those found in some kinds of heart disease. Distinguishing between the two can often be a problem, Dr. Johnston states.

Sustained overbreathing, the doctor explains, results in loss of large amounts of carbon dioxide from the lungs and lowers the ionized calcium in the blood. Ensuing symptoms may include dizziness, numbness and tingling in the hands, feet or mouth, peculiar sensations of weakness and tension, and pain from muscle spasms or cramps anywhere in the body.

Although these symptoms may be due entirely to overbreathing, Dr. Johnston states the individual concerned often has the sensation of needing more air and can work himself into a faint. Once the situation is recognized and explained to the patient, however, its remedy is simple.

What to do?

Just deliberately breathe slowly, taking no more air in or out than is absolutely necessary for a few minutes and the sensation should disappear, Dr. Johnston concludes.

FRIENDS WILL HAVE SPECIAL SERVICES

Special meetings at the Tecumseh Friends church this week will be conducted by Professor Ora D. Lovell of the Cleveland Bible College and a group of students, representing the talent of that student body. The meeting will begin on Friday with evening services at 7:30 and continue through Sunday when Prof. Lovell will be in charge of the regular services. The Tecumseh church's youth choir will take part under the leadership of William Hayden.

Rhubarb, often called pie plant because it is used so frequently in pies, is very perishable and the flavor is easily lost if not properly cared for. If it must be kept a few days before it is to be used, cut off leaves, wash the stalks and dry them thoroughly. Wrap them in wax paper or place them in moisture-vapor-proof containers and store them in the refrigerator.

Bride's House of 1956 Is River Acres Showroom

Today's consumer wants to learn how he can live better when he visits a demonstration home, according to Benjamin Trumbull, builder-dealer for United States Steel Homes, manufacturer of quality wood prefabricated homes.

Mr. Trumbull has opened his Bride's House of 1956 in River Acres. It is a three bedroom house with more than 100 square feet of beauty and convenience.

"Our Bride's House is outfitted even to the Westclox in the kitchen to help the potential homebuyer visualize himself and his family living here," Mr. Trumbull said.

"And the demonstration house visitor expects to see how the many brand products he is so aware of fit together to make a home," he added.

Newest design by United States Steel Homes, the promotion house was named The Bride's House of 1956 by House Beautiful's Guide for the Bride magazine.

"The house provides a suburban showroom displaying brand name products for many, many retail dealers in the area."

"It's an important display because many home lookers are seeking new ideas for their present homes, too."

KINDERGARTEN ENROLLS

Enrollment for the Britton-Macon school 1956-57 kindergarten class will be held Thursday, May 10 from 1 to 4 p.m. for all children who will be five years of age by Dec. 1, 1956. Parents with last names beginning with the initials A through K will register from 1 to 2 p.m. and parents with last names beginning with initials L through Z will report at 2 p.m. They should bring the birth certificate of the child enrolling.

BANQUET HELD

One hundred and ten mothers and daughters attended the annual May banquet held in the Britton Methodist church dining room last Thursday. The theme, "American Indians" was carried out in the table decorations and miniature canoes were used as favors.

Mrs. Haybert Woodall gave the devotions and Mrs. Forrest Barrett, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, gave the welcome and introduced the toastmistress, Mrs. Jean Burgin. Susan Bottorff gave the toast to the mothers, "To My Mom" and Mrs. R. B. Kanous responded with "Our Capable Daughters." A piano solo was presented by Sandra Gittus and a vocal duet by the Misses Marilyn Mallock and Darlene Purple was accompanied by Paula Schober at the organ. A reading, "Lest We Forget" was recited especially for the grandmothers by Mrs. Robert Gibson.

Pictures of Indians and their way of living were shown by Mrs. Edward Kanous. Mrs. Mary Adams was the oldest mother present and Mrs. Margaret Maschino was the youngest. Connie Woodall was the youngest daughter.

The arrangements committee was Mrs. Clay Croll, Mrs. John Gittus, Mrs. Earl Griffin, Mrs. Guy Seidel and Mrs. Edward Kanous. The men of the church served the dinner.

Mrs. Archie Hintz of Metamora and Mrs. Clyde Adams and daughter of Wayne spent Thursday with their mother, Mrs. Mary Adams and attended the mother and daughter banquet that evening.

Recent guests of Mrs. Viola Daisher and son Harold were Mrs. Richard Keller and daughters of Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks and daughters were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McWilliams.

Mrs. Theresa Cheever has returned to her home on N. Main St. after spending the winter months with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Beal.

The annual mother and daughter banquet of the Congregational Christian church will be held Friday evening, May 11 with the following committee in charge: dinner, Mrs. Henry Brown and Mrs. Elwood Tucker; program, Mrs. Willard Exelby; tickets, Mrs. Fay Wiggins.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Musson of Rochester.

Pvt. James G. Arft, son of Clarence Arft of Britton recently was assigned to the 553rd military police company at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Lights and telephone service were disrupted in Britton Saturday at 9 p.m. after Bob Faust of Holloway missed a curve a half mile north of Britton and struck a light pole and telephone pole. Mr. Faust escaped injury.

Mrs. Clyde Brown presented her piano pupils in a spring recital Sunday afternoon in the Congregational Christian church.

Leaders and sponsors of the Campfire groups of Britton met last week at the school when plans were made for a family picnic and council fire to be held June 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Murphy of Tecumseh have moved into the house they recently purchased from Edmund Millyard on Chicago Blvd.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cook and family are moving to a house north of Britton from the Beasley house.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell spent several days recently with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goetz and children of Ann Arbor were guests Sunday afternoon of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Warren Filter and daughter Jackie of Tecumseh to Detroit Friday evening to attend a performance of "Cinerama Holiday". They also called on Mrs. Cundiff's mother, Mrs. Bertha Goldfine.

Mrs. Rudolph Koczman, leader of the KoHeWo Campfire Girls and Margaret Drill, Janet Beal and Caroline Scott will appear on television Thursday at 1:25 p.m. in Toledo as part of Campfire Birthday Month.

Alfred Drake stars and Ethel Merman is special guest star on the Max Liebman color spectacular, "Music of Gershwin," which the Oldsmobile Dealers of America will present on Saturday night, May 12, from 9 to 10:30 p.m. (EDT), over the NBC-TV network. Tony Bennett, Toni Arden and Cab Calloway are among the 25 featured performers in this salute to America's great composer.

Spray Gun Can Be Lethal

A spray gun can be a lethal weapon — unless it is handled with care, according to state health officials, who today issued a plea for caution in the use of insect poisons, which cause needless deaths each year in Michigan.

Anyone using insect sprays such as DDT, Lindane, Malathion and Chlordane, the state health department said, should wear protective clothing — coveralls, tight-fitting goggles gloves and boots. Following the spraying, the department recommends a change of clothing and a warm shower to remove any of the poison dusts or mist which may have reached exposed parts of the body.

John C. Soet, department occupational health spokesman, added that organic phosphates — notably Parathion — should be handled with extreme care. Soet said a gas-mask respirator should be worn when using sprays of this type, "and if any discomfort whatsoever occurs during or following the use of the insecticide, you should get medical attention immediately."

"Several deaths occur every year because of careless use of insecticides," Soet warned. "Never open a package of insecticide without carefully reading the label, and then follow instructions.

Glenn VanDenberghs Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

The family and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn VanDenbergh assisted in making their golden wedding celebration Sunday afternoon a most happy occasion. One hundred and sixty were registered in the guest book by their daughter, Mrs. William Hancock between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m. at their home on W. Chicago Blvd.

The house was decorated with beautiful gift arrangements of yellow flowers and the refreshment table centerpiece was a lovely grouping of yellow roses, white iris and golden leaves. Mrs. VanDenbergh wore a white orchid corsage and a most unusual pin, a gift from her children especially made to represent the lilies of the valley which she had carried as a bride. Mr. VanDenbergh was presented with a matching tie clasp.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Hancock, their other daughters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sauer and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence VanDyke welcomed the guests informally, while Mrs. Ray Kilbourn of Grand Rapids, a niece of Mr. VanDenbergh, Mrs. William Ring, Mrs. Veva Connor, Mrs. D. F. Wright, Mrs. Lynn Harris and Mrs. Mel Partridge presided at the tea and coffee services. An interesting touch was added by the fact that Mrs. Hancock wore her mother's hand made wedding gown.

Others who came from away for the anniversary were Mrs. Byron Cook of Henderson, N. C., a niece of Mrs. VanDenbergh, who had been present for the original ceremony; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kilbourn of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Newell and son James of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wagner, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. John Arbogast and daughter, Detroit; Mrs. Mabel Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Tause, Hillsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turner of Onsted. Many beautiful gifts and hosts of cards were received by the honored couple.

The daughters and their families spent the weekend with the VanDenberghs and Sunday the ladies of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church served a noon dinner for 20 of the family and house guests.

Church Circles Are Entertained

Presbyterian Circle 4 held their May meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Elliott with Mrs. Charles Stephenson and Mrs. Donald Geringer as co-hostesses.

There were 18 members and one visitor present and a routine business meeting was conducted. It was announced that the coffee hour which has been held in Fellowship Center each Sunday would be discontinued until June. Mrs. David Ousterhout was in charge of the devotions for the evening and Mrs. Al Helzerman led the program after which refreshments were served and the meeting was adjourned.

The June meeting will open with a potluck supper at the cottage of Mrs. Percy Bowen at Wamplers Lake. Supper will be served at 6:30 and members are asked to bring their table service and one dish to pass.

The meeting of Circle 1 of the Presbyterian church was held in the home of Mrs. Sally Pope with 15 members and three guests present. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Dwight Hodges and a moment of silence was held for a departed member, Mrs. Amey Scutt.

Mrs. Arthur Schwartz led the period of devotions and as part of the routine business meeting, Mrs. Fred Dickinson gave a report of the membership committee and Mrs. James Barton reported on the Guild of Intercessors.

Mrs. George Walworth was program leader and her interesting talk on the "American Indian" was followed by a discussion of ways and means by which aid might be given to them. Dessert was served by the hostess and her committee.

Touborgs Show Pictures to Wit and Wisdom Club

The Youth House of the Baptist church presented a very spring like appearance Monday evening for the annual banquet of the Wit and Wisdom Club. The tables were decorated with arrangements of forsythia, daffodils and yellow tulips supplemented by green and yellow lighted tapers. The roast beef dinner served by the ladies of the church was much enjoyed by the 45 members and guests.

Only one item of business was considered, the announcement of June 4 as the date of the summer picnic. This will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee at Iron Creek, whose assistants will be Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greene.

Fred Dickinson, accompanied by Mrs. Dickinson sang an appropriate solo "To Spring," and then the president Mrs. Herbert Munger, introduced the guest speakers, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Touborg.

With an occasional assist from his wife, Mr. Touborg took his audience through the preparations and plans for an African Safari, introducing by word and picture the people, white and black, who made the trip possible and showed the locale of the camping and hunting grounds. Plains, woods and undergrowth formed the background for moving animals from elephants to tiny gazelles, perhaps the most fascinating of which were the graceful giraffes.

A LOT OF KIDS MISSED Sunday School Sunday. Their families have electric clocks. Consumers shut off the power from 4:30 to 6:30 a.m. Sunday. So when the kids went to Sunday School at 9:45 it really was 11:45 and Sunday School was over.

Chamber Wants Improvements to Parking Lots

A program to improve city parking lots was outlined in a letter to the council Monday night by Jack Osburn, chamber of commerce president.

He asked that signs on main street be placed up pointing to all parking lots.

He also wrote that if the city will sealcoat all parking lots the chamber will get a work detail out with trucks and haul all necessary gravel for proper filling.

He said "Our parking lots are the poorest in Lenawee County."

And he asked when the house on south Ottawa St. will be moved to provide more parking space.

His letter was turned over to the city manager.

Mother DESERVES THE Best

Ladies! Why ask for backache?

Look . . .
- You have a washer that takes the hard work out of washing!
- You have a range that takes the fatigue out of cooking!
- You have a vacuum that takes the muscle out of cleaning!

But what good do they do if you break your back every ironing day?

Ironrite Model 850

The appliances you have are wonderful! They help you live longer, look younger, feel better. So why let hand ironing . . . the meanest job of all, rob you of your looks, your health and your youth? You don't have to!

For now there's a simple way to iron, too. There's a wonderful appliance that lets you sit down, relax, and iron beautifully, in less than half the time it takes you by hand. That appliance is the Ironrite Automatic Ironer. It's simple to operate and amazingly inexpensive. It will iron anything you can wash, and it will end, once and for all, the achy, worn-out, tired-all-over feeling of old-fashioned ironing days.

We want you to try ironing the simple way . . . on an Ironrite. We want you to come in, sit down at one of our floor models, and see for yourself how simple, how relaxing this revolutionary way of ironing really is.

RESOLUTION

Meeting of the Township Zoning Board of the Township of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, held on the 11th day of April 1956.

Present: Chairman William Kuster, Members Daniel Linn, Earl Pennington and Russell Smith.

Absent: None.

The following preamble and Resolution was offered by Daniel Linn and supported by Russell Smith.

WHEREAS on 3 January 1956 the Township Board of the Township of Ridgeway did establish a Township Zoning Board, directing said Board to give recommendations as to a proposed Zoning plan for the Township of Ridgeway; and

WHEREAS said Board has prepared its recommendations.

NOW THEREFORE THE ZONING BOARD OF THE TOWNSHIP OF RIDGEWAY RESOLVES:

1. The tentative text and the maps of the Zoning Ordinance of the Township of Ridgeway may be examined at any reasonable time at the Office of the Ridgeway Township Clerk at 415 Osborne Street, Britton, Michigan.

2. That 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday 5 June 1956 at the Township Hall situate in the Village of Britton is hereby established as the time and place at which any persons objecting to said proposed Ordinance may appear.

3. The Township Clerk is hereby instructed to publish a copy of this notice in a newspaper of general circulation within the Village of Britton two times, the first to be not more than 30 days nor less than 20 days before said hearing; and the second notice to be published not more than eight days before the date of said hearing; and said Clerk is hereby instructed to do all other acts required to be done in connection there-with in accordance with Act 134 Public Acts of Michigan of 1943 as amended.

NAYS: None.

AYES: Unanimous.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Chairman, William Kuster

WALTHER LEAGUE

The Walther League of Immanuel Lutheran church met Tuesday, May 1 with 14 members present. The topic discussion, under the leadership of Pastor V. H. Schwartz, was on the International Walther League program.

Discussion followed on the scholarship being offered by the Ladies Aid for the Lutheran Service Volunteer School to be held at Camp Lu Lay Lea this summer. It was decided to have the traditional candlelighting service as part of the Youth Service, which was planned for Sunday, May 6.

It was announced by the president, Joyce Schafer, that the Walther League zone banquet will be held at Peace Lutheran church in Wyandotte. Refreshments were served by Nancy Davis and Ilene Schafer.

ELECT OFFICERS

Immanuel Lutheran church was the scene of the Walther League Youth Service Sunday evening. Installation of the following officers took place as part of the service: Joyce Schafer, president; Barbara Upell, vice president; Dorothy Schwartz, secretary; Ilene Schafer, treasurer; and Kay Miller, christian growth chairman. The candlelighting service was the inspiration of the evening. Entertainment followed in the church basement with an accordian solo by Evelyn Schroeder and a piano selection by Dorothy Schwartz. Refreshments were served by the committee.

W.S.C.S. MEETS

Mrs. Otto Hagens was hostess to the May meeting of the Macon W.S.C.S. which was conducted by Mrs. Herbert Morden. It was decided that all ladies of the church who had reached their 80th birthday and had served 10 years in church or W.S.C.S. work would be made honorary members. Among those honored were Mrs. Carrie Payne, Mrs. Hattie Sage, Mrs. Agnes Orborne and Miss Nina Collins. Mrs. Irma Ward of Milan will be the speaker for the mother and daughter banquet Friday evening. Mrs. Richard Robison was in charge of devotions and Mrs. Wade Scudder conducted a quiz on "Stewardship."

DISCUSS IMPROVEMENTS

A special voters assembly of Immanuel Lutheran church was held Sunday, May 6 to discuss the needed improvements to the church property. It was decided to add to the present church lavatories and church office and to improve the present kitchen. Improvements will be under the direction of the building committee comprised of Harold Schroeder, Otto Miller, Ralph Schafer, Alvin Pollitz, Herman Miller, Fred Miller and the Rev. V. H. Schwartz.

The Macon Community Club will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmore Tuesday, May 15 for dinner at 7 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Del Burleson are in charge of the program.

Members of the Macon W.S.C.S. will attend the Detroit conference of that group in Peace Auditorium in Ypsilanti, May 15 at 9:30 a.m.

The motion picture "Martin Luther" will be shown in Immanuel Lutheran church Sunday, May 13 at 7:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Fellowship Club. Refreshments will be served in the church basement after the showing.

The Children's Day program was presented in the Macon Methodist church during Sunday morning services. Mrs. Virginia Thomas' class repeated the 23rd Psalm and Mrs. Gerald Miller's class gave a Bible poem. The Ten Commandments were said by the class of Mrs. Harold Kuder and a Bible verse was given by the kindergarten class taught by Margie Papp. The junior class of girls taught by Mrs. Lois Jordan sang "He."

Vern Neidlinger and Edward Zick and Ricky accompanied Joseph Bolden, Jerry Rhoades, Larry Pennington, Larry Neidlinger, Dan and Fred Betzoldt, Charles Wilson, Norman Tucker and Richard Moore on a camping trip to Vineyard Lake over the weekend. The boys are members of the Macon Boy Scout troop.

Macon Homemakers Extension Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Carl Hawkins Thursday, May 17 at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Verl Sanch, Mrs. Vivian Farmer and Mrs. Hamilton Moore attended the Extension Achievement Day in Adrian Wednesday.

Saturday dinner guests in the Charles Bigelow home were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barrows of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Proctor of Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cook and family of Britton have moved to the house on Pennington road vacated by Mr. and Mrs. James Squires.

Mrs. Emma Bach of Lincoln Park was a weekend guest of Mrs. Haddie Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Hendershot and family of Onsted.

Leroy Burleson was hit in the eye recently with a baseball during practice at Tecumseh high school.

Emold Cousino and Mrs. Hazel Maddex and family of Dundee have moved into the Vershum farm house.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow attended the surprise housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Proctor in Clinton Saturday evening. The pirate theme was carried out in costumes, games, decorations and refreshments. Guests were present from Detroit, Tecumseh, Milan, Clinton, Macon and Britton.

The Board of Christian Education of Immanuel Lutheran church met Saturday evening, May 5 in the pastor's study to plan the Vacation Bible School for 1956 which will be held from June 11-20. Plans were made for the showing of special motion pictures based on the lesson material for the course of study.

House-Keller Vows Exchanged

Gerry L. House of Tecumseh and Mary Ann Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keller of Adrian were married Saturday evening in the Tecumseh Presbyterian church by the Rev. George Walworth. The groom's parents are Mrs. Abbie Hull and Elmer House of Tecumseh.

They were attended by Mrs. Thomas Carter of Ypsilanti, sister of the bride and the groom's brother, David House.

After a reception for 150 guests at the Tecumseh Grange Hall the bridal couple left on a short wedding trip. They will make their home on Stone highway east of the city. The groom is employed at Jim's Refinery.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

A court decision establishing the right of the public to boat and fish on Lake Ann in Presque Isle county is expected to set an important pattern for decisions in other cases involving public use of inland waters.

Previous court decisions had established the right of the public to use of all navigable waters, but this case is the first in which a relatively small stream was involved.

Judge Phillip J. Glennie ruled April 26 that both Lake Ann and the unnamed stream connecting it with the Ocqueoc River had been used for upwards of 65 years for boating and fishing and thus approve the isuance of an injunction ordering Henry M. Lucy and Naomi Lucy, his wife, to remove a barricade which they had installed to keep people out of Lake Ann.

The injunction had been sought by the Presque Isle county Board of Supervisors and the Conservation Department. Assistant Attorney General Nicholas V. Olds represented the state in the case.

The Lucys had claimed that, because of their ownership of all land surrounding the lake up to the point where the outlet stream begins, they had the right to place a barricade across the stream and keep people out of the lake.

Indian Nine Loses Sixth Game, 8 to 0

Tecumseh high school lost its sixth Southeasten League baseball game last Thursday to league-leading Monroe Catholic Central, 8 to 0.

The Falcons have a 5-0 league record and Tecumseh reposes at the bottom of the pack with a 0-6 record.

The Indians were able to garner only two hits off the slants of Farmer, Monroe pitcher.

Ray Larned, Indian chucker, worked a good game, giving up only six hits but his mates could hardly field a ball, making 10 errors.

Barry Marshall carried the hitting for the Falcons, blasting two doubles.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

BATTERS ASSUME as many different positions at the plate as there are ways to comb the hair. They rarely stand and swing exactly alike.

About all that good hitters have in common is the conclusion of their swing. They all finish with the weight shifted to the front foot, back toe pointing into the dirt and the bat swung all the way around in an arc.

Other than that, they're all different.

Harvey Kuenn, for one, stands with his right foot close to the plate, his left foot even with the outside corner of the batter's box.

Toe On Line

He holds his thick-handled bat at the very end and keeps it cocked just off his shoulder.

Ray Boone assumes a similar stance, right toe on the inside line of the batter's box, left foot back toward the outside corner of the box so that he is in a six-inch open stance, swinging toward third base.

But Boone goes into a fairly deep crouch, leaning forward, and cocks his bat somewhat higher off his shoulder.

Al Kaline stands far back in the batter's box and holds his bat almost straight up. When he swings, he strides right into the ball.

Feet Wide Apart

Earl Torgeson differs from Kaline in that he stands in the middle of the box for fast ball pitchers and even moves to the front for pitchers throwing sinking balls.

Torgy sets his feet fairly wide apart, and this is a complete departure from the position of Gene Woodling, of the Cleveland Indians, whose feet are so close together they almost touch.

In my years with the New York Giants, I stood deep in the batter's box but as close to the plate as I could, my left foot on the inside line. I didn't crouch much and kept swinging the bat so that the only time I actually cocked it was just as the pitcher started to throw.

I tried to figure what the pitcher would throw and get set for it, and so do players like Torgeson, Kaline and Woodling. However, Boone and Kuenn, among others, don't try to outguess the pitcher and try to be ready for anything.

Carried Two Models

It's all a matter of opinion, and there are good batters representing both schools of thought.

Where Kuenn employs a thick-handled bat, more players use a thinner handle. I always carried two models, one with a fairly good sized handle, the other smaller.

Kuenn starts the season with a 34-ounce bat, switching to a 32-ounce model late in the campaign. Harvey says that when the weather is hot and he's a little tired after a whole summer of baseball, he finds it harder to come around as fast with the heavier bat, so he switches to the lighter model.

Kaline plays the whole season with a 33-ounce bat, Boone with a 34-ouncer and Torgeson with a 35-ounce model.

Golfers Win Two and Lose One

Tecumseh varsity golfers lost their first match of the season last week to Jackson St. Mary's 350 to 361.

Val Spangler led the Indians with an 82. He was followed by Dave Lamkin and Ron Gurtzweiler with 92; and Dick Baker with 98.

The second team defeated Napoleon 345 to 430. Max Smith had a 79 and Dave Elliott had an 83.

The third team beat Bedford 387 to 425. Ted Kempf had a 92 to lead the Indians.

The Retail Division

The backbone of every chamber of commerce worth the title is a retail division or association.

But Tecumseh doesn't have much of a retail division any more. And this may be the primary answer to the question "What is wrong with the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce?"

At the first meeting of the retail division 26 members were present; at the second meeting of the group 17 were present.

But Monday morning at a breakfast meeting the group reached a new low in attendance when only six persons showed up.

Six persons took the time and energy to attend. Six persons out of a possible 141 retail merchants in Tecumseh were interested enough in the retail division to turn out for the third meeting.

And two of these six were officers. Incidentally, these officers have done a fine job. But they have had little or no support.

And now they have reached the stage where they don't care whether Tecumseh has a retail group. You can hardly blame them.

But what is the reason for this almost complete lack of interest in a retail group? We certainly don't profess to know. But we would like to know.

We also would like to know if merchants really want to "throw in the sponge" on the retail division idea. All indications seem to point in this direction.

Watch the Lights!

Optimism is the green light at the crossroads that starts things rolling.

Pessimism is the red light that stops everything.

You will notice that one feature distinguishing America is that we are basically an optimistic people.

We have learned to hope for the "impossible," and then set out to make it come true.

What Others Say

A man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in the attempt to be the first to quit work at night.

A man who is neat in appearance and does not sulk because of an hour overtime in emergencies.

A man who listens carefully when he is spoken to and asks only enough questions to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pity himself for having to work.

A man who is cheerful, courteous to everyone and always determines to make good.

A man who, when he does not know, says, "I don't know," and when he is asked to do anything says, "I'll try."

Leave Wildlife Young Alone

Each year, conservation officers are cussed at for taking raccoons, fawns, squirrels and other wild animals away from people who feel they have done a conservation good turn by rescuing a "lost" wild creature.

The young of wildlife are often left unguarded by parents and thus appear abandoned or motherless. They seldom are. But such creatures invariably capture the imagination of the tender-hearted, who "save" the lost creature and give it a home.

Then comes the law. The cub bear or fawn is "torn" from the arms of its protector and the conservation officer is made to look like a mustache-twisting mortgage forecloser.

Wildlife youngsters must remain in the wild for at least two reasons. For one, babies grow up and a full-grown deer or bear can be a serious danger to anyone who handles it. Record books list dozens of examples of persons who were killed or seriously wounded by grown-up, supposedly tame animals.

Second, taming and civilization blunt an animal's natural fears and leave it without proper defenses when returned to the wild.

The best approach is simply to leave wild youngsters wild. And don't heap abuse on the conservation officer who helps your neighbor remember the law; he is only doing his duty and trying to protect humans from wildlife trouble.

1876

Poems on "Gentle Spring" are now in order. Correspondents will confer a favor on us by sending them in early as we have purchased a new waste basket and made ample preparation to accommodate a large batch of them.

Millis and Fulton are now prepared to deliver goods free of charge to all parts of the village at any hour of the day with their own wagon.

J. B. Weller Bros. are receiving carloads of fruit trees this week from Rochester.

Dr. Catlin's office over Anderson's store is now fitted up and he may be found there during office hours. The main room has an elegant Brussels carpet and is furnished to correspond. We had not heard that the Doctor was planning to take a new wife but all this fixing up looks suspicious.

1886

Satterthwaite Bros. and Boyd have quite a curiosity in the shape of a lamp in their store. It holds a gallon of oil and is powerful enough to light the whole store.

Nearly the whole Herald force went fishing last Monday. Some had good luck and some didn't.

We notice that a new city express wagon, run by son of John Hughes has made its appearance.

The old Hayden Mill is receiving a new coat of paint. When finished it will be as fine as any.

1906

John J. Orr says Laxakola tablets work wonders on the skin.

George Aebersold has been working for Paul Bowen on the hay baler of late.

Dr. F. M. Stein has now recovered from his illness and will again make regular trips to Tecumseh coming this month for the 10th or 11th time.

1916

The Juniors of T.H.S. will tender a reception to the Seniors Friday in the I.O.O.F. hall at 6:30 p.m.

Harry Moore is now driving an automobile.

Ed. T. Smith and family are now living in the Chilson house on Kilbuck street recently vacated by J. K. Waldron and family.

Quite a number of our school teachers will sever their connection at the close of this year, including H. O. McLaughlin and the Misses Genevieve Halliday, Helen Pavey, Ethel Parker and Ruth Kelly.

1936

Forty-four persons will receive their certificates in First Aid Wednesday evening following the completion of their Red Cross training course.

H. S. Waring and Eugene Pangle each hidden under an umbrella, collided during a recent heavy rainfall and Mr. Waring fell and was injured. They have decided umbrellas should have windows.

A new speed limit of 35 miles has been set by the state on residential streets such as Chicago Blvd.

Two oil wells are producing freely in the Deerfield area.

1946

The village council has approved an ordinance changing a part of the east side of Maumee street to Class A business property.. They also voted an increase of 10 per cent in the salaries of village employees.

While the family quarantine is no longer manditory for communicable diseases it is explained that the patient must be isolated.

John H. Hamilton who is serving with the navy in China is expected home soon.

This year will make the 50th anniversary of the Alumni Association in Ridgeway.

The Hayden Mill has been commissioned to process 12,000 bushels of wheat into flour for overseas shipment by the government. They are authorized to pay a premium of 30c per bushel.

Church Circles Have Meetings

Circle 2 of the Presbyterian Women's Association met last Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Stanley Kruse with Mrs. Jack Metcalf and Mrs. Russell Langham as co-hostesses. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Charles Morris and then the group packed May baskets with candy, fruit, flowers and baked goods. For what would have been their program period they visited shut-ins about the town with their May Day gifts.

The next meeting of the group will be June 3 and will be a family potluck picnic at the Waldron cottage at Sand Lake.

Circle 7 was entertained by Mrs. E. J. Aebersold, who was assisted by Mrs. Al Bagshaw and Mrs. Ted LaBounty. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. LeRoy Titley and the devotions by Mrs. Bagshaw. Mrs. Clair Rozelle presented the third lesson on the American Indian as the program for the evening. The June 5 meeting will be in the home of Miss Ann Carson with a potluck supper at 6 p.m.

Realty Views

A man phoned early one evening and said, "I'm Gus Hamblin from Flint. I own a house on Union street here. But we'd like to have your firm sell it so we can get money to buy where we are. Can you meet me at the house in a half hour? I think we'll give you an exclusive listing on it."

I met him and inspected his house. It proved to be a nice home in good selling condition. Mr. Hamblin also suggested a reasonable price.

"How long should the exclusion listing run?" he asked.

"Ninety days should be long enough," I said.

"But, let me ask you a question," I continued. "I wonder why you called us? It's always interesting to find out."

"That's an easy one to answer," Mr. Hamblin replied. "A couple of friends who live here recommended you. They said you have handled the sale of many nice homes. And even though we weren't acquainted, I have lots of confidence in their judgment."

"Fine," I answered. "We'll make every effort to sell it. Tell your friends we won't let them down."

Now if you contemplate selling your property, just call us. We won't let you down either!

The Weekly Still Thrives

(Reprinted from the New York Times)

They used to be called "country weeklies." Nowadays many weekly newspapers are less rural than suburban. The weekly—in an electronic, video age—is not simply surviving; it is, on the whole, doing very well. This we learn from an item about the current state of weekly newspapers in a recent Advertising & Marketing column. It said that although the number of weeklies in the United States has been declining in the past seven years (last year 115 went out of business) the circulation of the existing 9,831 has been rising steadily. Weeklies' paid circulation increased last year by 200,000 to 20,927,000. This total includes, of course, those copies published every Friday by The Sedalia (Mo.) Democrat. The Sedalia Democrat's circulation gained 10 per cent last year—from ten copies weekly to eleven.

Perhaps twenty-five years ago—our departmental theorist says—scarcely anybody thought that in 1956 there still would be more than 9,000 weekly newspapers. But few persons then foresaw the great surge to the suburbs that occurred between then and now. Suburban developments, in most instances, have helped to increase circulations of weeklies in their areas. People who once read only metropolitan dailies find themselves — once having moved into the sub- weekly, too. The reason (continued urbs—reading their dailies and a our theorist) is pretty obvious.

MORE WEEKLIES

Most people have an idea that daily newspapers outnumber weeklies. One of our office theorists suggests this is because folks rarely see or hear about a weekly other than the one they read themselves, whereas the names of of a number of daily newspapers are familiar to people all over America. The fact is—according to the Ayer Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals, from which our news item about weeklies was compiled—there were last year 1,984 daily newspapers in the United States. Weeklies outnumbered them about five to one. Some weeklies have circulations that can only be described as impressive.

The suburbanite's daily newspaper, he said, continues to give him the foreign and metropolitan news he requires to understand—in part, anyway—what is going on in world, nation, state and city. But living in [illegible] suburbs this reader, while working in the city, is not really of it. Home is where the heart is, and his heart is in the suburbs; his weekly is his "home" newspaper. His daily paper will tell him what President Eisenhower said yesterday and what his plans are for tomorrow, what Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver are going to do next, or what is happening in Cyprus. But it does not—cannot—always tell him what his county, township or borough officials propose to do about schools or taxes, or both. The metropolitan daily may omit (inadvertently) news that felling of the old elm on Suburbia's South Street is being vigorously opposed, but the weekly may record it, properly, on page one.

The weekly newspaper will keep its readers informed concerning proposed zoning changes—a warm subject, as suburban apartment projects increase and as "old" residents of perhaps 10 years' standing strive to retain at least a semblance of rustic life amid expanding commercial developments. The average suburbanite is not likely to find his name in the metropolitan daily—but here is where the weekly excels: it is filled with names. When a headline says, "Twenty Give Talks on Various Aspects of Community Life," the weekly reader may be sure that all twenty speakers' names will be listed. Here are children's names, teen-agers' names, parents' names. Even the names of pets. The weekly's print shop and presses may not always turn out pages with metropolitan polish, but as long as people have names there will be —we hope—the weekly newspaper.

Drivers in the U. S. total almost 72 million — with about two-thirds of them males. They roll up over a half a trillion miles of driving a year.

One of every seven workers in the U. S. is involved in automobile production, sales or service. That's about 9.7 million persons.

New car dealers employ about 725,000 persons with a payroll of $2.5 billion a year. They do an annual business of almost $45 billion.

---o---

Cars traded in by new buyers average 3.2 years old.

More than half of all families buying a new car have children under 18 years old.

Area Students Win Scholarships to Michigan State

A total of 432 entrance scholarships have been granted to graduates of 349 high schools in 75 counties by Michigan State University, according to J. Robert Stewart, M.S.U. scholarship director.

The awards, which become effective in the fall term, 1956, are made on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and citizenship qualities displayed in high school, and cover tuition fees.

Stewart said the entrance scholarships are awarded to students who would find it difficult to attend college without assistance. The scholarships are awarded for one year, but may be renewed for four years if the student meets the requirements of the all-university scholarship committee.

Beverly Ann Rohrback of Britton-Macon and Merene Margaret Boltz of Tecumseh high school have been granted these scholarships.

Christian Science Services Listed

How spiritualization of thought brings man enlarged ability and opportunity will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (265:5-15): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off.

"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace."

PROMOTE HITE

The Navy Department announced the promotion April 16 of James W. Hite, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hite of 308 west Kilbuck street, Tecumseh, to yeoman third class, USN, while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Intrepid with the Atlantic Fleet. The promotion followed successful completion of a Navy-wide petty officer examination conducted in February.

In Pharmacy,
Experience Is Important Too . . .

Babies' NEEDS are our Business

The law requires that Graduates in Pharmacy also serve a period of dispensing experience — a wise provision. Experience is not only desirable, — it is required!

We point with pride to the brief period of more than one hundred years that the family of the Wright Drug Store has served our community — personally. Our many years of experience assure our continuing efforts in behalf of the good health of our people. Among our superior features are:

- Personal service of the owners is available — always.
- An Experienced Lady Pharmacist — who knows the problems of a mother, and is at your service.
- Convenient Parking in our own lot at rear of our store. No meters and no hunting for a space.

Buick SPECIAL
6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera,
Model 46R

It's Bigger than Both of 'em
–but its price makes it one of America's 3 best sellers!

It's as simple as this:

Only two cars in all creation outsell Buick. And they are two of the well-known smaller cars.

So maybe it will pay you to ask how come Buick has zoomed to the No. 3 spot with such fast-selling company.

Well, one answer is the beautiful and brawny Buick SPECIAL you see pictured here—and the low price it carries.

It's the biggest bundle of high-powered performance and high-fashion luxury ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

And that means more people want it and can afford it, because it's priced only a few dollars more than its two smaller-car rivals – even less than some models of those very same cars.

But the big answer comes from a sure fact more folks have discovered: you get more pure automobile for your money in Buick than you get elsewhere.

Here, you get the extra wallop of big new Buick power raised to a new high—and pouring in smooth whisper from a brand-new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine of true high compression.

Here, you get the matchless buoyancy of Buick's great new ride – the extra-safe feeling of Buick's new handling ease—the extra stretch-out comfort of Buick roominess—the extra solidity and strength of Buick structure—the extra pride and prestige of Buick's new styling and dash.

Here, too—and nowhere else—you can get the silk-smooth performance and flash-fast response of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the world's only transmission with the gas-saving mileage and switch-pitch action of the modern airplane propeller.

This week—this very day, if you wish—you can sample all these Buick blessings to your heart's content and your pocket's joy. Why not drop in on us and do just that?

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Facts about Automobiles

Women drivers — for every two male drivers there's one female driver.

Buying a new car? You pay 28 per cent of the delivered price in taxes.

In 1900 there were only 4,192 autos in the U. S. Now there are more than 60 million registered motor vehicles.

New car dealers are selling more than 290 cars an hour — one every 12 seconds.

In 1946 there were 25.6 million passenger autos on the roads.

Our automobile population in the U. S. is rising at the rate of nearly 2½ million vehicles a year.

In cities over 250,000 population, 57 per cent of the people depend on automobiles for transportation. In cities under 50,000 up to 83 per cent of the people depend on automobiles for transportation. The smaller the city, the more need for cars.

The United States has about three-fourths of all passenger autos in the world.

Eighty-five per cent of workers living 10 miles or more away from their jobs use passenger cars to get to work.

We have 3.3 people for every passenger car on the roads in the U. S. In Russia they have 74 people for every passenger car.

American farmers have about 12 million trucks, tractors and passenger cars.

Public school buses carry 9 million pupils — one out of three — to school and home again every school day in the U. S.

Beeswax, sugar cane, iodine, rosin and cork go into the making of automobiles.

California leads the U. S. in the number of passenger car registrations. Next in line are New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas, Illinois and Michigan.

It now costs almost twice as much to build and maintain highways as it did in 1941.

Venezuela, Belgium, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Columbia are the biggest importers of American passenger cars.

Two of every three passenger cars manufactured are sold to replace scrapped cars.

Three out of every four trucks manufactured are sold to replace scrapped trucks.

One-fifth of patents issued each year are for automotive devices.

The average car travels 10,000 miles a year.

In the last school year, new car dealers provided 8,000 automobiles worth more than $16 million, for driver training in high schools.

New car and new truck dealers in the U. S. have an investment of $6 billion in equipment, inventories and buildings.

There are more people selling and servicing cars than engaged in manufacturing new cars.

One of every six "sales and service" firms is an automobile firm.

Auto dealers gave about $47 million to religious, charitable and educational causes last year.

Railroads carry about 4-¼ million carloads of auto equipment each year — earn about $900,000 by doing so.

About 30,000 new car dealers sell more than 90 per cent of all new auto vehicles.

Auto dealers' net profit before taxes was six-tenths of one per cent of sales in 1954.

Franchised new car dealers in the U. S. have a greater investment than the investment of all manufacturers.

One of every five trucks made in the U. S. is exported.

Four-fifths of all livestock transportation is done by truck.

One of every ten paychecks in the U. S. comes from truck transportation.

About 25,000 cities receive and deliver all mail by motor truck.

Chicken or egg? Both get to market by truck.

More than half of all fresh fruits and vegetables get to market by truck.

Bus or trolley? Three-fifths of all passenger transportation in U. S. cities is by motor buses.

Texas leads in new trucks sold. California is second.

About 30 per cent of all trucks in the U. S. are in 115 counties. New York's five boroughs, Los Angeles and Cook County, Illinois, are the leaders.

About half of all passenger cars in use are four-door sedans. Two-door sedans are 35 per cent of the total. Station wagons make up 1.5 per cent of the passenger cars in use and convertibles 2.2 per cent.

Half of all emergency road service calls are for tire and battery trouble.

About 80 per cent of all families own one car. Ten per cent of all car owning families have two cars. Only one per cent of car owning families have three cars.

Eighty-five per cent of all vacation trips are made by automobile. The average trip was more than 1,000 miles.

A quarter of all auto trips from suburbs into town are for shopping.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

BY ROBERT A. CHARPIE

Assistant Research Director, Oak Ridge National Laboratory
Oak Ridge, Tennessee

Our Father: We pray to be reminded of our responsibilities that we may better serve all humanity.

We ask Thy guidance for our leaders that they may wisely choose a path of action which leads to peace and a brotherhood of man.

Help to reawaken our conscious understanding that, being ever cognizant of our needs, Thou are prepared to heal our wounds and sorrows through Thy love for each of us.

Humility — Counsel — Love — for these three blessings we turn to Thee.

Moon To Blush in May

A blushing moon will be on display for stargazers in the middle of May, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The waxing moon around May 13 will be tinged with a pinkish glow on the dark section, which is turned away from the Sun. This is called "earthshine" the professor points out.

"The faint light is caused by sunlight reflected from the Earth, which appears on the crescent moon as a great bright object about two degrees in diameter.

At the same time the bright planet Venus will be close by, Professor Losh notes, which will give the western sky a brilliant display.

Other bright planets will be Saturn and Mars in the southeast. Mars will travel through the constellation Capricornus and enter Aquarius by the end of the month.

Among the constellations of interest this month, Professor Losh mentions Lyra, the Lyre, which has in it the dazzling bluish star, Vega. Vega is the second brightest star visible from this latitude.

"This group with Vega is of special concern to us," says the astronomer, "because it is in this general direction that our Sun, dragging the planets along with it, is believed to be flying through space at twelve miles per second."

She points out that not only is this star the goal of the travel of our Solar System, but it is also the former and future Pole Star for the Earth.

"Fourteen-thousand years ago Vega served in this capacity and in the course of another twelve-thousand years will again play this important role," she says.

Our Pole Star will then be six times brighter than the present one at the handle of the Little Dipper, she adds.

Too bad we won't be around to see it!

what is a NEW CAR dealer?

He's one of us, our neighbor and friend. He's the man who makes our modern transportation in our community possible — to and from work, shopping, school, vacation — when we need it. That's why he's a vital factor in our community's economic life. Without this independent businessman's service — and that includes maintenance as well as new cars — our community would be poorer in everything we take for granted today.

So You Want To Go To College

"WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

On the morning of May 27, 1955, the population indicator in the main lobby of the Department of Commerce Building in Washington, D. C., registered 165,000,000.

Operating like the mileage indicator on an automobile speedometer, the population "clock" registers one birth every eight seconds, one death every 21 seconds, the arrival of one immigrant every two minutes, and the departure of one emigrant every 24 minutes—one net addition to the U.S. population every 12 seconds.

In a real sense, the steady ticking of the clock day in and day out dramatizes the size of the task which today confronts education in this country.

SHOULD I GO?

As a high school student, you are part of this 165 million who are now thinking about college. You have heard that college enrollments will more than double in the next 15 years. Naturally, this has raised the question in your mind, should I go to college and if I do decide to go, will there be room for me in college? In addition, there are many other questions concerning college which you would like to have answered.

This is the purpose of this series of articles—to answer for you the most important and the most frequently asked questions about college attendance. Successive articles in this series will answer the questions: How much will it cost to go to college? Where can I secure financial assistance? Which college should I attend? How do I get into a college, and what are the entrance requirements? What should I study in college? What can I do in high school to prepare myself for college? What special services will be available to me in college?

With more than 2,000,000 students enrolled this year in higher education, colleges and universities are preparing for the doubling of this enrollment in the next 15 years. But this doesn't mean that there won't be a place in college for you. New dormitories, libraries, and classrooms are being built all over the nation. Teaching staffs are being expanded to take care of the present and future enrollments. Community colleges are being established and expanded. Experiments with closed-circuit TV are being undertaken to make the maximum use of effective teaching talent. So, in spite of the great increase in enrollment, today is a good time to go to college.

BE PREPARED

There will be a place in college for you if you are prepared to meet the requirements. Our national welfare is dependent more and more on technological complexities, and the self-made man of the future will probably make the grade only if he is college trained.

There is a pressing need for more college graduates. It has been said that the natural resource which is in shortest supply in the United States today is trained brain power. The shortage is so acute as to endanger our national health, security and prosperity. It is estimated that by 1960 the U.S. will have 30,000 too few doctors. Shortages of dentists and nurses will be equally grave. Our colleges are now graduating annually 20,000 fewer engineers than are needed. More scientists and mathematicians are needed.

THERE ARE SHORTAGES

There are shortages everywhere. Last year the land-grant state universities graduated 8,500 men in agriculture. Over 15,000 jobs requiring such training are available each year. The dearth of teachers is appalling. The colleges and universities of the U.S. train only 45,000 elementary-school teachers annually, almost 100,000 are needed. To meet the total demand, at least 200,000 additional teachers at all levels will be needed each year for the next decade.

The second in this series of articles will discuss, "Should I Go To College?"

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

It was hard going to get out of the jungle, but we finally made it up to the jeep and started back towards camp along a different route.

We had to see about some bait, an ostrich as a matter of fact, which we had hung up in order to help Clausens get a leopard or lion and we had to see about another place where, perhaps, we might find a waterbuck.

At one point we parked the jeep and walked down towards a muddy place where waterbucks seemed to like to hang out late in the day and where we might also see some elephant tracks. One never knows. After much looking and spying, when we were on the point of giving it up as a bad job, a beautiful specimen of waterbuck all of a sudden walked right out in the open in front of us and I was lucky enough to nail him with the 300 Weatherby. We sent Mohamed back for the jeep while we proceeded to skin the waterbuck.

The evening was drawing close and I remembered standing and watching the beautiful waterbuck being skinned when I heard some elephants right back of us, squealing and trumpeting. The squealing continued as long as we were there and Andy explained to me later that the wind was carrying our scent down across an area of the jungle where a herd of elephants with young was feeding. The squealing and trumpeting was the mother elephant's way of telling any intruder that he better stay away. They were ready to fight for their young and they were letting us know.

COULDN'T SEE THEM

I would have liked to have been a little closer to see how the animals behaved; whether they were standing still facing in the direction of danger, milling around, or just making noise in general. I hope someday I shall be able to see how a squealing and trumpeting herd of elephants behave. I can imagine there must be much trunk raising and ear flapping.

With some effort we got the jeep down skirting the muddy spot. The mud was punched full of big circular holes and had dried. These holes were made by elephants walking back and forth through the mud when it was soft and it was very difficult terrain to cover, even by foot, to say nothing about driving.

After loading the waterbuck, we started back towards camp and got there a little after dark.

A hot bath felt wonderful that evening and the roast Thomson's gazelle was a wonderful finish to a very successful day.

THE ELAND HUNT

One day at the beginning of our stay at camp near Maralal, the natives were beginning to mutter that they had not seen much red meat yet and that the few Thomson's gazelles and guinea fowl we had brought home recently, did not go very far; that this was safari M'kubwa and, therefore, a good deal of meat was needed, so Andy thought that perhaps everybody would be happier if we could get hold of a large animal like another buffalo or perhaps an eland.

The eland is the biggest antelope in Africa and weighs about 1500 pounds. It is wonderful eating, no matter whether it is made into hamburgers, roasts or steaks. It has a mild flavor and really is a highly desirable kind of meat.

We set out that morning, looking for a nice big bull eland which not only would be a good trophy, but also supply the much needed meat. We were also looking for oryx, and Andy told me that the two quite often were found in the same neighborhood and running together, especially if some fear had started some of the animals running. Even zebras would be found in the same group at times.

COPY EACH OTHER

I asked him why this was so and he gave, what sounded like a reasonable explanation. When some animals start running because something has scared them, and in their attempt to get away, get close to other animals, these animals also start running, thinking that there must be some reason for the first ones to run, so pretty soon quite a few species are traveling side by side.

Whether it was by design or not, I do not know, but it did not take long that morning before we had some zebras ahead of us traveling through the thorn bush country. Following the zebras we, after a while, discovered a couple of eland cows in the group.

We now stopped the car and started still hunting through the country side. Eventually, after having followed the animals quite a distance, taking as much as possible advantage of any little raise in the terrain, and keeping bushes between the animals and ourselves so they would not be aware of our presence, we discovered a large eland bull following a parallel path to the general one our group of animals were traveling. After having a couple of glimpses of him through the bushes, Andy told me, although I did not understand how he could determine things with so great accuracy, that I had better take him in spite of the fact that he was an older bull and his horns were kind of worn on the ends.

The eland uses his horns for digging in the ground to get at edible roots, salt, etc. and as he grows older, his horn becomes rather well worn on the tips.

"Be ready," Andy said, "in a second he will be out of sight and we will not see him again."

ELAND WAS WOUNDED

I quickly sat down on the ground, rested my elbows on my knees and squeezed off the trigger just as the animal was rounding a corner of the woods in front of us. I could see that he was hit, but he did not fall and I started blaming myself for not having loaded the gun with solid nose bullets instead of soft nose, but it was too late to worry about that now and we started after the animal, running, trying to catch up with him before he would recover from the shock. He didn't seem to be much shocked and when we came up to where he had been when I shot, we found some blood on the ground indicating that he definitely was wounded.

Now began a long and arduous treck, trying to catch up with the poor fellow, I felt terribly bad that I had wounded him without bringing him down. I probably should not have attempted to make such a long shot, however, it was too late to stand and worry. Now was the time for action.

We soon got out of breath and slowed down to the regular job of following the footprints and blood spoor through the brush country, a country covered with thorn brush, grasses and here and there interspersed with sandy spots. We determined that he was hit in the left leg and that he was hit high because of the blood marks on twigs and branches he went by.

We had no lunch that day, neither did we give the eland any rest but kept on following his tracks, tracks which showed a distinct sharp mark of his left hind foot where just the tip of the toe would be making an imprint in the sand.

THEY KNOW TRACKING

During that day I saw some of the most remarkable feats performed in the art of tracking that I probably will ever see. After a while the wound seemed to stop bleeding and only once in a while there would be a little tiny red smear in a twig which, to the inexperienced tracker, was very hard to find but which N'Gora and Sangora read like a book. Many times when the tracks were hidden in grass and I practically had given up hope of our determining which way the animal had gone, perhaps one of them would walk 10 paces in a certain direction and pick up a little pellet of dirt laying on top of the otherwise undisturbed surface of the sand. He would squeeze it between his fingers and show us that there was a tiny drop of blood inside the little pellet. With a big grin he would then point in the direction that he thought we had to take.

Another thing that amazed me was that the animal continued to go down wind. In that way he could always tell when we were coming too close to him. As long as we tracked him, he never failed to go straight down wind. The wind kept on changing during the day and it was not as easy as it sounds. Just to go down wind to find him would not do. We had to find his tracks or we probably would miss him by miles. Times came when there were neither blood smear nor hoof prints or anything else to go by I was sure that we had to give up, but N'Gora or Sangora would make a circle with me as a center standing on the last found track and with a radius or two or three hundred yards, check the possibility of finding a sign. It might be five, 10 or 40 minutes before they would come back with a big grin and say, "This way." Invariably they would have found the track again, quite a distance away from where we had lost it, and we would go on. Go on through the heat of the day, through the flies. Sometimes the tracks would be completely obliterated by a couple of native boys having driven an enire herd of native village cattle crosswise of the eland tracks.

HAD TO GIVE UP

At six o'clock we finally had to give up because darkness was setting in and it was impossible to continue. It was with a heavy heart that I followed N'Gora up to the road which went past a couple of miles from where we had given up the search while Sangora and Andy started back for the jeep.

While we were sitting in the grass waiting for the jeep to show up, the British District Commissioner from Maralal, Mr. T. J. F. Gavaghan, came by in his car. He wanted to know what we were doing there on the road alone and I told him that we were hunting an eland. I hated to admit that we were hunting a wounded eland but it must have been around somewhere in the air because several days later when I met him again he asked me how my wounded eland was doing. Down there you are not supposed to let a wounded animal get away.

Eventually the jeep arrived and we arrived at camp tired, hungry, thirsty and considerably downhearted. It was like a gnawing pain in my diaphragm everytime I thought of eland and I wished I had never seen the darned beast.

Truly Ford goes first with this 312 cubic inch engine—largest ever offered in a low-priced car. Yet, even teamed with Fordomatic, it costs less than top engines in other low-priced cars with just standard transmission!

Ford goes first with Lifeguard Design, too. For example, there's the deep-center structure of the steering wheel that helps to protect your chest in case of accident . . . double-grip door latches to reduce chance of doors opening under impact.

As for looks, every '56 Ford took its styling inspiration from the Thunderbird. They're the most glamorous cars in Ford's field.

In economy, too, Ford goes first. In the 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford V-8 beat everything in its class—including Sixes as well as Eights. Come in now for a thrilling Test Drive. When you return you'll understand why Ford is the V-8 with the biggest following.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Although it seems incredible to those of us who once found him such a joy, there are probably many these days to whom the name of Harry Lauder does not mean a thing. His rollicking voice and the Scotch burr of his "R-r-roaming in the Gloaming" rolled out of every radio and record player during his hey-day. It always sounded as if he sang because he couldn't help it and that was the way Mrs. Sidney Gransden, who now lives on Occidental road, heard him sing when she was a "wee lass" in Scotland.

Her story sounds like the setting for a novel by Sir Walter Scott. She was Elizabeth Bullion then, the daughter of a French-Irish father and a Scotch mother and lived with nine brothers and sisters in a long, low rambling stone house with what looked like dozens of chimney pots and with surrounding kitchen gardens enclosed in low stone walls. It was set in the middle of more than a thousand acres of "family land" which was divided into several farms.

Elizabeth's father had the main farmhouse "because he had the largest family." Most of the land near his house was an area of moor and woods, a hundred acres or more, given over to "game cover," heather and broom and furze.

These acres were leased annually to wealthy sportsmen, usually from the city of Dundee, about 10 miles away, for this was in the east of Scotland and not far from Queen Victoria's favorite Balmoral Castle. Mr. Bullion was "game keeper" and protected the partridge, quail and rabbits from poachers. Rabbits, however, were a menace to crops and had to be kept down by constant hunting, thus supplying meat for the farmers' tables.

When the hunting season arrived — there were several during the year — word would come that the hunters would be there on a certain day and there would be much excitement. Usually the party would consist of eight or ten hunters, leaseholders and their guests, who came sometimes in big open cars, sometimes in a horse drawn "brake" or bus. They brought huge hampers of food and drink and Elizabeth's mother would set up tables for them in one of the front rooms of the farm house with a roaring fire in the fireplace and hot drinks ready.

It was a great day for the children for they were the "beaters." Four or five of them armed with long sticks would move through the underbrush driving the game before them into range of the hunters who were lined up at right angles to the beaters. The children were from perhaps six to 12 years old and the oldest boy carried a basket holding ferrets to drive the rabbits out of their holes when one of the six hunting dogs had located them. Once the game was flushed it was usually brought down for most of the "guns" were good shots. Lunch was brought into the field, meat pies and other delicacies, with plenty for the children and the open air made the "city food" a rare treat.

The hunts were always a thrilling experience but the red-letter day in Elizabeth's memory was the time a Mr. McGill brought Harry Lauder as his guest. Lauder was already famous at that time and wealthy too, with a beautiful estate which he called "The Doon" on the river Clyde, but there was nothing up-stage about him that day. He laughed and told jokes (some rather earthy) and now and then, as naturally as he breathed he broke into song. After his youth in the coal mines apparently the effect of moorland air on his voice caused him no concern and they had snatches of "It's nice to get up in the morning," "Roaming in the Gloaming" and his other favorites along with their noon lunch.

Elizabeth was a little blond 10-year-old then and all day Lauder called her, "My Jeanie with the light brown hair." Incidentally neither he nor any other Scotchman of that day wore kilts. Those were strictly stage properties. But at the end of the day his Scotch blood was apparent. The other hunters were always liberal in paying the Bullion children for their long, strenuous day, but Harry Lauder gave them each a half a crown, which while adequate was surely not lavish. So Mrs. Gransden's memories of the famous man have a few reservations.

Elizabeth Bullion Gransden's own life in Scotland and Canada during the pre-war years that followed would provide material for a novel. They are too interesting to dismiss with a paragraph, so Harry Lauder's little "Jeanie with the light brown hair," will have a future store of her own.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children are planning their spring program for May 25. The morning group will invite their mothers at 10 a.m. and the afternoon will be at 2:30 p.m. We hope all of our mothers and friends will be able to come.

Doug Beasley celebrated his birthday this week in third grade.

We discovered Mrs. Robin building her nest on a ledge just outside our window. It was very interesting to watch her build the nest. We are waiting and watching for the baby robins.

Alison Derby brought her parakeet, Caesar, to the fourth grade room Friday afternoon. We all enjoyed watching him and trying to understand what he said.

We all enjoyed the cartoonist program at the high school gym last Friday morning. Some of the boys think they would like to use both hands to draw with, too.

The girls are dressing some paper dolls in crepe paper and are making some real pretty costumes.

An appointment book would come in handy for sixth graders right now — so many places to go and things to do. Monday we will visit the high school during regular class times to get an idea how things are done there.

Friday brings the most talked about event in recent weeks—the Greenfield Village trip! We will make all our plans in advance at a class meeting.

WEST BRANCH

The breeze in our hair
Is warm and sweet
And May drops blosoms
At our feet.

We are almost to the end of another school year. We have learned many things this year.

We had hoped that two of our reading groups would get all of "Our New Friends" read, but it begins to look as if part of them won't.

We have spent about four weeks writing stories and coloring birds. We expect to study a few flowers usually grown around home.

Three from our room have the measles—Douglas Higgins, Gloria Randolph and Tommy Stormes.

David Beemer and Sherrie Johnston celebrated their birthdays in our room this month.

Mrs. Francis Packard and Mrs. Elroy Johnston visited our room recently.

The West Branch P.T.A. has been postponed until May 17 due to a conflicting date. Since this is the last meeting of the year we hope many parents will attend.

Jeffrey Robison has returned from a two weeks' vacation in Florida. He told us many interesting things concerning his trip. He brought a huge cocoanut to show us.

With the exception of three children, all in this grade are now able to tell time accurately.

David Elder, who left in Jan. to go back to Alabama has returned. We were glad to have him back, but sorry he has missed so much school on account of a tonsil operation.

What we have improved in our ability to read was shown by comparing results of our two "Weekly Reader" tests. In the first test only three pupils made perfect papers.

Our group enjoyed the "circus" at the high school gym. The bus ride was an important part of the event.

We are learning how to use a telephone and to understand terms used in this method of communication.

We are studying Michigan birds and can recognize most of them.

We were all glad to have the Rev. Brazee, Linda's grandfather, visit us. He told us a number of very interesting stories.

We have been studying birds this spring during science classes. We learned about 14 of the most common Michigan birds that migrate to the south for the winter. Our bird folder has the colored picture of each bird and a story about the bird's nest, eggs, food, and other habits.

The "Iris Brownies" from our room visited Hall's Aquarium shop and brought three new fish for our room tank. We are watching our mystery snail and our catfish clean algae from the sides of our tank.

Many "bokays" of spring flowers make our room beautiful.

We are reading some very funny stories from a book called "Tall Tales." Many of us wanted to study about children of other countries so we are reading two books that are about children of other lands. They are called "Stories from Everywhere" and "Friends Far and Near."

Linda Green and Jerry Sniffen have had birthdays this month.

We have learned to do four square dances. We have fun this way on rainy days.

We're glad we'll soon be fourth graders and we'll be happy to have vacation soon.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Spring is here! Mrs. Munger's room is glowing with many yellow flowers brought by Nancy Brady, Larry Beckey, Barry Williamson, Deborah Cheever, Sandra Keith and Melvin Lewis.

Rickie Link, who has been ill for many days, brought us a sweet potato plant. Barry Williamson shared his turtle with us, and Melvin Lewis his gold fish.

We are all happy that we have finished reading another supplementary reader. This one is "Fun in Story."

We were glad to have Nancy Brady's mother visit us Tuesday morning.

The wild animal show was enjoyed by all of us. We drew many pictures of the animals.

Danny Hare has been absent from school because of a tonsillectomy.

Mrs. VanWinkle's second grade has been busy making a circus parade which is traveling way around their room. They have been reading circus stories and learning about all the work that has to be done before a circus is ready to start its spring tour all through the states.

One sunny day recently Mrs. Puffer and her second graders walked down to the library, which was a new experience for many of the children. Everyone chose a book and Mrs. Fosbender gave each child a pretty book mark.

Mrs. Callihan's room has made some changes in their reading books. Part of the children are reading from "In New Places." All are enjoying the stories in "Down Our Way."

Kay Upell, Pamela Runk and Cherie Flowers have treated us at the Tastee Freeze.

The section in our science book on "Animals and Their Babies" is interesting this time of the year.

Mrs. Thomas's third grade also had two treats this last week. We helped celebrate John Belcher's ninth birthday with suckers and balloons. Tim Rinehart also brought each of us a package of gum. SUCH FUN!

Our planting is done! Our crops are in! For our unit on plants we have been studying that plants need sun, soil and water.

We love our new library books and are anxious to read them.

In Mrs. Miller's fourth grade we have been learning interesting things from a large map of Tecumseh. We have drawn one on the blackboard, copying it from the map that came with the new city directory.

We are learning to give directions, using subdivision names, street names, house numbers, and right and left turns. We also discovered that house numbers are divided in even numbers on one side of the street and odd numbers on the opposite side.

Dickie Graham, in Mrs. Baily's fourth grade, has been out of school for a few days because he had his tonsils out.

Mrs. Baily's room is decorated with posters we have made. Each one of us chose a different subject.

Mrs. Solarski visited Mrs. Whiting's fourth grade room one afternoon last week.

We are continuing on our murals for geography. We are just finishing the one on India and are starting one on China.

Mr. Kelty's fifth grade has made arangements to go to Toledo to the Art Museum May 15.

Field and Streams

State Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh said several similar cases had been held up, pending the outcome of this court action.

"Despite repeated decisions by our Supreme Court, we still find many private owners who insist that the stretch of stream that runs through their property is not navigable and have obstructed the public from passing over it and, in fact, have built dams without securing approval of the Board of Supervisors," Kavanagh said. "In view of this decision (on Lake Ann), we feel that we can now proceed with these other cases."

---

Rural residents and others were reminded this week that a permit is required for anyone intending to burn brush, grass, or debris from land-clearing operations outside city and village limits.

It is unlawful when the ground is not snov covered to start an open fire, except for domestic purposes, without obtaining a burning permit. Permits can be obtained from any Conservation Department field office, conservation officer, fire officer, or forest fire lookout.

Grass fires are particularly dangerous during the forst fire season and fires set without proper precautions can result in destruction of forests and property.

Some precautions to observe are: (1) never set a fire during a high wind; (2) do not set fires during the day; wait until late afternoon or evening when the wind is down and the humidity high; (3) insure that hand tools and assistance are available for stopping a fire.

---

Maps of 51 Michigan lakes were completed during the past winter by Conservation Department fish division workers.

Approximately 2400 inland lakes now have been mapped under the department program.

Three mapping crews worked during the winter on lakes in several counties, including Barry, Crawford, Kalamazoo, Lake, Lapeer, Mecosta, Montcalm, Newaygo, Oakland, Osceola and Otsego.

Some lakes in these areas were remapped because of known or suspected errors in older maps.

Most of the 51 new maps will be available soon to interested persons. Available maps are listed by counties and all requests for listings should indicate the specific county desired. Requests and inquiries should be addressed to: Institute for Fisheries Research, University Museums Annex, Ann Arbor.

---

Spring pheasant population surveys mean early working hours for many Conservation Department workers.

Game division personnel go out about a half-hour before sunrise and drive specified 20-mile routes, stopping every mile to listen for cock pheasant crows for two minutes. By tallying the number of calls and computing the area covered, biologists can get a count on the number of male pheasants in an area.

The annual crowing count, which has become a standardized census method in several states, was started in lower Michigan this week and will continue into June. Pheasants will be at the peak of their breeding season during the next few weeks, but male pheasants continue to crow even after hens are nesting.

This year's crowing count is the eighth annual survey of this type. A quail census also is conducted on the pheasant survey trips, using a similar system of listening for bird calls.

The State Library Fund will be increased by $310 as a result of conservation law convictions reported during the last week.

All money from fines for conservation law violations goes to the library fund.

The 31 persons convicted last week were ordered to pay $219 in court costs, in addition to the $310 in fines. Justices also sentenced two violators to 10 days in jail.

Twenty-four of the convictions were for violation of fishing laws. Other convictions included five trapping law infractions, one hunting law violation and one burning of vegetation without a state permit.

Pythians Have District Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Josephine H. Hall Temple of Pythian Sisters last Wednesday evening final plans were made for the district convention to be held in Tecumseh the next day. Mrs. Lynn Hubbard was appointed guard to take the place of Mrs. George Green Sr. during her absence and other routine business was conducted.

On Thursday 140 convention delegates and grand officers were registered for the afternoon session held in the Baptist Youth House. District 7 includes temples from Adrian, Dundee, Jackson, Milan, River Rouge, Tipton and Tecumseh. The 2:30 session was called to order by Mrs. Gladys Wanty, district deputy and the opening of the Bible and presentation of the flag was conducted by the hostess chapter. The Rose temple of Milan gave the invocation and Mrs. Henry Kempf of Tecumseh the address of welcome, which was responded to by the Riverside Temple of Dundee.

The Tipton Temple conducted a memorial service and the ritualistic opening was conducted by the hostess temple. Remarks by Grand Chief Mrs. Wave Wanty of Ann Arbor closed the afternoon session and the members adjourned to the Pythian Temple where dinner was served.

The evening session was opened at 7:15 by the hostess temple and a program was presented which began with two novelty dances by Gail Elliott of Tecumseh and Meredith Munger of Tipton, "Bye Bye Blues" and "Little Spanish Town". They were accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Driscoll.

Rita Crosby Will Go to Girls' State

The Auxiliary of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34, the American Legion, will send Rita Crosby, Tecumseh high school junior, to Wolverine Girls' State June 19 through June 26. Girls' State will be held on the campus of the University of Michigan.

Three hundred and thirty girls will attend.

Girls will be offered guidance, instruction and actual experience in governmental procedures and its functions.

It is the hope of the American Legion Auxiliary that the girls in attendance will in the future accept active citizenship in our nation and feel keenly the relationship of home, church, school and government.

Selection to attend Wolverine Girls' State is based on excelling in leadership, civic pride, cooperation, fairness, honesty and good character.

After spending eight days in governmental instruction and governing themselves by democratic procedure, two girls will be chosen to attend "Girls' Nation," representing Michigan at Washington, D. C., where they will learn how a free nation is governed.

225 Attend Grange Meeting; Visit Foreign Visitors

More than 225 persons attended the open meeting held at the Tecumseh Grange last Thursday evening. The 66 foreign students from the English Language Institute at Ann Arbor also attended.

Guests were present from Tipton, Britton, Tecumseh, Adrian and Mr. O. G. Barrett and his foreign exchange student attended from Morenci.

After a bountiful potluck supper, where each student was the supper guest of one of our friends or members who were in attendance, the group gathered in the assembly for a short business meeting.

George Luther, lecturer was introduced by Elizabeth Barret. Mr. Luther is coordinator and one of the instructors of the visiting group.

The students stood and introduced themselves by giving their name, country they were from and what subjects they are studying.

The program was in honor of Mother's Day. The title was "Life's Journey," with music. Each part showed the advancing age of a girl, starting with the tender age of four months. A tableau or vivid life's picture was presented with each number: song dance, flute or piano solo.

Those taking part were Mrs. Russell Schultz, who read the script introducing each tableau and song, Mrs. Robert Irwin and baby girl, Janet Bilby, Juday Rohrback, Judy Schultz, Lorna Dicks, Beverly Rohrback, Larry Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kohle, Connie and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Don Escott, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Escott, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon.

Roma Waters furnished all piano accompaniment. Singers were the Mrs. Grigg, Ricica, Moore, Squires, Gilmore, VanVleet and Bless. Also included in the cast were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Driscoll. The songs were as solos, couples or a group. Mrs. Bless presented a number on the flute.

The foreign students then sang several songs in their native language and also dances depicting the different countries from which they came.

Police Are Kept Busy

Tecumseh police arrested Rayford Howell, 23, of Tipton, and Donald Moore, 18, of Britton Friday night for reckless driving.

Arraigned before Justice Robert French Saturday they pleaded not guilty and were released on $75 bond each to await trial.

Tecumseh and Britton will take part in the third annual exchange of mayors next Monday, May 21. The day is part of Michigan Week which will be observed state-wide from next Sunday, May 20, through Saturday, May 26.

Mayor H. H. Hanna of Tecumseh will exchange with Mayor Dr. F. V. Carney of St. Clair and Fred Bryan, president of Britton, will exchange offices with Jason Kimbell, president of the village of Barryton in Mecosta County.

Tecumseh

Dr. Carney will be greeted at the airport at 11 a.m. The official greeters here, led by Arthur Schwartz, mayor pro-tem, will show Mayor Carney the town and at 12:15 he will be guest at a luncheon at the country club.

At 1:30 p.m. he will receive a conducted tour of the Tecumseh Products Co., Quaker Oats, the high school and Patterson school, the hospital and the sewage disposal plant.

Monday night the mayor of St. Clair will be the honored guest at a banquet which will be held in the Presbyterian Fellowship Center. The dinner, planned by the Tecumseh Business and Professional Club, will be served at 6.45 p.m.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from the business and professional women, Rotarians, Exchangites, Kiwanians, Jaycees and from the chamber of commerce office.

The Rotary Club will attend as a body, pushing up their Tuesday meeting date to Monday. Some of the other service clubs also may attend as a body.

R. G. DeLano, St. Clair superintendent of public works, also will be a guest.

Speaker will be State Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair.

In a letter to the HERALD, Dr. Carney describes St. Clair and gives a resume of his personal life:

"St. Clair is located in the heart of the St. Clair River district on the blue water highway. It has a population of 4400, a city of privately owned homes. Our main industry is the Diamond Crystal Salt Company (The salt that is all salt).

"A great many of our citizens sail the Great Lakes. The farming is mostly dairying.

"I am a graduate of the Old Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery now Wayne University in 1915. I commenced the practice of medicine the same year in St. Clair. I volunteered in the U. S. Army Medical Corp in 1918, was in A.E.F., returned to St. Clair in 1919 and resumed practice until 1951 when I semi-retired on account of my health.

"I am a member of the American Medical Association, State and St. Clair County Medical. Also on the Staff of St. Clair, Mercy and Port Huron General hospitals.

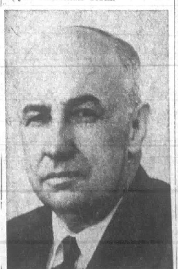
"I was alderman 10 years and I was elected mayor 11 times. I was elected at different times on both the Democrat and Republican tickets. I was nominated in March while I was in Florida and was elected to my 11th term.

"I was a member of the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors from 1951 to 1956. And I have served 24 years on the school board.

"I was born on a farm in Lagrange County, Indiana, and I married a neighbor girl. We have no children. Because of her health, Mrs. Carney will not be able to come to Tecumseh.

"I am a member of the Methodist Church, Masons, Blue Chapter of the Port Huron Commandery and Moslem Temple. I am High Priest of our chapter.

"Our city government is the mayor alderman form."



MAYOR CARNEY

POSTPONE MEETING

The city council meeting originally scheduled for next Monday night will be postponed to Monday, May 28.

Britton

Jason Kimbell, president of the Village of Barryton, will be met by Britton officials and members of the Britton Business Men's Association, which is planning the day, at the Tecumseh city limits at 11 a.m. Bob Wallace, general chairman of the day, reports these activities:

Ned Brown, Douglas and Charles Fairbanks will meet President Kimbell. After a parade President Kimbell will be given the keys to the village.

At 12 noon a luncheon will be held in the Methodist Church. The Rev. C. A. Bearinger will give the invocation. Bob Wallace will give the welcome. Ernest Palmer will give the history of Britton and William Saxton, high school principal, will discuss the school.

Les Edelbrock of the Kiwanis Club and Brother Hilarion of Boysville will speak briefly.

The Rev. Haybert Woodall will give the benediction.

Mr. Kimbell will receive an inscribed tray.

Tickets are now on sale at all Britton business places. Everyone is welcome.

After the luncheon Mr. Kimbell will be taken on a tour of the farming area and of Boysville.

In a letter to the HERALD Mr. Kimbell writes:

"Barryton is a town of about 500 inhabitants located in the northeast part of Mecosta County on Highway M-66.

"It is located in a large resort area, near the center of 50 beautiful lakes, the largest of which is 8-Point and Chippewa.

"It is also only four miles from the recently completed Martiny Lake area built by the State Conservation Dept. to afford better fishing and duck hunting in this part of the state.

"There is diversified farming in the area, the largest of which is dairying and green bean growing. There were between five and six thousand tons of beans shipped from here in 1955.

"Barryton has a large consolidated school with 12 bus routes.

"The governing body of the town is the council which is composed of the president and six councilmen, the clerk, treasurer and assessor."

Jason Kimbell the present president is in his second year and his fourth year on the council.

He owns and operates the Barryton Dairy. He is a member of the Masonic Order, the IOOF, the Lions Service club and the Barryton Rod and Gun Club.

He is married and has four sons, two of whom are serving in the U.S. Air Force.

Scovel Walker, Former Publisher, Dies at 90

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen have been informed of the death of Scovel Walker, which occurred during his sleep Sunday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Loughray of Roscommon, Mich.

A relative of Mr. Allen's, Mr. Walker was also a colorful figure in Tecumseh's past. His family home was in Clinton but he was a relative of the Stacy family, who owned and edited THE TECUMSEH HERALD before and after the turn of the century and for many years Scovel Walker worked on the paper, at one time acting as editor and publisher on the death of S. C. Stacy.

Mr. Walker reached his 90th birthday last Dec. 3, an event that was celebrated with a banquet given by civic groups in Roscommon. He visited Tecumseh about a year ago and all who met him then retain a vivid impression of his youthful personality.

The funeral will be held in Roscommon but there will be graveside services in the Clinton cemetry at 2 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers of the Hall Memorial Library have been elected for the coming year as follows: president, Mrs. Robert Ries; first vice president, Mrs. Guy T. Pocklington; second vice president, Earl Pennington; treasurer, Douglas Baker and secretary, Mrs. Marjory Mattison.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Pocklington spent Mother's Day in Detroit.

Mrs. Elethea Tobias and daughter Leone of Manchester were guests Sunday of their aunt, Mrs. Elmer Linn.

Miss Rebecca Austin of Raisin called on Ridgeway friends Thursday.

---

Local Topics

Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. Joe Rice and Mrs. Floyd Elliott accompanied by Mrs. Fred Morse of Lyons, Ohio, Miss Alice Johnson of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Isley of Palmyra spent the day in Flint last Tuesday. They attended a meeting of the Michigan Court of Women Descendants of the Ancient and Honorable Artilliary Company of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Finch, Miss Edith Ingersoll and Mrs. Jennie Satterlee attended a special meeting of the Lenawee County Historical Society in Adrian last Thursday evening. Representatives of the State Historical Commission were present and explained a project underway to develop a Michigan map showing historical spots. This is being done by counties and Lenawee is requested to participate.

Ruth Boyce, who graduated from Tecumseh high school last June and is attending Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti has just been elected to the student council there. She is one of three students representing Jones Hall on the council and was chosen by her fellow students. Ruth, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, was valedictorian of her class, was chosen as Good Citizen from Tecumseh and received the Herrick Scholarship on graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Berkhof of Mt. Clemens called on Tecumseh friends Saturday afternoon.

Miss Gertrude Turner spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Frank Turner. On Saturday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heinl of Toledo. Miss Turner returned to her teaching duties in Saginaw Sunday.

Friends Banquet Attended by 100

The dining room of the Friends church and its tables were decorated in keeping with the program theme of "The Bells" Thursday evening when 100 mothers and daughters gathered for their annual banquet. Yellow and white with daffodils and bells were used by the decorating committee headed by Mrs. Marvin Johnson.

A 6:30 planned potluck supper was served by Mrs. Perry Hayden and her committee after which a program was presented which had been planned by a committee with Mrs. Edward Escolme as chairman.

Mrs. Gladys Woodcox gave the invocation and the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Escolme while Mrs. Naomi Sallows acted as toastmistress. She introduced Mrs. Martin Halley, who sang an old English ballad entitled, "The Bell Man" followed by a toast to the daughters given by Mrs. Clifford McClure and a response to the mothers by her daughter Carol.

Mrs. Jason Woodcox then sang a solo and Mrs. Sallows introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, who gave a most interesting talk on the history of famous bells, their locations and traditions.

The program was preceded by assembly singing led by Mrs. Amos Wilson with Mrs. William Hayden at the organ and the benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Bertha Creger, closing a very happy occasion.

---

Mrs. Lucy Terry, who recently returned from spending the winter in Florida has as her guest for the summer a longtime friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall of Aurora, N.Y.

Mrs. Edward Escolme and Miss Kathleen Richmond drove to Cleveland, Sunday, where they visited Mrs. Escolme's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson and daughter. Mr. Johnson, who has been ill for the past three weeks is much improved and able to return to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen spent Sunday in Lansing as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lumberg and report some roads closed because of the flooded condition of the Grand and Red Cedar rivers.

Mrs. Carl Panck left Tuesday morning in company with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Filkins of Birmingham to drive to Colorado Springs where they will visit Mrs. Panck's father, Jay Filkins for about 10 days.

Mrs. Yale Kerby who has been ill for more than a week has so far recovered as to return to work.

CLASS NIGHT HELD

The eighth grade graduating class of 1956 presented their class night program at the Macon P.T.A. meeting Monday evening with a large crowd attending. The program opened with the eight graduates singing their class song.

A giftatory was presented by Barbara Goodin and Paul Schafer. Wayne Tucker and Raymond Howell read the class will. The class prophecy was given and two duets were sung by Brenda Bugbee and Kendra Frost. The class history was read by Nancy Davis. The processional, recessional, and duets were played by Linda Kelly.

Two novelty numbers were enjoyed during the program and refreshments were served at the close of the program.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

One hundred and sixty-two mothers and daughters attended the banquet held in their honor Friday evening at the Macon Methodist church. Dinner was served by the men of the church and Mrs. Herbert Morden, president of the W.S.C.S. welcomed the guests and introduced the toastmistress, Miss Myrna Bugbee, who in turn introduced Miss Margie Papp, who gave the toast to the mothers. Mrs. H. Vaughn Whited responded with the toast to the daughters.

Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Lawrence Ward of Milan. The Misses Patty Bidwell and Sarah Wood of Saline sang two selections and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz of Tecumseh sang accompanied by Mrs. William Hayden, also of Tecumseh.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Maggie Frost for being the oldest mother present with a daughter; Mrs. Patty Dunney, the youngest mother; the youngest daughter present belonged to Mrs. Bernard Merritt of Milan and Mrs. Doris Spence of Monroe traveled the farthest. Mrs. Dean Thomas and Mrs. Herbert Morden both had four daughters present.

Officers of the Macon Women's Society of Christian Service will be installed during church service Sunday, May 20. Baptism will also be held during church service. There will be Sunday School on May 27 but no church service because of the annual Memorial Day service in the afternoon at the cemetery.

Women of the Macon community will meet in the church dining room Friday, May 25 at 1:30 p.m. to make wreaths for Memorial Day.

Goodwill trucks will be in Macon Friday afternoon, May 25.

Miss Lenora Jordan of East Lansing spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jordan.

The six children of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Thomas were guests Saturday of their aunt, Miss Phyllis Baisch of Willis. They took a plane ride from Willow Run to Toledo and back on a TWA plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jordan and daughter Lenora spent Sunday at Albion College visiting Truman Jordan Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Thomas and family were at Pleasant Lake Saturday evening to attend the wedding of Leonard Thomas and Miss Ellen Finch.

Mrs. Marion Spitler spent Mother's Day with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allan French and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bruder of Lansing announce the birth of a daughter Monday, May 14 in Sparrow Hospital.

The newly organized 4-H Club of Macon held their meeting Tuesday evening with Meredith and Susan Morden.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moore and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furlong and daughter Susan of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore of Tecumseh had dinner in Adrian Sunday and then returned to the Bert Bruder home in Tecumseh where Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carey and daughters of Ypsilanti joined them for the remainder of the day.

Nine of the Macon Campfire Girls went on an eight mile bicycle trip Thursday afternoon.

"YOU'VE GOT to have heart, miles and miles of heart," goes the song from the Broadway musical about baseball. And if ever a song typified a player, this one certainly typifies young Frank Lary.

The 26-year-old-Alabaman, who promises to rank as one of the Tigers' leading pitchers for some seasons to come, reminds veteran baseball observers of Tommy Bridges, who pitched for Detroit in the championship 1934-35 era.

Like Bridges, quiet, intelligent Lary possesses a lot of heart. He exceeds his natural abilities, particularly when in a tense situation, through raw courage.

Not that the 5-foot-11, 180-pounder is lacking in natural ability. He owns a real good fast ball, which is his best pitch, and a good curve. Last year he began developing a slider.

Likes to Pitch Often

In addition, Frank possesses two other assets, good control and a healthy desire to learn. He sits with the veteran pitchers when he's not working and discusses hitting weaknesses of opposing batters as they come to the plate.

Lary, who likes to pitch as often as Bucky Harris will let him, has developed greater self confidence after winning 14 games in his first full season with Detroit last year. He dropped 15, but seven of them were by one run.

With greater confidence, better control and any kind of improved luck, he should do very well this year.

Lary's successes are a great source of pride to his father, Joseph, who started Frank and his six brothers (he's the second youngest) in baseball at an early age on their farm in Northport, Alabama.

Worked Out Every Day

Northport is a small community directly across the Black Warrior River from Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, where Frank was later to pitch for two seasons.

The Lary farm is covered with 18,000 peach trees, and Joe and his seven little Larys worked daily from 6 a.m. until almost dark hoeing under the trees, spraying and pruning them and later picking and packing the ripening fruit.

Despite this arduous schedule, dad Lary insisted upon a half-hour workout with a baseball around lunch-time every day. He had his heart set on a big league career for at least some of his boys, and Frank recalls that they had an old inner tube for a home plate and a pitching mound built up in front of their house.

Frank also remembers how he looked forward to Wednesdays and Sundays to get away from those ever-present peach trees to play American Legion baseball. He also played in high school, but he concentrated on pitching only after reaching the Alabama campus.

Married Childhood Sweetheart

Following a couple of fat seasons with his college team, Lary was signed to a Detroit contract in 1950 and pitched for two Tiger farm clubs, Thomasville in the Georgia-Florida League, where he compiled a 4-0 record, and Jamestown in the Pony League, where he finished 5-and-2.

The same year he married his childhood sweetheart, Emma Lou Barton, and was inducted into the Army. After 18 months and two campaigns of service baseball, Lary returned to the Tiger farm system, this time to the top-ranked Buffalo club, where he compiled a 17-11 record in 1953 and a 15-11 mark in 1954.

He came up to Detroit at the end of the '54 season, getting into three games, but figured in no decisions in four innings of relief work.

Frank has built a home for Emma and the two children, Frank, Jr., 4, and Donita Gail, 1½, in Northport. During the baseball season, however, the Lary family stays in Detroit to encourage the breadwinner in his pitching career.

Indians Golf Team Takes Regional Title

Tecumseh high school's golf team won the regional golf title Friday at Brighton with a score of 356.

Favored Walled Lake whose golfers went around the course in a practice match with 319 took second place with 367.

Adrian and Brighton tied for third with 379 each and Adrian won the third spot in a playoff.

Allen Cocklin of Northville was medalist with 80.

Val Spangler of Tecumseh was second low with 83. Dave Lamkin took second spot for the Tecumseh linksmen with 88. He was followed by Dick Baker with 89 and Ron Gurtzweiler with 96.

Coach Doug Murdoch said a vote of thanks should be given to Leo Bishop, pro at the Tecumseh Country Club, for bringing along the golfers the way he had. Most of the Tecumseh players have gone through Mr. Bishop's caddy program.

Saturday Tecumseh will take part in the state golf matches at St. Clair. State high school of Kalamazoo is favored to cop the state crown.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Losses to the deer herd in the northern lower peninsula during the fall and winter totaled an estimated 41,650 animals, according to a Conservation Department survey. This is exclusive of the legal kill in Nov. The comparative figure a year ago was 32,500.

Starvation led all causes of death with 16,600, an increase of 11,180 over the number of starved deer a year ago. Other causes reported in the 1956 survey were: shot, 5,680; dog kill, 3,420; accident, 1,080; unknown, 14,870. Of the latter the survey included the probability that shooting and disease took a large number of these animals.

The first issue of "Conservation News," a bimonthly newspaper written by Conservation Department employes, made its debut early this week.

The newspaper, designed to keep employes informed on Department activities and personnel, is the result of requests by conservation workers for an intra-departmental publication.

Commenting on the Passing Scene

THIS SUMMER THE STATE will improve the piece of Evans St. from the boulevard to Bidwell. But nothing is in the plans to remove the old worn-out and dangerous bridge at Red Pond.

While the state highway department is working on Evans St. it would be an ideal time again to call attention to the bridge.

In this case a creaking wheel might get the grease. If city officials don't call attention to the old bridge now, they might not again have such an opportunity.

DR. JOHN HANNA, president of Michigan State University, would like to see teachers paid according to merit.

But how would the merit system be handled?

There aren't many principals or administrators in education today who would care to attempt this ticklish merit system.

And if the system were to be handled by a committee of teachers, it probably would degenerate into a popularity contest or a mutual back-slapping fraternity.

Dr. Hanna does have a fine idea and he discusses a problem that long has perplexed school administrators. But he doesn't say how such a program would be implemented.

SOME OF THE RAILROAD crossings in the city are so rough that it is a wonder cars don't rupture their tires.

If you want a back-crunching ride try going over the crossing on Bidwell St.

Attention should be called to the railroad's responsibility in at least attempting to keep these crossings from becoming car wreckers.

MICHIGAN'S LIQUOR INDUSTRY is now second in dollar volume to the automobile industry. The retail volume of the alcoholic beverage business in the state was estimated in 1955 at 750 million dollars.

About 50 million dollars of the gross is turned over to the state treasury. This amount is sufficient to bear the state's expense for a year in supporting higher education, or in running its mental hospitals and related institutions.

There is something incongruous in using this type of money to finance education. On the other hand, maybe there is a connection between the amount of money spent on liquor and the need for more mental hospitals.

Lucky people building them or having them built, will boost the swimming pool business gross to an estimated record of $325,000,000 this year.

About 73 per cent of U. S. families are car owners, and 14 per cent of them own more than one car.

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

A group of attractive new books filled with information and illustrations include the following—

"Small Home Landscaping," P. J. McKenna. This book is concerned primarily with the problems faced by those who own less than an acre and who do their own gardening and landscaping.

"Tropical Fish Book," Ruthven Todd. A complete coverage of tropical fish from selection, care and feeding, to setting up the aquarium, stocking the tank and health and diseases.

"Candy Cook Book," J. H. DeGros. A comprehensive book on making professional candy at home. Hundreds of informative how to photographs show every step in producing the world's best candy with simple kitchen equipment.

"Flower Arranging," Loret Swift. The first half of the book gives details on the various elements of arrangement. The second section is devoted to floral designs for specific occasions.

"Early American Antique Furniture," Morton Yarmon. This book aids you to sensible collection and the many illustrations give you a visual impression. Also gives information on care and refinishing of antiques.

"Dog Book," John Rendel. Here at your fingertips is everything you want to know about dogs. Descriptions, care, training and health are clearly and authoritatively demonstrated.

"How to Do Wood Carving," John L. Lacey. Step by step photograph, easy to follow drawings and expert instructions for carving fans.

1856

Our citizens are not perhaps aware that Mrs. Bissell is now prepared to take Ambrotype as well as Daguerrotype likenesses, with dispatch and in a style excelled by nothing in this section of the country. Those who have not visited her new rooms in Osborn's block on Chicago street will find themselves well repaid for doing so even if they have no occasion for her services in the truly "divine" art.

1866

The Michigan Southern R.R. has lately put a new and beautiful engine on the road, which is called "Tecumseh." A tip top name at all events.

Our townsman, T. T. Kneeland has received a patent for an improved Sorghum Evaporator. He undoubtedly will make a good thing of it.

A splendid shower visited this section Saturday night doing a vast amount of good. It was the first "smart" shower for a month and shows in the deepening emerald of the meadows.

1876

Dr. I. S. Hamilton represented Tecumseh at the State Medical Society meeting held in Ann Arbor last week.

Joe Waring will please accept our congratulations and the title of "pater familias." Mother and daughter are doing well.

Good weather for settin' onions.

1886

Our Tecumseh Bicycle Club is growing rapidly. Will Hayden took a business trip Monday afternoon on his bicycle.

A small crowd of skaters enjoyed themselves last Thursday night. The exercises ended with a hop by "dot leetle German band" from Manchester.

1906

W. C. VanAntwerp, J. J. Freeman and H. E. Hand returned today from a two week's fishing trip to Grayling, Mich. They report a fine time.

Last week Jake Mull finished the cement walk around three sides of Monumental Park. This is one of the longest strips of walk ever laid at one time by one party, being over 50 rods in length. Mull builds only good walks and employes all the time a gang of six men.

1916

Guy Belding was a business caller in Lansing last Monday.

Fine switches made, cut hair and combings bought, at the millinery store of Miss Julia Hough.

The question of whether or not pool rooms should be allowed in Tipton came before the town board last week. The vote was a tie and the rooms are closed pending a decision.

Charles Hurrey, one of our old Tecumseh boys, will give a steroptican lecture on Panama and Central America, May 18.

1926

Automobiles driven by John Larsen and Theodore Blaska collided at the intersection of Logan and Evans streets Thursday. Master Jack Larsen who was riding with his father was cut about the face.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis moved to their newly purchased home on south Pearl street last week.

Robert Moore was at Wolf Lake Saturday and Sunday, where he attended a meeting of Scout executives from Monroe, Jackson, Lenawee and Hillsdale counties.

1936

The Tecumseh Christian Science Society has leased the Universalist church on north Union street from Mrs. P. W. A. Fitzsimmons. It will be redecorated and restored.

Water in the west side of town will be cut off for two hours Friday afternoon to permit repair on the water gates of the system.

Miss Bess Spayde has been named census enumerator for Tecumseh school district.

Mrs. Franc Gillespie has posted bond as Tecumseh postmaster and will succeed H. H. Hanna whose term expires June 23.

1946

The supply of bread, meat and butter is very limited in the local stores as also is that of nylons, shirts and bedding.

Over 20000 bushels of wheat came into the Hayden Mill Tuesday for the overseas shipment of flour.

Franklin Shea has recently taken over the management of the Race Track Inn west of Clinton.

The Tecumseh high school baseball team has a record of seven straight victories this season. The last was with Petersburg.

Realty Views

"We are passing through a wholesome revolution in city housing," says an editorial in a real estate journal. "Its motivation is more elbow room for everybody. Space is the modern luxury which people demand."

"Time was when the palaces of nobles or kings were only spacious dwellings. Most people lived in narrow homes on narrow streets, with rooms that we today would use for closets. New Orleans, for example, was originally platted with 15 foot lots; many other cities with 25 foot lots."

"Today, people want a spacious home, with side yards, sprawled over a 60 to 100 foot lot, with enough room for shrubbery, a garden and a garage. In a century, the number of square feet of floor space for living has jumped from 100 square feet to about 250 feet per capita. And the lot size per individual has increased from 400 to 1600 square feet."

Is your family keeping up with this trend towards more space? Do you need a larger yard? More play room? A larger home?

If so, please consult us. We'll see if we can line up more spacious quarters within your budget. We have a good variety of homes with "elbow room," both new and used.

Talk it over, then get in touch with us!

Your Property Described

If you own your home, or other property, somewhere you have a deed which exactly describes the plot of land which is yours. This land, whether it's a 40-foot lot in the city of 1,000 acres of second growth timberland in the Upper Peninsula, has a legal description which serves as its "address" and which sets it apart from the other 3,500,000 property descriptions in Michigan.

If you live in the city, your deed may identify your property only by the number of a lot in a subdivision or plat. If you own farm property, however, or if you look at an abstract which traces the history of your city lot, you'll find a much more complicated description.

IT'S TRANSLATED

A 20-acre rectangular tract might be briefly described like this: E½ of the NE¼ of the SE¼, Section 12, T 3 N, R 4 E." Translated into longer style this might read: "The East half of the Northeast quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section 12, Township 3 North, Range 4 East of the Michigan Meridian."

To an assessor or an engineer or an attorney this makes sense, and it can make sense to you with a few simple rules. When Michigan was first surveyed, definite starting points were laid out for the land within it.

Michigan is laid out in townships six miles square (or as nearly square as possible). These are laid out in "ranges" numbered for each six miles east and west from an imaginary line running due north and south the full length of Michigan and called the "Michigan (or Principal) Meridian".

Next there is an east and west line called the "Base Line". From this line the townships are numbered north or south in six mile units.

LINE IS IMAGINARY

The Michigan Meridian divides Ingham County in half, far as the county line between Clinton and Shiawassee counties, and farther north between Otsego and Montmorency counties. In Ingham County there is a Meridian Road which follows this imaginary line.

The Base Line is the county line between Ingham and Jackson counties, extended arbitrarily across the state from Lake St. Clair to Lake Michigan. Oldtimers in the Detroit area know Eight Mile Road, the northern boundary of Detroit and Wayne County as "Base Line Road". One look at a road map will show you why.

Each township then is divided into 36 "sections" which are uniformly numbered, starting in the northeast corner, each containing approximately 640 acres. Each "section" is divided into "quarters", which are called by their compass location (NE, NW, SE, SW). Coming down to a finer point these quarter-sections may be divided into fractions like the example above.

EARTH CORRECTED

Naturally, there are corrections for the curvature of the earth and for irregular plots formed by lakes and streams, but basically Michigan is laid out like a checkerboard with six-mile squares, and within each square are checkerboards within checkerboards.

Your greatest interest in this is to know that your own little plot is properly identified, that the legal papers which give you title to this plot are properly recorded and safeguarded, and that these papers are in good order. After that, the law and the courts are on your side whenever any question arises about your property.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Doc Nurses a Daydream

It's a treat when I get together with Doc Sherman. The Clarion keeps me much too busy—and Doc, well I think he puts in sixteen hours a day at the hospital.

But Tuesday—a beautiful day—he and I slipped away for a ride around Turtle Lake. Doc's driving a 1956 humdinger—it's like riding on a cloud.

Anyway, at one point Doc slowed almost to a halt. "Used to fish there as a boy, Joe," he said. "Used to sit and imagine myself up on the highway driving a high-powered car. Nowadays, I just sit here and wish I were down there again."

From where I sit, few of us are ever content with the way things are at any given moment. It's human nature. On the other hand, I've been rooting for years that someday everybody will show enough good American tolerance to respect his neighbor's right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer. When that day comes I assure you that I'll never want to change back.

State Park Improvement May Be Postponed

Concern over the possibility that improvements totaling $1,177,500 for 10 state parks in southeastern Michigan may be postponed indefinitely was expressed today by Governor Williams.

The 10 parks are Sterling, Metamora, Algonac, Ortonville, Holly, Pinckney, Island Lake, Brighton, Proud Lake and Waterloo.

Before its adjournment the Legislature recommended the Governor's request for a $3,000,000 parks appropriation be cut by more than one-half and referred the recommendation to a committee.

"The committee has full authority to restore the $3,000,000 figure," said the Governor, "and if it does this a much needed state-wide parks improvement and expansion program will be possible. If not, the entire parks system will be subjected to a neglect which Michigan can ill afford at this time of unprecedented public demand for outdoor recreation facilities.

"Based on park expenditures per visitor, Michigan is already near the bottom of the list. This fact is showing up in tourist business. States with parks budgets larger than ours are ahead of us in tourist revenue.

"Last year saw an all-time high in Michigan's park attendance when 18,000,000 visitors were reported. This year's total will probably exceed that figure. All of which means greater pressure than ever before on parks facilities and an extremely critical demand for parks expansion. I sincerely fear the consequences if adequate funds are not made available to meet the situation."

Ray Puffer Gets Scholarship

A Civil Air Patrol flight scholarship was awarded to Ray Puffer of the local patrol Sunday afternoon by the Michigan Wing. The presentation ceremony was held in the Olds Auditorium in Lansing and, as Ray had gone on his senior trip, his parents and Marshall Boike represented him, Marshall receiving the award in his place.

There will be a group staff meeting of C.A.P. at the regular meeting time of 8 p.m. in Sage Hall Thursday evening, May 10, to which the public is invited.

That same evening at 7 p.m., also in the Sage building, there will be a first meeting of the C.A.P. Cadet Rifle Club which was recently organized. Instructor of this group will be Robert Sage.

Other plans of the C.A.P. group include a springtime dance to be held May 25. It will take place in Sage Hall and all teenagers are invited. Donations received will be used toward the flight scholarship fund.

World's most popular POWER STEERING?

Buick ROADMASTER 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

Right this way!

Every year, more and more of the new cars sold are equipped with Power Steering. Many a man has bought it "for the wife"—then wondered how he ever got along without it.

And if you have in mind a new car with this increasingly popular feature, you ought to consider this fact:

Since the beginning of last year, *Buick has sold far more new cars equipped with Power Steering than any other car—over 20,000 more in 1955 alone.

That's the record—and the reasons for it are just as impressive.

Buick brings you In-Line Safety Power Steering. In addition to the one-finger ease of turning common to all such systems in varying degree, it has several distinct advantages.

It gives you surer, steadier, safer control at highway speeds—because it retains that good natural "feel" of the road. (That's something you really should compare.)

On the other hand, it gives you more power assist when you need it most—at crawl speeds and at full stop. For parking and other tight maneuvering, Buick's Power Steering makes wheel turning nearly twice as easy as other types of systems. (And that's by engineering computation.)

Add another plus: this Buick feature works through the new Buick front end—where a unique new geometry and steering linkage bring a sweet new response and a wonderfully easy handling and a surer "sense of direction" even to new Buicks not equipped with the power system.

So there you are—and here we are, waiting to prove it all to you.

Waiting, also, to let you try the new thrills to be had in Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—where getaway response and gas mileage both step up even before you switch the pitch.

And waiting to show you how the highest power yet, the sweetest ride yet and the boldest styling yet—all help to make this bright new beauty the Best Buick Yet.

Today is fine with us. How about you?

Buick's In-Line Safety Power Steering is standard on Roadmaster and Super, optional at moderate extra cost on other Series.*

†New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

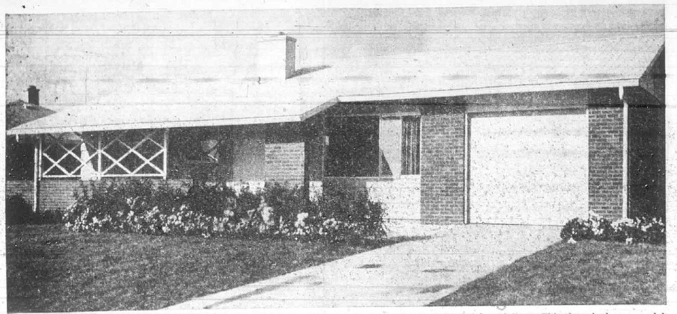
Tecumseh Homes, Inc. Represents National Homes



MANY OF THE EXTERIOR designs of the 1956 National homes incorporate attractive brick variations. This three-bedroom model includes a brick planting area and brick wall screening the porch. Partial overhang gives this model a low rambling appearance. The attached garage has access door into the kitchen.

Operating with all the advantages of a 25,000-house-a-year builder, Tecumseh Homes Inc., like every National Homes builder-dealer, offers important savings to home buyers.

These advantages are passed on to Tecumseh Homes by National Homes Corporation, whose operations are geared to the production of 25,000 or more houses a year—a rate which consistently sets the pace for the entire home building industry.

The average builder in the United States produces fewer than 25 houses a year. Only the largest project builders construct as many as 500 or 1,000, and their operations are limited to the more populous metropolitan areas, where the demand for housing is greatest.

But every National Homes builder-dealer, regardless of the size or location of the community he serves, operates with all the economy and efficiency of the nation's largest producer.

Jack Shutt is representative here.

He plans an open house soon.

Tecumseh Homes, Inc., typical of the hundreds of National Homes builder-dealers serving communities in 41 states and the District of Columbia, is an important part of the most successful organization in home building history.

The advantages passed on to Tecumseh Homes, Inc. and its other builder-dealers by National Homes start with the volume-purchasing of brand-name materials and equipment. During 1955, for example, National Homes purchased 87.5 million board feet of lumber making it the largest individual buyer in the United States.

Famous-name equipment available in National homes includes an all-electric kitchen by Frigidaire; heating and air conditioning systems by General Motors — Delco furnaces and Frigidaire air-conditioning; Styrofoam floor insulation by Dow Chemical; Fiberglas wall and ceiling insulation by Owens-Coring; aluminum windows by General Bronze Corporation; interior surfacing by United States Gypsum; and roofing by Johns-Manville.

Better than two-thirds of a National home is produced in a modern plant, under ideal working conditions, and on assembly lines that are engineered for efficient, economical operation. In this factory operation, there are all the advantages of standardization of materials, of methods, of specialized skills, of equipment, and of training.

This means that when a family buys a house from Tecumseh Homes, Inc. or any other National Homes builder-dealer there is every assurance of its high quality, Mr. Shutt reports.

In all National homes, for example the doors and windows are installed, trimmed and carefully pre-fitted in the factory. The material and workmanship used to produce these two items are guaranteed by National Homes. As a result, the builder-dealer is relieved of any difficulty with the doors and windows, a major source of trouble when building the conventional way.

Another advantage lies in the fact that Tecumseh Homes can advertise locally a firm price on this "brand name" product — the National home. This is possible because his costs do not vary on the house package, which represents a large part of the building job. Also, because he is able to erect and finish the house in a short time, there is less likelihood of price increases on materials which the builder-dealer must purchase locally. So there are no surprises for the home-buyer in the cost of his house.

Dr. Steinberg Is Auxiliary Speaker

"The Place of the Pathologist in Crime Detection" was the subject of a talk by Dr. Bernard Steinberg of Toledo before the Auxiliary of Herrick Memorial hospital the evening of May 8.

Stories illustrating cases in which he had been consulted made up much of a very interesting lecture. Some details the ladies found rather gruesome but fascinating. His main function, said Dr. Steinberg, was to determine whether a death was due to natural causes, accident, suicide or homicide. Of special importance is the protection of the innocent. Often the pathologist finds clues which counteract circumstantial evidence and direct suspicion to the correct cause.

Because of the interest in the doctor's lecture, only a short business meeting was held, during which the resignation of Mrs. Carlos Jones as secretary was accepted and Mrs. R. D. Moore appointed in her place.

It was announced that Herrick Memorial hospital would be on the radio during hospital week with interviews over WABJ Thursday morning and Friday afternoon and that open house and tea would be held at the hospital Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. Announcement was also made that the dishwasher and disposal unit purchased by the auxiliary were now in use in the hospital kitchen.

Mrs. Stuart Costigan led devotions to open the meeting and three new members were announced, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. W. W. Ring and Mrs. George Derby. Refreshments were served by a committee made up of Mrs. Richard Dustin, Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. Ralph Helzerman, Mrs. M. R. Blanden, Mrs. W. T. Claxton, Mrs. Robert Mohr, Mrs. Richard Hammel and Mrs. A. J. Phelan.

Christian Science Services Listed

The vital importance of understanding the true nature of God and man will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon "Soul and Body."

The Scriptural readings will include Paul's statement to the Philippians (3:13, 14): "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (203:13): "Spiritual preception brings out the possibilities of being, destroys reliance on aught but God, and so makes man the image of his Maker in deed and in truth."

Seen only on higher priced cars and Chevrolet

BODY by FISHER

The meaningful emblem of Body by Fisher

When you see "sterling" on silver you know what it means—solid silver, all the way through.

And when you see the medallion "Body by Fisher" on an automobile it means much the same thing—quality all the way through, in things unseen as well as on the visible, gleaming surface.

The significance of this emblem cannot be tested on the showroom floor. Its meaning was not built up in a day but only after long years in which owners learned that "Body by Fisher" was a veritable symbol of solid, enduring satisfaction.

Only one who has owned a Chevrolet for several years can fully know the deep sense of satisfaction this emblem pledges. It is the warranty of an inner soundness that your eye or your touch cannot test. And only Chevrolet in the low-price field is entitled to wear the small, proud plaque that proclaims "Body by Fisher."

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

Next day we were up early and after having breakfast, found that Andy had to go to Rumuruti on official business. We, therefore, enlisted the aid of a native from the neighborhood to help N'Gora and me find the wounded eland, and started off. I really do not believe that anyone thought we would ever find the animal, but everyone was trying to make the best of a bad situation.

Remembering the direction of the wind from the night before, we planned to make a start considerably farther along the path that the eland might have followed, and started out making a large circle trying to pick up the track again. Believe it or not, we succeeded, probably about a mile from where we had given up the search the night before.

Now the process of the day before was repeated from early morning until late in the afternoon. The eland had used all the tricks in the book. He made side detours; he stopped bleeding; he went across the chopped up earth where cattle had passed. Under the burning sun throughout the day we kept on, perspiring, looking, figuring, trying to out-guess the animal, taking no time off for lunch; finally winding up at about four o'clock in the afternoon standing in a bushy section of the woods, where there was enough grass not to leave any tracks, no blood stains on branches or twigs to go by and for the first time without getting any results out of making a large circle, looking for signs further out. It seemed we had finally reached our waterloo.

MADE LARGE CIRCLE

Through it all I had carried my Winchester 375 with solid nose bullets, hoping to have a chance to see the elusive creature. Our native helper, who was a very keen observer and a wonderful tracker, again made a large circle. While he was gone, N'Gora and I simultaneously saw the eland get up behind a little knoll. He had been lying down and now started to run away. There wasn't much wrong with the way he was running either. That was the chance I had been waiting for and it didn't take me long to send a couple of shots after him. They hit him right in the hind end, a couple of inches off center as it turned out. He went down after a few more steps and stayed down. Upon checking we found one of the bullets appearing under the skin of his neck and another right under the skin at the left shoulder.

Very few times in my life have I felt so elated as I did then. To think of tracking this big animal for two whole days through the flies and the dust and the heat with innumerable moments of despair. Despair over having lost the track and with not even the black trackers thinking that we would finally end up by finding him. It was a wonderful feeling to know that what you had set out to do had been accomplished; to see that perserverance paid off — at least that time, and to have redeemed yourself in the eyes of your friends, the white hunters, the District Commissioner, etc. and that you did not let an animal get away. To say that I was happy is not the right word for it.

BULLET PULVERIZES MUSCLE

Upon investigation it was immediately apparent that my first bullet, a soft nose, had hit the animal in the lower part of the left buttock — if you can say that an eland has a buttock. It had opened up under the hide and had pulverized part of the large muscle, about the size of a couple of fists, but had not even broken the bone. If this had been a solid bullet, it probably would have traveled all the way up through the animal and killed him that first morning.

After having taken a couple of pictures, we proceeded to skin the animal and cut the meat up in pieces we could handle easily. One boy was sent for the jeep all the way back in camp, while the dissecting was going on.

The natives use an entirely different method than we do in cutting up the meat and it was quite an experience for me to stand there watching the proceedings. Everything went well until we had stripped all the meat from the carcass except the inside loins. Then one of the knife wielding natives decided that the nice white fat in the pelvic section was too good to go to waste and in order to get at it, deliberately punctured the bladder. The liquid ran all over the nice inside loins which had not been cut away. I objected right away to such doings, but the native had absolutely no idea of the difference between filth and cleanliness. It did not affect his appetite whether the meat had been drenched in urine or not, but it certainly did mine and I told him to cut out the loins and put them in another place, not with our regular meat. We later gave it to a couple of native boys who had come out of nowhere to watch the performance.

"CLEAN" THEIR HANDS

Another thing that tended to fill me with awe in their absolute indifference to what we consider dirt, was the way the natives cleaned their hands after having been messed up with grease and blood, etc. when partitioning an animal. They would cut a slit in the animal's stomach after they were through dressing the meat, and digging into it, produce a couple of handfuls of the green, half digested food the stomach was full of. They would then proceed to "clean" their hands by rubbing them with the stuff, flip off the excess and wipe their hands with a tuft of grass. They now considered themselves clean. It was surprising how close you came to agreeing with them after a few minutes of the sun's drying effect on the skin. I must admit, it took off the grease and blood all right, but kept wondering if it also would remove the blueing from my new gun barrel. After such a cleaning operation, the boys would jump up into the jeep and, ready to go, smilingly reach for my gun.

It took me quite a while to take hold of my gun in the same place where they had thus held it without a little feeling of aversion.

After this expedition I was called Mr. Eland by the natives, at least for a few days, and Andy was highly pleased with the job we had done while he was straightening up his affairs in Rumuruti.

ANVIL BIRD

Thinking back to the days when we were out in the bush country or jungle every day from sun up to sundown, one thing comes to mind, almost clearer than anything else, namely, the Anvil Bird. He is a little grey bird about the size of an English Sparrow but has a voice with surprising clarity and volume; clang, clang, cling, clang! he says repeatedly, clang, clang, cling, clang! and it sounds exactly as if a blacksmith in the distance were striking his anvil.

On the first day out when hunting buffalo I, for some reason, was left standing alone, while Andy, some distance off, was having a lengthy discussion with the trackers. I was listening to the silence and contemplating the strangeness of the countryside, when I heard the Anvil birds' song from far away. Previously I had noticed and marvelled at the native Masai spears which were much in evidence wherever we went among the villages. Every man seemed to carry one and I had wondered where these things were made. Did the natives make them themselves? If so, how? They were remarkably uniform in size and shape and I had frankly been looking forward to seeing how these primitive people would go about forging them. I was a blacksmith myself way back in my green youth. When Andy's conference was over and he came back to tell about the results, I asked him if we could go and take a look at the smithy. He looked puzzled but laughed when it dawned on him what I had in mind. I must admit, it seemed incredible to me, that there perhaps could have been a smithy set up in that desolate God forsaken country where we were.

However, as the days passed and we hunted, the Anvil birds' song became so much a part of the scene—he was everywhere—that I grew to love him as some dear partner. His song was perhaps somewhat monotonous but yet gay and encouraging. Clang, clang, cling, clang. I cannot today think of buffalo or rhinocerous without hearing his song nor think of him without seeing buffalo or rhino at the same time. They are inseparable. I certainly hope I shall hear him again some day.

American Red Cross Has Been on Job 75 Years

Communities and Red Cross Chapters throughout the United States will observe the 75th birthday of the American Red Cross May 21. Founded by Clara Barton on May 21, 1881, the American Red Cross has 3,700 chapters with 3,500 branches. Throughout the nation open house will be observed in all Chapters, however the Lenawee chapter will probably be in the process of moving at that time and if a home is finally established, an open house will be held later in the season.

Clara Barton

On this Anniversary it seems fitting that a brief history of the Lenawee County Chapter should be given and tribute paid to those early pioneers in our own locality who worked so faithfully in the war years. Many of the names mentioned you will note are still active in the Chapter work. The following resume is compiled from the history of the Lenawee County Chapter written by Mrs. Herbert Tait.

Organization of Red Cross in Lenawee County prior to 1940 was made up of many local units or branches, established throughout the County. At the time of World War I there were about 50 such organizations. Much was undoubtedly accomplished by these various groups, but after 1918 they slowly disintegrated.

In 1940, with rumors of war and feeling the need of a better organization 60 representatives from the County at large met in Adrian and laid the ground work for one inclusive chapter. Prior to this the depression had laid a heavy hand on Lenawee County, and this increased the feeling of the need of a Chapter. During those years of depression in the '30's Mr. A. V. Riddle as Red Cross Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Riddle distributed clothes and meager supplies and money throughout the City and County to the needy. And then came the war years, and Lenawee County Chapter became almost over night a vital and dynamic working unit. In 1942 over a thousand women were enrolled in making surgical dressings, so badly needed by the Army. Church groups met at Adrian, Blissfield, Hudson, Tecumseh, Morenci, Clinton, Onsted, Britton, Holloway, and other organizations followed in their footsteps.

Nurses joined the Red Cross Nursing Corps. The Army nurse Corps included 22 nurses, and the Navy nurse Corps had eight. Among those serving overseas were: Mrs. Eugene Schmidt, Mrs. Gladys Jacob, Miss Grace Kelley, Miss Hilda Marks.

All Red Cross activities are more or less interlocking, and departments organized in those early days are still carried on, many of the Chapter heads are still active in the work today.

Reading of those early days recalls many familiar names, some of whom have passed to their reward, and others are still active in all good work in the community.

Production during the war years was at its height, all of which was made according to army and navy regulations. The first Chairman was Mrs. J. P. Rorick, assisted by Mrs. W. S. McKenzie, who later became chairman and she in turn was followed by Mrs. J. M. McCaughey. Other familiar names that carried on through the years are Mrs. William Wiebeck, Mrs. Madge Tuttle, Mrs. Charles Heffron, Miss Jessie Fee and Miss Mary Maley. In 1944 Mrs. Charles Shierson became chairman and Mrs. Henry Lutz, knitting chairman. Today they are among our most indefatigible workers, and still retain chairmanship of the departments.

The Home Service Department was organized in 1940 with Mrs. H. H. Heffron, chairman assisted by Mrs. James Gerity. In 1941 Mrs. W. S. McKenzie was made chairman with Mrs. Walter Lok, assistant during the busiest years, and she continued in office until December 1945. A department for POW's was carried on by Mrs. George Prentice and Mrs. E. V. Gmeiner.

Home Nursing with Mrs. C. G. Campbell as leader has continued throughout the years. Like so many Red Cross activities there is no yard stick to measure its value to the community. Mrs. Campbell is still chairman.

Mrs. Frank Kessler became Chairman of Disaster in 1941, and later was replaced by Mr. Norman McKenzie. Mr. Paul Ahleman became chairman in 1942 and prepared very valuable data for Red Cross to be used in case of disaster.

First Aid proved to be one of the most popular departments and flourished under Mr. S. L. St. Clair, who was the first chairman. Assisting committee was composed of Mrs. Eugene F. Olsen, Mrs. G. A. Rathbun and Mr. Norman McKenzie. There have been only two chairmen since its organization. Mr. S. F. Rost has served since with Mr. Paul Ahleman acting as assistant chairman.

Public Information has always been carried on by Mrs. Madge Millikin and Mrs. Alice Kells.

Junior Red Cross was one of the most active departments during the war years. Mrs. Warren Gaskill, the first chairman, organized a strong working unit throughout the schools of the county. Mrs. Mayme Reed acted as rural chairman with Mrs. Walter Jacobs, chairman of the work in Catholic schools. In January 1945 the work was taken over by Mrs. Carl LaSalle and Miss Mary Lake. Today Mrs. Russell Allen has charge of the program.

Nurse recruiting during the war years was under the direction of Miss Gertrude Spaulding and Miss Wilma Senour. A Nurses' Aide Corps was established in 1942 with Mrs. Helen Burtless as the first chairman and she was later succeeded by Mrs. C. G. Campbell. Work in Tecumseh was supervised by Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. George Rathbun.

Names occur over and over in the History of Lenawee Co. Chapter, American Red Cross. Among them Mr. Harry Fee, Miss Jessie Fee, Mrs. W. S. McKenzie, Mr. Roy McPhail, Mrs. Frank Phelps of Hudson; Mrs. J. G. Bauer, Blissfield; Mrs. Dora Sutton, Morenci; Mrs. Quigley, Clinton; Mrs. Codling, Tecumseh. These and countless others gave freely of their services during the war years and many still continue to do so.

Nutrition under the direction of Miss Josephine Kerr played a prominent part during the war years. Classes were conducted at Siena Heights College by Sister Mary de Paul. Classes were organized in Tecumseh, Onsted, Clinton and Blissfield with Mrs. Ayesha Laidlaw, Miss Nell Potter, Miss Frances Mantley and Mrs. V. Nichols as instructors.

The Canteen Corps was developed in conjunction with the nutrition classes under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lewis Stern. Four groups were organized by Mrs. George Brennan to cope with local disasters. Most canteen work has been confined to feeding donors at the blood banks. In 1945 in cooperation with Adrian Service Wives Clubs a refreshment service was started for those service men passing through Adrian on Sunday evenings. Approximately 2400 men were served. In 1944 Mrs. Donald Frazier replaced Mrs. Stern as chairman and on her resignation in 1944, Miss Rhea Spence was appointed chairman and still retains that position.

Those who have served as chairman over the years are: Arthur Riddle, Mrs. Hervey King, Roy McPhail, Harry Bradley, Fred Wood, Russell McAfee, Allen Goldsmith, John Tolford, Edward P. Fisher and Harry H. Hungerford.

OVER 175 HORSEPOWER IN RESERVE!
... when you're cruising at everyday speeds!

"88" HOLIDAY SEDAN

THE ROCKET'S EXTRA MARGIN OF POWER MEANS AN EXTRA MARGIN OF SAFETY!

HIGH HORSEPOWER . . . high torque . . . high compression. It takes all three to describe Oldsmobile's Rocket! But there's still another important side to the picture.

It's reserve power — in abundance! In fact, at normal cruising speeds the Rocket still has more than 175 horsepower left . . . beyond what it takes to propel the car! It's this reserve that whips you through a passing situation so quickly, so effortlessly.

That means economy, too! The Rocket just eases along, when lesser engines are straining. You can see the result in Oldsmobile's double victory in the Mobilgas Economy Run!

The modern "big bore—short stroke" design cuts friction and power loss. The Rocket's design made high compression practical . . . and today's Rocket hits a high 9.25 to 1 compression!

Come take the wheel of a Rocket Oldsmobile. You will feel a distinct difference in performance, in riding and handling qualities . . . just as you see a glamorous difference in Oldsmobile's beauty. We'll be looking for you soon!

Bottom curve shows power needed to propel the car. Top curve shows hp. reserve.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE
BY CHARLES H. SMITH, JR.
President, Steel Improvement and Forge Co., Cleveland, Ohio

Dear God — We thank Thee for the many blessings You have bestowed upon us. We thank Thee for the many opportunities You have given us to serve our fellow men and contribute to Your Work. Give us, we pray, the wisdom and courage to live our lives in the image of our Lord, Jesus Christ, that we might better serve You.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

The Scotland of Elizabeth Bullion Gransden's childhood no longer exists. Two world wars with their taxes and death duties have broken up family estates like the one on which she lived. But recent photographs show the buildings and countryside much has she remembers it. To American eyes it looks unbelievably neat. Even the hedge-rows look combed and brushed.

The roads over which the Bullion children walked three miles and a half to school each day were of broken stone, called "metal." She remembers that the neat piles beside the road were of a peculiarly hard stone, broken laboriously one by one by an old man with a heavy hammer. Pictures of the brick school she attended still show the smooth lawn enclosed by a wall where the boys and girls each played on their own side of the yard.

"Activities" for children were no problem then — they went to school and they worked. At thirteen Elizabeth went to work on her uncle's dairy farm, getting up at 3 o'clock in the morning to milk ten of the 175 cows that made up the herd. Even with every pair of hands busy, however, the land could not support the generations as they came along. Elizabeth saved her money and when she was 18 had enough to pay her passage to Canada, then the land of opportunity. Quotas and other restrictions were unknown. Completely alone, no friends overseas, no definite destination and no job waiting she set out blithly to make her own way.

With her on the boat were a group of six girls who were being brought over by the Canadian government and she stayed with them after they landed. All of them had jobs waiting and one by one they left the group until when Winnipeg was reached all that remained was one, whose destination was in Saskatchewan and Elizabeth, who had no destination at all. They waited most of the day in the station for the other girl's train and naturally they discussed Elizabeth's situation. A man sitting near overheard and finally, introducing himself as another recent Scotch immigrant, said a friend of his was looking for a young woman to help his mother and father on a farm. He offered to bring him to the station if Elizabeth was interested.

In spite of a few qualms on her part the interview resulted in her boarding a train for Greenway, Manitoba in the wheat growing country. Nothing could have been more unlike the Scottish countryside she had known. She was met at the station by a grey bearded man, so deaf that only by sign language could she make him understand she was the one he was expecting. It was desperately hot, the buggy had no top and Elizabeth wore a suit of heavy Scotch tweed. The Canadian sun was unlike anything she had ever experienced and it seemed they travled endless miles through apparently uninhabited country before the horse stopped at a gate and she saw farm buildings in the distance.

At the house she was met by the farmer's elderly wife, a woman "with the ugliest face and the kindest heart in the world." The Providence that looks after children and trusting Scotch lassies had brought her to a safe haven. It was a job but not an easy one. There were always four or five men to cook, clean and wash for and threshing time meant a dozen or 15 more for weeks at a time. When the housewife was injured in a runaway accident it all fell on Elizabeth's young shoulders. Twenty-six loaves of bread each day was only part of her baking.

She stuck it out for a year and a half, then wishing a different kind of a life found work in a nearby city and went to night school. For three years she was secretary to a college professor for the magnificent salary of $8 per month and her "living." Just after World War I she went back to Scotland for a visit and returning to Canada met and married a college student and ex-serviceman, Sidney Gransden, with whom she came to the United States in 1923.

Her family inheritance is still in Scotland. Government restrictions on capital keep it there. Someday she plans to revisit the old stone farm house and the moor where she "beat" the heather for game for the hunters and listened to Harry Lauder sing, "R-r-roaming in the Gloaming."

Services Held for Mrs. A. Matthews

Bertha Scofield Matthews, widow of Albert E. Matthews, died May 12 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Curtiss in Grass Lake.

Born in Tecumseh, Nov. 7, 1880, Mrs. Matthews was the daughter of the late William and Laura Bryan Scofield and spent most of her married years on a farm on Matthews highway near Clinton. She lived in the village of Clinton for a few years before moving to Grass Lake last December.

Mrs. Matthews was a member of the Tecumseh Baptist church and a cousin of Wallace Bryan and Delmar Finch of Tecumseh.

Preceded in death by her husband, Albert E. Matthews, a daughter and two sisters, she is survived by the daughter, Mrs. John (Alberta) Curtis of Grass Lake; three sons, Arthur W. Matthews of Addison, A. Edward Matthews of Addison and Waldron Matthews of Clinton; a sister, Mrs. Lilah Flint of Napoleon, Ohio; three brothers, Jay Scofield of Oregon, Wesley Scofield of Tecumseh and Newton Scofield of New Orleans; seven grandchildren, one great-grandchild and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Proctor Funeral Home, the Rev. Murray Hewgill officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

HALF AND HALF CLUB

Mrs. Maude Cummings entertained the Half and Half Club last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mary Harsh as a special guest. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. Mayme Stevenson, Mrs. Otto Baaske and Mrs. Henry Ehlinger and Mrs. Baaske was also awarded the afternoon prize. On May 17 the club will be guests of Mrs. Rhea Stephenson on W. Pottawatamie.

You Can Save Time At Tellers' Windows By Following These Suggestions:

1. DO Your banking early in the day.
You will save time if you can manage to get to the bank before 11:30 A.M. The noon hour is likely to be rushed, and so is the period just before the close of public banking hours.

2. Do your banking early in the week
As a rule, the closer the weekend approaches, the heavier the traffic at our bank becomes. It's to your advantage to transact your banking business with us during the first half of the week.

3. Avoid extremely busy days.
On paydays, the day following a holiday, the fifteenth and the last day of each month, we're at our busiest. You'll save time at our tellers' windows by banking on other days when you can.

4. Bank by mail.

tion law convictions report.

The 30 violators were assessed a total of $357.70 in fines and court costs, an average penalty of almost $12 per person.

A 1956 resident fishing license costs $1.50 and permits taking, in season, all species except trout. A similar nonresident license costs $4 per year or $3 for a 15-day permit. The annual trout stamp costs an additional $1 for all fishermen.

Fishing licenses must be purchased by all persons 17 years of age or older for angling or inland waters, except wives of resident fishermen who may fish for all species, including trout, without a license. No license is required for Great Lakes sport fishing.

Including the fishing license violations, the latest convictions report listed 101 violators—largest weekly total of the year.

Total penalties were $1086 in fines, $742 in court costs and 170 days in jail sentences. All money from fines goes to the state library fund.

Two new Conservation Department films will be available from the Department's film loan service later this month.

"Land, Water and Fish," a 25-minute film on Michigan's watershed problem, will be available for showings to schools, sportsmen's clubs and other groups after May 26.

"This is Michigan," a 14-minute film on Michigan's natural and man-made scenery, will be available after May 19. This film is the Conservation Department contribution to Michigan Week, May 20-26.

Both films are in color and are available without charge from the Conservation Department Film Loan Service, Lansing, 26.

Two migrating ducks, sporting bright red feathers, were sighted recently by Robert G. Smith of Howell at Winans Lake in Livingston county.

The ducks were dyed during the winter on the east coast of Florida as part of a program to study the flight routes of migrating waterfowl. Many ducks and geese were banded and dyed for easy identification when sighted.

The ducks, part of a flock of 50 sighted by Smith were scaup, also commonly called "bluebills," and were the first recorded observation of the technicolor waterfowl in Michigan.

Conservation Department waterfowl workers are urging the public to report any observation of the specially-colored birds. Information gained from this study will be helpful to state and federal waterfowl management agencies.

Reports on dyed waterfowl observations should include the color combinations used, location of the coloring on the birds, and where and when the birds were sighted.

When it comes to stories of vicious animals, the villain usually is a bear, a wolf or a bobcat, but an exceptional black squirrel recently showed an amazing amount of nastiness.

The squirrel leaped from a tree onto the shoulder of Al Snyder, 83-year-old resident of Luzerne, and immediately started clawing him. Snyder was bitten twice on the hand before he could grab the animal and throw him to the ground.

Once on the ground, the vicious squirrel continued the attack, crawling inside the leg of Snyder's pants and biting again. Snyder finally subdued the animal and went to a doctor for treatment. He says he can't understand what provoked the attack.

Southern Michigan's state game areas were increasingly popular with hunters last fall and winter, producing more than 193,000 hours of hunting between Oct. 1 and Jan. 31 at 27 principally-upland areas.

Hunting pressure averaged 183 hours of recreation for every 100 acres of state land in these areas. The 27 areas studied encompass more than 105,000 acres. Altogether, there are 41 state game and wildlife areas in the southern lower peninsula.

In order to provide better hunting conditions in southern Michigan, Conservation Department workers carry out extensive game habitat development projects at state game areas and park and recreation areas.

During 1955, this southern Michigan habitat development work included planting 706,000 trees; establishment of herbaceous plants on 2600 acres; construction of 1600 brush piles; creation of 62 water impoundments, flooding 230 acres; and herbicide treatment of more than 1000 acres.

Applications are being taken by Michigan State University for an upper peninsula field trip devoted to conservation study, Aug. 4-19.

The five-credit course, in land and water conservation, is open to both graduate and undergraduate students. Each student will be responsible for his own transportation, camping equipment and food for the trip.

Enrollment in the course is limited to 24 students and course fees are $35. A three-day palnning session will be held at the Conservation Department's Higgins Lake training school to outline the course of study, June 15-17.

Applications and detailed information can be obtained from Prof. Frank W. Suggitt, 609 Agriculture Building, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

"Operation Cleanup" recently was staged by local residents at two state parks in western Michigan.

Approximately 700 teenagers turned out at Grand Haven state park for an annual cleanup bee and removed a snow fence and eight truckloads of beach trash which had accumulated since the 1955 park season. The project was sponsored by the retail division of the local chamber of commerce which treated volunteer workers to a hot dog roast.

At Holland state park, a cleanup project was sponsored by the Tulip City Rod and Gun Club. Boy Scout units took part in the project and the club auxiliary served a lunch to workers.

Since the first cleanup project was held at Ludington state park in 1952, several organizations have sponsored volunteer programs to aid in improving the appearance of their local state park.

Dave Visnaw, 81-year-old beaver trapper from Cedarville, apparently hasn't forgotten any tricks of his trade.

During the past beaver season, Visnaw snowshoed from his Mackinac county home to Les Cheneaux Islands and trapped his limit.

School Board Plans Building Program

Considers 9 New Areas

A school building program for the expanded Tecumseh Public School System will be presented to the public early this fall, states Supt. James McDowell.

At its last meeting the board of education considered schools in these areas:

1. High school—present location.
2. Junior high—portion of present Central school; elementary — portion of present Central school.
3. Complete elementary at present Patterson plus a six-room addition.
4. Complete elementary at south Adrian street property—new elementary school similar to Patterson.
5. Complete elementary at Herrick Park—new elementary school similar to Patterson.
6. Kindergarten — three rooms and all purpose room at Tipton.
7. Kindergarten — three rooms and all purpose room at Sutton, addition of kindergarten, one room, and all purpose room to present building.
8. Complete elementary school at Ridgeway — addition of kindergarten, two rooms and all purpose room to present building.
9. Kindergarten — three roms and all purpose room at Macon, addition of kindergarten, one room and all purpose room to present building.

Supt. McDowell also reported:

Mr. Richard Snyder of the Warren Holmes Company Architects was present to discuss plans for additional elementary schools necessary for the area. Since not all the sights have been purchased and the cost of utilities is not definite, no estimate was available as to total cost of the units.

The Tecumseh school system will serve more than 2400 pupils next year and since most of the high school pupils from this area always have attended Tecumseh high school, no change in the high school enrollment is predicted except by additional pupils whose parents have recently moved into new homes in Tecumseh.

The present high school is large enough with the exception of the cafeteria and shop to serve the total area for a number of years. However, at present the junior high of over 200 pupils is also housed in the same building. In the total area there are more than 350 junior high pupils at present and the capacity of the high school is but 600 and 450 are now in school, it will be necessary to find a new location for the junior high.

Central has a gym and auditorium and was formerly a high school so it is much less costly to convert it to a junior high and build an elementary school to house the elementary pupils attending school there at present than to build a new junior high.

The board approved a tentative tax rate schedule as presented by the county superintendent of 7 mills for operation of the public schools, .4 mills for the operation of the public library, and 4.6 mills for the bond debt of 1952, making a total of 12 mills.

This rate when translated to local assesed valuations will be approximately $16.82 per thousand in the City of Tecumseh. Last year the tax for schools and library in Tecumseh was $29.70 per thousand.

The Tecumseh school system will have approximately a total state equalized valuation of $35,000,000, 85 teachers, and 2400 pupils for the 1956-57 school year. The plans for buildings to house these pupils as presented above are not complete but use of the present facilities with additions in these areas will be made so as to reduce total costs of needed buildings. The board is attempting to plan so effectively that no increase in the reduced tax rate this year for bonds will be needed, Supt. McDowell explained.

TEACHER'S "GRANDCHILDREN" — Miss LaPointe and Timi, the second grade dog, and the West Branch teacher's grandchildren Linda Brazee, Donna Glascock, Pamela Williams, Jeffrey Robison, Timmy Dickinson, Ricky Brighton and Cinda Murphy.

Miss Bertha La Pointe Retires After Teaching 40 Years

There are fifteen hundred and nineteen past and present Tecumsehites who belong to a distinguished group — the "I went to school to Bertha LaPointe" Club. One hundred and ten of them are of the elect. They can claim to be "grandchildren," and there is one, little Sharon Korth, who this year became a "great-grand."

Membership in this organization has been built up over the forty year period that Miss LaPointe has taught in Tecumseh. She came here in 1915 after four years of teaching in the rural schools of Blissfield and Grovner and began work with a roomful of 48 combined third and fourth graders. Adrian enticed her away for one year but she came back to take over the fourth grade in the newly opened high school building in 1919.

But second graders have always been closest to her heart, close for 36 years in the West Branch building. Sometimes she has had as many as 54 at once and she has broken up so many fights, mended so many broken heads and given so many deserved paddlings that she lost count long ago.

She says there is less carnage now-a-days, perhaps because more parents drive their off-spring to school thus keeping them off the streets or perhaps, as she is really convinced "children are better now." There are not as many these days who require scrubbing up, either, though she is still expert on juvenile grooming. During the depression days she gained such a reputation for cutting hair that some of the mothers asked her to do theirs too.

The depression did not leave the teacher unscatched either. Bertha's salary, which had started in 1915 with the princely sum of $525, had climbed by that time to $1500 only to be cut back to $950. A yearly raise of $25 was normal. In all those 40 years Bertha has been absent less than 20 days and only two and one half of those were because of illness.

Although a part of Tecumseh for so long, she was born in East Peoria, Ill. and attended school in three towns before graduating from the Blissfield high school. She took her teacher's training at Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti.

Members of the "LaPointe Club" are well scattered, after 40 years, but the list still reads like a roster of Tecumseh's business and professional life. There are Drs. Dick Hammel, Ralph Helzerman, Robert Mohr and George Wilson; Main Streeters like Bill Wright, Jim Beardsley, Marjorie Wickwire, George Elliott, Bill Powell, Fay Whelan, Gibbs Barber, Bill Hayden and George French; and teachers like Patty Naser, Don Brazee, Ruth Puffer, Raymond LaBounty and Dermont Poley. P.T.A. president, Majel Jones Holden belongs and two members of whom Bertha is very proud—Lt. Commander Richard Williamson and Maj. Gen. Webster Anderson.

No list would be complete without the canine "auxiliary members." There have been three dogs in the second grade during those years, friends who have filled the need of a pet in many childish hearts. Two of them "passed" into a higher grade in another world but "Timi," who is perhaps the best loved of them all will graduate with his mistress this spring.

Two hundred and fifty former students, colleagues and her present class of West Branch second graders turned out last Thursday night to honor retiring teacher Miss Bertha LaPointe at a program in Patterson school.

Following the pattern of "This Is Your Life" with Dr. Robert Mohr as "Ralph Edwards," the program became more flabbergasting to Miss LaPointe as the evening wore on.

Mrs. Herbert Murphy (Eyrcil VanWinkle), a member of Miss LaPointe's first class in Tecumseh, started it by escorting her former teacher to the stage.

Three big kids in shorts and licking all day suckers then ran through the gym and hopped up on the stage and between licks on their suckers Dick Boyd, Bob Williamson and Clyde Mitchell presented Miss LaPointe with a life membership in the Tecumseh Alumni Association.

The singing of "School Days" was interrupted when Jerry Barton rode his bike down the aisle and shouted "Telegram for Miss LaPointe." The telegram was from Clair Taylor, superintendent of the Michigan department of Public Instruction. He expressed his gratitude for her long years of teaching and he wished her well.

J. C. Beardsley, one of her former students, briefly outlined her career. He said she had taught 1519 students here and that the total ages of these students would "take us back to the days of the Roman Empire."

Bill Wright, his daughter Laura and Ray Puffer presented Miss LaPointe with a three-piece luggage set.

Miss LaPointe said "No town could have more cooperation and appreciation than Tecumseh has shown."

She said she knew she had "to control herself" and not break down, but, she admitted, she came close to it when Supt. James McDowell presented her with an engraved gold wrist watch on behalf of the board of education.

Mrs. Ruth Brighton of the West Branch PTA presented Miss LaPointe with glamour gloves and glamour paring knife.

The program was completed when members of her second grade yelled a greeting to their teacher and Ricky Brighton and Timmy Dickinson presented the second grade dog "Timi" to Miss LaPointe.

They said: "Timi heard about the party and he wanted to come, too." The boys added: "He's the only one in the room who doesn't whisper."

Concert Planned

Mr. Thomas Tipton, baritone, and Miss Lois Gauger, pianist, will present a joint concert in the Presbyterian church Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

The program will include Bach, Brahms, Schubert and selections from "Show Boat" and "Porgy and Bess."

The public is invited. A free will offering will be taken with proceeds going to the choir for music.

Mr. Tipton is director of the church choir and he teaches voice at the University of Michigan school of music.

He has had a wide and varied experience as an opera singer.

Sale

Tecumseh merchants Friday and Saturday will hold a two-day city-wide sale of specials as part of Michigan Week.

The specials are listed on pages four and five of this section.

C of C Will Try Luck Again

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce will try again.

At a special meeting Wednesday, May 16, members decided to do away with the separate retail and professional divisions but they want a chamber of commerce.

So they decided to try and come up with a plan in which industry, cooperating with business, may be able to pool their resources to hire a professional full time secretary and promotion man.

Jack Osburn, president of the group, told members: "We don't seem to be any further ahead financially than we were last Jan."

He said the chamber has $1267 in the bank. "We need $3000 a year just to keep our doors open."

He added: "We have been operating on what we had in the kitty."

The chamber now has 86 paid members. It has a potential of 235.

The group talked about needing $12,000 a year for a professional secretary and for office help.

Twenty-nine members attended the special meeting.

130 Attend Mayors' Day Banquet

One hundred and thirty persons turned out for the Mayors' Exchange day banquet in the Presbyterian Fellowship Center Monday night.

Mayor F. V. Carney of St. Clair was the honored guest and Mayor H. H. Hanna was in St. Clair for the day which was the second day of Michigan Week.

Mayor pro-tem Arthur Schwartz was toastmaster at the banquet served by ladies of the church.

The dinner was planned by the Business and Professional Women.

Mrs. Robert Smith sang several numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz. And Mrs. William Hayden played several piano selections.

Mayor Carney, his superintendent of public works, R. D. DeLano, and several students from St. Clair high school were given a tour of Tecumseh during the day.

And they were guests at a luncheon at the country club at noon.

Mayor Carney said: "It's great to live in Michigan and it would be great to live in Tecumseh. Thank you very much for your wonderful hospitality."

Councilman Hal Kelso presented him with a wallet.

Sen. Frank Beadle of St. Clair whose hobby is "doggerel" spoke briefly in verse citing the many wonders of Michigan.

In preliminary remarks he said: "For six years I have served on the appropriations committee with Sen. Elmer Porter of Blissfield. There is no sounder thinking and fairer man in the State Legislature today."

The senator said: "We all should pitch in and work together to make a greater Tecumseh and a greater state."

Councilman Don Brazee gave the invocation and the Rev. Blair Bashore gave the benediction.

Festival

Clare Camburn attended a meeting of Lenawee County Band Masters in Addison last Tuesday evening. This is an annual get together of the leaders of the 12 bands who take part in the Fall Band Festival and plans for this event were the main topic of business. The date of Oct. 2 was decided upon for the tenth annual festival this fall.

The title theme for the Oct. meet was not decided definitely at this time so a committee of five, including Don Johnson of Tecumseh was appointed to meet June 5 to make a final decision. There also will be another meeting of all the band masters in the early fall to complete arrangements.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

BELATED HAPPY BIRTHDAY greetings to Art Harding on his 87th.

ASKED TO DRAW A PICTURE of some toys she likes to play with, a slip of a Tecumseh lass drew a picture of the neighbor's new baby.

THE HERALD IS GOING around the world again. Foreign students who visited the Tecumseh Grange last week requested and received copies of the paper.

MISS BERTHA LA POINTE who always wanted to be a teacher (as a girl at play when she couldn't be the teacher she would sulk) told a real good yarn at "her night." She said normally nothing ever set her back on her heels but she was rocked when a second grader once asked her: "Were you teaching at Tecumseh when the pilgrims came?" Miss LaPointe, incidentally, "thanks eternally" all the kind Tecumseh folks for the night in her honor and for the gifts she received.

PRINCIPAL NEV HART has a letter he prizes. Written by H. S. Bannister, general agent for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co., the letter was in part: ". . . But even more gratifying was the excellent cooperation and conduct of the seniors . . . You can be very proud of their outstanding citizenship throughout the tour . . . It is a pleasure to work with senior groups such as yours . . . and I wish to extend my sincere thanks to your boys and girls and especially to Messrs. Sherry and McDowell for their excellent sponsorship and supervision."

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Other lands have had heroes, but ours were more — they were saviors, and by their sacrifices have saved the greatest land under the shining sun. — The Rev. H. W. Bolton

School End Begins for Class of '56

Commencement week at Tecumseh high school begins Sunday with baccalaureate in the gym at 8 p.m.

This is the program for the Sunday service: processional, Mrs. Robert Smith; call to worship and invocation, the Rev. Horace James; two numbers by the high school choir directed by Mrs. Smith; prayer by the Rev. James; hymn; and sermon by the Rev. Blair Bashore whose topic will be "The Unique Jesus."

Class night will be Tuesday, May 29, with the following program: presentation of key, John Cadmus; acceptance of key, Lee Vescelius; class history, Marcia Bashore and Larry Hooton; prophecy, Wilma Bumpus, Betty Barton, Edward Hodges, John Rundell, Edith Kimerer and Michael Sisson; poem, Beverly McClain and Julie Crawford; will, Margaret Champanois and Vay Spangler; giftatory, Merene Boltz, Betty Vargo, Donald Partridge, and Robert Benham; president's address, John Cadmus; and class song, Delora Fletcher and Rosemary Murphy.

Motto of the class is "Out of school life into life's school." Class colors are turquoise and white and the class flower is turquoise and white carnation.

Commencement will be held Thursday, May 31, in the gym at 8 p.m. for the 80 graduating seniors.

And the all-school honors assembly will be held Friday, June 1, at 1:30 p.m. in the gym. At this time report cards will be issued and activity and athletic awards will be made.

Early

Because of the Memorial Day holiday next Wednesday, May 31, THE HERALD will be published and on the news stands late Tuesday afternoon, May 29.

But because the post office has a holiday Wednesday the paper will not be delivered in the mails until Thursday as usual.

Correspondents, news sources and advertisers are asked to notice the advanced publication date and to get their copy in early.

Deadlines for news and advertising, both display and classified will be Monday at 5 p.m.

Most stores, the bank, the post office, city offices and the Tecumseh office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association will be closed next Wednesday for the holiday.

Clyde Bailey Honored for Service

Twenty-eight persons gathered at the Tecumseh Country Club Wednesday, May 16, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey. Mr. Bailey has retired after serving the Socony Mobil Oil Co. 34 years as a commissioned agent.

A plaque and diamond-studed lapel pin were given to Mr. Bailey from the board of directors of the company by Walter F. Bohn, sales supervisor for the area.

Present dealers and former dealers also presented Mr. Bailey with a clock radio. Harold Easton of Tecumseh made the presentation.

Short talks were given by present dealers who included Fred Van De Mark of Clinton, Les Edelbrock of Ridgeway, Raymond Lorenz of Britton, Earl Updike, Harold Easton and Roy Richard of Tecumseh, and Marvin Lipp of Clinton.

Former dealers who made brief remarks were Milton Johnson and Harold Gasner of Clinton.

L. B. Simonds who retired last year from the Adrian bulk plant also was present.

Arrangements for the dinner party were made by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Easton of Tecumseh.

Walter F. Bohn presents a company plaque and pin for service to C. O. Bailey as Mrs. Bailey watches.

DRIVER FINED

Cecil Fielder, 38, of Tecumseh, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor when arraigned before Justice L. J. VanDeusen Thursday.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs of $8.60. Fielder was arrested east of Clinton by Michigan State Police.

Memorial Day Services Set

Tecumseh will turn out next Wednesday, May 30, to remember its war dead during a parade and services at Brookside cemetery.

The parade, with Gerald Smith as marshall, will form on north Ottawa St. at 10 a.m. and march west on the boulevard to north Union. From north Union the parade will march to Brookside where these services will be held:

Invocation, The Rev. Horace James; music by the Tecumseh high school band under the direction of Don Johnson; placing of wreaths; band music; introduction of speaker by Mayor H. H. Hanna; address by the Rev. Bernard Gill; salute to the war dead by the VFW firing squad; taps by the band; and the Star Spangled Banner by the band.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will place wreaths at the Civil War monument, on Evans Creek for the Navy dead, at the Spanish-American War shaft; and at World War I and II boulder.

These components will be in the parade: national colors, parade marshall, speaker's car, mayor's car, city officials, Tecumseh high school band, Co. "B" 126th infantry, 46th Signal Co. construction platoon, Civil Air Patrol cadets, Daughters of the American Revolution, Spanish American War vets and auxiliary, World War I vets.

Kitchen Tour Nets $1200

The efforts of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Peter's church were well rewarded in the success of their annual Kitchen Tour last Thursday. In spite of threatening weather, most of the holders of the 500 tickets sold visited some or all of the six houses whose kitchens were "on parade." With the sale of the quantities of baked goods on display the total sum realized was about $1200.

Visitors came from all over this region. Hillsdale, Jonesville, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Belleville, Adrian and Monroe were a few of the communities represented.

Mrs. L. W. Larsen and Mrs. Charles Butler were general chairmen for the event and at the Parish House where tea was served Mrs. Charles Mensing and her committee were in charge with Mrs. R. K. Anderson and Mrs. Jane Wray presiding at the coffee and tea services.

---

Road-e-o Set

The safe driving road-e-o for teen agers will be held Sunday at Central school. It is sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Applications may be picked up at the police office, at the high school office of Neville Hart, and at John's Gulf Service, the HERALD and Meadowridge Dairy.

Drivers must bring the applications with them to the road-e-o.

---

PLEADS GUILTY TO LARCENY CHARGE

In circuit court Friday Herman Schmidt, 17, of Tecumseh, pleaded guilty to larceny from a building.

Schmidt, arrested by Tecumseh police Thursday, admitted stealing about $60 from lockers at Tecumseh high school, while other boys were out for baseball practice. Schmidt returned $17 of the money to officers.

He was released on $200 bond to await sentencing.

---

Poppies Go on Sale Friday

Seven thousand poppies were purchased from the disabled veterans of Battle Creek to be sold Friday and Saturday by members of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The money from the poppies goes entirely to the welfare activities of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary for disabled veterans and their families.

Mrs. Almond Curtis, child welfare chairman of the local unit, is constantly on the alert looking for an opportunity to help those in need.

The poppy also has beneficial effects for the thousands of veterans who are given employment making the flowers.

A display of poppies is in the window of Green's.

Plan $220,000 Water Expansion

The first step in providing for an expanded city water department was taken Tuesday night by the council when it set in motion action calling for an expenditure of $220,000 in revenue bonds to pay for the additions.

The complete ordinance will be published in the HERALD next week.

EXCHANGE CLUB PLANS CHICKEN DINNER MAY 26

The Tecumseh Exchange Club will hold a charcoal broiled chicken dinner here Saturday, May 26, on Central school playground.

In case of rain the dinner will be served in Central school.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the club.

Proceeds will go for the bleacher fund.

Garden Club Has Last Meeting of Club Year

The last regular meeting of the season of the Tecumseh Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Neil Pearson last Friday afternoon. Twenty-five were present and Mrs. Wilbur Rumpf was welcomed as a new member.

"Continuous Bloom in the Garden" was the program topic which was discussed in a most interesting and helpful manner by Mrs. John Thompson. After the speaker and the members had listed the flowers which would lend color to a garden for an entire season the group adjourned to Mrs. Pearson's very lovely grounds which are devoted largely to bulbs and perennials.

Tea was served by Mrs. Floyd Elliott and her committee with Mrs. Clayton Bigelow pouring at the refreshment table.

A picnic supper at the home of Miss Ann Carson, June 15 will be the only summer meeting.

Gordon Keyser Tells of Tour of Far East

Gordon Keyser, who for 17 months has been stationed with the Japanese Ordinance Command in Oppama, Japan, sent the folowing story which appeared in the ordinance paper, along with a journal of his many interesting and fantastic experiences on a 24 day tour of the Far East to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keyser of Tecumseh. He has recently been promoted from private first class to specialist third class. Sp 3/c Keyser is expected to arrive home sometime in July.

GORDON KEYSER

A TRIP EAST

Four men from the Japanese Ordinance Command never dreamed that they would have the opportunity to visit India, Thailand, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Formosa. But that is precisely what happened.

Sp-3 Gordon Keyser, Sp-3 Dave Ponitz, Pfc. Lou Rice and Pfc. Charles Rivas recently returned off leave from those far away places.

These men spent several months in preparation for the trip by applying for passports, visas, military clearances and flight space. They were lucky for the great majority of their 12,000 mile journey was by military aircraft.

Each man agreed that the prior planning, the red tape and the hectic last minute preparations were worth it. They first saw India — a country of contrasts. There was the magnificent Taj Mahal, one of the seven ancient wonders of the world. Dusty roads were filled with sacred cows, monkeys, camels, vultures and droves of people. Contrasted to this rustic sight was the modern city of Delhi with its wide streets and up-to-date buildings.

Thailand impressed the tourists with its pungent opium dens and the ancient and towering temples. Even the heat had its high points (for January) — about 80 degrees to be exact.

Manila, the principal city of the Philippines, was also very interesting. This community has now discarded many of the scars of the war and is now a bustling big town.

Hong Kong, the next stop on the trip, is as fabulous as they say. It has pretty girls, tremendous clothing values and scenery like the covers of "Holiday" magazine. One can easily "go broke on all of the bargains" in this Crown Colony.

All four of JOC's world travelers agreed that the trip had been very educational, relatively inexpensive and a whole lot of fun.

TO ATTEND CAMP

Lois Wilt and Alice Neuman of the Future Homemakers' Club of Tecumseh high school will attend a camp near Muskegon for future homemakers from July 22 to 27.

Summer's Comin'

Spring Fizzled Out

Chances are that we've skipped spring altogether this year, according to a University of Michigan meterologist, and the odds favor a cooler summer than last.

The psychological effect of a late spring — or none at all — is rough on the public, says A. Nelson Dingle, but actually records show that Michigan's winter was much closer to normal than the man in the street seems to think.

Much of his impression of a long, cold winter comes from the fact that winter started early with a very cold November and a relatively cold Dec., Dingle states. Jan. was near normal, but Feb. was very warm.

"Then winter got a shot in the arm when March brought a sudden drop again," he says.

APRIL DISAPPOINTED

The biggest disappointment came in April when people began expecting spring and instead got more cold blasts from a continual, rapid procession of high pressure areas moving across the State from Canada, Dingle observes.

This, "North American refrigerator," as he describes it, is a cold air source region because the air there constantly loses heat by radiation to the polar night, and is linked up with the frigid Siberian area across the North Pole.

Predictions for May are that temperatures will be average, which means about 73 degrees for the Detroit area during the day, 71 degrees for Grand Rapids and environs, and 66 for Alpena and other northern Michigan cities, Dingle says.

FRUIT GETS BREAK

On the "plus" side for the delayed spring, he mentions the benefits for the Great Lakes fruit harvest—"the buds don't reach the frost sensitivity state until the chance of frost occurring is almost nil."

Some consolation to Michiganders may be found in the fact that the east coast and northwest sections of the country were much worse off, the meterologist adds.

What about the influence of the winter on summer weather? "The best we can do is predict a normal summer, but odds do favor a less extreme one than last year," he says.

Weathermen have said, however, that tornado activity in the area will probably be greater than in past years. This prediction has already worked out.

So the summer looks to be as disturbing as winter, in its own way.

It's great to live in Michigan because of our rich heritage and outstanding historic landmarks.

Do you know that Michigan was the first state in the union to pass a law requiring all persons under the age of 18 to take and pass a course in driver education before they will be licensed to drive a car?

Doll Up Your Mail Box

It has been very appropriately stated, "Everyone's mail box is the front door to their home—please look at it—everybody else does."

Please don't forget the substitute is not acquainted with the route as the regular carrier is.

Rural and mounted route boxes are frequently referred to as the highway billboards of the postal service. Many become unsightly with rust and unserviceable due to their leaky condition, broken doors or no lids, missing signals, no names, supports being bent over or rotted which need replacing, weeds and wild grass grown around the supports and approaches, and in many places the approaches are rough and full of chuck holes.

As a result of the conditions which at times prevent good delivery service Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has designated throughout the United States the week of May 21-26 as "RURAL AND MOUNTED MAIL BOX IMPROVEMENT WEEK" and has asked all Postmasters, their supervisors, the rural and mounted carriers to solicit the cooperation of their patrons to "doll up" their mail box equipment and approaches where needed so that they will not detract from the scenic beauty of the highways, streets and drives or retard efficient mail delivery.

Cub Scout Troops Use Hobo Theme at Meetings

The May meeting of Cub Scout Troop 73 Monday evening was held out of doors in Elliott Park and the hobo theme was carried out in costumes and in the form of a hobo band.

During the traditional flag ceremony at the opening, Dean Schneirla, representing the V.F.W., presented the pack with four American flags.

The Cubmaster announced that, as the Cubs were to take part in the Memorial Day parade, they were to meet promptly after school Thursday, May 24 and Monday, May 28 at the atheletic field to practice for this event.

The annual pack field day was announced as June 9. It will be held at Wamplers lake and the committee in charge is: chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberlin and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Loar, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Max Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schiltz, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson.

Den projects for the month, when combined, formed a train, consisting of eight cars and complete with engine and caboose. It traveled about the park and through the audience, followed by the hobo band. The band instruments were all home made and created much amusement as did the costumes. Four of the fathers, who were in costume, competed for the title of Hobo King. Max Elliott was selected as winner by the judges and was presented with a can of beans.

Awards presented at the meeting were: Bobcat pins to Larry Kiser, Gary Klingensmith, Dennis Knight, Eddie Sanchez, Ernesto Sanchez, Patrick Smith, Robert Smith, John Smith, Dexter Bailey, Russell Blanden, Steven Hunt, Franklin Havens Jr., Douglas Gillies, Wayne Brooks and Edward Brazee.

In Den 1, Douglas Beasley and Jay Osburn received a gold arrow under wolf; Richard Graham, a two year star and Gerald Sniffen a one year star.

In Den 2, Walter Zarnoch received a silver arrow as did Jimmie Oberlin.

In Den 4, Mark Gabler received a gold arrow, two silver arrows and a one year star and Marlow Elliott, a one year star.

In Den 6, a wolf badge with gold and silver arrows went to Kingsley Dunn.

In Den 10, Charles Saling received a lion badge and gold arrow as did also Charles Squires and Stephen Freckleton.

The scout benediction closed the meeting.

Hobos were much in evidence at the Monday evening meeting of Cub Scout Troop 4 held at the Baptist Youth House. The Cubs paraded in their costumes and then chose four of the fathers present to be dressed up for a contest for "Hobo of the Month". Ernie Oliver, assistant cubmaster, who had charge of the meeting in the absence of Dr. R. E. Dustin was the choice of the boys for this honor.

Each den presented some phase of the hobo theme as their project of the month.

A group of new cubs was welcomed and given their Bobcat pins. They were Charles Miller Jr., Bruce Weaver, Steven Butler, Gary Hall, William Thomas, James Wilbar, Randy Work, Douglas Wilcox, Kenneth Bagby and Earl Cook.

Awards granted at this meeting were: gold and silver arrows under bear to Michael O'Donnell and Bob Morey, silver arrow under bear to Gary McKenzie, gold arrow under bear to Gary Tietsema, and gold and silver arrows under bear to Joey Hanna. Wolf badges were given to Michael Sharp, Dale Brown, Keith Kilbourn, Paul Fisher and Donald Nichols; Ricky Brighton received gold and silver arrows and a wolf badge; Bradley Hatch gold arrow and wolf badge; Eddie Roe gold and silver arrows under wolf and Robert Morey and Steven Morey one year service stars.

Den 6 won Tin Can Cubby for the best attendance of cubs and parents.

The troop will march in the parade on Memorial Day and parents will be informed when they are to meet to practice.

MACON NEWS

MRS. HAMILTON MOORE

Correspondent

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES SET FOR THIS SUNDAY

Memorial Day Services at the Macon Cemetery will be held Sunday, May 27 at 2 p.m. Speaker will be the Rev. Hughes of the Milan Methodist church. In case of rain the program will be held in the Macon church. There will be no church services Sunday at the Macon Methodist church but Sunday school will be held at the usual time.

FELLOWSHIP CLUB

The Followship Club of Immanuel Lutheran church met Tuesday evening, May 15 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Pollitz with 14 members present. The topic for the evening, which was led by the Rev. V. H. Schwartz, was based on the text for Pentecost, Acts 2:1-11.

During the business meeting, plans for several summer outings were discussed. It was decided to have a potluck picnic and go to the Toledo Zoo Sunday, June 10. Children are included. The members were reminded that there will be no monthly meetings during June, July and August.

Alvin Pollitz led the group in several games and lunch was served.

Wreaths for the Macon cemetery will be made by the women of the Macon community at 1 p.m. this Friday in the Macon church dining room.

The annual Macon W.S.C.S. tea will be held in the Macon church dining room June 7 at 2 p.m.

During Sunday church services at the Macon Methodist church, the Rev. H. Vaughn Whited baptized Janice Kneoka Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Amstutz and James LaVern Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas. Mrs. E. Kittle and Mrs. Clarence Kittle became members of the church and the Rev. Whited installed officers of the W.S.C.S.

Mrs. Evelyn Hawkins with Mrs. Naomi Bugbee as co-hostess entertained the Macon Homemakers Extension Club Thursday. Following a salad luncheon, Mrs. Hawkins conducted the business meeting when it was announced that the June meeting will be a picnic, the place to be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Niblack of Ypsilanti visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gilmore recently and attended the funeral of Miss Julia Gilmore.

Bruce and Randy Hicks of Clinton spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell VanValkenburg.

Mrs. Ella Camburn of Springport and Mr. and Mrs. Levengood of Napoleon were Sunday callers in the homes of Mrs. Eva Camburn, Mrs. Carrie Payne and Mrs. Marion Sptiler.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow and family spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gaines and family of Howell helping them restore building roofs destroyed during the recent storm. In the evening the Bigelows went to their resort at Beulah and on Sunday attended the Tulip Festival at Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pilbeam spent the weekend in northern Michigan.

Mrs. Edward Kanous and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore were in Ypsilanti Tuesday to attend the Detroit conference of the W.S.C.S.

The Macon Community Club met Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moore. Clayton Bigelow presided at the business meeting and there was discussion about placing another Macon sign on the corner of Britton and the Clinton-Macon Rd. The club voted to contribute to the cancer fund. Mr. and Mrs. Del Burleson were program chairmen and introduced their daughter, Mrs. Roy Heilman, who showed colored slides of the golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Burleson and of Florida and Canada.

Crisps Honored At Farewell Party

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Crisp and family, who will leave May 29 for their new home in Toledo were the honored guests at a farewell party Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

One hundred members and friends were welcomed by the Rev. Horace James and the program opened with group singing of "Happy the Home" accompanied by Roma Walters at the piano. A piano solo was played by Bobby Bonner followed by a duet, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" sung by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz. Mrs. Schwartz then sang "I Love You" accompanied by Mrs. Wilfred Waldron.

The group sang "Memories" and "School Days" and a piano medley was played by Mrs. Kenton Hunt. Miss Gayle DeMass played accordion selections while refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with spring flowers Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mrs. Viola Marks poured.

The Crisps were presented a gift from the group.

Mrs. Luther Wood was general chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. Erwin Buss, Mrs. Edward Harper, Mrs. Arthur Crawford, Mrs. Ellsworth Collins, Mrs. Herbert Dillon, Mrs. Lee Kayner, Mrs. David Dick, Miss Vera Gilbert and Miss Margaret Harris.

How Well Do You
Know Your Michigan?

A million tourists yearly visit the cascades in Sparks Foundation County Park of Jackson, Michigan. The waterfalls extend 500 feet, and drop 64 feet in eleven falls. At night more than a thousand magical colored lights floodlight the falls and fountains.

—M—

In 1847, legislators wrangled for months in Detroit to choose Michigan's permanent capital. A prankster suggested "the township of Lansing" then a wilderness with a sawmill and one log house. To break the legislature deadlock, the tired lawmakers agreed.

—M—

Walloon Lake, south of Petoskey, Michigan, boasts crystal-clear water so pure that local residents use it in their automobile batteries.

—M—

The nation's No. 1 producer of canned baby goods, Gerber Products, is located at Fremont, Michigan.

—M—

Michigan State University, established in 1855, was the first agricultural college in America.

—M—

Michigan State University was the first land-grant college to admit women in 1870.

—M—

More than 50 Michigan communities have organized industrial credit corporations to assist industry to get started in their towns.

—M—

Michigan stands in the center of the Great Lakes region, which, with 21 per cent of the nation's population, produces a third of the goods manufactured in this country. As a location for markets Michigan is unexcelled.

—M—

Michigan taxes are considered by industry to be the country's fairest. Only in Michigan does a manufacturer have the option of basing his personal property tax either on inventory value at the end of the year or on average inventory value throughout the year.

More than 50 Michigan towns possess industrial development corporations ready to help new industries get started in their communities. This is but one indication that Michigan towns welcome new industry.

—M—

Michigan is one state which has never been short of electric power. Nine electric untility companies blanket the state — and their capacity to produce electricity keeps well ahead of demand.

—M—

With its many lakes and streams, Michigan has never suffered a serious drouth. Large quantities of good quality water are available in practically all parts of the state for industrial purposes.

—M—

With its long tradition of mass production, Michigan can boast perhaps the largest number of skilled, production conscious workers in the world.

—M—

Several Michigan towns have found screening tourists a successful means of adding new industries. Quite often an industrialist who likes to vacation in a region would also like to live there permanently.

—M—

Michigan communities have organized more than 50 industrial credit corporations. These groups have raised funds for the purpose of buying land or erecting buildings for industries seeking a plant location.

—M—

Industrial development men agree that most industries considering location in a town carefully examine the community's "climate for industry." This climate is demonstrated by the town's eagerness for industry, the fairness of its zoning and tax laws, and the presence of such attractions as industrial development corporations and industrial districts.

—M—

"Industrial Shopping Centers"—that's the term used by many to describe the industrial district. These districts are set aside in or near a city solely as a place where new industry can locate. They usually are relatively flat, possess power and sewage facilities, and are located near highways and railroads.

—M—

In a bulletin recently sent to managers of its 131 plants, General Electric listed the factors which would induce the company to move to an area or stay in it. Stressed was the importance of "understanding, respect and fair treatment" in such matters as taxes, law enforcement and court decisions.

—M—

Michigan manpower can handle more than 80 per cent of all the kinds of work recognized by the U. S. Census Bureau. Almost any industry can hire the right kind of labor within a moment's notice.

—M—

Two hundred trucking lines in Michigan carry industrial products wherever there's a highway, making it possible for a small manufacturer to set up his plant almost anywhere he wants.

—M—

Fifteen Class A railroads serve almost every locality in Michigan carrying raw materials to plants and taking finished products to consumers.

—M—

A hundred products, from fine furniture to corn flakes, reach market fast and economically on Michigan's modern transportation system.

—M—

The Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River give Michigan a convenient, economical shipping outlet to the whole world. Many Michigan manufacturers don't have to send their products overland to the coast before shipping abroad — they ship direct from Michigan.

—M—

Among the natural resources attracting industry to Michigan are vast amounts of iron ore, gypsum, limestone, salt and copper. Union Carbide, Hooker Electrochemical and DuPont are three industries which recently located in Michigan because of the state's large storehouse of salt and brine.

—M—

Michigan cash farm receipts totaled $640 million in 1955, placing agriculture among the top three industries in the state. When these products reach the consumer they have a value of $1,600,000,000.

—M—

Ninety-seven per cent of the nation's navy (pea) bean crop in 1955 was produced in Michigan. This amounted to 4,668,000 bags weighing 100 pounds each. Had they moved to market in railroad cars it would have required 5,710 cars or 57 trains of 100 cars each.

—M—

Commercial production of celery in America began around Kalamazoo more than a century ago, and today production of a $2 million annual crop is centered around Ottawa, Muskegon, Allegan and Newaygo counties.

—M—

Michigan long has been the No. 1 state in production of red tart cherries with the state supplying more than half of the entire national crop.

—M—

Wayne county, one of America's industrial giants, is also a first in Michigan agriculture. It leads all others in sweet corn production.

—M—

With annual production exceeding 120 million bulbs a year, Michigan leads the nation in gladiolus bulb production.

—M—

Long a prominent state in peach raising, Michigan is famous for varieties of peaches having "haven" in their names because they were progagated by the experiment station at South Haven.

—M—

The world's largest cash fruit and vegetable market is located at Benton Harbor. Covering 14 acres and municipally operated, it serves as a regional wholesale market from where products move to more than half the states.

—M—

Crops totaling more than 1,000 bushels per acre have been harvested in some upper peninsula potato fields, setting production records for non-irrigated potato acreages.

—M—

Dairying is the largest single item in the Michigan farm income, and sales at the farm level in 1955 amounted to $180 mililon. About 60 per cent of the milk goes to the fluid market and 40 per cent into milk products.

—M—

It is estimated that sportsmen take over 28,000,000 pounds of "wild food" (fish and game) from Michigan's woods and waters yearly.

—M—

In Southeastern Michigan's Oakland County there are over 400 inland lakes—all within a 60 mile radius of Detroit—Michigan's largest city.

—M—

The St. Clair Metropolitan Beach, near Mt. Clemens, in Southeastern Michigan is the world's largest fresh-water beach.

—M—

Fort Wilkins in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, near the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula, is the only stockaded post, between the Alleghanies and the Mississippi River, still standing as originally built.

—M—

Water comprises more than 40 per cent of Michigan's area.

—M—

Along the historic old stage road to Lake Gogebic in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, you'll pass the scene of the last stage coach robbery in the old Northwest. It took place on this route in 1889.

—M—

Do you know that Michigan had the first superintendent of public instruction and that Michigan's school system has been used as a model in nearly all western states?

—M—

Do you know that the famous Kalamazoo case in 1874 assured every youth in the United States the right to a tax paid high school education?

—M—

Other French settlements were at St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Benton Harbor and Niles. When the British won their war against the French in 1763, they took over these forts — and the rich fur trade. These they held until 1796.

—M—

It was not until the War of 1812 that Michigan settlement began in earnest. Toll roads, then railroads sprang up. Most of the historic early toll roads, many of them former Indian trails, were to become major highways, such as US-112 and US-16.

—M—

Pioneering was continuing when the Civil War erupted in 1861. Michigan's lumbering industry, and its new iron and copper mines were in demand. When the conflict ended in 1865, these products boomed, and Michigan began to make its mark as a manufacturing state, since the Great Lakes and its shipping provided easy access to raw materials.

—M—

This happy combination of factors, plus Yankee ingenuity, played a part in the establishment of the auto industry in Detroit, Flint, Pontiac and Lansing. Great educational institutions, landmarks in themselves, have now entered the Atomic Age to assure that the needs of Michigan industry will continue to be met.

—M—

Michigan's main Hopewell Mound-Builder center of prehistoric times was in Kent County. A group of seven mounds are a Grand Rapids tourist attraction, the only major group preserved.

—M—

The upper peninsula was the first portion of Michigan discovered by white men. French explorers reached it via the Ottawa River, Georgian Bay and northern Lake Huron about 1622.

—M—

Michigan became a territory in 1805. Population was less than 5,000.

—M—

The first printing press in Michigan was placed in use in Detroit by Father Gabriel Richard in 1809.

—M—

The upper peninsula explorations of Dr. Douglass Houghton revealed Michigan's mineral wealth in the 1840's.

—M—

The first iron warship on the Great Lakes, the "Michigan," was launched in 1844, carrying six guns. Later renamed the "Wolverine," she was scrapped in 1949.

—M—

Fort Wayne was built in 1841 on the Detroit River at the foot of Livernois Avenue. It is now a historical monument and museum.

—M—

The Sault Canal, which handles more shipping traffic than any other canal in the world, was completed in 1855. Numerous additions have been made since.

—M—

The Civil War stimulated demand for Michigan's iron, copper, lumber, foodstuffs and manufactured goods.

Services Held for Julia E. Gilmore

Julia E. Gilmore, whose home was in Ridgeway, died the morning of May 17 at Herrick Memorial hospital, where she had undergone surgery a month before.

Miss Gilmore, who was born on the family farm north of Britton Sept. 13, 1877, was the daughter of James F. and Julia Bradley Gilmore. She graduated from Tecumseh high school and Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti and taught for 40 years in the schools of Petoskey, Tecumseh and Adrian and in South Dakota and Des Moines, Iowa, retiring 10 years ago.

She is survived by two sisters, Miss Lulu Gilmore, with whom she had made her home and Mrs. S. W. Boyce of Tecumseh; three brothers, Clarence Gilmore of Tecumseh, Frank of Parma and Ray of Macon; several nephews and nieces and grand nephews and nieces.

Funeral services for Miss Gilmore were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Niblack Funeral Home in Britton by the Rev. Haybert Woodall of the Ridgeway Methodist church and burial was in the Ridgeway cemetery.

Agriculture and pottery were first brought into Michigan by the Indians about the start of the Christian era.

Kiwanis Clubs Meet Jointly

An inter-club meeting between the Tecumseh and Blissfield Kiwanis Clubs was held last Wednesday here.

President Don McCray of Blissfield presided and the Rev. Dalton Bishop of the Blissfield Methodist church spoke on "What Kiwanis Means To Us."

Fred Hadley, president of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club, announces that Ray Ernst has been named general chairman of the club's charter night which will be held June 4.

Meanwhile, the club meets at the American Legion Home every Wednesday noon.

Services Held for Frank M. Baldwin

Frank M. Baldwin died very suddenly at his home in Tipton Wednesday evening. Mr. Baldwin, who had lived for the past 65 years in Tipton and vicinity had been a rural mail carrier for 49 years before his retirement about 10 years ago.

He was one of the two first rural carriers for the U. S. Postal Department in the nation. Since his retirement he had been engaged in farming and especially in the growing of flowers, having a large garden and sales room on US-112.

He was born Dec. 25, 1875, in Blissfield. In March of 1903 he was married to Lena Sayers, who died in 1937. In 1940 he married Carolina Loop of Adrian, who survives. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Mariam Dickerson of Toledo and Mrs. Gertrude Wells of St. Louis, Mich., one nephew and two nieces.

Mr. Baldwin was a member of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. & A. M., a 50-year life member of the Tipton Knights of Pythias, a member of the Rural Letter Carriers Associaton and a director of the Lenawee County Fair Board. He also belonged to the Michigan Horticultural Association, was president of the Tipton Improvement Association and member and honorary president of the Tipton Garden Club.

Funeral services for Mr. Baldwin were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Collins Funeral Home by the Rev. David Holley of the Tipton Community church. Burial was in Tipton cemetery, where the Knights of Pythias were in charge of the graveside services. Bearers were Grover Swartz, Charles Driffell, Fred Davis, Harry Daniels, Lawrence Dibble and Glenn Kemp.

WOMEN'S ASSOC. HEARS THE REV. E. ESCOLME

The Women's Association of the Presbyterian church met last Wednesday in the Fellowship Center. Mrs. M. R. Blanden presided at the business meeting and the Rev. Edward Escolme was introduced as guest speaker. He told of churches in the British Isles.

It was reported that Circles 2, 3 and 4 would serve the junior-senior banquet at the Products Union Hall Friday evening. Circle 7 served refreshments at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be June 16 with Circle 4 in charge.

Florence M. O'Reilly and Gary Ames Wed in Clinton

The Saturday morning wedding of Florence Marie O'Reilly and Gary William Ames took place at 11 o'clock at St. Dominic Catholic church in Clinton with the Rev. Fr. Lewis Ellis officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William O'Reilly and the late Mr. O'Reilly of Clinton while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Johnson of 417 Orchard St., Wyandotte.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Harry Pinkstone of Swanton, Ohio and the couple was attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. Donald Krzyzaniak of Manchester as matron of honor and the groom's brother, Frank Ames as best man. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Harry Miller of Saline, a sister of the bride and Mrs. Frank Ames of Wyandotte. William Ames, brother of the groom and Wayne Vasher were ushers.

White carnations, snapdragons and gladioli filled the altar vases and the family pews were marked by white satin bows holding white gladioli.

Tom O'Reilly of Jackson, a cousin of the bride, sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" with the organ accompaniment of Mrs. Ben Hammack, who also played traditional music before the ceremony.

The petite, blond bride was lovely in her Princess dress of bridal satin and rose-pointe lace. The skirt with its chapel train was worn over crinoline and the lace bodice had a deep rounded neckline and long sleeves and was embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. Lace and pearls also formed the crown which held the double fingertip veil. White carnations and lilies of the valley formed her cascade bouquet.

The bride's three attendants wore identical gowns of waltz length embroidered organdy over ice blue satin. White picture hats and short white gloves completed their costumes and they carried bouquets of mist blue carnations combined with white maline.

Mrs. O'Reilly's gown was of gray lace, her accessories were white and her corsage of white rosebuds was accented with pink velvet leaves. The mother of the groom wore delft blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of white roses and white velvet leaves.

Two hundred guests gathered for the reception at the V.F.W. hall in Ann Arbor at 8 p.m. where they were registered by Mrs. Robert Way of Clinton. Miss June Zleninger of Ann Arbor served the six-tiered wedding cake with its deocrations of rose buds and valley lilies while Miss Lois O'Connor of Jackson and Mrs. Michael Baughman of Lansing poured. Mrs. William Sisson of Clinton and Miss Judy Goss of Tecumseh were in charge of the gifts.

The newlyweds left at once for a ten-day trip to Florida, the bride wearing a one piece dress of brown linen with a short cape accented with white accessories. They will reside in Ypsilanti.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy in Adrian and of Mercy School of Nursing in Detroit. She has been employed at Herrick Memorial hospital. Mr. Ames is a graduate of Roosevelt high school in Detroit and attended Ypsilanti Normal College. He works for the public relations department of the Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Co.

Detroit, hub of the auto industry, itself bears a French name which means "The Straits," for here were located the straits between Lakes Erie and St. Clair, a crossroads of Indian trade and wars. Settled by Sieur Cadillac in 1701, it has been a key crossroads ever since.

Elinor Grace Ruesink is Bride of Wendell Frost

A wedding of interest to their many Tecumseh friends took place at 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon in the West Adrian Presbyterian church when Elinor Grace Ruesink and Wendell L. Frost were united in marriage.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ruesink of Rt. 3 Adrian was given in marriage by her father and the double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, the Rev. George Seeck. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ollie Frost of Tecumseh and the late Mr. Frost.

Hampers of white gladioli and stock decorated the altar and the bride's sister, Carolyn Ruesink played traditional wedding music as the guests assembled, also accompaning her sister Joanne who sang, "Through the Years" and "Because" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" at its close.

Miss Jean Atkin of Adrian was maid of honor; Gerald DeClercq of Tecumseh, the best man and Fred Foltz, a cousin of the bride from Detroit assisted in seating the guests.

Miss Ruesink had chosen lace and net over taffeta for her waltz length wedding gown and wore with it the groom's gift of rhinestone necklace and earrings. Her veil fell from a white satin crows and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses arranged with ivy and stephanotis.

Miss Atkin wore a pink nylon net gown made ballerina length and with a net stole over the strapless bodice. Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of shaded rose carnations.

Mrs. Ruesink wore a navy and white print dress with white accessories and Mrs. Frost navy, blue with white. Both had shoulder corsages of white carnations, while Mrs. William Ruesink, the bride's grandmother wore pink carnations.

At the reception for 100 guests which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Harold Iffland of Tecumseh, Mrs. Merlin Meyers of Adrian and Mrs. Clayton Schmid of New Holstein, Wis., a sister of the groom assisted in serving. A three-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Elmer Rockwell of Adrian centered the refreshment table. It was garlanded with flowers and flanked by twisted tapers in crystal holders.

The bride wore a rose cotton dress and the corsage from her bridal bouquet when the newly married couple left for a trip through northern Michigan and Wisconsin. On their return they will be at home at 6904 Rogers highway, Tecumseh.

Mrs. Frost, a graduate of Adrian high school has been employed at the Nixon-Marbro music store in Adrian and Mr. Frost owns and operates a milk route for Michigan Producers Dairy Co. He is a veteran of two years service in the armed forces and attended Britton schools.

District Auxiliary Officers Installed

Hall-Slater Post and Auxiliary of V.F.W. were hosts Sunday to the sixth district encampment of that organization. An all-day meeting was held at the Post Home on Mill street with 250 in attendance. Auxiliary president Mrs. Lloyd Stites welcomed the guests and Mrs. Harlan Boyes president of the sixth district was in charge of the meeting.

District auxiliary officers for the coming year were elected and with the exception of the president were installed. They are: president, Mrs. Mabel Favreau of Lansing; senior vice president, Mrs. Camilla Babcock of Jackson; junior vice president, Mrs. Delores Ulmer of Petersburg; treasurer, Mrs. Julia Parker of Ypsilanti; chaplain, Mrs. Frances Carleson, Ann Arbor; conductress, Mrs. Warren Filter, Tecumseh; guard, Mrs. Dolly Geringer, Howell and three ttrustees, Mrs. Sibyl Campbell, Milan; Mrs. [illegible] Gage, Parma and Mrs. Harlan Boyes of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Dorothy Mann of Detroit, past national president was the installing officer with Mrs. Janet Hutzel of Chelsea, national color bearer, as installing conductress and Mrs. Warren Filter, Tecumseh as assistant conductress. Mrs. Ruth Gallagher, deputy color bearer of Detroit was a guest.

Mrs. Favreau, the new district president will be installed at the Department encampment at Bay City in June at which time Mrs. Boyes of Tecumseh will retire. Mrs. Boyes was presented Sunday with gifts from her officers, the auxiliary and her friends, one of the most appreciated of which was a beautiful orchid from her husband and son. She in turn presented gifts to all the officers who had worked with her.

Dinner was served at noon by the Post and Auxiliary with Mrs. Bert Warren as dinner chairman. General chairman of the day was Mrs. Warren Filter.

Delegates and members were present from Detroit, Carleton, Lansing, Parma, Jackson, Webberville, Williamston, Fowlerville, Howell, Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Mason, Morenci, Milan, Ypsilanti, Erie, Monroe, Lambertville, Adrian, Maybee, Petersburg and Cement City.

PEOTTER HONORED

At the University of Michigan's honors convocation last Friday Ralph Everett Peotter, senior, son of Ralph Peotter of Tecumseh, and a graduate of Tecumseh high school received the Jane Higbie award in the school of architecture and design.

GRANGE WILL HAVE MEMORIAL SERVICE

The regular 8 p.m. meeting of Tecumseh Grange this evening (Thursday) will be a memorial service for the deceased members of the past year. The chaplain will be in charge of the program and members wishing to bring flowers in commemoration may do so. Lunch will follow the meeting for which members are to bring cake or jello. There will be no potluck dinner before the meeting.

Kohler Joins Multiple Listing

Kohler Real Estate is a charter member of the new "Lenawee Multiple Listing Bureau." The multiple listing bureau, created by the Lenawee County Board of Realtors, was organized and put into operation May 17.

Only those real estate brokers who have pledged themselves to the established code of business ethics and have been accepted for membership by the Lenawee County Board of Realtors are eligible for participation in the "multiple listing system." Not every broker is a realtor.

Through the "multiple listing bureau" all properties listed with them will be placed with all realtors in Lenawee County, this offering a much larger coverage, and faster sale for listed property.

Members of the "multiple listing bureau" use only the standard approved listing and sales agreement forms which have been approved by the Michigan Real Estate Association and the Michigan Corporation & Securities Corporation. This assures protection for both buyer and seller.

DESPITE AN absence of luck in some of their player trades, the Tigers have been uncommonly successful with their bonus talent.

Unlike the experience of many major league teams, few of Detroit's so-called "bonus babies" have proved to be duds. Some are developing in the farm system. Many are already thriving with the parent club.

Products of the bonus system currently active on the Detroit roster are Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle, Frank House, Reno Bertoia, Jim Brady and Jim Small.

Kuenn, who was signed off the University of Wisconsin campus before the bonus rule went into effect making a two-year stay with the parent club mandatory, has been the most consistently successful of the premium players.

Brief Apprenticeship

After less than a year in the minors with Davenport of the Three-Eye League, where he batted .340, Harvey has contributed mightily to the Detroit attack.

He has hit .308, .306 and .306 in three seasons with the Tigers and collected over 200 hits in two of them. Last year he got 190 hits and drove in 62 runs.

Tuttle, who likewise was signed before the bonus law and served terms at Davenport, Williamsport and Buffalo before coming up to the Tigers to stay in 1954, is as good an all-around fielder as anybody in the league.

He gets a good jump on fly balls, fields grounders well and possesses a strong throwing arm. Moreover, Bill is improving with experience as a hitter and this could be the year he breaks into the .300 circle. Last season he hit .279, driving in 78 runs.

League Champion

Kaline, of course, is the "wonder boy" of the bonus babies, batting .340 and winning the league championship his second full season with the team. He hit .276 in 1954.

Despite batting troubles this season, Al should again do all right for the Tigers, and his superb fly chasing and accurate throwing arm continue to make him a defensive specialist feared by all opposition.

House, one of the early bonus players, has blossomed into one of the best catchers in the league. In addition, his batting is improving — he's hitting the ball where it's pitched more frequently — and the strong Alabaman promises to provide the extra-base power that was expected of him when he was signed.

Good Prospects

Bertoia is still developing as a batter, but he's suddenly found himself as a fielder and is doing unexpectedly well around second base. He's still a little anxious at the plate but the Tiger brass expect some power hitting out of him in the near future.

Small and Brady both possess all the physical equipment of good players, but only time will tell whether they'll make the grade.

Brady might succeed first. He throws harder than anyone on the team and has a good curve. All he lacks is experience. If he gets that, he might prove to be the Kaline of the pitching staff.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Legislative approval of a bill to give deer management to the Conservation Commission brought expressions of appreciation from the Commission and the Conservation Department.

"Frankly, we are very encouraged by the confidence the people and their legislators have shown in us," said Commission Chairman Robert F. Brevitz. "Management of such important resources as our deer herd and its range is a major responsibility. We welcome this responsibility."

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy gave assurance that authority granted the Commisison would not be abused.

CHAMPIONS OF THE LINKS — Tecumseh high school golfers last week added the Southeastern League golf championship to their laurels, defeating both Hillsdale and Bedford to take the crown.

Saturday, May 12, the Indians copped the regional golf title for class "B" at Brighton.

In the league championship meet, Val Spangler was medalist with 76. He was followed by Dave Lamkin with 83, Dick Baker with 81 and Ron Gurtzweiler with 89. The [illegible] total was 329.

Hillsdale, defending champion, took second with 345.

Bedford failed to score a total because one of its men dropped out at the end of nine holes.

Golfers are Dick Baker, Ron Gurtzweiler, Val Spangler and Dave Lamkin, shown after the regional.

YOU'RE A MAINLINER!

Whether you live in a tiny village in the northern part of Michgian or on a heavily traveled street in one of our major cities or right out on the farm, you're a mainliner so far as your convenience of living and doing business is concerned.

That's because the highly-developed, fast, flexible trucking industry which serves the concentrated population centers of this great state of ours provides equally thorough and complete service for sparsely-settled, out-of-the-way places.

Yes, trucks provide the only freight transportation which reaches all of Michigan—bringing merchandise and materials to every Wolverine household, farm, and business concern, no matter how far off the beaten path it may be.

Thanks to trucks, you can live or do business anywhere in Michigan you please and still be on the main line!
